16 Surely, the sons of Ionadab the sonne of Rechab, haue kept the commandement of their father, which hee gaue them, but this people hath not obeyed mee.

17 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will bring vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, all the euil that I haue pronounced against them, because I haue [l]spoken vnto them, but they would not heare, and I haue called vnto them, but they would not answere.

18 And Ieremiah sayd vnto the house of the Rechabites, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Because yee haue obeyed the commaundement of Ionadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according to all that he hath commanded you, 19 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Ionadab the sonne of Rechab shall [m]not want a man to stand before me for euer.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 Baruch writeth, as Ieremiah endicteth, the booke of curses against Iudah and Israel. 9 Hee is sent with the booke vnto the people, and readeth it before them all. 14 Hee is called before the rulers, and readeth it before them also. 23 The king casteth it in the fire. 28 There is another written at the commandement of the Lord.

AND in the fourth [a]yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah, came this word vnto Ieremiah from the Lord, saying,

2 Take thee a roll or booke, and write therein all the words that I haue spoken to thee against Israel, and against Iudah, and against all the nations, from the day that I spake vnto thee, euen [b]from the dayes of Iosiah vnto this day.

3 It may be that the house of Iudah will heare of all the euil, which I determined to doe vnto them, that they may returne euery man from his euill way, that I may forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

4 Then Ieremiah called Baruch the son of Neriah, and Baruch wrote [c]at the mouth of Ieremiah all the words of the Lord, which hee had spoken vnto him, vpon a roll, or booke.

5 And Ieremiah commanded Baruch, saying, I am [d]shut vp, and cannot goe into the house of the Lord.

6 Therefore goe thou, and read the roll, wherein thou hast written at my mouth the words of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lords house vpon the [e]fasting day: also thou shalt reade them in the hearing of all Iudah, that come out of their cities.

7 It may bee that they will [f]pray before the Lord, and euery one returne from his euill way, for great is the anger, & the wrath that the Lord hath declared against this people.

8 So Baruch the sonne of Neriah did according vnto all, that Ieremiah the Prophet commaunded him, reading in the booke the words of the Lord in the Lords Lords house.

9 ¶ And in the fift g yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a Fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalem, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudah vnto Ierusalem.

10 Then read Baruch in the booke the wordes of Ieremiah in the House of the Lord, in the chamber of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan the Secretary, in the higher Court at the entrie of the h new gate of the Lords house, in the hearing of all the people.

11 When Michaiah the sonne of Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan had heard out of the booke all the words of the Lord, 12 Then hee went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and loe, all the Princes sate there, euen Elishama the Chancellour, and Delaiah the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan the sonne of Achbor, and Gemariah the sonne of Shaphan, and Zedekiah the sonne of Hananiah, and all the princes.

13 Then Michaiah declared vnto them all the words that hee had heard when Baruch read in the booke in the audience of the people.

14 Therefore all the princes sent Iehudi the sonne of Nethaniah, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushi, vnto Baruch, saying, Take in thine hand the roule, wherein thou hast read in the audience of the people, and come. So Baruch the sonne of Neriah tooke the roule in his hand, and came vnto them.

15 And they sayd vnto him, Sit downe now, and reade it, that we may heare. So Baruch read it in their audience.

16 Now when they had heard all the wordes, they were i afrayd, both one and other, and said vnto Baruch, We will certifie the King of all these words.

17 And they examined Baruch, saying, Tell vs now, how diddest thou write all these words at his mouth?

18 Then Baruch answered them, Hee pronounced all these wordes vnto mee with his mouth, and I wrote them with inke in the booke.

19 Then said the Princes vnto Baruch, Goe, k hide thee, thou and Ieremiah, and let no man know where ye be.

20 ¶ And they went in to the King to the court, but they layd vp the roule in the chamber of Elishama the Chancellour, and told the King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudi to fetch the roule, and hee tooke it out of Elishama the Chancellours chamber, and Iehudi read it in the audience of the king, and in the audience of all the Princes, which stoode beside the king.

22 Now the king sate in the winter house in the l ninth moneth, and there was a fire burning before him.

23 And when Iehudi had read three or foure sides, he cut it with the pen knife, and cast it into the fire that was on the hearth, vntill all the roule was consumed in the fire, that was on the hearth.

24 Yet they were not afrayd, nor rent m their garments, neither the king, nor any of his seruants that heard all these words.

25 Neuertheless, Elnathan, and Delaiah, and Gemariah had besought the king, that he would not burne the roule, but hee would not heare them.

26 But the king commanded Ierahmeel the sonne of Hammelech, and Seraiah the sonne of Azriel, and Shelemiah the sonne of Abdiel, to take Baruch the scribe, and Ieremiah the Prophet: but the Lord n hid them.

27 ¶ Then the word of the Lord came to Ieremiah (after that the king had burnt the roule and the wordes which Baruch wrote at the mouth of Ieremiah) saying,

28 Take thee againe o another roule, and write in it all the former words that were in the first roule which Iehoiakim the king of Iudah hath burnt, 29 And thou shalt say to Iehoiakim king of Iudah, Thus sayth the Lord, Thou hast burnt this roule, saying, p Why hast thou written therein, saying, that the king of Babel shal certainly come and destroy this land, and shall take thence both man and beast?

30 Therefore thus sayth the Lord of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, He shall haue q none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, & his r dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I will visit him and his seed, and his seruants for their iniquitie, and I will bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and vpon the men of Iudah all the euill that I haue pronounced against them, but they would not heare.

32 Then tooke Ieremiah another roule, and gaue it Baruch the Scribe, the sonne of Neriah, which wrote therein at the mouth of Ieremiah all the wordes of the booke which Iehoiakim King of Iudah had burnt in the fire, and there were added besides them many like words.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiah succeedeth Ieconiah. 3 He sendeth vnto Ieremiah to pray for him. 12 Ieremiah going into the land of Beniamin, is taken. 15 Hee is beaten, and put in prison.

AND * King Zedekiah the sonne of Iosiah reigned for a Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakim, whom Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel b made king in the lande of Iudah.

2 But neither hee, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land would obey the words of the Lord, which he spake by the ‡ ministery of the Prophet Ieremiah.

3 And Zedekiah the king c sent Iehucal the sonne of Shelemiah, and Zephaniah the sonne of Maaseiah the Priest to the Prophet Ieremiah, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Ieremiah d went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

g The Fast was then proclaimed, and Baruch read this roule, which was a little before that Ierusalem was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel and his companions were led away captiues.

h Which is the East gate of the Temple.

i The godly were afraid, seeing God so offended, and the wicked were astonied for the horrour of the punishment.

k They that were godly among the princes, gaue this counsel, by whose meanes it is like that Ieremiah was deliuered: for they knew the rage of the king, and of the wicked to bee such, that they could not escape without danger of their liues.

l Which conteined part of November, and part of December.

6 Then came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Ieremiah, ſaying,

7 Thus ſayeth the Lord God of Iſrael, Thus ſhall ye ſay to the king of Iudah, that ſent you vnto me, to inquire of mee, Behold, Pharaohs hoſte, which is come foorth to helpe you, ſhall returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans ſhall come againe, and fight againſt this citie, and take it, and burne it with fire.

‖ Or, lift not vp your minds,

9 Thus ſayeth the Lord, ‖ Deceiue not your ſelues, ſaying, The Caldeans ſhal ſurely depart from vs: for they ſhall not depart.

10 For though ye had ſmitten the whole hoſt of the Caldeans that fight againſt you, and there remayned but woumded men among them, yet ſhould euery man riſe vp in his tent, and burne this city with fire.

11 ¶ When the hoſt of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ieruſalem, becauſe of Pharaohs army, 12 Then Ieremiah went out of Ieruſalem to go into the f land of Beniamin, ſeparating himſelfe thence from among the people.

g By which men went into the countrey of Beniamin.

13 And when hee was in the g gate of Beniamin, there was a chiefe officer, whoſe name was Iriiah, the ſonne of Shelemiah, the ſonne of Hananiah, and hee tooke Ieremiah the Prophet, ſaying, Thou ‡fleeſt to the Caldeans.

‡Ebr. fallest.

14 Then ſaid Ieremiah, That is falſe, I flee not to the Caldeans: but he would not heare him: ſo Iriiah tooke Ieremiah, and brought him to the Princes.

15 Wherefore the Princes were angry with Ieremiah, and ſmote him, and laid him in priſon in the houſe of Ionathan the ſcribe: for they had made that the h priſon.

h Becauſe it was a vile and ſtrait priſon.

16 When Ieremiah was entred into the dungeon, and into the priſons, and had remained there a longe time, 17 Then Zedekiah the king ſent, & tooke him out, and the king aſked him ſecretly in his houſe, and ſaid, Is there any word from the Lord? And Ieremiah ſaid, Yea: for, ſaid he, thou ſhalt bee deliuered into the hand of the king of Babel.

18 Moreouer, Ieremiah ſaid vnto king Zedekiah, What haue I offended againſt thee, or againſt thy ſeruants, or againſt this people, that ye haue put me in priſon?

Chap. 28. 4.

19 *Where are now your prophets, which prophecied vnto you, ſaying, The king of Babel ſhal not come againſt you, nor againſt this land?

i That is, ſo long as there was any bread in the city: thus God prouideth for his, that hee will cauſe their enemies to preſerue them to that end whereunto he hath appointed them.

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the king: let my prayer ‡ be accepted before thee, that thou cauſe me not to returne to the houſe of Ionathan the ſcribe, leſt I die there.

21 Then Zedekiah the king commanded that they ſhould put Ieremiah in the court of the priſon, and that they ſhould giue him daply a piece of bread out of the Bakers ſtreete, vntill all the i bread in the city were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiah remained in the court of the priſon.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 By the motion of the rulers Ieremiah is put into a dungeon. 10 At the requeſt of Ebed-melech the king commandeth Ieremiah to be brought foorth of the dungeon. 17 Ieremiah ſheweth the King how he might eſcape death.

THen Shephatiah the ſonne of Mattan, and Gedaliah the ſonne of Pashhur, and Iucal the ſonne of Shelemiah, and Pashhur the ſonne of a Malchiah, heard the wordes that Ieremiah had ſpoken vnto all the people, ſaying, a For Zedekiah had ſent theſe to Ieremiah to enquire at the Lord for the ſtate of the country now when Nebuchadnezzar came, as Chap. 21. 1.

2 Thus ſayth the Lord, Hee that remaineth in this city, ſhal die by the ſword, by the famine and by the peſtilence: but he that goeth foorth to the Caldeans, ſhall liue: for he ſhall haue his life for b a pray and ſhall liue.

b Reade Chap. 21. 9. and 45. 5.

3 Thus ſayth the Lord, This city ſhall ſurely be giuen into the hand of the king of Babels army which ſhall take it.

‖ Or, diſcourageth,

4 Therefore the Princes ſayde vnto the king, We beſeech you, let this man bee put to death: for thus he ‖ weaketh the hands of the men of warre c that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in ſpeaking ſuch wordes vnto them: for this man ſeeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

c Thus we ſee how the wicked when they cannot abide to heare the truth of Gods word, ſeeke to put the miniſters to death as tranſgreſſours of policies.

5 Then Zedekiah the king ſayd, Behold, he is in your hands, for the king can deny d you nothing.

d Wherein he grieuouſly offended in that that not onely hee would not heare the truth ſpoken by the Prophet, but alſo gaue him to the luſtes of the wicked, to be cruelly entreated.

6 Then toke they Ieremiah, and caſt him into the dungeon of Malchiah the ſon of Hammelech, that was in the court of the priſon: and they let downe Ieremiah with cords: and in the dungeon there was no water but mire: ſo Ieremiah ſtack faſt in the mire.

‡Ebr. Cushite, or, Ethiopian.

7 Now when Ebed-melech the ‡blacke Moze, one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings houſe, heard that they had put Ieremiah in the dungeon (then the King ſate in the e gate of Beniamin)

e To heare matters, and giue ſentence.

8 And Ebed-melech went out of the kings houſe, and ſpake to the king, ſaying, 9 My lord the King, f theſe men haue done euill in all that they haue done to Ieremiah the Prophet, whom they haue caſt into the dungeon, and he dieth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the city.

f Hereby is declared that the Prophet found more fauour at this ſtrangers hands, then he did by all them of his countrey, which was to their great condemnation.

10 Then the king commaunded Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, ſaying, Take from hence thirty men ‡ with thee, and take Ieremiah the Prophet out of the dungeon before he die.

11 So Ebed-melech tooke the men with him, and went to the houſe of the king vnder the treaſury, and tooke there old rotten ragges and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coards into the dungeon to Ieremiah.

12 And Ebed-melech the blacke Moze ſayd vnto Ieremiah, Put now theſe olde rotten ragges and worne, vnder thine armeholes, betweene the coards. And Ieremiah did ſo.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiah with coards, and tooke him vp out of the dungeon, and and Jeremiah remained in g the court of the prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiah the king sent, and tooke Jeremiah the Prophet vnto him, into the third entry that is in the house of the Lord, and the king said vnto Jeremiah, I will aske thee a thing: hide nothing from mee.

15 Then Jeremiah said to Zedekiah, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slay mee? and if I giue thee counsell, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the king sware secretly vnto Jeremiah, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I will not slay thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seeke thy life.

17 Then said Jeremiah vnto Zedekiah, Thus sayeth the Lord God of hostes, the God of Israel, If thou wilt goe foorth vnto the king of Babels h princes, then thy soule shall liue, and this citie shall not bee burnt vp with fire, and thou shalt liue, and thine house.

18 But if thou wilt not goe foorth to the king of Babels princes, then shall this citie be giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, and they shall burne it with fire, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands.

19 And Zedekiah the king said vnto Jeremiah, I am carefull for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest they deliuer me into their hands, and they i mocke me.

20 But Jeremiah sayd, They shall not deliuer thee: hearken vnto the voyce of the Lord, I beseech thee, which I speake vnto thee: so shall it bee well vnto thee, and thy soule shall liue.

21 But if thou wilt refuse to goe foorth, this is the word that the Lord hath shewed mee.

22 And beholde, all the women that are k left in the king of Judahs house, shall bee brought forth to the king of Babels princes: and those women shall say, Thy friends haue perswaded thee, and haue preuailed against thee: thy feete are sattened in the mire, and they are turned backe.

23 So they shall bring out all thy wiues, and thy children to the Caldeans, and thou shalt not escape out of their hands, but shalt bee taken by the hand of the king of Babel: and this citie shalt thou cause to bee burnt with fire.

24 Then said Zedekiah vnto Jeremiah, Let no man know of these words, and thou shalt not die.

25 But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and they come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the king, hide it not from vs, and we will not slay thee: also what the king said vnto thee, 26 Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly l besought the king that hee would not cause mee to returne to Jehonathans house to die there.

27 Then came all the Princes vnto Jeremiah and asked him. And hee told them according to all these wordes that the King had commaunded: so they left off speaking with him, for the matter was not perceiued.

28 So Jeremiah abode still in the court of the prison, vntill the day that Jerusalem was taken: and he was there, when Jerusalem was taken.

g Where the king had set him before to be at more liberty, as Chap. 37. 21.

h And yeeld thy selfe vnto them.

i Which declareth that hee more feared the reproch of men, then the threatnings of God.

k When Ieconiah and his mother with others were caried away, these women of the kings house were left: which shalbe taken, spoyled by the Prophet, and tell the king of Babel how Zedekiah hath bene seduced by his familiar friends and false prophets, which haue left him in the mire.

l Herein appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life, albeit it was not to the deniall of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Nebuchad-nezzar besiegeth Ierusalem. 4 Zedekiah fleeing is taken of the Caldeans. 6 His sonnes are slaine. 7 His eyes are thrust out. 11 Jeremiah is prouided for. 15 Ebed-melech is deliuered from captiuitie.

IN * the ninth yere of Zedekiah king of Judah, in the tenth moneth came Nebuchadrezzar king of Babel and all his hoste against Jerusalem, and they besieged it. * 2. King. 25. 1. chap. 52. 4.

2 And in the eleuenth yeere of Zedekiah, in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the citie was broken a vp.

3 And all the princes of the king of Babel came in, and sate in the middle gate, euen Neregal, Sharezer, Samgar-nebo, Sarsechim, Rab-saris, Neregal, Sharezer, Rabmag, with all the residue of the princes of the king of Babel.

4 And when Zedekiah the king of Judah saw them, and all the men of warre, then they fled, and went out of the citie by night, through the kings garden, and by the b gate betweene the two walles, and he went toward the wildernesse.

5 But the Caldeans hoste pursued after them, and ouertooke Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho: and when they had taken him, they brought him to Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel vnto c Riblah in the land of Hamath, where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

6 Then the King of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah in Riblah before his eyes: also the king of Babel slew all the nobles of Judah.

7 Moreouer he put out Zedekiahs eyes, and bound him in chaines, to cary him to Babel.

8 And the Caldeans burnt the Kings house, and the houses of the people with fire, and brake downe the walles of Jerusalem.

9 Then Nebuzar-adan the ‖ chiefe steward caryed away captiue into Babel the remnant of the people, that remained in the citie, and those that were fled and fallen vnto him with the rest of the people that remained.

10 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left the d poore that had nothing, in the land of Judah, e gaue them vineyards and fields at the same time.

11 Now Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel gaue charge concerning Jeremiah ‡ vnto Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward, saying, 12 Take him, and ‡ looke well to him, and doe him no harme, but doe vnto him e euen as he shall say vnto thee.

13 So Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward sent, and Nebushazban, Rab-saris, and Neregal, Sharezer, Rab-mag, and all the king of Babels princes:

15 Now the word of the Lord came vnto Jeremiah, while he was ſhut vp in the court of the priſon, ſaying, 16 Goe and ſpeake to Ebed-melech the blacke Moze, ſaying, Thus ſaith the Lord of hoſtes the God of Iſrael, Behold, I will bring my words vpon this citie for euil, and not for good, and they ſhalbe accompliſhed in that day before thee.

17 But I will deliuer thee in that day, ſayth the Lord, and thou ſhalt not bee giuen into the hand of the men whom thou feareſt.

18 For I wil ſurely deliuer thee, and thou ſhalt not fall by the ſword, but thy life ſhalbe for a pray vnto thee, becauſe thou g haſt put thy truſt in me, ſaith the Lord.

f Whom the king of Babel had now appointed gouernour ouer the reſt of the Iewes that he left behinde.

g Thus God recompenſed his zeale & fauour, which he ſhewed to his Prophet in his troubles.

CHAP. XL.

4 Ieremiah hath licence to goe whither he will. 6 Hee dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliah.

THe word which came to Jeremiah from the Lord, after that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe ſteward had let him go from Ramath, when hee had taken him being bound in chaines among all that were caried away captiue of Jeruſalem and Judah, which were caried away captiue vnto Babel.

2 a And the chiefe ſteward tooke Jeremiah, and ſayde vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, and done according as he hath ſaid: becauſe yee haue b ſinned againſt the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now behold, I loſe thee this day from the chains which were on thine hands: if it pleaſe thee to come with me into Babel, come, and I will loke well vnto thee: but if it pleaſe thee not to come with mee into Babel, ‡ tary ſtil: behold, all the land is ‖ before thee: whither it ſeemeth good, and conuenient for thee to goe, thither goe.

5 For yet hee was not returned: therefore he ſayd, Returne to Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan, whom the King of Babel hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Judah, and dwell with him among the people, or goe whereſoeuer it pleaſeth thee to goe. So the chiefe ſteward gaue him vitailes and a reward, and let him goe.

6 Then went Jeremiah vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam to c Mizpah, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

7 Now when all the captaines of the hoſte, d which were in the fieldes, euen they and their men heard that the King of Babel had made Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him men, and women, and childzen, and of the poore of the land, that were not caried away captiue to Babel,

8 Then they came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, euen e Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, and Johanan and Jonathan the ſonnes of Kareah, and Seraiah the ſonne of Tanehumeth, and the ſonnes of Ephai the Netophathite, and Jezaniah the ſonne of Maachathi, they and their men.

9 And Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam, the ſonne of Shaphan * ſware vnto them, and to their men, ſaying, Feare not to ſerue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and ſerue the king of Babel, and it ſhall be well with you.

10 As for mee, beholde, I will dwell at Mizpah to ‖ ſerue the Caldeans, which will come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and ſummer fruites, and oyle, and put them in your veſſels, and dwell in your cities that ye haue ‖ taken.

11 Likewiſe when all the Iewes that were in f Moab, & among the Ammonites, and in Edom, and that were in all the countreys, heard that the King of Babel had left a remnant of Judah, and that hee had ſet ouer them Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam the ſonne of Shaphan, 12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where they were driuen, and came to the land of Judah to Gedaliah vnto Mizpah, and gathered wine and ſummer fruits very much.

13 Moreouer, Johanan the ſonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoſte, that were in the fieldes, came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, 14 And ſayd vnto him, Knoweſt thou not that g Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath ſent Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah to ſlay thee? but Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam beleeued them not.

15 Then Johanan the ſonne of Kareah ſpake to Gedaliah in Mizpah ſecretly, ſaying, Let me goe, I pray thee, and I will ſlay Iſhmael the ſon of Nethaniah, and no man ſhall know it. 2 Iſhmael killeth Gedaliah guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanan followeth after Iſhmael.

BVt in the a ſeuenth moneth came Iſhmael the ſonne of Nethaniah, the ſonne of Eliſhama of the ſeede royall, and the princes of the b King, and tenne men with him, vnto Gedaliah the ſonne of Ahikam to Mizpah, and there they did c eate bread together in Mizpah.

with him, and smote Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan with the sword, and slew him, whom the king of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmael also slew all the Iewes that were with Gedaliah at Mizpah, and all the Caldeans that were found there, and the men of warre.

4 Now the second day that he had slaine Gedaliah, and no man knew it,

5 There came men from Shechem, from Shiloh, and from Samaria, euen fourescore men, hauing their beards shauen, and their clothes rent & cut, with [d] offerings and incense in their hands to offer in the house of the Lord.

d For they thought that the Temple had not bene destroyed, and therefore came vp to the feast of Tabernacles: but hearing of the burning thereof in the way, they shewed these signes of sorow.

6 And Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah went forth from Mizpah to meete them, weeping as he went: and when he met them, he said vnto them, Come to [c] Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam.

7 And when they came into the middes of the city, Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah slew them, and cast them into the middest of the pit, hee and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were found among them, that said vnto Ishmael, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of hony: so hee stayed, and slew them not among their brethren.

e For his death was kept secret, and he fained that he lamented for the destruction of Ierusalem and the Temple: but after slew them when they seemed to fauour Gedaliah.

9 Now the pit wherein Ishmael had cast the dead bodies of the men (whom hee had slaine because of Gedaliah) is it, which Asa the king had [f] made, because of Basha king of Israel, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah filled it with them that were slaine.

f Asa fortified Mizpah for feare of the enemie, and cast ditches and trenches, 1.King.15.22.

10 Then Ishmael caried away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpah, euen the kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpah, whom Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had committed to Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam, and Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah caried them away captiue, and departed to goe ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the [g] captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euill that Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had done, g Which had bene captaines vnder Zedekiah.

12 Then they all tooke their men, & went to fight with Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gibeon.

13 Now when all the people whom Ishmael caried away captiue, saw Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmael had caried away captiue from Mizpah, returned, and came againe, and went vnto Johanan the sonne of Kareah.

15 But Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah escaped from Johanan with eight men, and went to the [h] Ammonites.

h For Baalis the king of the Ammonites was the cause of this murder.

16 Then tooke Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste that were with him, all the remnant of the people, whom Ishmael the sonne of Nethaniah had caried away captiue from Mizpah, (after that hee had slaine Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam) euen the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, and the eunuches, whom he had brought againe from Gibeon:

17 And they departed and dwelt in Geruth [i] Chimham, which is by Beth-lehem, to goe and to enter into Egypt, i Which place Dauid of old had giuen to Chimham the sonne of Barzillai the Gileadite, 2.Sam.19.38.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The captaines aske counsell of Ieremiah, what they ought to doe. 7 He admonisheth the remnant of the people not to goe into Egypt.

THen all the captaines of the hoste, and Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and Iezaniah the sonne of Hoshaaiah, and all the people from the least vnto the most came, ‡Ebr. let our prayer fall before thee, as Chap.36.7.

2 And said vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, ‡Heare our prayer, we beseech thee, and pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, euen for all this remnant (for wee are left but a few of many, as thine eyes doe behold.)

3 That the Lord thy God may shew vs the way wherein wee may walke, and the thing that we may [a] doe.

a This declareth the nature of hypocrites, which would know of Gods word what they should doe, but will not follow it, but in as much as it agreeeth with that thing which they haue purposed to doe.

4 Then Ieremiah the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard you: behold, I will pray vnto the Lord your God, according to your words, and whatsoeuer thing the Lord shall answere you, I wil declare it vnto you: I will keepe nothing backe from you.

b There are none more ready to abuse the Name of God, and take it in vaine, then the hypocrites, which to colour their falshood, vse it without all reuerence, and make it a meanes for them to deceiue the simple and the godly.

5 Then they said to Ieremiah, [b] The Lord be a witnesse of trueth, and faith betweene vs, if we doe not, euen according to all things, for the which the Lord thy God shall send thee to vs.

6 Whether it be good or euil, we wil obey the voice of the Lord God, to whom we send thee, that it may be well with vs, when wee obey the voice of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ [c] And so after tenne dayes came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah.

c Here is declared the vision and the occasion thereof, whereof mention was made, chap. 40. and Reade Chap. 18.8.

8 Then called he Johanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the most,

9 And said vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, vnto whom ye sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If yee will dwell in this land, then I will build you, and not destroy you, and I will plant you, and not roote you out: for I [d] repent me of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

d Because all kings hearts and wayes are in his hands, hee can turne them and dispose them as it pleaseth him, and therefore they need not to feare man, but onely obey God, Prouerbs 21.1.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whom ye are afraid: bee not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you to saue you, and to deliuer you [e] from his hand.

12 And I will grant you mercy, that hee may haue compassion vpon you, and he shall cause you to ‖ dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye say, Wee will not dwell in this land, neither heare the voyce of the Lord

Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we will goe into the land of Egypt, where we shall see no warre, nor heare the sound of the trumpet, nor haue hunger of bread, and there will we dwell,

15 (And now therefore heare the word of the Lord, yee remnant of Iudah: thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, If ye set your faces to enter into Egypt, and goe to dwell there,) f Thus God turneth the policie of the wicked to their owne destruction: for they thought themselues sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchadnezzar destroyed them and the Egyptians, Chap. 46.25.

16 Then the sword that ye feared, f shall take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for the which yee care, shall there hang vpon you in Egypt, and there shall yee die.

17 And all the men that set their faces to enter into Egypt, to dwell there, shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, and none of them shall remaine nor escape from the plague that I will bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, As mine anger and my wrath hath beene powred foorth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalem: so shall my wrath bee powred foorth vpon you, when yee shall enter into Egypt, and yee shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a g curse, and a reproch, and ye shall see this place no more.

g Reade Chap. 26.6. & 44.12. shewing that this should come vpon them for their infidelity and stubburnesse.

19 O ye remnant of Iudah, the Lord hath said concerning you, Goe not into Egypt: know certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye h dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto the Lord our God, and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shall say, and we will doe it.

h For you were fully minded to goe into Egypt, whatsoeuer God spake to the contrary.

21 Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor any thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

22 Now therefore know certainly that ye shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, i in the place whither ye desire to goe and dwell.

i To wit, in Egypt.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanan carieth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrary to the minde of Ieremiah. 8 Ieremiah propheseth the destruction of Egypt.

NOw when Ieremiah had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which the Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these words,

2 Then spake a Azariah the sonne of Hoshaiah, and Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the b proud men, saying vnto Ieremiah, c Thou speakest falsly: the Lord our God hath d not sent thee to say, Goe not into Egypt to dwell there, a Who was also called Iezaniah, Chap. 42.1.

b This declareth that pride is the cause of rebellion, and contempt of Gods ministers.

c When the hypocrisie of the wicked is discouered, they burst foorth into open rage: for they can abide nothing but flatteries, reade Isa. 30.10.

3 But Baruch the sonne of Neriah e prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slay vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the host, and all the people obeyed not the voice of the Lord, to dwel in the land of Iudah.

5 But Iohanan the sonne of Kareah, and all the captaines of the hoste, tooke all the remnant of Iudah, that were returned from all f nations, whither they had bene driuen, to dwell in the land of Iudah:

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the kings daughters, and euery person that Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward had left with Gedaliah the sonne of Ahikam the sonne of Shaphan, and Ieremiah the g Prophet, and Baruch the sonne of Neriah.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they to h Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Then came the word of the Lord vnto Ieremiah in Tahpanhes, saying, 9 Take great stones in thine hand, and i hide them in the clay in the brick kil which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudah.

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Behold, I will send and bring Nebuchad-rezzar the king of Babel my k seruant, and will set his throne vpon these stones that I haue hid, and he shall spread his pauilion ouer them.

11 And when he shall come, he shall smite the land of Egypt: l such as are appointed for death, to death, and such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and such as are for the sword, to the sword.

12 And I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Egypt, and hee shall burne them, and cary them away captiues, and he shall aray himselfe with the land of Egypt, as a m shepheard putteth on his garment, and shall depart from thence in peace.

13 Hee shall breake also the images of ‖ Beth-shemesh that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shall he burne with fire.

e Thus the wicked do not onely contemne and hurt the messengers of God, but slander & speake wickedly of all them that support or fauour the godly.

f As from the Moabites, Ammonites, and Edomites, Chap. 40.11.

CHAP. XLIIII.

Hee reproueth the people for their idolatrie. 15 They that set light by the threatning of the Lord, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therein is propheseid.

THe word that came to Ieremiah concerning all the Iewes which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdol and at a Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathros, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Yee haue seene all the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, and vpon all the cities of Iudah: and behold, this day they are desolate, and no man dwelleth therein, a These were all famous and strong cities in Egypt, where the Iewes that were fled, dwelt for their safetie: but the Prophet declareth that there is no hold so strong, that can preserue them from Gods vengeance.

3 Because of their wickednes which they haue committed, to prouoke mee to anger, in that they went to burne incense, and to serue other gods, whom they knew not, neither they, nor you, nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophets [b] rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But they would not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednesse, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore [c] my wrath, and mine anger was powred forth, and was kindled in the cities of Iudah, and in the streets of Ierusalem, and they are desolate, and waste, as appeareth this day.

7 Therefore now thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Wherefore commit ye this great euill against your soules, to cut off from you man and woman, child and suckling out of Iudah, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that yee prouoke me vnto wrath, with the works of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whither yee be gone to dwell: that ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproch among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue yee forgotten the wickednesse of your fathers, and the wickednesse of the [d] Kings of Iudah, and the wickednesse of their wiues, and your owne wickednes, and the wickednesse of your wiues, which they haue committed in the land of Iudah and in the streets of Ierusalem?

10 They are not ‖humbled vnto this day, neither haue they feared nor walked in my Law nor in my Statutes, that I set before you, and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus sayth the Lorde of hostes the God of Israel, Behold, I will set my face against you * to euill, and to destroy all Iudah, 12 And I will take the remnant of Iudah, that [e] haue set their faces to goe into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and they shall all be consumed and fall in the land of Egypt: they shall euen bee consumed by the sword, and by the famine: they shall die from the least vnto the most, by the sword, and by the famine, and they shall be a detestation, and an astonishment, and a [f] curse and a reproch.

13 For I will visit them that dwell in the land of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalem, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

14 So that none of the remnant of Iudah, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that they should returne into the land of Iudah, to the which they ‡haue a desire to returne to dwel there: for none shall returne, but [g] such as shall escape.

15 Then all the men which knew that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods, & all the women that stood by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathros, answered Ieremiah, saying,

16 The word that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, we will [h] not heare it of thee, 17 But we will doe whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto [i] the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, as wee haue done, both wee and our fathers, our Kings and our Princes in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem: for then ‡had wee [k] plentie of victuals, and were well and ‖felt none euill.

18 But since wee left off to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings vnto her, wee haue had ‖scarcenesse of all things, and haue bin consumed by the sword and by the famine.

19 And when wee burnt incense vnto the Queene of heauen, and powred out drinke offerings vnto her, did we make her cakes to ‖make her glad, and powre out drinke offerings vnto her without [l] our husbands?

20 Then said Ieremiah vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all the people which had giuen him that answere, saying,

21 Did not the Lord remember the incense, that yee burnt in the cities of Iudah, and in the streetes of Ierusalem, both you, and your fathers, your kings, and your princes, and the people of the land, and ‡ hath he not considered it?

22 So that the Lord could no longer forbeare, because of the wickednesse of your inuentions, and because of the abominations, which ye haue committed: therefore is your land desolate and an astonishment, and a curse, and without inhabitant, as appeareth this day.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense, and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, & haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his Law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day

24 Moreouer Ieremiah said vnto all the people, and to all the women, Heare the word of the Lord, all Iudah that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, saying, Yee and your wiues haue both spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your [m] hande, saying, Wee will performe our vowes that wee haue vowed, to burne incense to the Queene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offerings to her: yee will performe your vowes, and doe the things that yee haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudah that dwell in the land of Egypt. Behold, I haue sworne by my great Name, sayeth the Lorde, that my Name not assured by Gods word: for thereby they take occasion to iustifie their doings, and their husbands shall giue an account thereof before God, Reade Isa. 3.25. ‖ Or, is it not come vp into his heart?

d He sheweth that we ought to keepe in memory Gods plagues from the beginning, that considering thē, we might liue in his feare, and know if hee haue not spared our fathers, yea, kings, princes, & rulers, and also whole countries, and nations for their sinnes, that we vile wormes cannot looke to escape punishment for ours.

h This declareth how dangerous a thing it is to decline once frō God, & to folow our owne fantasies: for Satan euer soliciteth such, & doth not leaue them till he haue brought them to extreme impudencie and madnes, euen to iustifie their wickednesse against God and his Prophets.

n This declareth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God will not vouchsafe to haue his name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therefore that God hath a perpetuall care ouer his, whersoeuer they are scattered: for though they bee but two or three yet hee will deliuer them when hee destroyeth his enemies.

p He sheweth the meanes whereby they should be destroyed, to assure them of the certainty of the plague, & yet they remaine still in their obstinacie till they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10 de Ant. cap. 11. writeth, that fiue yere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzar the yonger, hauing ouercome the Moabites & the Ammonites, went against Egypt, and slew the king, and so brought these Iewes, and other into Babylon.

n shall no more bee called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudah, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.

28 Yet a small number that escape the sword, o shall returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudah: and all the remnant of Iudah that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall know whose words shall stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shall bee a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visite you in this place, that ye may know that my words shall surely stand against you for euill.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I will p giue Pharaoh Hophra king of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seeke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah king of Iudah into the hand of Nebuchad-rezzar king of Babel his enemie, who also sought his life.

2 Hee propheseth the destruction of Egypt. 27 Deliuerance is promised to Israel.

THe wordes of the Lord, which came to Ieremiah the Prophet against the [a] Gentiles,

2 As against Egypt, against the armie of [b] Pharaoh Necho King of Egypt, which was by the riuer Perath in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-rezzar King of Babel smote in the fourth yeere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah king of Iudah.

3 [c] Make ready buckler and shield, and goe forth to battell.

4 Make ready the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, and stand vp with your sallets, furbish the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 [d] Wherefore haue I seene them afraid, and driuen backe? for their mighty men are smitten, and are fled away, & looke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shall not flee away, nor the strong men escape: they shall stumble and fall toward the [e] North by the riuer Perath.

7 Who is this, that commeth vp as [f] a flood, whose waters are mooued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are mooued like the riuers, and hee saith, I will goe vp, and will couer the earth: I will destroy the citie with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp, yee horses, and rage yee charets, and let the valiant men come forth, [g] the blacke Moores, and the Libyans that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle and bend the bow.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hosts, and a day of vengeance, that he may auenge him of his enemies: for the sword shal deuoure, and it shalbe satiate, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hosts hath [h] a sacrifice in the North countrey [i] by the riuer Perath.

19 O thou daughter dwelling in Egypt, make thee geare to goe into captiuitie: for Noph shall be waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

a That is, nine nations, which are round about the land of Egypt b Reade 2. King. 23.29. and 24.7. and 2 Chron. 35.20.

c Hee willeth the Egyptians to prepare themselues to warre.

d The Prophet had this vision of the Egyptians, which should be put to flight of the Babylonians at Carchemish.

e The Babylonians shall discomfite them at the riuer Euphrates.

f He derideth the boastings of the Egyptians, who thought by their riches and power to haue ouercome all the world, alluding to the riuer Nilus, which at certaine times ouerfloweth the countrey of Egypt.

g For these nations tooke part with the Egyptians h Hee calleth the slaughter of Gods enemies, a sacrifice, because it is a thing that doth please him, Isa. 34.6.

i That is, at Carchemish.

k For at Gilead did grow most soueraign balme for wounds.

l So called, because Egypt had not yet ben ouercome by the enemie.

m He sheweth that no salue or medicine can preuaile, whereas God giueth the wound.

n As they that should repent that they helped the Egyptians.

o He derideth them which shal impute their ouerthrow to lacke of counsel and policie, or to fortune, and not obseruing of time: nor considering that it is Gods iust iudgement.

p To wit, that the Egyptians shall be destroyed.

20 Egypt is like a faire calfe, but destruction commeth: out of the North it commeth.
21 Also her hired men [r] are in the mids of her like fat calues: they are also turned backe and fled away together: they could not stand because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, and the time of their visitation.
22 The voyce thereof shal goe forth like a [s] serpent: for they shall march with an army, and come against her with [t] axes, as hewers of wood.
23 They shall cut downe her [u] forest, saith the Lord: for they cannot be counted, because they are more then the [x] grashoppers, and are innumerable.
24 The daughter of Egypt shall be confounded: she shalbe deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.
25 ¶ Thus saieth the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I wil visit the [y] common people of No, and Pharaoh, & Egypt, with their gods, and their kings, euen Pharaoh, and all them that trust in him, 26 And I wil deliuer them into the hands of those that seeke their liues, and into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel: and into the hands of his seruants, and afterward she shall dwell as [z] in the olde time, saith the Lord.
27 ¶ [a] But feare not thou, O my seruant Iaakob, and be not thou afraid, O Israel: for behold, I will deliuer thee from a farre countrey, and thy seed from the land of their captiuitie, and Iaakob shal returne and be in rest and prosperity, and none shall make him afraid.
28 Feare thou not, O Iaakob my seruant, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, & I will vtterly destroy all the nations, whither I haue driuen thee: but I will not vtterly destroy thee, but correct [b] thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee off.

q They haue abundance of all things, and therfore are disobedient & proude.
r As verse 9.
s They shall be scarce able to speake for feare of the Caldeans.
t Meaning, Egypt.
u That is, they shall slay the great & mighty men of power.
x To wit, Nebuchadnezzars armie.
y Some take the Ebrew word Amon for the kings name of No, that is, of Alexandria.
z Meaning, that after the space of fortie yeeres, Egypt should be restored, Isa. 19. 23. Ezek. 29. 13.
a God comforteth all his that were in captiuitie but specially the small Church of the Iewes, whereof were Ieremiah and Baruch, which remained among the Egyptians: for the Lord neuer forsaketh his, Isa. 44. 2. chap. 30. 10. b Read Chap. 10 24.

CHAP. XLVII.

The word of the Lord against the Philistims.

THe words of the Lord that came to Ieremiah the Prophet against ỳ Philistims, before that Pharaoh smote [a] Azzah.
2 Thus saith the Lord, Behold, waters rise vp out of the [b] North, and shall be as a swelling flood, and shall ouerflow the land, and all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shall crie, and all the inhabitants of the land shall howle,
3 At the noise and stamping of the hoofes of his strong horses, at ỳ noise of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheeles: the fathers shall not [c] looke backe to their children, for feeblenesse of [d] hands.
4 Because of the day that commeth to destroy all the Philistims, & to destroy Tyrus and Zidon, and all the rest that take their part: for the Lord will destroy the Philistims, the remnant of the ile of [e] Caphtor.
5 [f] Baldnesse is come vpon Azzah: Ashkelon is cut vp with the rest of their valleyes. How long wilt thou cut thy selfe?
6 O thou sword of the Lord, how long wil it be or thou cease: turne againe into thy scabberd, rest and be still.
7 How can it [h] cease, seeing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelon, and against the sea banke? euen there hath hee appointed it.

a Which was also called Gaza, a citie of the Philistims.
b He meaneth the army of the Caldeans. Isa. 8. 7, 8.
c The great feare shall take away their naturall affection.
d Their heart shall so faile them. e For the Caphtorims, which are also called Cappadocians, had destroyed in old time the Philistims, and dwelt in their land, euen to Gaza, Deut. 2. 23.
f They haue pulled off their haire for sorrow and heauinesse.
g As the heathen vsed in their mourning, which the Lord forbade his people to do, Deut. 14 1.
h Meaning, that it is not possible that the wicked should by any meanes escape or stay the Lord when he will take vengeance.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The word of the Lord against the Moabites, 26 because of their pride and cruelty.

COncerning Moab, thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Woe vnto [a] Nebo: for it is wasted: Kiriathaim is confounded and taken: Misgab is confounded and afraid.
2 Moab shall boast no more of Heshbon: for they haue deuised euil against it. [b] Come, and let vs destroy it, that it be no more a nation: also, thou shalt be destroyed, [c] O Madmen, and the sword shall pursue thee.
3 A voice of crying shall be from Horonaim with desolation and great destruction.
4 Moab is destroyed: her little ones haue caused their cry to be heard.
5 For at the going vp of [d] Luhith, the mourner shall goe vp with weeping: for in the going downe of Horonaim, the enemies haue heard a cry of destruction.
6 Flee and saue your liues, and be like vnto the [e] heath in the wildernesse.
7 For because thou hast trusted in thy [f] works and in thy treasures, thou shalt also be taken, and [g] Chemosh shall goe forth into captiuity with his Priests and his Princes together.
8 And the destroyer shall come vpon all cities, and no citie shall escape: the valley also shall perish, and the plaine shall be destroyed as the Lord hath spoken.
9 Giue wings vnto Moab, that it may flee and get away: for the cities thereof shall be desolate, without any to dwell therein.
10 [h] Cursed be he that doeth the worke of the Lord || negligently, and cursed be he that keepeth backe his sword from blood.
11 Moab hath bin at rest from his youth, and he hath setled on his lees, and hath not bene [i] powred from vessell to vessell, neither hath hee gone into captiuitie: therefore his taste remained in him, and his scent is not changed.
12 ¶ Therefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will send vnto him such as shall cary him away, and shall empty his vessels, and breake their bottels.

a These were cities of the Moabites which Nebuchad-nezzar tooke before hee went to fight against Necho king of Egypt.
b Thus shall the Babylonians incourage one another.
c Reade Isa. 25. 10.
d Horonaim and Luhith were two places whereby the Moabites should flee, Isa. 15. 5.
e Hide your selues in barren places, where the enemie will not pursue after you. Chap. 17. 6.
f That is, the idoles which are the workes of thine hands. Some reade in thy possessions: for so the word may signifie, as 1. Sam. 25. 2.
g Both thy great idole & his maintainers shall be led away captiues, so that they shall then know that it is in vaine to looke for helpe at idoles, Isa. 15. 2.
h He sheweth that God would punish the Caldeans, if they did not destroy the Egyptians, and that with a courage, & called this executing of his vengeance against his enemies, his worke: though the Caldeans sought an other end, Isa. 10. 12. [Or, deceitfully. i Hath not bene remoued as the Iewes haue, but hath liued at ease, and as a wine that feedeth it selfe on his lees.

13 And Moab shall be ashamed of Chemosh, as the house of Israel was ashamed of k Bethel their confidence.

14 How thinke you then, We are mightie and strong men of warre?

15 Moab is destroyed & his cities ‡burnt vp, and his chosen yong men are gone downe to slaughter, saieth the king, whose name is, The Lord of hostes.

16 The destruction of Moab is ready to come, and his plague hasteth fast.

17 All ye that are about him, mourne for him, and all ye that know his Name, say, l How is the strong staffe broken, and the beautifull rod!

18 Thou daughter that doest inhabit Dibon, come downe from thy glory, and sit in thirst: for the destroyer of Moab shall come vp vpon thee, and he shall destroy thy strong holds.

19 Thou that dwellest in Aroer, stand by the way, and behold: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, and say, What is done?

20 m Moab is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and cry, tell ye it in Arnon, that Moab is made waste.

21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holon, & vpon Jahazah, and vpon Mephaath, 22 And vpon Dibon, and vpon Nebo, and vpon the house of Diblathaim, 23 And vpon Kiriathaim, & vpon Bethgamul, and vpon Beth-meon, 24 And vpon Kerioth, and vpon Bozrah, and vpon all the cities of the Land of Moab farre or neere.

25 The n horne of Moab is cut off, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.

26 Make ye him o drunken: for he magnified himselfe against the Lord: Moab shall ‖ wallow in his vomite, and hee also shall be in derision.

27 For didst not thou deride Israel, as though hee had bene found among theeues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art moued.

28 O yee that dwell in Moab, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and bee like the doue that maketh her nest in the sides of the holes mouth.

29 *We haue heard the pride of Moab (he is exceeding proud) his stoutnesse, and his arrogancy and his pride, and the hautinesse of his heart.

30 I know his wrath, saith the Lord, q but it shall not be so: & his dissimulations, for they doe not right.

31 r Therefore will I howle for Moab and I will cry out for all Moab: mine heart shall mourne for the men of Kir-heres.

32 O vine of Sibmah, I will weep for thee as I wept for Jazer: thy plants are gone ouer the sea, they are come to the sea s of Jazer: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy summer fruits, and vpon vpon thy vintage, 33 And ioy and gladnes is taken from the plentifull field, and from the land of Moab: and I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shall tread with shouting: their shouting shall be no shouting.

34 From the cry of Heshbon vnto Elaleh, and vnto Jahaz haue they made their noyse: from Zoar vnto Horonaim, the t heifer of three yeere old shall goe lowing: for the waters also of Nimrim shall be wasted.

35 Moreouer, I will cause to cease in Moab, saith the Lord, him that offreth in the hie places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.

36 Therefore mine heart shall sound for Moab like a u shaume, and mine heart shall sound like a shaume for the men of Kir-heres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.

37 * For euery head shall be ‖ balde, and euery beard plucked: vpon all the handes shall be cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackecloth.

38 And mourning shall bee vpon all the house tops of Moab, and in all the streetes thereof: for I haue broken Moab like a vessell wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.

39 They shall howle, saying, How is hee destroyed? how hath Moab turned the back with shame? so shall Moab be a derision and a feare to all them about him.

40 For thus saith the Lord, Behold, x he shall flee as an Eagle, and shall spreade his wings ouer Moab.

41 The cities are taken, and the strong holds are woone, & the mightie mens hearts in Moab at that day, shall be as the heart of a woman in trauaile.

42 And Moab shalbe destroyed from being a people, because hee hath set vp himselfe against the Lord.

43 y Feare, and pit and snare shalbe vpon thee, O inhabitant of Moab, saith the Lord.

44 He that escapeth from the feare, shall fall in the pit, & hee that getteth vp out of the pit, shalbe taken in the snare: for I will bring vpon it, euen vpon Moab, the yeere of their visitation, saith the Lord.

45 They that fled, stood vnder the shadow of z Heshbon, because of the force: for a the fire came out of Heshbon, and a flame from Sihon, and deuoured the corner of Moab, and the top of the seditious children.

46 Woe be vnto thee, O Moab: the people of b Chemosh perisheth: for thy sonnes are taken captiues, and thy daughters led into captiuitie.

47 Yet will I bring againe the captiuitie of Moab in the c latter dayes, saith the Lord. Thus farre of the iudgement of Moab.

warre to bee heard in d Rabbah of the Ammonites, and it shall be a desolate heape, and her daughters shall be burnt with fire: then shall Israel possesse those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

3 Howle, O Heshbon, for Ai is wasted: cry ye daughters of Rabbah: gird you with sackcloth: mourne and runne to and fro by the hedges, for their king shall goe into captiuitie, and his Priests, and his Princes likewise.

4 Wherefore gloriest thou in the e valleys? thy valley floweth away, O rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shall come vnto me?

5 Behold, I will bring a f feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hosts, of all those that be about thee, and ye shall be scattered euery man g right forth, and none shall gather him that fleeth.

6 And h afterward I will bring againe the captiuity of the children of Ammon.

7 ¶ To Edom thus saith the Lord of hosts, Is wisedome no more in i Teman? Is counsell perished from their children? Is their wisedome vanished?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedan (k they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue brought the destruction of Esau vpon him, and the time of his visitation, 9 If the l grape gatherers come to thee, would they not leaue some grapes? if theeues come by night, they will destroy till they haue enough.

10 For I haue discouered Esau: I haue vncouered his secrets, and hee shall not bee able to hide himselfe: his seed is wasted, and his brethren and his neighbours, and there shall be none to say, 11 Leaue thy m fatherlesse children, and I wil preserue them aliue, and let the widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, n Behold, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cup haue assuredly drunken, and art thou he that shall escape free? thou shalt not go free, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my selfe, saith the Lord, that o Bozrah shall bee waste, and for a reproch, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shall be perpetuall desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassador is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, & come against p her, and rise vp to battell.

15 For loe, I will make thee but small among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy ‖ feare, & the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocke, and keepest the height of the hill: though thou shouldest make thy nest as high as the eagle, I will bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 ¶ Also Edom shall be desolate: euery one that goeth by it, shall be astonished, and shall hisse at all the plagues thereof.

18 As in the ouerthrow of Sodome, and of Gomorah, and the places thereof neere about, saieth the Lord: no man shall dwell there, neither shall the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Behold, q he shall come vp like a lion from the swelling of Iorden vnto the strong dwelling place: for I shall make Israel to rest, euen I will make r him to haste away from her, and who is a chosen man that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? and who will appoint mee the time? and who is the s shepheard that will stand before mee?

20 Therefore heare the counsell of the Lord that hee hath deuised against Edom, and his purpose that hee hath conceiued against the inhabitants of Teman: surely the least t of the flocke shal draw them out: surely u he shall make their habitations desolate with them.

21 The earth is moued at the noyse of their fall: the cry of their voyce is heard in the red sea.

22 Behold, he shall come vp, and flee as the eagle, x and spread his wings ouer Bozrah, & at that day shal the heart of the strong men of Edom be as the heart of a woman in trauell.

23 ¶ Unto y Damascus he saith, Hamath is confounded, & Arpad, for they haue heard euill tidings, and they are faint hearted as one in the fearefull sea that cannot rest.

24 Damascus is discouraged, & turneth her selfe to flight, z & feare hath seazed her: anguish and sorrowes haue taken her as a woman in trauel.

25 How is the glorious a citie not reserued, the city of my ioy!

26 Therefore her yong men shall fall in her streets, and all her men of warre shall be cut off in that day, saith the Lord of hosts.

27 And I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damascus, which shall consume the palaces of b Benhadad.

28 ¶ Unto c Kedar and to the kingdoms of Hazor, which Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel shall smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, and goe vp vnto Kedar, and destroy the men of the East.

29 Their tents and their flocks shal they take away: yea, they shall take to themselues their d curtaines, and all their vessels, and their camels, and they shall crie vnto them, Feare is on euery side.

30 Flee, get you farre off (e they haue consulted to dwell) O yee inhabitants of Hazor, saith the Lord: for Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath taken counsell against you, and hath deuised a purpose against you.

31 f Arise, and get you vp vnto the wealthy nation, that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord: which haue neither gates nor bars, but dwell alone.

CHAP. L.

Hee propheſieth the deſtruction of Babylon, and the deliuerance of Iſrael which was in captiuitie.

THe word that the Lord spake concerning Babel, and concerning the land of the Caldeans, by the ‡ ministery of Ieremiah the Prophet.

2 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it and conceale it not: say, a Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, b Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

3 For out of the North there c commeth vp a nation against her, which shall make her land waste, and none shall dwell therin: they shall flee and depart, both man & beast.

4 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shall d come, they, and the children of Iudah together, going, and e weeping shall they go, and seeke the Lord their God.

5 They shall aske the way to Zion, with their faces thitherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetuall couenant that shall not be forgotten.

6 ¶ My people hath been as lost sheepe: their f shepheards haue caused them to goe astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from g mountaine to hill, and forgotten their resting place.

7 All that found them, haue deuoured them, & their enemies said, Wee offend not, because they haue sinned against the Lord, h the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

8 i Flee from the middest of Babel, and depart out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the hee goats k before the flocke.

9 For loe, I will raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mighty nations from the North country, and they shall set themselues in aray against her, whereby she shalbe taken: their arrowes shalbe as of a strong man which is expert, for none shall returne in vaine.

10 And Caldea shall be a spoile: all that spoyle her, l shall bee satisfied, sayeth the Lord.

11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, and because ye are growen fat, as the calues in the grasse, m and neyed like strong horses, 12 Therefore your mother shall bee sore confounded, and she that bare you shall bee ashamed: behold, the vttermost of the nations shall be a desert, a dry land and a wildernesse.

13 Because of the wrath of the Lord, it shall not be inhabited, but shalbe wholly desolate: euery one that goeth by Babel, shalbe astonished, and n hisse at all her plagues.

14 o Put your selues in aray against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bowe, shoot at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath p sinned against the Lord.

15 Crie against her round about: shee hath || giuen her hand: her foundations are fallen, and her walles are destroyed: for it is the vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as shee hath done, doe vnto her.

16 Destroy the q sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sickle in the time of harueſt: because of the sword of the oppressour they shall turne euery one to his people, and they shall flee euery one to his owne land.

17 Israel is like scattered sheepe: the lyons haue dispersed them: first the king r of Ashur hath deuoured him, and last this Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel hath broken f his bones.

18 Therfore thus saith the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Behold, I will visite the king of Babel and his land, as I haue visited the king of Ashur.

19 And I will bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shall feed on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shall be satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.

20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shall bee sought for, and there shall bee none: and the sinnes of Iudah, and they shall not be found: for I will bee mercifull vnto them, whom I reserue.

21 Goe vp against the land of the t rebels, euen against it, and against the inhabitants * of || Pekod: destroy, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and doe according to all that I haue commanded thee.

22 A cry of battell is in the land, and of great destruction.

23 How is the u hammer of the whole world destroyed and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!

CHAP. LI.

6 Why Babylon is destroyed. 41 The vaine confidence of the Babylonians. 49 The vanity of idolaters. 59 Ieremiah giueth his booke to Sheraiah.

THus saith the Lord, Behold, I will raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants ‖ that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying * wind, a The Medes & Persians that shall destroy them as the wind doth the chaffe.

‖ Or, of the land that riseth vp.

2 And will send vnto Babel fanners that shall fanne her, & shall emptie her land: for in the day of trouble they shalbe against her on euery side.

b Though they were forsaken for a time, yet they were not vtterly cast off as though their husband were dead.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bow, and to him that lifteth himselfe vp in his brigandine, will I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroy all her host.

c He sheweth ỹ there remaineth nothing for them that abide in Babylon, but destruction, Chap. 17. 6 and 48. 6.

4 Thus the slaine shall fall in the land of the Caldeans, & they that are thrust through in her streetes.

5 For Israel hath beene no b widow, nor Judah frō his God, from the Lord of hostes, though their land was filled with sinne against the Holy one of Israel.

d By whom the Lord powred out the drinke of his vengeance to whom it pleased him.

6 ¶ c Flee out of the mids of Babel, and deliuer euery man his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: hee will render vnto her a recompense.

e For the great afflictions ỹ they haue fell by the Babylonians. Isa. 21. 9. Reuel. 14. 8.

7 Babel hath beene as a golden cup in the d Lords hands, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunke of her wine, therefore doe the nations c rage.

8 * Babel is suddenly fallen, and destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We would haue cured Babel, but shee could not be healed, forsake her, and let f vs goe euery one into his owne countrey: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, and is lifted vp to the clouds.

f Thus the people of God exhort one another to goe to Zion and praise God.

g In approuing our cause and punishing our enemies.

20 Thou art n mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee will I breake the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdomes.

n He meaneth the Medes and Persians, as he did before call the Babylonians his hammer, Chap. 50. 23.

21 And by thee will I breake horse and horseman, and by thee will I breake the charet, and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also will I breake man and woman, and by thee will I breake olde and young, and by thee will I breake the young man and the maide.

23 I will also breake by thee the shepheard and his flocke, and by thee will I breake the husbandman and his yoke of oxen, and by thee will I breake the Dukes and Princes.

24 And I will render vnto Babel, and to all the inhabitants of the Caldeans all their euil, that they haue done in Zion, euen in your sight, saith the Lord.

o Not that Babylon stood on a mountaine, but because it was strong and reputed inuincible.

27 Set vp a standard in the land: blow the trumpets among the nations: prepare the nations against her: call vp the kingdomes of q Ararat, Minni, and Aschenaz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillars.

q By these three nations he meaneth Armenia the higher and Armenia the lower, and Scythia: for Cyrus had gathered an armie of diuers nations, 28 Prepare against her the nations with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, and the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shall tremble and sorow: for the deuice of the Lord shall be performed against Babel, to make the land of Babel waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strong men of Babel haue ceased to fight, they haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and they were like women: they haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A poste shall runne to meete the poste, and a messenger to meete the messenger, to shew the King of Babel, that his city is taken on a r side thereof, r By turning the course of the riuer, one side was made open, and the reedes that did grow in the water, were destroyed, which Cyrus did by the counsell of Gobria, and Gabbatha Belshazzars captaines.

32 And that the passages are stopped, and the reedes burnt with fire, and the men of warre troubled.

33 For thus sayth the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, The daughter of Babel is like a threshing flore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a little while, and the time of her haruest s shall come.

s When she shall bee cut vp and threshed.

34 Nebuchad-nezzar the King of Babel hath t deuoured me, and destroyed mee: hee hath made me an empty vessell: he swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belly with my delicates, and hath cast me out.

t This is spoken in the person of the Iewes, bewailing their state and the cruelty of the Babylonians.

35 The spoile of me, and that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babel, shall the inhabitant of Zion say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, shall Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus sayth the Lord, Behold, I will maintaine thy u cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I will dry vp the sea, and dry vp her springs, u Thus the Lord esteemeth the iniurie done to his Church as done to himselfe, because their cause is his 37 And Babel shall be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant.

38 They shall roare together like lyons, and yell as the lyons whelpes.

39 In their x heate I will make them feasts, and I will make them drunken that they may reioyce, and sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

x When they are inflamed with surfeiting and drinking, I will feast with them, alluding to Belshazzars banket, Dan. 5. 2.

40 I will bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, and like rammes and goates.

41 How is y Sheshach taken! and how is the glory of the whole earth taken! how is Babel become an astonishment among the nations!

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is drie and a wildernesse, a land wherein no man dwelleth, neither doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I will also visite Bel in Babel, and I will bring out of his mouth, that which [a] he hath swallowed vp, and the nations shall runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babel shall fall.

45 My people, goe out of the mids of her, and deliuer yee euery man his soule from the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Lest your heart faint, and ye feare the rumor that shall be heard in the land: the rumor shall come this yeere, and after that in the other [b] yeere shall come a rumor, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore behold, the dayes come, that I will visite the images of Babel, and the whole land shall bee confounded, and all her slaine shall fall in the mids of her.

48 Then the heauen and the [c] earth, and all that is therein, shall reioyce for Babel: for the destroyers shall come vnto her from the North, saith the Lord.

49 As Babel caused the [d] slaine of Israel to fall, so by Babel the slaine of all the earth did fall.

50 Ye that haue [e] escaped the sword, goe away, stand not still: remember the Lord afarre off, and let Jerusalem come into your minde.

52 Wherefore behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I will visite her grauen images, and through all her land the wounded shall grone.

53 Though Babel should mount vp to [g] heauen, and though shee should defend her strength on high, yet from mee shall her destroyers come, saith the Lord.

54 A sound of a crie commeth from Babel, and great destruction from the land of the Caldeans, 55 Because the Lord hath layde Babel waste, & destroyed from her the great voyce, and her waues shall roare like great waters, and a sound was made by their noise:

56 Because the destroyer is come vpon her, euen vpon Babel, and her strong men are taken, their bowes are broken: for the Lord God that recompenseth, shall surely recompense.

57 And I wil [h] make drunke her Princes, and her wise men, her dukes and her nobles, and her strong men: and they shall sleepe a perpetuall sleepe, and not wake, saith the King, whose name is the Lord of hosts.

58 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The [i] thicke wall of Babel shalbe broken, and her high gates shall be burnt with fire, and the people shall labour in vaine, and the folke in the fire, for they shalbe wearie.

59 The word which Jeremiah the Prophet commanded Sheratah the sonne of Neriah, the sonne of Maaseiah, when he went with Zedekiah the king of Judah into Babel, in the [k] fourth yeere of his reigne: and this Seraiah was a peaceable prince.

60 So Jeremiah wrote in a booke all the euill that should come vpon Babel: euen all these things that are written against Babel.

61 And Jeremiah said to Seraiah, When thou commest vnto Babel and shalt see, and shalt reade all these words, 62 Then shalt thou say, O Lord, thou hast spoken against this place to destroy it, that none should remaine in it, neither man nor beast, but that it should be desolate for euer.

63 And when thou hast made an ende of reading this booke, thou shalt binde a [l] stone to it, and cast it in the midst of Euphrates, a That is, his gifts and presents which he had receiued as part of the spoyle of other nations, and which the idolaters brought vnto him from all countreys.

64 And shalt say, Thus shall Babel bee drowned and shal not rise from the euil, that I will bring vpon her, & they shall [m] be wearie. Thus farre are the words of Jeremiah.

b Meaning, that Babylon should not be destroyed all at once, but by little and little should bee brought to nothing: for the first yeere came the tidings, the next yeere the siege, and in the third yeere it was taken, yet this is not that horrible destruction which the Prophets threatned in many places: for that was after this, when they rebelled, and Darius ouercame them by the policy of Zopyrus, and hanged three thousand gentlemen besides the common people.

c All creatures in heauen and earth shall reioyce and prayse God for the destruction of Babylon the great enemie of his Church.

CHAP. LII.

4 Jerusalem is taken. 10 Zedekiahs sonnes are killed before his face, and his eyes put out. 13 The citie is burned. 31 Iehoiachin is brought foorth of prison and fed like a King.

ZEdekiah [a] was one and twentie yeere old when he began to reigne, and he reigned eleuen yeeres in Jerusalem, and his mothers name was Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

a 2. King. 24. 18. 2. chron. 36. 11.

2 And he did euil in the ties of the Lord, according to all that Iehoiakim had done.

3 [a] Doubtlesse because the wrath of the Lord was against Jerusalem and Judah, till hee had cast them out from his presence, therefore Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babel.

a So the Lord punished sinne by sinne, and gaue him vp to his rebellious heart, till he had brought the enemie vpon him to leade him away and his people.

4 [a] But in the ninth yeere of his reigne, in the tenth moneth, the tenth day of the moneth came Nebuchadnezzar king of Babel, hee and all his hoste against Jerusalem, and pitched against it, and built forts against it round about.

a 2. King 25. 1. and chap. 39. 1.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto the eleuenth yeere of the king Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp, and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the [b] way of the gate betweene the two walles, which was by the kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie round about) and they went by the way of the wildernesse.

b Reade Chap. 39. 4.

8 But the armie of the Caldeans pursued after the king, and tooke Zedekiah in the desert of Jericho, and all his host was scattered from him.

9 Then they tooke the king, and carried him vp to the king of Babel to Riblah in the land of Hamath, [c] where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

c Reade 2. King. 25. 6. and Chap. 39. 5.

10 And the king of Babel slew the sonnes of Zedekiah before his eyes: he slew also all the princes of Judah in Riblah.

11 Then he put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and the king of Babel bound him in chaines and caried him to Babel, and put him in prison till the day of his death.

12 Now in the fift moneth, in the [d] tenth day of the moneth (which was the nineteenth yeere of the King Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel) came Nebuzar-adan chiefe steward which [e] stod before the king of Babel in Ierusalem, 13 And burnt the house of the Lord, & the Kings house, & all the houses of Ierusalem, and all the great houses burnt he with fire.

14 And all the army of the Caldeans that were with the chiefe steward, brake downe all the wals of Ierusalem round about.

15 Then Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caried away captiue certaine of the poore of the people, and the residue of the people that remained in the citie, & those that were fled, and fallen to the king of Babel, with the rest of the multitude.

16 But Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward left certaine of the poore of the land, to dresse the vines, and to till the land.

17 Also the [f] pillars of brasse that were in the house of the Lord, and the bases, & the brasen sea that was in the house of the Lord, the Caldeans brake, and caried all the brasse of them to Babel.

18 The pots also and the [g] besoms, and the instruments of musicke, and the basins, & the incense dishes, and all the vessels of brasse wherewith they ministred, toke they away.

19 And the bowles, and the ashpans, and the basins, and the pots, & the candlesticks, and the incense dishes, and the cups, and all that was of gold, & that was of siluer, toke the chiefe steward away,

20 With the two pillars, one Sea, and twelue brasen buls, that were vnder the bases, which King Salomon had made in the house of the Lord: the brasse of all these vessels was without [h] weight.

21 And concerning the pillars, the height of one pillar was eighteene cubites, and a threed of twelue cubites did compasse it, and the thicknes therof was foure fingers: it was hollow.

22 And a chapiter of brasse was vpon it, and the height of one chapiter was fiue cubites with net worke, and pomegranates vpon the chapiters round about, all of brasse, the second pillar also, and the pomegranates were like vnto these.

23 And there were ninetie and fiue pomegranates on a side: and all the pomegranates vpon the net worke were [i] an hundreth round about.

24 And the chiefe steward toke Sheraiah the chiefe Priest, and Zephaniah [k] the second Priest, and the three keepers of the dore.

25 He toke also out of the citie an eunuch which had the ouersight of the men of warre and [k] seuen men that were in the Kings presence which were found in the citie, and Sopher captaine of the hoste who mustered the people of the land, and three score men of the people of the land, that were found in the mids of the citie.

26 Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward toke them, and brought them to the King of Babel to Riblah.

27 And the king of Babel smote them, and slew them in Riblah, in the land of Hamath: thus Iudah was caryed away captiue out of his owne land.

28 ¶ This is the people, whom Nebuchadnezzar caried away captiue in the [m] seuenth yeere, euen three thousand Iewes and three and twentie.

29 In the [n] eighteenth yeere of Nebuchadnezzar he caried away captiue from Ierusalem eight hundred thirtie and two persons.

30 In the three and twentieth yere of Nebuchad nezzar, Nebuzar-adan the chiefe steward caryed away captiue of the Iewes seuen hundreth fourtie and fiue persons: all the persons were foure thousand and sixe hundreth.

31 And in the seuen and thirtieth yeere of the captiuitie of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, in the twelfth moneth, in the fiue and twentieth day of the moneth, Euil-merodach king of Babel, in the first yeere of his reigne, [o] lifted vp the head of Iehoiachin king of Iudah, and brought him out of prison,

32 And spake kindly vnto him, and set his throne aboue the throne of the kings, that were with him in Babel, 33 And changed his prison [p] garments, and he did continually eate bread before him all the dayes of his life.

34 His portion was a [q] continuall portion giuen him of the king of Babel, euery day a certaine, all the dayes of his life, vntill he died.

no man commeth r to the solemne feasts: all her gates are desolate: her Priests sigh: her virgins are discomfited, and thee is in ‡ heauinesse.

5 Her aduersaries s are the chiefe, and her enemies prosper: for the Lord hath afflicted her for the multitude of her transgressions, and her children are gone into captiuitie before the enemie.

6 And from the daughter of Zion all her beautie is departed her: Princes are become h like harts that find no pasture: and they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

7 Ierusalem remembred the dayes of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things that shee had in times past, when her people i fell into the hand of the enemie, and none did helpe her: the aduersaries saw her, and did mocke at her k Sabbaths.

8 Ierusalem hath grieuously sinned, and therefore she is in ‖ derision: all that honoured her, despise her, because they haue seene her filthinesse: yea, shee sigheth and turneth backward.

9 l Her filthinesse is in her skirts: she remembred not her last end, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, behold mine affliction: for the enemie ‡ is proud.

10 The enemie hath stretched out his hand vpon all her pleasant things: for shee hath seene the heathen enter into her Sanctuary, whom m thou diddest command, that they should not enter into thy Church.

11 All her people sigh and seeke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meate to refresh the soule: see, O Lord, and consider: for I am become vile.

12 Haue ye no regard, all ye that passe by this way? behold, and see, if there be any n sorrow like vnto my sorrow, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hath afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

13 From aboue hath o he sent fire into my bones, which preuaileth against them: hee hath spred a net for my feet, and turned mee backe: he hath made mee desolate, and daily in heauinesse.

14 The p yoke of my transgressions is bound vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke, hee hath made my strength to fall: the Lord hath deliuered me into their hands, neither am I able to rise vp.

15 The Lord hath troden vnder foote all my valiant men in the mids of me: hee hath called an assembly against me to destroy my young men: the Lord hath troden q the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

16 * For these things I weepe: mine eye, euen mine eye casteth out water, because the Comforter that should refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemie preuailed.

17 Zion stretcheth out her handes, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hath appointed the enemies of Iaakob round about him, Ierusalem is t as a menstruous woman in the mids of them.

18 The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his ‡ commandement: heare, I pray you all people, and behold my sorrow: my virgins and my young men are gone into captiuitie.

19 I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie, while they u sought their meat to refresh their soules.

20 Behold, O Lord, how I am troubled my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within mee: for I am full of heauinesse: the sword spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home.

21 They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort mee: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, and are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day that thou hast pronounced, and they shal be like vnto mee.

CHAP. II.

HOw hath the Lord a darkened ‖ the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hath cast downe from b heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, and remembred not his c footstoole in the day of his wrath!

2 The Lord hath destroyed all the habitations of Iaakob, and not spared: he hath throwen downe in his wrath the strong holds of the daughter of Iudah: he hath cast them down to the ground: he hath polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

3 Hee hath cut off in his fierce wrath all the d horne of Israel: he hath drawen backe his e right hand from before the enemie, and there was kindled in Iaakob like a flame of fire, which deuoured round about.

4 Hee hath f bent his bow like an enemie: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slew all that was pleasant to the eye in the Tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fire.

5 The Lord was as an enemie: he hath deuoured Israel, and consumed all his palaces: he hath destroyed his strong holds, and hath increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentation and mourning.

6 For he hath destroyed his Tabernacle, as a garden he hath destroyed his congregation: the Lorde hath caused the feastes and Sabbaths to be forgotten in Zion, and hath despised in the indignation of his wrath the King and the Priest.

7 The Lord hath forsaken his altar: hee hath abhorred his Sanctuary: he hath giuen into the hand of the enemie the walles of her palaces: they haue made a g noise in the house of the Lord, as in the day of solemnitie.

8 The Lord hath determined to destroy the wall of the daughter of Zion: hee stretched out a line: he hath not withdrawen his hand from destroying: therefore hee made

10 The elders of the daughter of Zion sit vpon the ground, and keepe silence: they haue cast vp dust vpon their heads: they haue girded themselues with sackcloth: the virgins of Ierusalem hang down their heads to the ground.

11 Mine eyes doe faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred vpon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings ‖ swoone in the streets of the citie.

13 [i] What thing shall I take to witnesse for thee? What thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem? what shall I liken to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgin daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy Prophets haue [k] loked out vaine and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discouered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false ‖ prophesies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clappe their hands at thee: they hisse and wagge their head vpon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioy of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that wee loke for: we haue found and seene it.

17 *The Lord hath done that which hee hath purposed: he hath fulfilled his word that he hath determined of olde time: hee hath throwen downe, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemie to reioyce ouer thee, and set vp the horne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart* cryed vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, neither let the apple of thine eye cease.

19 Arise, cry in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift vp thine hands toward him for the life of the yong children, that faint for hunger in the corners of all the streets.

20 Behold, O Lord, & consider to whom thou hast done thus: shall the women eate their fruit, and children of a ‖ spanne long: shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuary of the Lord?

21 The yong & the old lie on the ground in the streets: my virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword: thou hast slaine them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my ‖ terrours round about: so that in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished & brought vp, hath mine enemie consumed.

CHAP. III.

I Am the man that hath seene [a] affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led mee, and brought me into darkenes, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against mee: hee turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skin hath hee caused to ware old, and he hath broken my bones.

5 He hath [b] builded against me, and compassed me with gall and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 Hee hath hedged about mee, that I cannot get out: hee hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crie and shout, he shutteth out my [c] prayer.

9 Hee hath [d] stopped vp my wayes with hewen stone, and turned away my paths.

10 [e] Hee was vnto me as a beare lying in wait, and as a lyon in the secret places.

11 He hath stopped my waies, and pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow, and made me a marke for the arrow.

13 He caused ✝ the arrowes of his quiuer to enter into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.

15 He hath filled me with bitternes, and made me drunken with [f] wormewood.

16 Hee hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre off from peace: I forgate prosperitie.

18 And I sayde, My strength and mine hope [g] is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, and my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled [h] in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lords [i] mercies that wee are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renued [k] euery morning: great is thy faithfulnesse.

24 The Lord is my [l] portion, saith my soule: therefore will I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them that a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false prophets and hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ier. 20.2.

b He speaketh this as one that felt Gods heauie iudgements, which he greatly feared, & therefore setteth them out with this diuersitie of words.

THE ARGVMENT.

AFter that Iehoiachin by the counſell of Ieremiah and Ezekiel had yeelded himſelfe to Nebuchad-nezzar, and ſo went into captiuitie with his mother and diuers of his princes, and of the people, certaine began to repent and murmure that they had obeyed the Prophets counſell, as though the thing which they had propheſied ſhould not come to paſſe: and therefore their eſtate ſhould be ſtill miſerable vnder the Caldeans. By reaſon whereof he confirmeth his former propheſies, declaring by new viſions and reuelations ſhewed vnto him, that the city ſhould moſt certainely be deſtroyed, and the people grieuouſly tormented by Gods plagues, inſomuch that they that remained ſhould bee brought into cruell bondage. And leſt the godly ſhould deſpaire in theſe great troubles, he aſſureth them that God will deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and alſo deſtroy their enemies which either afflicted them, or reioyced in their miſeries. The effect of the one and the other ſhould chiefly be performed vnder Chriſt, of whom in this booke are many notable promiſes, and in whom the glory of the new Temple ſhould perfectly be reſtored. He propheſied theſe things in Caldea at the ſame time that Ieremiah propheſied in Iudah, and there began in the fift yeere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

IT came to passe in the [a] thirtieth yeere, in the fourth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth (as I was among the captiues by the riuer [b] Chebar) that the heauens were opened, and I saw visions of [c] God.

2 In the fift day of the moneth (which was the fift yeere of king Ioiachins captiuitie.)

3 The word of the Lord came vnto Ezekiel the Priest, the sonne of Buzi, in the land of the Caldeans, by the riuer Chebar, where the [d] hand of the Lord was vpon him.

4 And I looked, and behold, a [e] whirlewinde came out of the North, a great cloud and a fire wrapped about it, and a brightnes was about it, and in the mids thereof, to wit, in the mids of the fire came out as the likenes of ‖ amber.

5 Also out of the mids thereof came the likenesse of foure [f] beastes, and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man.

6 And euery one had foure faces, and euery one had foure wings.

7 And their feete were straight feete, and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calues foot, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a man came out from vnder their wings in the foreparts of them, and they foure had their faces, and their wings.

9 They were [g] ioyned by their wings one to another, and when they went foorth, they returned not, but euery one went straight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as [h] the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lion on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an eagle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spread out aboue: two wings of euery one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euery one went straight forward: they went whither their ✱ spirit led them, and they returned not when they went foorth.

13 The similitude also of the beasts, and their appearance was like burning coales of fire, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fire ranne among the beasts, and the fire gaue a glister, and out of the fire there went lightning.

14 And the beasts ranne, and [i] returned like vnto lightning.

15 ¶ Now as I beheld the beastes, behold, a wheele appeared vpon the earth by the beasts, hauing foure faces.

16 The fashion of the wheeles and their worke was like vnto [k] a chrysolite: and they foure had one forme, and their fashion, and their worke was as one wheele in another wheele.

17 When they went, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not when they went.

18 They had also ‖ rings, and height, and were fearefull to behold, and their rings were full of eyes round about them foure.

19 And when the beasts went, the wheels went with them: and when the beasts were lift vp from the earth, the wheeles were lift vp.

20 Whither their spirit led them, they went, and thither did the spirit of the wheeles leade them, and the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

21 When the beasts went, they went, and when they stood, they stood, and when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheeles were lifted vp beside them: for the spirit of the beasts was in the wheeles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beasts was wonderful, like vnto chrystal, spread ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings straight, the one toward the other: euery one had two, which couered them, and euery one had two which couered their bodies.

24 And when they went foorth, I heard the noyse of their [l] wings, like the noyse of great waters, and as the voyce of the Almighty, euen the voyce of speach, as the noise of an hoste: and when they stood, they [m] let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament that was ouer their heads, when they stood, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heads, was the fashion of a throne like vnto a saphire stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I saw as the appearance of amber, and as the similitude of fire [n] round about within it to looke to, euen from his loynes vpward: and to looke to, euen from his loynes downeward, I saw as a likenesse of fire, and brightnesse round about it.

28 As the likenesse of the bow, that is in the cloud in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light round about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glory of the Lord: and when I saw it, I fell [o] vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

a After that the booke of the law was found, which was the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosiah, so that fiue and twenty yeeres after this booke was found, Ieconiah was led away captiue with Ezekiel (and many of the people) who the first yeere after saw these visions.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their error.

AND [a] he said vnto me, [b] Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy feet, and I will speake vnto thee.

2 [c] And the spirit entred into mee, when he had spoken vnto mee, and set me vpon my feete, so that I heard him that spake vnto mee.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, I send thee to the children of Israel, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled against me: for they and their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are ‡ impudent children, and stiffe hearted: I do send thee vnto them, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 But surely they will not heare, neither indeed will they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shall they know that [d] there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, [e] feare them not, neither be afraid of their wordes, although rebels, and thornes be with thee, and thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their words, nor be afraid at their lookes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my words vnto them: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: bee not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and [f] eat that I giue thee.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde, an hand was sent vnto mee, and loe, a roule of a booke was therein.

10 And he spread it before me, and it was written within and without, and there was written therein, [g] Lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

c So that he could not abide Gods presence til Gods spirit did enter into him.

d This declareth on the one part Gods great affection toward his people, that notwithstanding their rebellion, yet he will send his Prophets among them, and admonisheth his ministers on the other part that they cease not to doe their duety, though the people be neuer so obstinate: for the word of God shalbe either to their saluation or greater condemnation.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the word of God, and with the constant boldnesse of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuity. 17 The office of true ministers.

MOreouer hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, eate that thou findest: [a] eate this roule, and goe, and speake vnto the house of Israel.

2 So I opened my mouth, and hee gaue me this roule to eate.

3 And hee said vnto mee, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eate, and fill thy bowels with this roule that I giue thee. Then did I eate it, and it was in my mouth as sweete as hony.

4 And he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, go, and enter into the house of Israel, and declare them my words.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an ‡ vnknowen tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israel:

6 Not to many people of an vnknowen tongue, or of an hard langnage, whose words thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I should send thee to them, they would obey thee.

7 But the house of Israel will not obey thee: for they will not obey mee: yea, all the house of Israel are impudent and stiffe hearted.

8 Behold, I haue made thy face [b] strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamant, and harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, neither be afraid at their looks: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto mee, Sonne of man, [c] receiue in thine heart all my wordes that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares.

11 And goe and enter to them that are led away captiues, vnto the children of thy people, and speake vnto them, & tell them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they will not heare, neither will they indeed cease.

12 Then the spirit tooke mee vp, and I heard behind mee a noyse of a great rushing, saying, [d] Blessed be the glory of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beastes that touched one another, and the rattling of ỳ wheeles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great rushing.

14 So the Spirit lift mee vp, and tooke me away, and I [e] went in bitternesse, and indignation of my spirit, but the hand of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 Then I came to them that were led away captiues to [f] Tel-abib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebar, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished among them [g] seuen dayes.

16 And at the ende of seuen dayes, the word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying, 17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a [h] watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore heare the word at my mouth, and giue them warning from me.

18 When I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely die, and thou giuest not him warning, nor speakest to admonish the wicked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shall die in his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, and he turne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a [i] righteous man turne from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, I will lay a [k] stumbling blocke before him, and he shall die, because thou hast not giuen him warning: he shal die in his sinne, and his [l] righteous deedes, which hee hath done, shall not be remembred: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheless, if thou admonish that righteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shall liue because he is admonished: also thou hast deliuered thy soule.

22 And the [m] hand of the Lord was there vpon mee, and he said vnto mee, Arise, and

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israel. 16 An hunger is propheſied to come.

THou also sonne of man, take thee a brick, and lay it before thee, and purtray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalem.

2 And lay siege against it, and builde a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engines of warre against it round about.

3 Moreouer, take an [a] yron panne, and set it for a wall of yron betweene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shalbe a signe vnto the house of Israel.

4 Sleepe thou also vpon thy left side, and lay the iniquitie of the [b] house of Israel vpon it, according to the number of the dayes that thou shalt sleepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquity.

5 For I haue laid vpon thee the yeeres of their iniquity, according to the number of the dayes: euen three hundreth and ninetie dayes: so shalt thou beare the iniquity of the house of Israel.

6 And when thou hast accomplished them, sleepe againe vpon thy [c] right side, and thou shalt beare the iniquitie of the house of Iudah fourtie dayes: I haue appointed thee a day for a yeere, euen a day for a yeere.

7 Therefore thou shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalem, and thine [d] arme shalbe vncouered, and thou shalt propheſie against it.

8 Also behold, I will lay [e] bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another till thou hast ended the dayes of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt also take vnto thee wheate, and barley, and beanes, and lentils, and millet, and [f] fitches, and put them in one vessell, and make thee bread thereof according to the number of the dayes, that thou shalt sleepe vpon thy side: euen [g] three hundreth and ninety dayes shalt thou eate thereof.

10 And the meate whereof thou shalt eate, shall be by weight, euen [h] twenty shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eate thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the first part of an [i] Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eate it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it [k] in the dung that cōmeth out of man in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shall the children of Israel eate their defiled bread among the Gentiles whither I will cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, behold, my soule hath not beene polluted: for from my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, neither came there any [l] vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he sayd vnto me, Loe, I haue giuen thee bullocks [m] dung for mans dung, and thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreouer he said vnto mee, Sonne of man, behold, I will breake the [n] staffe of bread in Ierusalem, and they shall eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shall drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shall faile, they shalbe astonied one with another, and shall consume away for their iniquity.

AND thou sonne of man, take thee a sharp knife, or take thee a barbours rasor, and cause it [a] to passe vpon thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee ballances to weigh and diuide the haire.

2 Thou shalt burne with fire the third part in the middes of [b] the citie, when the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, and thou shalt take the other third part, and smite about it with a knife, and the last third part thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I will draw out a sword after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a few in number, and bind them in thy [c] lap.

3 And ſay, Ye mountaines of Iſrael, heare the word of the Lord God: thus ſayth the Lord God to the [a] mountaines & to the hils, to the riuers, and to the valleys, Behold, I, euen I will bring a ſword vpon you, and I will deſtroy your hie places:

4 And your altars ſhall be deſolate, and your images of the [b] ſunne ſhall be broken: and I wil caſt downe your ſlaine men before your idoles.

5 And I will lay the dead carkeiſes of the children of Iſrael before their [c] idoles, and I will ſcatter your bones round about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities ſhall be deſolate, and the high places ſhall be laid waſte, ſo that your altars ſhall be made waſte and deſolate, and your idoles ſhall bee broken and ceaſe, and your images of the ſunne ſhall be cut in pieces, and your workes ſhalbe aboliſhed.

7 And the ſlaine ſhall fall in the mids of you, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

8 Yet wil I leaue a remnant, [d] that you may haue ſome that ſhall eſcape the ſword among the nations, when you ſhall be ſcattered thorow the countreys.

9 And they that eſcape of you ſhall remember me among the nations, where they ſhall be in captiuitie, becauſe I am grieued for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone a whoring after their idoles, and they [e] ſhalbe diſpleaſed in themſelues for the euils which they haue committed in all their abominations.

10 And they ſhall knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not ſaid in vaine, that I would doe this euill vnto them.

11 Thus ſaith the Lord God, [f] Smite with thine hand, and ſtretch forth with thy foot, and ſay, Alas, for all the wicked abominations of the houſe of Iſrael: for they ſhall fall by the ſword, by the famine, and by the peſtilence.

12 He that is farre off, ſhall die of the peſtilence, and he that is neere, ſhall fall by the ſword, and he that remaineth & is beſieged, ſhall die by the famine, thus will I accompliſh my wrath vpon them.

The ende of all the lande of Iſrael ſhall ſuddenly come.

MOreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An end is come vnto the land of Israel: the end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now is the end come vpon thee, and I wil send my wrath vpon thee, and wil iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all [a] thine abominations.

4 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie: but I will lay thy wayes vpon thee: and thine abomination shall bee in the mids of thee, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

7 The [c] morning is come vnto thee, that dwellest in the land: the time is come, the day of trouble is neere, and not the [d] sounding againe of the mountaines.

8 Now I will shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfill mine anger vpon thee: I will iudge thee according to thy wayes, and will lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

9 Neither shall mine eye spare thee, neither will I haue pitie, but I will lay vpon thee according to thy wayes, and thine abominations shall bee in the mids of thee, and ye shall know that I am the Lord that smiteth.

10 Behold, the day, behold, it is come: the morning is gone forth, the [e] rod flourisheth: [f] pride hath budded.

11 [g] Crueltie is risen vp into a rod of wickednesse: none of them shall remaine, nor of their riches, nor of any of theirs, neither shall there be [h] lamentation for them.

12 The time is come, the day draweth neere, let not the buyer [i] reioyce, nor let him that selleth, [k] mourne: for the wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

13 For he that selleth, shal not [l] returne to that which is sold, although they were yet aliue: for the [m] vision was vnto all the multitude thereof, and they returned not, [n] neither doeth any incourage himselfe in the punishment of his life.

14 [o] They haue blowen the trumpet, and prepared all, but none goeth to the battell: for my wrath is vpon all the multitude thereof.

15 The sword is without, and the pestilence and the famine within: hee that is in the field, shal die with the sword, and he that is in the citie, famine and pestilence shall deuoure him.

16 But they that flee away from them, shall escape, and shal bee in the mountaines, like the doues of the valleyes, all they shall mourne, euery one for his iniquitie.

17 *All hands shal be weake, and all knees shall fall away as water.

18 *They shal also gird themselues with sackecloth, and feare shall couer them, and shame shall be vpon all faces, and baldnesse vpon their heads.

19 They shall cast their siluer in the streetes, and their gold shalbe cast farre off: their * siluer and their gold cannot deliuer them in the day of the wrath of the Lord: they shall not satisfie their soules, neither fill their bowels: for this ruine is for their iniquitie.

20 He had also set the beautie of his [p] ornament in maiestie: but they made images of their abominations, and of their idoles therein: therefore haue I set it farre from them.

21 And I will giue it into the hands of the [q] strangers to be spoiled, and to the wicked of the earth to be robbed, and they shall pollute it.

22 My face will I turne also from them, and they shall pollute my [r] secret place: for the destroyers shal enter into it, and defile it.

23 ¶ Make a [s] chaine: for the land is full of the [t] iudgement of blood, and the citie is full of crueltie.

24 Wherefore I will bring the most wicked of the heathen, and they shall possesse their houses: I will also make the pompe of the mightie to cease, and their [u] holy places shall be defiled.

25 When destruction commeth, they shal seeke peace, and shall not haue it.

26 Calamitie shall come vpon calamity, and rumour shall be vpon rumour: then shal they seeke a vision of the Prophet: but the Law shall perish from the Priest, and counsell from the Ancient.

27 The king shall mourne, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, ‡ the hands of the people in the land shalbe troubled: I wil doe vnto them according to their wayes: and according to their iudgements will I iudge them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VIII.

2 An appearance of the similitude of God. 3 Ezekiel is brought to Ierusalem in the spirit 6 The Lord sheweth the Prophet the idolatries of the house of Israel.

AND in the [a] fift yeere, in the [b] fift moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, as I sate in mine house, and the Elders of Iudah sate before me, the hand of the Lord God fell there vpon me.

2 Then I beheld, and loe, there was a likenesse, as the appearance of [c] fire to looke to, from his loynes downeward, and from his loynes vpward, as the appearance of brightnesse, and like vnto amber.

3 And he stretched out the likenesse of an hand, and tooke mee by an hayrie locke of mine head, and the Spirit lift mee vp betweene the earth & the heauen, and brought me ‡ by a diuine [d] vision to Ierusalem, into the entrie of the inner [e] gate that lieth toward the North, where remained the idole of [f] indignation, which prouoked indignation.

4 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel was there according to the vision, that I saw in the field.

5 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, lift a I will punish thee as thou hast deserued for thine idolatry.

lift vp thine eies now toward the North. So I lift vp mine eyes toward the North, and behold, Northward at the gate of the [h] altar, this idole of indignation was in the entry.

h That is in the court where the people had made an altar to Baal.

6 He said furthermore vnto me, Sonne of man, seest thou not what they do? euen the great abominations that the house of Israel committeth here to cause me to depart from [i] my Sanctuary? but yet turne thee and thou shalt see greater abominations.

i For God will not be where idoles are.

7 And he caused me to enter at the gate of the court: and when I looked, behold, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, dig now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, behold, there was a doore.

9 And he said vnto mee, Go in, and behold the wicked abominations that they do here.

10 So I went in, and saw, and behold, there was euery similitude of creeping things and [k] abominable beastes, and all the idoles of the house of Israel painted vpon the wall round about.

k Which were forbidden in the Law, Leuit. 11.4.

11 And there stood before them seuenty [l] men of the Ancients of the house of Israel, and in the mids of them stood Iaazaniah, the sonne of Shaphan, with euery man his censer in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like [m] a cloud.

l Thus they that should haue kept all the rest in the feare and true seruice of God, were the ring-leaders to all abomination, and by their example pulled others from God.

m It was in such abundance.

12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou seene what the Ancients of the house of Israel [n] doe in the darke, euery one in the chamber of his imagerie? for they say, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

n For besides their common idolatrie, they had particular seruice, which they had in secret chambers.

13 Againe he said also vnto me, Turne thee againe, and thou shalt see greater abominations that they doe.

14 And he caused me to enter into the entry of the gate of the Lords house, which was toward the North: and behold, there sate women mourning for [o] Tammuz.

o The Iewes write, that this was a prophet of the idoles, who after his death was once a yeere mourned for in the night.

15 Then said he vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Turne thee againe and thou shalt see greater abominations then these.

16 And he caused me to enter into the inner court of the Lords house, and behold, at the doore of the Temple of the Lord, betweene the porch and the altar were about fiue and twentie men with their backes toward the Temple of the Lord, and their faces toward the East, and they worshipped the sunne toward the East.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou seene this, O sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudah to commit these abominations which they doe here: for they haue filled the land with cruelty, and haue returned to prouoke me: and lo, they haue cast out [p] stinke before their noses.

p Delating that the centings and seruice of the idolaters are but infection and villany before God.

18 Therefore will I also execute my wrath: mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pitie, and [*] though they crie in mine eares with a loud voice, yet will I not heare them.

CHAP. IX.

1 The destruction of the citie. 4 They that shall be saued, are marked. 8 A complaint of the Prophet for the destruction of the people.

HEe cryed also with a loud voice in mine eares, saying, The visitations of [a] the citie draw neere, and euery man hath a weapon in his hand to destroy it.

a The time to take vengeance.

2 And behold, fiue [b] men came by the way of the hie gate, which lyeth toward the [c] North, and euery man a weapon in his hand to destroy it: and one man among them was clothed with linen, with a writers [d] inkehorne by his side, and they went in and stood beside the brazen altar.

b Which were Angels in the similitude of men, c Signifying, that the Babylonians should come from the North to destroy the citie and the Temple.

3 And the glory of the God of Israel was [e] gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon hee was, and stood on the ‖ doore of the house, and he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers inkehorne by his side.

d To marke them that should be saued.

e Which declared that he was not bound thereunto, neither would remaine any longer, then there was hope that they would returne from their wickednes, and worship him aright.

‖ Or, threshold.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Goe thorow the mids of the citie, euen thorow the mids of Ierusalem, and ‖ set a marke vpon the foreheads of them that [f] mourne and cry for all the abominations that be done in the mids thereof.

f He sheweth what is the maner of Godschildren, whom he marketh to saluation: to wit, to mourne and cry out against the wickednesse which they see committed against Gods glory.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Goe yee after him thorough the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, neither haue pitie.

6 Destroy vtterly the old, and the yong, and the maides, and the children, and the women, but touch no man vpon whom is the [g] marke, and begin at my Sanctuary. Then they began at the [h] Ancient men, which were before the house.

g Thus in all his plagues the Lord preserueth his small number, which he marketh, as Exod 12 2a. reuel. 7.3. but the chiefe marke is the Spirit of adoption, wherewith the heart is sealed vp to life euerlasting.

h Which were the chiefe occasion of all these euils, as Chap. 8.11.

7 And he said vnto them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slaine, then go forth: and they went out, and slew them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fell downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, [i] Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroy all the residue of Israel, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalem?

i This declareth that the seruants of God haue a compassion, when they see his iudgements executed.

9 Then said he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israel, and Iudah, is exceeding great, so that the land is full [k] of blood, and the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

k That is, with all kinde of wickednesse, reade Isa. 1.15.

10 As touching mee also, mine eye shall not spare them, neither will I haue pity, but will recompense their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And behold, the man clothed with linnen which had the inkehorne by his side, made report, and said, Lord, I haue done as thou hast commanded me.

AND as I looked, behold, in the * firmament that was aboue the head of the a Cherubims, there appeared vpon them like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a Saphir stone.

2 And hee spake vnto the man clothed with linnen, and sayd, Goe in betweene the wheeles, euen vnder the Cherub, & fill thine hands with coales of fire from betweene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer b the citie. And he went in in my sight.

3 Now the Cherubims stood vpon the right side of the house when the man went in, and the cloud filled the inner Court.

4 Then the glory of the Lord c went vp from the Cherub, and stood ouer the doore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloud, & the court was filled with the brightnesse of the Lords glory.

5 And the d sound of ỹ Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God when he speaketh.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fire from betweene the wheeles, and from betweene the Cherubims, then he went in and stood beside the wheele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betweene the Cherubims vnto the fire, that was betweene the Cherubims, and tooke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who tooke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims the likenesse of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, behold, foure wheeles were beside the Cherubims, one wheele by one Cherub, and another wheele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheeles was as the colour of a e Chrysolite stone.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one fashion) was as if one wheele had been in another wheele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whither the first went, they went after it, and they f turned not as they went.

12 And their whole body, & their ‖ rings, and their hands and their wings, and the wheeles were full of eyes round about, euen in the same foure wheeles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheeles in mine hearing, saying, O wheele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: the first face was the face of a Cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an Eagle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: * this is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheeles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheeles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stood, they stood: and when they were lifted vp, they lifted themselues vp also: for the spirit of the beast was in them.

18 h Then the glory of the Lord departed from aboue the doore of the house, and stood vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, & mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when they went out, the wheeles also were beside them: and euery one stood at the entrie of the gate of the Lords house, at the East side, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

20 * This is the i beast that I saw vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knew that they were the Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenesse of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenesse of their faces was the selfe same faces which I saw by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, and they went euery one straight forward.

g There was one consent betweene the Cherubims and the wheeles.

CHAP. XI.

1 Who they were that seduced the people of Israel. 5 Against these hee propheseth, shewing them how they shalbe dispersed abroad. 19 The renewing of the heart commeth of God. 21 He threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

MOreouer, the spirit lift me vp, & brought mee vnto the East gate of the Lords house, which lieth Eastward, and behold, at the entrie of the gate were fiue and twentie men: among whom I saw Iaazaniah the sonne of Azur, and Pelatiah the sonne of Benaiah, the princes of the people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischiefe, and deuise wicked counsell in this citie.

3 For they say, a It is not neere, let vs build houses: this citie is the b caldron, and we be the flesh.

4 Therefore propheste against them, sonne of man, propheste.

5 And the Spirit of the Lord fell vpon me, and said vnto mee, Speake, Thus saith the Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue yee sayd, and I know that which riseth vp of your mindes.

6 Many haue yee murdered in this citie, and yee haue filled the streets thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, They that yee haue slaine, and haue layd in the midst of it, they are c the flesh, and this citie is the caldron, but I will bring you forth of the midst of it.

8 Yee haue feared the sword, and I will bring a sword vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I will bring you out of the midst thereof, and deliuer you into the c hands of strangers, and will execute iudgment among you.

10 Ye shall fall by the sword; and I will iudge you in the border of Israel, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shall not bee your caldron, neither shall ye be the flesh in the midst thereof, but I will iudge you in the border of Israel, a Thus the wicked derided the Prophets, as though they preached but errours, and therefore gaue themselues still to their pleasures.

b Wee shall not be pulled out of Ierusalem, til the houre of our death come, as the flesh is not taken out of the caldron till it be sodde.

c Contrary to their vaine confidence he sheweth in what sense this citie is the caldron: that is, because of the dead bodies that haue bene murdered therein, and so lie as flesh in the caldron.

d That is, of the Caldeans.

e That is, in Riblah, reade 2.King.25.6.

12 And ye shal know that I am the Lord: for yee haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the manners of the heathen, that are round about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophesied, Pelatiah the sonne of [f] Benaiah died: then fell I downe vpon my face, and cried with a loude voyce, and sayd, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then vtterly destroy all the remnant of Israel?

14 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thy [g] brethren euen thy brethren, the men of thy kinred, and all the house of Israel, wholly are they vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Depart ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre off among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countries, yet will I bee to them as a little [h] Sanctuarie in the countreys where they shall come.

17 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, I will gather you againe from the people, and assemble you out of the countreys where ye haue been scattered, and I will giue you the land of Israel.

18 And they shall come thither, and they shal take away all the idoles thereof, and all the abominations thereof from thence.

19 * And I will giue them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within their bowels: and I will take the [i] stonie heart out of their bodies, and will giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That they may walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements, & execute them: and they shall bee my people, and I will bee their God.

21 But vpon them whose heart is toward their idoles, & whose affection goeth after their abominations, I will lay their way vpon their owne heads, saith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and their wheeles beside them, and the glory of the God of Israel was vpon them on high.

23 And the glory of the Lord went vp from the mids of the citie, and stood vpon the mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterward the Spirit tooke me vp, and brought me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea, to them that were led away captiues: so the vision that I had seene, went vp from me.

25 Then I declared vnto them that were [k] led away captiues, all the things that the Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable wherby the distresse of hunger and thirst is signified.

THe word of the Lord also came vnto me, saying,

2 Son of man, thou dwellest in the mids of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to see, and see [a] not: they haue eares to heare, and heare not: for they are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, ‡ prepare thy stuffe to goe into captiuity, & goe forth by day in their sight, and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that they may consider it: for they are a rebellious house.

5 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by day in their sight, as the stuffe of him that goeth into captiuitie: and thou shalt goe forth at euen in their sight, as they that goe forth into captiuitie.

5 Digge thou thorow the wall in their sight, and cary out thereby.

6 In their sight thou shalt beare it vpon thy shoulders, and cary it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face, that thou see not the earth: for I haue set thee as a [b] signe vnto the house of Israel.

7 And as I was cõmanded, so I brought forth my stuffe by day, as the stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged thorow the wal with mine hand, and brought it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shoulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hath not the house of Israel, the rebellious house sayd vnto thee, What [c] doest thou?

10 But say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This ‖ burden concerneth the chiefe in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israel that are among them.

11 Say, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shall it be done vnto them, they shall goe into bondage and captiuity.

12 And the chiefest that is among them, shall beare vpon his shoulder in the darke, and shall goe forth: they shall digge thorow the wall, to cary out thereby: he shall couer his face, that he see not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net also will I spread vpon [d] him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel to the land of the Caldeans, yet shall he not see it, though hee shall die there.

14 And I will scatter toward euery wind, all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garisons, and I will draw out the sword after them.

15 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall scatter them among the nations, and disperse them in the countreys.

16 But I will leaue a little [e] number of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence, that they may declare all their abominations among the heathen, where they come, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreouer the worde of the Lorde came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, eate thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, and with carefulnesse,

19 And say vnto the people of the land, Thus sayeth the Lorde God of the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and of the lande of Israel, They shall eate their bread with care-f It seemeth that this noble man died of some terrible death, and therefore the Prophet feared some strange iudgemẽt of God toward the rest of the people.

g They that remained stil at Ierusalem, thus reproched them that were gone into captiuity, as though they were cast off, and forsaken of God.

h They shall be yet a litle church shewing that the Lord will euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whõ he wil preserue and restore, though they be for a time afflicted. Iere. 32.39. chap. 36.26.

carefulnesse, and drinke their water with desolation: for the land shall bee desolate from her abundãce, because of the cruelty of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, shal be left voide, and the land shall be desolate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Israel, saying, The dayes are [f] prolonged, and all visions ‖ faile?

23 Tell them therefore, Thus sayth the Lorde God, I will make this prouerbe to cease, and they shall no more vse it as a prouerbe in Israel: but say vnto them, The dayes are at hand, and the effect of euery vision.

24 For no vision shall bee any more in vaine, neither shall there be any flattering diuination within the house of Israel.

25 For I am the Lorde: I will speake, and that thing that I shall speake, shall come to passe: it shall be no more prolonged: for in your dayes, O rebellious house, will I say the thing, and wil performe it, saith the Lord God.

26 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

27 Sonne of man, behold, they of the house of Israel say, The vision that hee seeth is for [g] many dayes to come, and hee prophesieth of the times that are farre off.

28 Therefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, All my wordes shal no longer be delayed, but that thing which I haue spoken, shalbe done, saith the Lord God.

f Because they did not immediatly see the prophesies accomplished, they contemned them, as though they should neuer be fulfilled.

‖ Or, take none effect.

g That is, it shal not come to passe in our dayes, and therefore we care not for it: thus the wicked euer abuse Gods patience and benignitie.

CHAP. XIII.

a The word of the Lord against false Prophets, which teach the people the counsels of their owne hearts.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the prophets of *Israel, that prophesie, and say thou vnto them, that prophesie out of their [a] owne hearts, Heare the word of the Lord.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, ¶Woe vnto the foolish Prophets that follow their owne spirit, and haue seene nothing.

4 O Israel, thy prophets are like the foxes [b] in the waste places.

5 [c] Ye haue not risen vp in the gaps, neither made vp the hedge for the house of Israel, to stand in the battel in the day of the Lord.

6 They haue seene vanity, and lying diuination, saying, The Lord saith it, and the Lord hath not sent them: & they haue made others to hope that they would confirme the word of their prophesie.

7 Haue ye not seene a vaine vision? and haue ye not spoken a lying diuination? [d] yee say, The Lord saith it, albeit I haue not spoken.

8 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because yee haue spoken vanity, and haue seene lies, therfore behold, I am against you, saith the Lord God.

9 And mine hand shall be vpon the Prophets that see vanitie, and diuine lies: they shall not be in the assembly of my people, neither shall they be written in the [e] writing of the house of Israel, neither shall they enter into the land of Israel: and yee shall knowe that I am the Lord God.

b Watching to destroy the vineyard.

c He speaketh to the gouernours and true ministers, that should haue resisted them.

d Ye promised peace to this people, and now yee see their destruction, so that it is manifest that yee are false prophets.

10 And therefore, because they haue deceiued my people, saying, [f] Peace, and there was no peace: and one built vp a wall, and behold, the others daubed it with vntempered morter, 11 Say vnto them which daube it with vntempered morter, that it shal fal: for there shall come a great showre: and I will send haile stones, which shall cause it to fall, and a stormie winde shall breake it.

12 Loe, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said vnto you, Where is the daubing wherewith ye haue daubed it?

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will cause a stormy winde to breake forth in my wrath, and a great showre shall bee in mine anger, and haile stones in mine indignation to consume it.

14 So I wil destroy the wall that ye haue daubed with vntempered morter, and bring it downe to the ground, so that the foundation thereof shalbe discouered, and it shall fall, and ye shalbe consumed in the mids thereof, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

15 Thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon the wall, and vpon them that haue daubed it with [h] vntempered morter, and will say vnto you, The wall is no more, neither the daubers thereof, 16 To wit, the Prophets of Israel, which prophecie vpon Ierusalem, and see visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against the daughters of thy people, which prophesie out of their owne heart: and prophecie thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Woe vnto the women that sowe [i] pillowes vnder all arme-holes, & make vailes vpon the head of euery one that standeth vp, to hunt soules: will ye hunt the soules of my people, and wil ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And will yee pollute mee among my people for handfuls of [k] barley, and for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that should not die, and [l] to giue life to the soules that should not liue, in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will haue to doe with your pillowes, wherewith yee hunt the [m] soules to make them to flie, and I will teare them from your armes, and will let the soules goe, euen the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vailes also will I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, & they shal be no more in your hands to be hunted, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

h Whereby is meant whatsoeuer man of himselfe setteth forth vnder the authoritie of Gods word.

i These superstitious women for lucre would prophesie and tell euery man his fortune, giuing them pillowes to leane vpon, and kerchiefes to couer their heads, to the intent they might the more allure them and bewitch them.

CHAP. XIIII.

4 The Lord sendeth false Prophets for the ingratitude of the people. 22 Hee reserueth a small portion for his Church.

THen came certaine of the Elders of Israel vnto me, and [a] sate before me.

2 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their [b] heart, and put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: should I, being required, answere them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Euery man of the house of Israel that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to the [c] Prophet, I the Lord will answere him that commeth, according to the multitude [d] of his idoles:

5 That [e] I may take the house of Israel in their owne heart, because they are all departed from me through their idoles.

6 Therefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Returne, and withdraw your selues, and turne your faces from your idoles, and turne your faces from all your abominations.

7 For euery one of the house of Israel, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israel, which departeth from me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and commeth to a Prophet, for to inquire of him for mee, I the Lord will answere him || for my selfe.

8 And I will set my face against that man, and will make him an example and prouerbe, and I will cut him off from the mids of my people, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be [f] deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that prophet, and I will stretch out mine hand vpon him, and will destroy him from the mids of my people of Israel.

10 And they shal beare their punishment: the punishment of the prophet shall be euen as the punishment of him that asketh, 11 That the house of [g] Israel may goe no more astray from me, neither be polluted any more with all their transgressions, but that they may be my people, and I may be their God, saith the Lord God.

12 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

13 Sonne of man, when the land sinneth against me, by committing a trespasse, then will I stretch out mine hand vpon it, [h] and will breake the staffe of the bread therof, and will send famine vpon it, and I will destroy man and beast forth of it.

14 Though these three men, [i] Noah, Daniel, and Iob were among them, they should deliuer but their owne soules by their [k] righteousnesse, saith the Lord God.

15 If I bring noisome beastes into the land, and they spoyle it, so that it be desolate, that no man may passe thorow, because of beasts, 16 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, as I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall saue neither sonnes nor daughters: they onely shalbe deliuered, but the land shal be waste.

17 Or if I bring a sword vpon this land, and say, Sword, goe thorow the land, so that I destroy man and beast out of it, 18 Though these three men were in the mids thereof, As I liue, saith the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonnes nor daughters, but they onely shall be deliuered themselues.

19 Or if I send a pestilence into this land, and powre out my wrath vpon it in blood, to destroy out of it man and beast, 20 And though Noah, Daniel and Iob were in the middes of it, As I liue, sayth the Lord God, they shall deliuer neither sonne nor daughter: they shall but deliuer their owne soules by their righteousnesse.

21 For thus sayth the Lord God, How much more when I send my * foure sore iudgements vpon Ierusalem, euen the sword, and famine, and the noisome beast, and pestilence, to destroy man and beast out of it?

22 Yet behold, therein shalbe left a [l] remnant of them that shall be caried away both sonnes & daughters: behold, they shall come forth vnto you, and ye shal see their way, and their enterprises: and ye shall be comforted, concerning the euill that I haue brought vpon Ierusalem, euen concerning all that I haue brought vpon it.

23 And they shall comfort you, when yee see their way and their enterprises, and yee shall know, that I haue not done without cause al that I haue done in it, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XV.

As the vnprofitable wood of the vine tree is cast into the fire, so Ierusalem shalbe burnt.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, what commeth of the vine tree about all other trees? and of the vine branch, which is among the [a] trees of the forest?

3 Shall wood be taken therof to doe any worke? or will men take a pinne of it to hang any vessell thereon?

4 Behold, it is cast in the fire to bee consumed: the fire consumeth both the endes of it, and the mids of it is burnt. Is it meete for any worke?

a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the Idolaters, who will dissemble to heare the Prophets of God though in their heart they solow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doeth discouer them.

b They are not onely idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which leade them in blindnesse, and cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods fauour, so that hee will not heare them when they call vnto him, reade Ierem. 10.15.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tree that is among the trees of the forrest, which I haue giuen to the fire to be consumed, so will I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

7 And I will set my face against them: they shall goe out from one [b] fire, and another fire shall consume them: and yee shall know that I am the Lord, when I set my face against them,

CHAP. XVI.

The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnesse. 46 He iustifieth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the sinnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Mercy is promised to the repentant.

AGaine the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation, & thy kinred is of the land [a] of Canaan: thy Father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy nativitie when thou wast [b] borne, thy naull was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadled in clouts.

5 None eye pitied thee to doe any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field, to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine [c] owne blood, & I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are fashioned, thine haire is growen, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirts ouer thee, and couered [d] thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with [e] thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with [f] water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I [g] anoynted thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broydered worke, and shod thee with badgers skinne, and I girded thee about with fine linnen, and I couered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine hands, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull [h] crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linnen and silke and broydred worke: thou diddest eate fine flowre, and hony and oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou diddest grow vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfect through my [i] beautie, which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou didst [k] trust in thine owne beautie, and playedst the harlot, because of thy renowme, and hast powred out [l] thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with diuers colours, [m] and playedst the harlot thereupon: the like things shall not come, neither hath any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire iewels made of my gold and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and [n] madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them,

18 And tookest thy broydred garments and coueredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before them.

19 My meate also which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle & honie wherewith I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Moreouer, thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto mee, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to [o] bee deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 That thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe thorow fire for them?

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes, thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse, (woe, woe vnto thee, saith the Lord God.)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery street.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery ‖ corner of the way, and hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy feete to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with the [p] Egyptians thy neighbours which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome to prouoke me.

27 Behold, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and wil diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the ‖ daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with a Thou boastest to be of the seed of Abraham, but thou art degenerate, and followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children doe the manners of their fathers, Isa. 1.4. and 57.3.

b When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church.

c Being thus in thy filthinesse & forsaken of all men, I toke thee and gaue thee life, whereby is meant that before God wash his Church, and giue life, there is nothing but filthinesse & death.

d These words, as blood, pollution, nakednesse, & filthinesse, are oftentimes repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God receiued them to mercie, fauoured them, and couered their shame.

the Assyrians, because thou wast vnsatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan vnto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weake is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, euen the worke of a || presumptuous whorish woman?

31 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine high place in euery streete, and hast not beene as an harlot [q] that despiseth a reward, q Meaning, that some harlots contemne small rewards, but no louers gaue a reward to Israel, but they gaue to all others: signifying that the idolaters bestow al their substance which they receiue of God for his glory, to serue their vile abominations.

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband:

33 They giue gifts to all other whores, but thou giuest gifts vnto all thy louers, and rewardest them, that they may come vnto thee on euery side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornications, neither the like fornication shall bee after thee: for in that thou giuest a reward, and no reward is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrarie.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy || shame was powred out, and thy filthinesse discouered through thy fornications with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer vnto them,

37 Behold, therefore I will gather all [r] thy louers, with whome thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I will euen gather them round about against thee, and will discouer thy filthinesse vnto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

r Egyptians, Assyrians and Caldeans, whom thou tookest to be thy louers, shall come and destroy thee, Chap. 23 9

38 And I will iudge thee after the maner of them that are [s] harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will giue thee the blood of wrath and iealousie.

f I will iudge thee to death, as the adulterers and murtherers.

39 I will also giue thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine high place, and shall breake downe thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, & shall take thy faire iewels, & leaue thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring vp a companie against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee through with their swords.

2 King. 25. 9.

41 And they * shall burne vp thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I wil cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, & thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my [t] iealousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and be no more angry.

t I will vtterly destroy thee, and so my iealousie shall cease.

43 Because thou hast not remembred the dayes of thy youth, but hast prouoked mee with all these things, behold, therefore I also haue [u] brought thy way vpon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

u I haue punished thy faults, but thou wouldest not repent.

44 Behold, all that vse prouerbs, shall vse this prouerbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, [x] so is her daughter.

x As were the Canaanites and the Hittites, and others your predecessours, so are you their successours.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy [y] sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

y That is, of Samaria and Sodom.

z That is, her cities.

‡ Ebr. thy sister, yonger then thou.

47 Yet hast thou [a] not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had beene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

a But done farre worse.

48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done and thy daughters.

b He alleageth these foure vices, pride, excesse, idlenesse, and contempt of the poore, as foure principall causes of such abomination, wherefore they were so horribly punished, Gene. 19. 24.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, [b] Pride, fulnesse of bread, and abundance of idlenesse was in her, and in her daughters: neither did shee strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

c Which worshipped the calues in Bethel and Dan.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore I tooke them away, as pleased me.

51 Neither [c] hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast [d] iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

d Thou art so wicked, that in respect of thee, Sodom and Samaria were iust.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seeing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

e This he speaketh in comparison, saying, that he would restore Ierusalem, when Sodom should bee restored, that is, neuer: and this is meant of the greatest part of the Iewes.

53 Therefore I will bring againe [e] their captiuitie with the captiuity of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captiuity of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the midst of them, 54 That thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast [f] comforted them.

f In that thou hast shewed thy selfe worse then they, and yet thoughtest to escape punishment

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, [g] when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two Eagles.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying.

2 Sonne of man, put forth a parable, and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great a Eagle with great wings, and long wings, and full of feathers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanon, and tooke the highest branch of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twigge, and caried it into the land b of merchants, and set it in a citie of merchants.

5 He tooke also of the c seed of the land, & planted it in a fruitfull ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded vp, & was d like a spreading vine of e low stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the roots therof were vnder it: so it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and shot forth buds.

7 There was also f another great Eagle with great wings, and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, and spread forth her branches toward it, that shee might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good soyle by great g waters, that it should bring forth branches, and beare fruit, and bee an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? Shall h hee not pull vp the roots thereof, and destroy the fruite thereof, and cause them to drie? all the leaues of her bud shall wither without great power, or many people to plucke it vp by the roots thereof.

10 Behold, it was planted: but shall it prosper? shall it not be dried vp, and wither when the East winde shall touch it, it shall wither in the trenches where it grew.

11 Moreouer the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Say now to this rebellious house, Knowe ye not what these things meane? tell them, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Jerusalem, and hath taken k the King thereof, and the princes therof, and led them with him to Babel,

13 And hath taken one of the kings seede, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken an l oath of him: hee hath also taken the princes of the land,

14 That the kingdome might bee in subiection, and not lift it selfe vp, but keepe their couenant, and stand to it.

15 But he rebelled against him and sent his Ambassadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horses, and much people: shall he prosper? shall he escape, that doth such things? or shall he breake the couenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shall die in the mids of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose oath he despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.

17 Neither shal Pharaoh with his mighty host, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the war, when they haue cast vp mounts, and builded ramparts to destroy many persons.

18 For he hath despised the oath and broken the conenant: (yet lo, he had giuen m his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shall not escape.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I will surely bring mine oath that he hath despised, and my couenant that hee hath broken, vpon his owne head.

20 * And I will spread my net vpon him, and he shall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, & will enter into iudgement with him therefor his trespasse that he hath committed against me.

21 And all that flee from him with all his hoste, shall fall by the sword, and they that remaine, shall bee scattered toward all the windes: and ye shall knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it.

22 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also take of the top n of this high cedar, and will set it, and cut off the o top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it vpon an high mountaine and great.

23 Euen in the high mountaine of Israel will I plant it: and it shal bring forth boughs and beare fruite, and bee an excellent cedar, and vnder it shall remaine all birdes, and euery p fowle shall dwell in the shadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the q trees of the field shall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the hie tree, and exalted the low tree: that I haue dried vp the greene tree, and made the drie tree to flourish: I the Lord haue spoken it, and haue done it.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 Hee sheweth that euery man shall beare his owne

sinne. 31 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised. 24 Death is propheſied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

THe word of the Lord came vnto mee againe, saying,

2 What meane yee that yee speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel, saying, [a] The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes, and the childrens teeth are set on edge?

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, yee shall vse this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Beholde, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shal die.

5 But if a man be iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten [b] vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath [] defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath [‡] lien with a [] menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtour: hee that hath spoyled none by violence, [*] but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen foorth [*] vpon vsurie, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgment betweene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale truely, he is iust, hee shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

10 If he beget a sonne, that is ‖ a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he do any one of these things,

11 Though he do not all these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and needie, or hath spoyled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes vnto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, [c] he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that seeth all his fathers sinnes, which he hath done, and feareth, neither doth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the mountaines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

19 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoyled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawen his hand from the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoyled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, loe, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet say yee, Wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgment and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 [*] The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousnesse of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that he hath committed, and keepe all my [d] statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not be ‖ mentioned vnto him, but in his [e] righteousnes that he hath done, he shall liue.

23 [f] Haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? ‖ or shall he not liue, if he returne from his wayes?

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall hee liue? all his [g] righteousnesse that hee hath done, shall not bee mentioned: but in his transgression that he hath committed, and in his sinne that he hath sinned, in them shall hee die.

25 Yet yee say, The way of the Lord is not [h] equall: heare now, O house of Israel. Is not my way equal? or are not your waies vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie that he hath done.

27 Againe, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that he hath committed, and doth that which is lawfull and right, he shall saue his soule aliue.

28 Because he considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

29 Yet saith the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equall. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equall? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, euery one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore & cause others to turn away from al your transgressions: so iniquity shal not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you al your transgressions, whereby yee haue transgressed, and make [i] you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will ye die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue yee.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that he will answere them when they pray, because of their vnrighteousnesse. 33 He promiseth that his people shall returne from captiuity. 46 By the forrest that should bee burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

AND in the [a] seuenth yeere, in the fift moneth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God. Are ye come to enquire of me? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not answere you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of man, wilt thou iudge them? cause [b] them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus sayeth the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and [c] lift vp mine hand vnto the seed of the house of Iaakob, and make my selfe knowen vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euery man cast away the abominations of his eies, [d] and defile not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their [e] eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my [f] Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowen vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wildernesse, 11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, [g] which if a man doe, he shall liue in them.

12 Moreouer, I gaue them also my [h] Sabbaths to be a signe betweene me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wildernesse: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, he shal liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them in the wildernesse to consume them.

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuertheless I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse, that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my [h] Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheless, mine eye spared them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wildernesse.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wildernes, Walke ye not in the ordinances a Of the captiuitie of Ieconiah.

b This declareth the great lenitie and patience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before he condemne them.
c I sware that I would be their God, which maner of othe was obserued from al antiquitie where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward heauen, acknowledging God to be the author of trueth, and the defender thereof, and also the iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to be trueth.
d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idoles, Exod. 23.13. psal. 16.4.
e Which thing declareth the wickednes of mans heart, which iudge Gods seruice by their eyes and outward senses.
f God had euer this respect to his glory, that he would not haue his Name euill spoken of among the Gentiles for the punishment that his people deserued, in confidence whereof the godly euer prayed, as Exod. 32.12. Numb. 14.13. Leuit. 18.5. rom. 10.5. gal 3.12. Exod. 20.8. and 31.13. deut. 5. 12. Num. 14 28, 29. and 26.65.
g Who might thereby take an occasion to blaspheme my Name, and to accuse me of lacke of ability, or els that I had sought a meanes to destroy them more commodiously.
h That is, my true religion, which I had commanded them, and gaue themselues to serue me according to their owne fantasies.

a Whereby the holy Ghost confuteth them that say that they will folow the religion and example of their fathers, and not measure their doings by Gods word, whether they be approoueable thereby or no.

of your fathers, neither obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them, 20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene me and you, that ye may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe he shall liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wildernesse.

22 Neuertheles, I withdrew mine hand, and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wildernesse, that I would scatter them among the heathen, & disperse them through the countries, k Meaning, that they set their delight vpon them.

l Because they would not obey my lawes, I gaue them vp to themselues that they should obey their owne fantasies, as verse 39 Rom. 1. 21, 24.

24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were k after their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes, that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not liue.

m I condemned those things, and counted them as abominable which they thought had bin excellent, and to haue declared most zeale, Luk. 16. 15. for that which God required as most excellent, that gaue they to their idoles.

26 And I polluted them in their owne m gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth y womb, that I might destroy them, to the end that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grieuously transgressed against me.

n Meaning, that they set their delight vpon them.

28 n For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to them, then they saw euery high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their swete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

o Which signifieth an high place, declaring that they vanted themselues of their idolatrie, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had commanded them expresly that they should haue no altar lifted vp on high by staires, Exod. 20. 26. † Ebr. in the way.

29 Then I said vnto them, What is the high place whereunto you go? and the name thereof was called o Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are yee not polluted † after the maner of your fathers? and commit yee not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answere you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I liue, saith the Lord God, p I will not answere you when I am asked.

p Which declareth how prompt mans heart is to idolatrie, seeing that by no admonitions he can be drawen backe.

32 Neither shall that bee done that commeth into your minde: for ye say, We will be as the heathen, and as the families of the countryes, and serue wood and q stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I will surely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out, 34 And will bring you from the people, and will gather you out of the countryes, wherein ye are scattred, with a mighty hand and with a stretched out arme, and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I will bring you into the r wildernes of the people, and there will I pleade with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wildernesse of the land of Egypt, so will I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I will cause you to passe vnder the rod, and will bring you into the bond of the couenant.

38 And I will chuse out from among you the rebels, and them that transgresse against me: I will bring them out of the land where they dwell, and they shall not enter into the land of Israel, and you shall know that I am the Lord.

39 As for you, O house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, s Goe you, and serue euery one his idole, seeing that ye will not obey mee, and pollute mine holy Name no more with your gifts and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holy mountaine, euen in the high mountaine of Israel, saith the Lord God, there shall all the house of Israel, and all in the land serue me: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offrings, and the first fruites of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I will accept your sweet sauour, when I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein yee haue beene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall bring you into the land of Israel, into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shall yee remember your waies, and all your workes wherein ye haue beene defiled, and ye u shall iudge your selues worthy to be cut off, for all your euils that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked waies, nor according to your corrupt workes, O ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and drop thy word toward x the South, and prophesie toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the word of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will kindle a fire in thee, & it shall deuoure all the y greene wood in thee, and all the drie wood: the coruing flame shall not be quenched, and euery face

CHAP. XXI.

3 He threatneth the ſword, and deſtruction to Ieruſalem. 25 He ſheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. 28 He is commanded to propheſie the deſtruction of the children of Ammon. 30 The Lord threatneth to deſtroy Nebuchad-nezzar.

THe word of the Lord came to me againe, ſaying,

2 Sonne of man, ſet thy face toward Ieruſalem, [a] and drop thy word toward the holy places, and propheſie againſt the land of Iſrael,

3 And ſay to the land of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord, Behold, I come againſt thee, and will draw my ſword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the [b] righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous & wicked, therefore ſhall my ſword goe out of his sheath againſt all fleſh from the South to the [c] North,

5 That all fleſh may know that I the Lord haue drawen my ſword out of his sheath, and it ſhall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou ſonne of man, as in the paine of thy [d] reines, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they ſay vnto thee, Wherefore mourneſt thou? then anſwere, Becauſe [e] of the bruit: for it commeth, and euery heart ſhall melt, and all hands ſhall be weake, and all mindes ſhall faint, and all knees ſhall fall away as water: behold, it commeth, and ſhall be done, ſaith the Lord God.

8 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 9 Sonne of man, propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Say, A ſword, a ſword, both ſharpe and furbiſhed.

10 It is ſharpened to make a ſore ſlaughter, and it is furbiſhed that it may [f] glitter: how ſhall we reioyce? for it contemneth the [g] rod of my ſonne, as [h] all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be furbiſhed, that he may handle it: this ſword is ſharpe, and is furbiſhed, that he may giue it into the hand of the [i] ſlayer.

12 Cry, and howle, ſonne of man: for this ſhall come to my people, and it ſhall come vnto all the Princes of Iſrael: the terrors of the ſword ſhall bee vpon my people: [k] ſmite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a triall, [l] and what ſhall this be, if the ſword contemne euen the rod? It ſhall be no more, ſaith the Lord God.

15 Thou therefore, ſonne of man, propheſie, and ſmite [m] hand to hand, & let the ſword bee doubled: let the ſword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the ſword of the great ſlaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the ſword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiply their ruines. Ah it is made bright, and it is dreſſed for the ſlaughter.

16 Get thee [n] alone: go to the right hand, or get thy ſelfe to the left hand, whitherſoeuer thy face turneth.

17 I will alſo ſmite mine hands together, and will cauſe my wrath to ceaſe. I the Lord haue ſaid it.

18 ¶ The word of the Lord came vnto me againe, ſaying, 19 Alſo thou ſonne of man, appoint thee [o] two wayes, that the ſword of the King of Babel may come: both twaine ſhall come out of one land, and chuſe a place, and chuſe it in the corner of the way of the citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the ſword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and [p] to Iudah in Ieruſalem the ſtrong citie.

21 And the King of Babel ſtood at the [q] parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, conſulting by diuination, and made his arrowes bright: he conſulted with idols and looked in the [r] liuer.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ieruſalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the ſlaughter, and to lift vp their voyce with ſhouting, to lay engines of warre againſt the gates, to caſt a mount, and to build a fortreſſe.

23 And it ſhall be vnto them [ſ] as a falſe diuination in their ſight for the othes made vnto them: [t] but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they ſhould bee taken.

24 Therefore thus ſayth the Lord God, Becauſe yee haue made your iniquitie to bee remembred, in diſcouering your rebellion, that in all your works your ſinnes might appeare: becauſe, I ſay, that ye are come to remembrance, ye ſhall be taken with the hand.

25 And thou [u] Prince of Iſrael polluted, and wicked, whoſe day is come, when iniquitie ſhall haue an end, 26 Thus ſayeth the Lord God, I will take away the [x] diademe, and take off the crowne: this ſhall be no more the ſame: I will exalt the humble, and will abaſe him that is high.

27 I wil ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it ſhall bee no more vntill hee [y] come whoſe right it is, and I will giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou ſonne of man, propheſie, and ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blaſphemie: ſay thou, I ſay, The ſword, the ſword is drawen foorth, and furbiſhed to the ſlaughter to conſume, becauſe of the glittering:

CHAP. XXII.

1 Ierusalem is reproued for cruelties. 15 Of the wicked doctrine of the false prophets and priests, and of their vnsatiable couetousnesse. 27 The tyrannie of rulers. 29 The wickednesse of the people.

MOreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Now thou sonne of man, wilt thou [a] iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the mids of it, that her [b] time may come, and maketh idoles [c] against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine idols, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be neere, and those that be farre from thee, shall mocke thee, which art vile in [d] name, and sore in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israel euery one in thee was ready to his power to shed blood.

7 In thee haue they despised father and mother: in the mids of thee [e] haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue they vexed the fatherlesse and the widow.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, and hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that carry tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaines: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 *In thee haue they discouered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one *hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken gifts to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie & the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten mee, saith the Lord God.

13 Behold, therefore haue I [f] smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands [g] be strong in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperse thee in the countreys, and will cause thy [h] filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine [i] inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israel is vnto me as [k] drosse: all they are brasse, and tinne, and yron, and lead in the middes of the fornace: they are euen the drosse of siluer.

19 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because yee are all as drosse, behold, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, and yron, and lead, and tinne into the middes of the fornace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger and in my wrath, and will put you there [l] and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall bee melted in the mids thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the mids of the fornace, so shall yee be melted in the middes thereof, and yee shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, [m] and not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie [n] of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the praye: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches and precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betweene the holy & prophane, neither discerned betweene the vncleane and the cleane, and haue hidde their [o] eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the *mids thereof, are like wolues, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her [p] prophets haue dawbed them with vntempered morter, seeing vanities, and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord hath not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needie: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

CHAP. XXIII.

Of the idolatrie of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one [a] mother,

3 And they committed fornication [b] in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breastes pressed, and there they bruised the teats of their virginitie.

4 And the names of [c] them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: thus were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot ‡ when [d] she was mine, and she was set on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blewe silke, both captaines and princes: they were all pleasant yong men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus shee committed her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the chosen men of Ashur, and with al on whom she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left shee her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth they [e] lay with her, and they bruised the brests of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the handes of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and she had an euill name among women: for [f] they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah sawe this, shee marred her selfe with inordinate loue, more then shee, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both captaines and princes clothed with diuers sutes, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant young men.

13 Then I saw that she was defiled, and that they were both after one sort,

14 And that she increased her fornications: for when shee saw men [g] painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermillion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attire vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativitie.)

16 Assone, I say, as she saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and shee was polluted with them: and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, and discloſed her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoredom more, and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruants, whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teats were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore the paps of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will raise vp thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I wil bring them against thee on euery side, 23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, [h] Pekod, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant yong men, captains and princes; all they were valiant and renowmed, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shall come against thee with charets, wagons & wheeles, and with a multitude of people, which shall set against thee buckler, and shield, and helmet round about: and ‡ I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their ‖ iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy [i] nose and thine eares, & thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall carrie away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall be deuoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deliuer thee into the hand of them, whom thou hatest: euen into the handes of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shal handle thee despitefully, and shal take away all thy [k] labour, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications [l] shalbe discouered, both thy wickednes and thy whoredome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her [m] cup into thine hand.

32 Thus

a Meaning Israel & Iudah, which came both out of one family.

b They became idolaters after the maner of the Egyptians.

c Aholah signifieth a mansion or dwelling in her self, meaning Samaria which was the royal city of Israel. And Aholibah signifieth my mansion in her, wherby is meant Ierusalem where Gods Temple was.

d When the Israelites were named the people of God, they became idolaters, and forsooke God and put their trust in the Assyrians.

e The holy ghost vseth these termes which seeme strange to chast eares, to cause this wicked vice of idolatrie so to be abhorred, that vneth any should abide to heare the name thereof mentioned.

f Meaning, the Assyrians.

g This declareth that no words are able sufficiently to expresse the rage of idolaters, & therfore ℌ holy Ghost here compareth thē to those which in their raging loue and filthy lustes dote vpon ℌ images & paintings of them after whom they lust.

h These were the names of certaine princes and captaines vnder Nebuchad-nezzar.

‡ Ebr. I will giue iudgement before them.

i They shall destroy thy princes and priests with the rest of thy people.

k All thy treasures and riches which thou hast gotten by labor.

l All the world shall see thy shamefull forsaking of God, to serue idoles.

m I will execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, & that with greater seueritie.

23 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe & large: thou shalt bee laughed to scorne and had in derision, because it containeth much.

n Meaning, that the afflictions should be so great, that they should cause them to lose their senses and reason.

33 Thou shalt bee filled with [n] drunkennes and sorow, euen with the cup of destruction and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt euen drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast mee behinde thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreouer vnto mee, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah, and Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hand, and with their idols haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their [o] meat.

o That is, to be sacrifices to their idoles, reade Chap. 16. 20.

38 Moreouer, thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my Sanctuarie in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and lo, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from [p] far, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whom thou diddest wash thy selfe, and painted thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments.

p They sent into other countreys to haue such as should teach the seruice of their idoles.

41 And satest [q] vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, wherupon thou hast set mine incense, and mine oyle.

q He meaneth the altar that was prepared for the idols.

42 And a voyce of a [r] multitude being at ease, was with her: & with the men to make the company great, were brought men of [r] Saba from the wildernes, which put bracelets vpon their hands, & beautifull crownes vpon their heads.

r Which should teach the maner of worshipping their gods.

43 Then I said vnto her that was old in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her as they go to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

45 And the righteous men they shal iudge them, after the maner of [s] harlots, and after the manner of murtherers: for they are harlots: and blood is in their hands.

f That is, worthy death, reade Chap. 16. 38.

46 Wherefore thus sayth the Lord God, I wil bring a multitude vpon them, and wil giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoile, 47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, & cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus wil I cause wickednes to cease out of the land, that all [t] women may bee taught, not to doe after your wickednesse.

t Meaning, all other cities, and countreys.

49 And they shall lay your wickednesse vpon you, and yee shall beare the sinnes of your idoles, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 16 The parable of Ezekiels wife being dead.

AGaine in the [a] ninth yeere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the [b] moneth came the word of the Lord vnto mee, saying, a Of Ieconiahs captiuitie, and of the reigne of Zedekiah, 2. King. 25. 1.

b Called Tebeth, which containeth part of December, and part of Ianuary: in the which moneth & day Nebuchad-nezzar besieged Ierusalem.

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, euen of this same day: for the King of Babel set himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a [c] pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

c Whereby was meant Ierusalem.

4 Gather the [d] pieces thereof into it, euen euery good piece, as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

d That is, the citizens, and the chiefe men thereof.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and ‖ burne also the [e] bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seethe the bones of it therein.

e Meaning, of the innocents, whom they had slaine, who were the cause of the kindling of Gods wrath against them.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Woe to the bloody citie, euen to the pot, [f] whose skumme is therein, and whose skum is not gone out of it: bring it out [g] piece by piece: let no [h] lot fall vpon it.

f Whose iniquities and wicked citizens there yet remaine.

g Signifying, that they should not be destroyed all at once, but by litle and litle.

h Spare none estate or condition.

7 For her blood is in the mids of her: she set it vpon an high [i] rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust, i The city shewed her cruelty to all the world, and was not ashamed thereof, neither yet hid it. Nahum. 3. 1. habak. 2. 12.

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, and take vengeance: euen I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke that it should not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, *Woe to the bloody city, for I wil make ‖ the burning great.

‖ Or, an heape of wood.

10 Heape on much wood: [k] kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

k Meaning, that the city should bee vtterly destroyed, and that 11 Then set it emptie vpon the coales thereof, that ‖ the brasse of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may be molten in it, and that the skum of it may be consumed.

12 [l] She hath wearied her selfe with lies, and her great skumme went not out of her: therefore her skumme shall be consumed with fire.

l The citie hath flattered her selfe in vaine.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthines and wickednesse: because I would [m] haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthines, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

m I laboured by sending my Prophets to call thee to repentance, but thou wouldest not.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shal come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not goe backe, neither will spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shall [n] they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

n That is, the Babylonians.

hee would giue the enemies an appetite thereunto.

15 ¶ Also

15 ¶ Also the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, behold, I take away from thee the o pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou neither mourne nor weepe, neither shall thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, and put on thy shooes vpon thy feet, and couer not thy lips, and eat q not the bread of men.

18 So I speake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife died: and I did in r the morning, as I was commaunded.

19 And the people sayd vnto mee, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will s pollute my Sanctuary, euen the t pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom yee haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not couer your lips, neither shall ye eate the bread of men.

23 And your tire shall be vpon your heads, and your shoes vpon your feete: ye shall not mourne nor weepe, but yee shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shall doe: and when this commeth, ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their power, the ioy of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the ‡ desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, 26 That hee that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shal thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, & thou shalt speake and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt bee a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

o Meaning, his wife in whom he delighted, as ver. 18.

p For in mourning, they were bareheaded and barefooted, and also couered their lips.

q That is, which the neighbours sent to them that mourned.

r Meaning, the morning following.

s By sending the Caldeans to destroy it, as Chap. 7.22.

t Wherein you boast and delite.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which reioyced at the fall of Ierusalem 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistims.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them.

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, because thou saydest, a Ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the b men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their c palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shal eate thy fruit, and they drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make d Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepe coate, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus sayth the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will rote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I wil destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen,

9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, euen of the cities e of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey Beth ieshimoth, Baal meon, and Kiriathaim,

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembred among the nations, 11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and they of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom by the hand of my people Israel, and they shal do in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shal know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselues with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Philistims, and I will cut off the f Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

a Because ye reioyced when the enemies destroyed my citie and Temple.

b That is, to the Babylonians.

c They shall chase thee away and take thy gorgeous houses to dwell in.

d Called also Philadelphia, which was the chiefe citie of the Ammonites, and full of conduits, 2. Sam. 12. 27.

e So that no power or strength should be able to resist the Babylonians.

f Which were certaine garisons of Philistims, whereby they oft times molested the Iewe. Of the Cherethims Dauid also had a guard, 2. Sam. 8. 18.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 He prophesieth that Tyrus shall be ouerthrowen because it reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalem. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the merchants for the destruction of Tyrus.

And

AND in the a eleuenth yeere, in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the b gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing thee is desolate, I shall be c replenished,

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring vp many nations against thee, as the Sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shal be a spoyle to the nations.

6 And her d daughters which are in the field, shall be slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a king of kings, from the North, with horses and with charets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shal slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and hee shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheeles, and of the charets, when hee shall enter into thy gates, as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horses shall hee tread downe all thy streetes: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the e pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoile thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water.

16 Then all the princes of the g sea shall come downe from their throne: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broydered garments, and shall clothe themselues with astonishment: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amazed at thee.

18 Now shall the Iles be astonished in the day of thy fall: yea, the Iles that are in the sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people i of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the k liuing,

The Prophet bewayleth the desolation of Tyrus, shewing what were the riches, power and authoritie thereof in time past.

11 The men of Aruad with thine armie were vpon thy walles round about, and the [e]Gammadims were in thy towers: they hanged their shields vpon thy walles round about: they haue made thy beauty perfit.

a The word of God against the king of Tyrus for his pride. 23 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that he will gather together the children of Israel.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say vnto the prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast sayd, [a] I am a God, I sit in the seate of God in the mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and ‡ though thou diddest thinke in thine heart that thou wast equall with God,

4 With thy wisedome and thine vnderstanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten golde and siluer into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisedome, and by thine occupying, hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted vp because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Because thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God.

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers vpon thee, euen the terrible nations: and they shall draw their swordes against 8 They shall cast thee downe to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slaine in the midst of the sea.

9 Wilt thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a god? but thou shalt bee a man and no god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the [c] vncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

12 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation vpon the king of Tyrus, and say vnto him, Thus sayth the Lord God, Thou sealest vp the summe, and art full of [d] wisedome and perfit in beauty, 13 Thou hast been in Eden the garden of God: euery precious stone was in thy garment, the ruby, the topaze, and the ‖ diamond, the chrysolite, the onix, and the iasper, the saphir, ‖ emerauld, & the carbuncle, and golde: the workemanship of thy tymbrels, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

15 Thou wast perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast [h] created, till iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they haue filled the mids of thee with cruelty, and thou hast sinned: Therefore I will cast thee as prophane out of the [i] mountaine of God, and I will destroy thee, O couering Cherub, from the middes of the stones of fire, 17 Thine heart was lifted vp, because of thy beauty, and thou hast corrupted thy wisedome by reason of thy brightnesse: I wil cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy [k] sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquitie of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the middes of thee, which shall deuoure thee: and I will bring thee to ashes vpon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold.

19 All they that knowe thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt be a ‖ terrour, and neuer shalt thou bee any more.

20 ¶ Againe, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

22 And say, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zidon, and I will be [l] glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall knowe that I am the Lord, when I shall haue executed iudgements in her, and shalbe sanctified in her.

23 For I wil send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets, and the slaine shall fall in the mids of her: [m] the enemie shall come against her with the sword on euery side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall be no more a pricking thorne vnto the house of Israel, nor any grieuous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shal know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall haue gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shal be [n] sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land, that I haue giuen to my seruant Iaakob.

26 And they shall dwel safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I haue executed iudgements vpon all round about them that despite them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

Hee propheſieth againſt Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lorde promiſeth that hee will reſtore Egypt after fourtie yeeres. 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nebuchad nezzar for the labour which hee tooke againſt Tyrus.

IN the [a] tenth yere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against Pharaoh the king of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speake, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, Pharaoh king of Egypt, the great [b] dragon, that lieth in the middes of his riuers, which hath sayd, The riuer is mine, and I haue made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put [c] hookes in thy iawes, and I will cause the fish of thy riuers to sticke vnto thy scales, and I will drawe thee out of the middes of thy riuers, and all the fish of thy riuers shall sticke vnto thy scales.

5 And I will leaue thee in the wildernesse, both thee and all the fish of thy riuers: thou shalt fall vpon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I haue giuen thee for meat to the beasts of the field, and to the foules of the heauen, h Lest I should by this meanes punish their sinnes.

l Signifying, that Nebuchad-nezzar had more paines then profit, by the taking of Tyrus.

The destruction of Egypt, and the cities thereof.

THe word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Houle, and cry, Woe be vnto this day.

3 For the day is neere, and the day of the Lord is at hand, a cloudie day, and it shall be the time of the heathen.

4 And the sword shall come vpon Egypt, and feare shall bee in Ethiopia, when the slaine shall fall in Egypt, when they shall take away her multitude, & when her foundations shalbe broken downe.

a By Put and Lud are meant Africa and Lybia.

5 a Ethiopia, and Phut, and Lud, and all the common people, and Cub, and the men of the land, that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.

6 Thus saith the Lord, They also that maintaine Egypt, shall fall, and the pride of her power shall come downe: from the tower of b Seueneh shall they fall by the sword, saith the Lord God.

b Which was a strong citie of Egypt, Chap. 29. 10.

7 And they shall be desolate in the mids of the countreys that are desolate, and her cities shalbe in the mids of the cities that are wasted.

8 And they shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fire in Egypt, and when all her helpers shall be destroyed.

9 In that day shall there messengers goe foorth from me in ships, to make the careless Moores afraid, and feare shall come vpon them as in the day of Egypt: for loe, it commeth.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I will also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the hand of Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel.

11 For hee and his people with him, euen the terrible nations, shall bee brought to destroy the land: and they shall drawe their swordes against Egypt, and fill the land with the slaine.

12 And I will make the riuers dry, and sell the land into the handes of the wicked, and I will make the land waste, and all that therein is, by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

was strong, but is broken, and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.

23 And I will scatter the Egyptians among the nations, and will disperse them through the countreys.

24 And I will strengthen the arme of the King of Babel, & put my sword in his hand, but I will breake Pharaohs armes, and hee shal cast out sighings, as the sighings of him that is wounded before him.

25 But I will strengthen the armes of the King of Babel, & the armes of Pharaoh shall fall downe, and they shall know that I am the Lord, h when I shall put my sword into the hand of the King of Babel, and hee shall stretch it out vpon the land of Egypt.

CHAP. XXXI.

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians. 10 He prophesieth a like destruction to them both.

AND in the a eleuenth yeere, in the third moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, & to his multitude, Whom art thou b like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Ashur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very high, & his top was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on high with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her c little riuers vnto all the trees of the ‖ field.

5 Therefore his height was exalted aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughs were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughs, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring foorth their young, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was hee faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was neere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden d of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the chesnut trees were not like his boughs: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ‖ he is lift vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughs, and his heart is lift vp in his height, 11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the e mightiest among the heathen: he shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him euen the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleyes his branches are fallen, and his boughes are f broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and all the beasts of the field shalbe vpon his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall bee exalted by their height, neither shal shoot vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the nether parts of the earth in the mids of the children of men, among them that go downe to the pit.

15 Thus sayth the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I g couered the deep for him, and I did restraine the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, & all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall h bee comforted in the nether parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword and his arme, and they that i dwelt vnder his shadow in the mids of the heathen.

18 To whom k art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden: yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether parts of the earth, thou shalt lie in the mids of the k vncircumcised, with them that bee slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

2 The prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 He prophecieth that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

AND in the a twelfth yeere in the twelfth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh King of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a b lyon of the nations, and art as a ‖ dragon in the Sea: thou castedst out thy riuers c and troublest the waters with thy feete, and stampedst in their riuers.

3 Thus sayth the Lord God, * I will therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, and they shal make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leaue thee vpon the land, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all

5 And I will lay thy flesh vpon the mountaines, and fill the valleyes [d] with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood, the land wherein thou [e] swimmest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall [f] put thee out, I will couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: * I will couer the sunne with a cloud, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen will I make darke for thee, and bring darkenesse vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreys which thou hast not knowen.

10 Yea, I will make many people amased at thee, and their kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the King of Babel shall come vpon thee.

12 By the swords of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall bee terrible nations, and they shall destroy the [h] pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.

13 I will destroy also all the beasts thereof from the great waters sides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the hooues of beast trouble them.

14 Then will I make [i] their waters deepe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall bee layd waste: when I shall smite all them which dwel therein, then shall they know that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yeere, also in the fifteenth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord vnto mee, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and [k] cast them downe, euen them and the daughters of the mighty nations vnto the nether parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom doest thou passe [l] in beauty? go downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the mids of them that are slaine by the sword: [m] shee is deliuered to the sword: draw her downe, and all her multitude.

21 The most mightie and strong shall speake to [n] him out of the mids of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the vncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

25 They haue made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their graues are round about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sword: though they haue caused their feare in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them: that goe downe to the pit: they are layd in the mids of them that be slaine.

26 There is [q] Meshech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graues are round about them all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And they shall not lie with the valiant [r] of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue laid their swordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall bee vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the vncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Edom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are layd by them that were slaine by the sword: they shal sleepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be all the princes of the [s] North, with al the Zidonians which are gone down with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the vncircumcised sleepe with them that bee slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 The office of the gouernours and ministers. 14 He strengtheneth them that dispaire, and boldeneth them with the promise of mercie. 30 The word of the Lord against the mockers of the Prophet.

AGaine the word of the Lord came vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake to the children of thy people, and say vnto them, When

I bring the sword vpon a land, if the people of the land take a man ‖ from among them, and make him their [a] watchman,

3 If when he seeth the sword come vpon the land, hee blow the trumpet, and warne the people,

4 Then he that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall bee vpon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shalbe vpon him: but he that receiueth warning, shall saue his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blow not the trumpet, and the people bee not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, hee is taken away for his [b] iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 * So thou, Sonne of man, I haue made thee a watchman vnto the house of Israel: therefore thou shalt heare the word at my [c] mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say vnto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie: but his blood will I [d] require at thine hand.

9 Neuertheless, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee shall die for his iniquitie: but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore, O thou sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, Thus yee speake and say, If our transgressions & our sinnes be vpon vs, and we are consumed because of them, [e] how should we then liue?

11 Say vnto them, As I liue, saith the Lord God, [f] I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way and liue: turne you, turne you from your euill wayes, for why will yee die, O yee house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say vnto the children of thy people, The [g] righteousnesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therin, in the day that he returneth from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous liue for his righteousnesse in the day that hee sinneth.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that he shall surely liue, if he trust to his own righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall bee no more remembred, but for his iniquity that he hath committed, he shall die for the same.

14 Againe, when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death: if hee turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and [h] right, 15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and giue againe that he had robbed, & walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely liue, and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him, because he hath done that which is lawfull & right, he shall surely liue.

17 Yet the children of the people say * The way of the Lord is not equall: but their own way is vnequall. Chap. 18.25.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, he shall euen die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue thereby.

20 Yet ye say, the way of the Lord is not equall. O yee house of Israel, I will iudge you euery one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of [i] our captiuitie, in the tenth moneth, and in the fift day of the moneth, one that had escaped out of Ierusalem, came vnto mee, and said, The citie is smitten.

22 Now the [k] hand of the Lord had bene vpon mee in the euening afore he that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, vntill he came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my [l] mouth, I was no more dumbe.

23 Againe the word of the Lord came vnto me, and said,

24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, [m] Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but we are many, therfore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Yee eate with the [n] blood, and lift vp your eyes toward your idoles, and shed blood: should you then possesse the land?

26 Yee leane vpon your [o] swords: yee worke abomination, and yee defile euery one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, so surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword: and him that is in the open field, will I giue vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that bee in the forts and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the [p] pompe of her strength shall cease, and the mountaines of Israel shal be desolate, and none shall passe thorow.

29 Then shall they know that I am the Lord, when I haue layde the land desolate and waste because of all the abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that [r] talke of thee by the walles and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, euery one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that commeth from the Lord.

31 For they come vnto thee, as the people vseth to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy words, but they will not doe them: for with their mouthes they make [q] iestes, and their heart goeth after their couetousnesse.

32 And loe, thou art vnto them, as a ‖ iesting song of one that hath a pleasant voyce, and can sing well: for they heare thy words, but

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepheards that despised the flocke of Christ, and seeke their owne gaine. 7 The Lorde saith that he will visit his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promiseth the true Shepheard Christ, and with him peace.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophesie against the shepheards of Israel, prophesie and say vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord God vnto the shepheards, * Woe bee vnto the [a] shepheards of Israel, that feede themselues: should not the shepheards feede the flocks?

3 Ye eat the [b] fat, and ye clothe you with the wooll: ye kill them that are fed, but yee feed not the sheepe.

4 The weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, neither haue yee bound vp the broken, nor brought again that which was driuen away, neither haue yee sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigour haue ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepheard: and when they were dispersed, they were [d] deuoured of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered through all the mountaines, and vpon euery high hill: yea my flock was scattered through all the earth, and none did seeke or search after them.

7 Therefore yee shepheards, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I liue, sayth the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, and my sheep were deuoured of all the beastes of the field, hauing no shepheard, neither did my shepheards seeke my sheepe, but the shepheards fed themselues, and fed not my sheepe, 9 Therefore heare yee the worde of the Lord, O ye shepheards.

10 Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I come against the shepheards, and will require my sheepe at their handes, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepheards feede themselues any more: for I will deliuer my sheepe from [e] their mouthes, and they shall no more deuoure them.

11 For thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I will search my sheepe, and seeke them out.

12 As a shepheard searcheth out his flock, when hee hath beene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I seeke out my sheepe, and wil deliuer them out of al places, where they haue beene scattered in [f] the cloudie and darke day, 13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them vpon the mountaines of Israel, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israel shall their folde bee: there shall they lie in a good folde, and in fat pasture shal they feede vpon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seeke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen away, and will binde vp that which was broken, and will strengthen the weake, but I will destroy the fat and the [g] strong, and I will feede them with [h] iudgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Seemeth it a small thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good [i] pasture, but ye must tread downe with your feete the residue of your pasture? & to haue drunke of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eate that which yee haue troden with your feete, and drinke that which ye haue troubled with your feete.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Behold, I, euen I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the leane sheepe.

21 Because ye haue thrust with side and with shoulder, and pusht all the weake with your hornes, till yee haue scattered them abroad, 22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more be spoyled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set vp a shepheard ouer them, and he shal feed them, euen my seruant [k] Dauid, he shall feede them, and he shall be their shepheard.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my seruant Dauid shall be the prince among them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a couenant of peace, and will cause the euill beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall [l] dwel safely in the wildernesse, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, euen round about my mountaine: and I wil cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be raine of blessing.

27 And the [m] tree of the field shall yeelde her fruit, and the earth shall giue her fruite, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliuered them out of the hands of those that serued themselues of them.

28 And they shall no more be spoyled of the heathen, neither shall the beastes of the land deuoure them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I wil rayse vp for them a [n] plant of renowme, and they shall be no more consumed with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, euen the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And yee my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their [b] iniquitie had an ende,

6 Therefore as I liue, sayth the Lord God, I will prepare thee vnto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou [c] hate blood, euen blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out, and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his slaine men: in thine hils, and in thy valleyes, and in all thy riuers shal they fall, that are slaine with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetuall desolations, and thy cities shall not [d] returne, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast sayd, [e] These two nations, and these two countreyes shall be mine, and we will possesse them (seeing the Lord was [f] there)

11 Therefore as I liue, saith the Lord God I will do euen according to thy [g] wrath, and according to thine indignation which thou hast vsed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my selfe knowen among [h] them when I haue iudged thee.

13 Thus with your mouthes yee haue boasted against mee, and haue multiplied your words against me: I haue heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shal all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

ALso thou sonne of man, prophesie vnto the * mountaines of Israel, and say, Yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

Chap. 6. 2.

2 Thus saith the Lord GOD, Because the [a] enemie hath said against you, Aha, euen the [b] hie places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesie & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery side, that ye might bee a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lips and [c] tongues of men, and vnto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore yee mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hils, to the riuers, and to the valleyes, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Surely in the fire of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea which [d] haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioy of all their heart, and with despitefull minds to cast it out for a pray.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and say vnto the mountaines, and to the hils, to the riuers, and to the valleyes, Thus sayth the Lord God, Behold, I haue spoken in mine indignation, & in my wrath, because yee haue suffered the [e] shame of the heathen,

7 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, I haue [f] lifted vp mine hand, surely ỳ heathen that are about you, shall beare their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, yee shal [g] shoote forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come vnto you, and I will turne vnto you, and ye shalbe tilled and sowen.

10 And I will multiplie the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply vpon you man and beast, and they shall increase and bring fruit, and I will cause you to dwell after your olde estate, and I will bestow benefites vpon you more then [h] at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke vpon [i] you, euen my people Israel, and they shall possesse || you, and yee shall bee their inheritance, and ye shal no more henceforth depriue them of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say vnto you, Thou [k] land deuourest vp men, and hast beene a waster of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God,

16 ¶ Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

17 Sonne of man, when the houſe of Iſrael dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthineſſe of the menſtruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that they had ſhed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I ſcattered them among the heathen, and they were diſperſed thorow the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 *And when they entred vnto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted mine holy Name, when they ſaid of them, Theſe are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I fauoured mine holy l Name, which the houſe of Iſrael had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore ſay vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Thus ſaith the Lord God. I doe not this for your ſakes, O houſe of Iſrael, but for mine m holy Names ſake, which yee polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will ſanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you haue polluted it, and the heathen ſhal know that I am the Lord, ſaith the Lord God, when I ſhall be ſanctified in you before || their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane n water vpon you, and ye ſhall be cleane: yea, from all your filthineſſe, and from all your idoles wil I cleanſe you.

26 *A new heart alſo wil I giue you, and a new ſpirit will I put within you, and I will take away the ſtonie heart out of your body, and I will giue you an heart of fleſh.

27 And I will put my ſpirit within you, and cauſe you to walke in my ſtatutes, and ye ſhall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And ye ſhall dwell in the land that I gaue to your fathers, and ye ſhall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will alſo deliuer you from all your filthineſſe, and I wil call for o corne, and wil increaſe it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruit of the trees, and the increaſe of the fielde, that yee ſhall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then ſhall yee remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and ſhall iudge your ſelues worthy to haue bene p deſtroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I doe not this for your ſakes, ſayeth the Lord God: therefore, O ye houſe of Iſrael, be aſhamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus ſayeth the Lord God, What time as I ſhal haue cleanſed you from all your iniquities, I will cauſe you to dwell in the cities, and the deſolate places ſhalbe builded.

34 And the deſolate land ſhall be tilled, whereas it lay waſte in the ſight of all that paſſed by.

35 For they ſaid, This waſte land was like the garden of Eden, and theſe waſte and deſolate and ruinous cities were ſtrong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the reſidue of the heathen that are left round about you, ſhall q know that I the Lord build the ruinous places, & plant the deſolate places: I the Lord haue ſpoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will yet for this be ſought of the houſe of Iſrael, to performe it vnto them: I will increaſe them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Ieruſalem in their ſolemne feaſtes, ſo ſhall the deſolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they ſhall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He propheſieth the bringing againe of the people being in captiuitie. 16 He ſheweth the vnion of the ten tribes with the two.

THe hand of the Lord was vpon me, and caried mee out in the ſpirit of the Lord, and ſet me downe in the mids of the || field, which was full of a bones.

2 And he led mee round about by them, and behold, there were very many in the open field, and loe, they were very drie.

3 And he ſaid vnto mee, Sonne of man, can theſe bones liue? And I anſwered, O Lord God, thou knoweſt.

4 Againe hee ſaid vnto mee, Propheſie vpon theſe bones, and ſay vnto them, O yee drie bones, heare the word of the Lord.

5 Thus ſaith the Lord God vnto theſe bones, Behold, I will cauſe breath to enter into you, and ye ſhall liue.

6 And I will lay ſinewes vpon you, and make fleſh grow vpon you, and couer you with ſkin, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye ſhall know that I am the Lord.

7 So I propheſied as I was commaunded: and as I propheſied, there was a noiſe, and behold, there was a ſhaking, & the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I beheld, loe, the ſinewes, and the fleſh grew vpon them, and aboue the ſkin couered them, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then ſaid he vnto me, Propheſie vnto the winde: propheſie, ſonne of man, and ſay to the winde, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Come from the foure b windes, O breath, and breathe vpon theſe ſlaine, that they may liue.

10 So I propheſied as hee had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and ſtood vp vpon their feete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he ſaid vnto me, Sonne of man, theſe bones are the whole houſe of Iſrael. Behold, they ſay, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, and we are cleane cut off.

15 ¶ The word of the Lord came againe to me, saying,

16 Moreouer, thou sonne of man, take thee a piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Iudah, and to the children of Israel his companions: then take d another piece of wood, and write vpon it, Vnto Ioseph the tree of Ephraim, and to all the house of Israel his companions.

d Which signifieth the ioyning together of the two houses of Israel and Iudah.

17 And thou shalt ioyne them one to another into one tree, and they shall be as one in thine hand.

18 And when the children of thy people shall speake vnto thee, saying, Wilt thou not shew vs what thou meanest by these?

19 Thou shalt answere them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the tree e of Ioseph, which is in the hand of Ephraim, and the tribes of Israel his fellowes, and wil put them with him, euen with the tree of Iudah, and make them one tree, and they shall be one in mine hand.

e That is, the house of Israel.

20 And the pieces of wood whereon thou writest, shalbe in thine hand in their sight.

21 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will take the children of Israel from among the heathen whither they be gone, and will gather them on euery side, and bring them into their owne land.

22 And I will make them one people in the lande vpon the mountaines of Israel, * and one king shall be king to them all: and they shall be no more two peoples, neither bee diuided any more hencefoorth into two kingdomes, 27 My tabernacle also shall bee with them: yea, I will bee their God, and they shall be my people.

28 Thus the heathen shall know, that I the Lord do sanctifie Israel, when my Sanctuarie shall be among them for euermore.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

2 He propheseth that Gog and Magog shall fight with great power against the people of God. 21 Their destruction.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against a Gog, and against the land of Magog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal, and prophesie against him, a Which was a people that came of Magog, the sonne of Iaphet, Gen. 10.2. Magog also here signifieth a certaine countrey, so that by these two countreyes, which had the gouernment of Grecia and Italy, he meaneth the principall enemies of the Church, Reuel. 20.8.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Gog the chiefe prince of Meshech and Tubal.

4 And I wil destroy thee, and put hookes in thy tawes, and I will bring thee foorth and all thine hoste, both horses and horsemen, all clothed with all sorts of armour, euen a great multitude with bucklers & shields, all b handling swords.

b He sheweth that the enemies should bend themselues against the Church, but it should be to their owne destruction.

5 They of c Paras, of Cush, and Phut with them, euen all they that beare shield and helmet.

c The Persians, Ethiopians, and men of Africa.

6 d Gomer and all his bandes, and the house of Togarmah of the North quarters, and all his bands, and much people with thee.

d Gomer was Iaphets sonne, and Togarmah the sonne of Gomer, and are thought to be they that inhabite Asia minor.

7 Prepare thy selfe, and e make thee ready, both thou, and all thy multitude, that are assembled vnto thee, and be thou their safegard.

e Signifying, that all the people of the world should assemble themselues against § Church, and Christ their head.

8 After many dayes thou shalt bee visited: for in the latter yeeres thou shalt come into the land, that hath bene destroyed with the sword, and is gathered out of many people, vpon the mountaines of Israel, which haue long lien waste: yet ‖ they haue beene brought out of the people, & they shall dwell all safe.

9 Thou shalt ascend and come vp like a tempest, and shalt be like a cloud to couer the land, both thou and all thy bands, and many people with thee.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Euen at the same time shall many things come into thy minde, and thou shalt thinke f euill thoughts.

f That is, to molest and destroy the Church.

11 And thou shalt say, I wil goe vp to the land that hath no walled towers: g I will goe to them that are at rest, and dwell in safetie, which dwell all without walles, and haue neither barres nor gates, g Meaning, Israel, which had now beene destroyed, and was not yet built againe: declaring hereby the simplicitie of the godly, who seeke not so much to fortifie themselues by outward force, as to depend on the prouidence and goodnesse of God.

spoyle the pray? hast thou gathered the multitude to take a bootie? to carie away siluer and golde, to take away cattell and goods, and to spoile a great great pray?

14 Therefore sonne of man, prophesie, and say vnto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel [i] dwelleth safe, shalt thou not know it,

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee? all shall ride vpon horses, euen a great multitude and a mighty armie.

16 And thou shalt come vp against my people of Israel, as a cloud to couer the land: thou shalt be in the [k] latter dayes, and I will bring thee vpon my lande, that the heathen may know me, when I [l] shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I haue spoken in old time, [m] by the hand of my seruaunts the Prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee vpon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath haue I spoken it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the field, and all that moue and creepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall bee ouerthrowen, and the [n] staires shall fall, and euery wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I wil call for a sword against him [o] throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sword shalbe against his brother.

22 And will pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I will cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bands, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and haile stones, fire, and brimstone.

23 Thus will I be [*] magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

i Shalt not thou spie thine occasions to come against my Church when they suspect nothing?

k Meaning, in the last age, and from the comming of Christ vnto the end of the world.

l Signifying, that God will be sanctified by maintaining his Church and destroying his enemies, as Cha. 36. 23. and 37 28.

m Hereby he declareth that none affliction can come to the Church, whereof they haue not bene aduertised aforetime, to teach them to endure all things with more patience, when they know that God hath so ordeined.

n All meanes whereby man should think to saue himselfe, shall faile, the affliction in those dayes shalbe so terrible.

2 And I wil destroy thee [a] and leaue but the sixt part of thee, and will cause thee to come vp from the North parts, and will bring thee vpon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

a Or, destroy thee with sixe plagues, as Cha. 38. 22.

4 Thou [b] shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israel, and all thy bands, and the people that is with thee: for I will giue thee vnto the birds, and to euery feathered foule and beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will send a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the [c] Iles, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name knowen in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the Holy one of Israel.

8 Beholde, [d] it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

9 And they that dwell in the cities of Israel, shall [e] goe forth, and shall burne and set fire vpon the weapons, [f] on the shields, and bucklers, vpon the bowes, and vpon the arrowes, [g] vpon the staues in their hands, and vpon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seuen yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any out of the forrests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I giue vnto Gog, [f] a place there for buriall in Israel, euen the valley whereby men goe toward the East part of the sea: and it shall cause them that passe by, to stoppe their [g] noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his multitude: and they shall call it the valley of || Hamon-Gog.

12 [h] And seuen moneths long shall the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall haue a name when I shalbe glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they shal chuse out men to go continually thorow the [i] lande with them that trauaile to bury those that remaine vpon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of seuen moneths.

15 And the trauellers that passe thorow the land, if any see a mans bone, then shall he set vp a signe by it, till the buriers haue buried it in the valley of Hamon Gog.

16 And also the name of the citie shall be || Hamonah: thus shal they cleanse the land.

17 And thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, Speake vnto euery feathered foule, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble your selues, and come: [k] gather your selues on euery side to my sacrifice, for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you vpon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may eate flesh and drinke blood.

18 Yee shall eate the flesh of the valiant, and drinke the blood of the Princes of the earth, of the weathers, of the lambes, and of the goates, and of bullockes, euen of all fat beasts of Bashan.

19 And yee shall eate fatte till yee be full, and c That is, among al nations where the enemies of my people dwel, seeme they neuer so farre separate.

d That is, this plague is fully determined in my counsel, and cannot be changed.

e After this destruction the Church shall haue great peace and tranquillity, and burne all their weapons, because they shal no more feare the enemy: and this is chiefly meant of the accomplishment of Christs kingdome, when by their head Christ all enemies shall be ouercome.

and drinke blood, till ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall bee filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I will set my glory among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layd vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shal know, that I am the Lord their God from that day and forth.

23 And the heathen shall know, that the house of Israel went into captiuity for [1] their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

1 The heathen shall know that they ouercame not my people by their strength, neither yet by the weakenesse of mine arme, but that this was for my peoples sinnes.

24 According to their vncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captiuitie of Iaakob, & haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and will be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against mee, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am * sanctified in them in the sight of many nations,

Chap. 36. 23.

28 Then shall they know, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to bee ledde into captiuitie among the heathen: but I haue gathered them vnto their owne lande, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither will I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the Citie, and the Temple.

IN the fiue and twentieth yeere of our being in captiuitie, in the [a] beginning of the yeere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon mee, and brought mee thither.

a The Iewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sorts: for their feasts they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: so that this is to be vnderstood of September.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by ‖ a diuine vision, and set me vpon a very high mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie toward the South.

‖ Or, visions of God.

3 And he brought mee thither, & behold, there was a [b] man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linnen threed in his hand, and a reede to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to measure out this building.

4 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the mans hand was a reede to measure with, of sixe cubites long by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reed, and the height with one reed.

6 Then came hee vnto the gate, which looketh towards the East, and went vp the staires thereof, and measured the ‖ poste of the gate, which was one reede broad, and ‖ the other poste of the gate, which was one reede broad.

7 And euery chamber was one reed long, and one reed broad, and betweene the chambers were fiue cubites: and the poste of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured hee the porch of the gate of eight cubits, and the ‖ postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also before the chambers, was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were sixe cubites on this side, and sixe cubites on that side.

13 Hee measured then the gate from the roofe of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was fiue and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 Hee made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And vpon the forefront of the entry of the gate vnto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrow windowes in the chambers, and in their postes within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and vpon the posts were palme trees.

17 ¶ Then brought he mee into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pauement made for the court round about, and thirtie chambers were vpon the pauement.

18 And the pauement was by the side of the gates ouer against the length of the gates, and the pauement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, vnto the forefront of the gate within, an hundreth cubits Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubits.

22 And their windowes and their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of ỳ gate that loketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seuen steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood ouer against the gate toward the North, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubits.

24 After that he brought me toward the South, and loe there was a gate toward the South, and hee measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures.

25 And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about like those windowes: the height was fiftie cubits, and the bredth fiue and twentie cubits.

26 And there were seuen steps to goe vp to it, & the arches thereof were before them: and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the poste thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And hee brought mee into the inner court by the South gate, & hee measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twenty cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were fiue and twentie cubits long, and fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

32 ¶ Againe hee brought mee into the inner court toward the East, and he measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fifty cubits long, and fiue and twenty cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

35 ¶ After hee brought me to the North gate, and measured it, according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fifty cubits, and the breadth fiue and twenty cubites.

37 And the posts thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steps.

38 And euery chamber, and the entrie thereof was vnder the postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entry of the North gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on that side by the side of the gate, euen eight tables whereupon they slew their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offring, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie, whereupon also they laid the instruments wherewith they slew the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate, were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And he sayd vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priests that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the Altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok among the sonnes of Leui, which may come neere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, euen foure square: likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fiue cubites on this side, and fiue cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites, and he brought me by the steps wherby they went vp to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLI.

1 The disposition and order of the buiding of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

AFterward he brought mee to the Temple, and measured the posts, sixe cubites broad on the one side, and sixe cubites broad on the other side, which was the bredth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the bredth of the entry was ten cubites, and the sides of the entry were fiue cubites on the one side, and fiue cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof fourty cubits, and the bredth twenty cubits.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie fiue cubites, and the breadth of the entry seuen cubites.

4 So hee measured the length thereof twentie cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he said vnto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, hee measured the wall of the house, fiue cubits, and the breadth of euery chamber foure cubits round about the house on euery side.

6 And the chambers were chamber vpon chamber, three and thirtie foot high, and they entred into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the posts might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting vpward to the chambers, for the staire of the house was mounting vpward round about the house: therefore the house was larger vpward: so they went vp from the lowest chamber to ỳ highest by the mids.

8 I saw also the house hie round about: the foundations of the chambers were a full reede of fiue great cubits.

9 The thicknesse of the wall which was for the chamber without was fiue cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And betweene the chambers was the widenesse of twentie cubits round about the house on euery side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the North, and another doore toward the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was fiue cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place towards the West corner, was seuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the building was fiue cubites thicke, round about, and the length ninetie cubits.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubites long, and the separate place, and the building with the wals thereof were an hundreth cubites long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house, and of the separate place toward the East was an hundreth cubites.

15 And hee measured the length of the building ouer against the separate place, which was behinde it, and the chambers on the one side, and on the other side an hundred cubites with the temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes & the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides ouer against the postes, sieled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground vp to the windowes, and the windowes were sieled.

17 And from aboue the doore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was sieled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was betweene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euery Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made thorow all the house round about.

20 From the ground vnto aboue the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The posts of the Temple were squared, and thus to loke vnto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was three cubites hie, and the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said vnto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, euen two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And vpon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims, and palme trees, like as was made vpon the walles, and there were thicke plankes vpon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side by the sides of the porch, and vpon the sides of the house, and thicke plankes.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

THen brought he me into the vtter court by the way toward the North, and hee brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the North.

2 Before the length of an hundreth cubites was the North doore, and it was fiftie cubits broad.

3 Ouer against the twentie cubits which were for the inner court, and ouer against the pauement, which was for the vtter court, was chamber against chamber in three rowes.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, and within was a way of one cubite, and their doores toward the North.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eate vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the mids of the building.

6 For they were in three rowes, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath and from the middlemost, euen from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without ouer against the chambers, toward the vtter court on the forefront of the chambers, was fiftie cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites, and loe, before the Temple were an hundred cubits.

9 And

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickenesse of the wall of the court toward the East ouer against the separate place, and ouer against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were toward the North, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their dores.

12 And according to the doores of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, euen the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said he vnto me, The North chambers, and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they bee holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approch vnto the Lorde shall eate the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meate offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the vtter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approch to those things which are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me foorth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rod, fiue hundred reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

17 He measured also the North side, fiue hundreth reedes, euen with the measuring reede round about.

18 And he measured the South‖ side, fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

‖Or, winde.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured fiue hundreth reedes with the measuring reede.

20 He measured it by the foure sides: it had a wall round about, fiue hundreth reedes long, and fiue hundreth broad to make a separation betweene the Sanctuarie and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He seeth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatry of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

AFterwards he brought me to the gate, euen the gate that turneth toward the East.

2 And behold, the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voice was like a noyse of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

Chap.9.3.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw a when I came to destroy the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar: and I fell vpon my face.

a When I prophesied the destruction of the citie by the Caldeans.

4 And the b glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

b Which was departed afore, Chap.11.23. and 10.22.

5 So the Spirit tooke me vp, ‡ brought me into the inner court, and behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me, out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which sayd vnto mee, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, and the place of the soles of my feete, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and the house of Israel shall no more c defile mine holy Name, neither they, nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carkeises of d their kings in their high places.

c By their idolatries.

d He alludeth to Amon and Manasseh, who were buried in their gardens neere the Temple, and there had erected vp monuments to their idoles.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betweene me and them) yet haue they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations, that they haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carkeises of their kings farre from me, and I wil dwell among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of man, shew this house to the house of Israel, that they may be ashamed of their wickednesse, and let them measure the patterne.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they haue done, shew them the forme of the house, and the paterne thereof, and the going out thereof, and the comming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof: and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

‡ Ebr. law.

12 This is the ‡ description of the house. It shall bee vpon the toppe of the mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar, after the cubites: the cubite is a cubite and an hand bredth, euen the bottome shalbe a cubite, and the bredth a cubite, ‡ the border thereof by the edge thereof, round about shal be a span: and this shall be the height of the altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shalbe two cubites, and the bredth one cubite, and from the little piece to the great piece shalbe foure cubites, and the bredth one cubite.

15 So the altar shalbe foure cubites, and from the altar vpward shalbe foure hornes.

16 And the altar shalbe twelue cubits long and twelue broad, and foure square in the foure corners thereof.

17 And the frame shalbe fourteene cubits long, and fourteen broad in the foure square corners thereof, and the border about it shall be halfe a cubit, and the bottome thereof shalbe a cubite about, and the steps thereof shalbe turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shal make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, and to the Leuites, that be of the seed of Zadok, which approch vnto me, to minister vnto me saith the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, and on the foure corners of the frame, and vpon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, & burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goate without blemish for a sin offring, and they shall cleanse the Altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou hast made an ende of clensing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall cast salt vpon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering vnto the Lord.

25 Seuen dayes shalt thou prepare euery day an hee gate for a sinne offring: they shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ramme out of the flocke without bemish.

26 Thus shal they seuen dayes purifie the altar, and clense it, and ‡ consecrate it.

‡ Ebr. fill his hand.

27 And when these dayes are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAP XLIIII.

He reproueth the people for their offence. 7 The vncircumcised in heart and in the flesh. 9 Who are to be admitted to the seruice of the Temple, and who to be refused.

THen he brought me towarde the gate of the outward Sanctuarie, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

a Meaning, from the common people, but not from the Priests nor the prince, reade Chap. 46. 8, 9.

2 Then sayd the Lord vnto mee, This gate shall bee [a] shut, and shall not be opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entred by it, and it shall be shut.

3 It appertaineth to the prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eate bread before the Lord: he shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 ¶ Then brought hee mee toward the North gate before the house: & when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell vpon my face.

‖ Ebr. set thine heart.

5 And the Lord said vnto me, Sonne of man, ‡ marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say vnto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the lawes thereof, and marke well the entring in of the house with euery going foorth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, euen to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, O house of Israel, ye haue enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that yee haue brought into my Sanctuary [b] strangers, vncircumcised in heart, and vncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine House, when yee offer my bread, euen fat and blood: and they haue broken my couenant, because of al your abominations.

b For they had brought idolaters, which were of other countries, to teach them their idolatry, Chap. 23. 40.

8 For yee haue not kept the [c] ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selues haue set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

c Yee haue not offered vnto me according to my Law.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger vncircumcised in heart, nor vncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is among the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the [d] Leuites that are gone backe from mee, when Israel went astray, which went astray frō mee after their idols, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

d The Leuites which had committed idolatry, were put from their dignitie, and could not be receiued into the Priests office, although they had bin of the house of Aaron, but must serue the inferiour offices, as to watch and to keepe the doores, reade 2. King. 23. 9.

11 And they shall serue in my Sanctuarie, and keepe the gates of the House, and minister in the House: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to serue them.

12 Because they serued before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie: therefore haue I lift vp mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie, 13 And they shall not come neere vnto me to doe the office of the Priest vnto me, neither shall they come neere vnto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they haue committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the house, for all the seruice thereof, and for all that shalbe done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Leuites, the sonnes of Zadok, that [e] kept the charge of my Sanctuarie, when the children of Israel went astray from mee, they shall come neere to me to serue me, and they shall stand before mee to offer mee the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

e Which obserued the Law of God, and fell not to idolatry.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table to serue me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, and no woll shall come vpon them, while they serue in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall haue linen bonets vpon their heads, and shall haue linnen breeches vpon their loynes: they shall not gird themselues in the sweating places.

19 But when they goe forth into the vtter court, euen to the vtter court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministred, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people ple with their garments.

f As did the infidels and heathen. *Leuit.*16.9.

20 They shal not also f shaue their heads, nor suffer their lockes to growe long, but rounde their heads.

21 * Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

*Leuit.*21.13.

22 Neither shal they take for their *wiues a widow, or her that is diuorced, but they shall take maidens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath beene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and prophane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

*Leuit.*21.1,2,11

25 * And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselues, except at their father, or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband: in these may they g be defiled.

g They may be at their buriall, which was a defiling.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon vnto him seuen dayes.

27 And when he goeth into the Sanctuary vnto the inner court to minister in the Sanctuary, hee shall offer his sinne offering, saith the Lord God.

*Deut.*18.1. *numb.*18.20.

28 * And the Priesthood shall bee their inheritance, yea, I am their inheritance: therefore shall ye giue them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession.

29 They shall eate the meate offring, and the sinne offering, and the trespasse offering, and euery dedicate thing in Israel, shall bee theirs.

*Exod.*13.2. and 22.29. and 34.19. *numb.*3.13.

30 * And all the first of all the first borne, and euery oblation, euen all of euery sort of your oblations shall be the Priests. Yee shall also giue vnto the Priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest in thine house.

*Exod.*22.31. *deut.*22.8.

31 The Priests shall not eat of any thing that is * dead, or torne, whether it be foule or beast.

CHAP. XLV.

1 Out of the land of promise are there separate fours portions, of which the first is giuen to the Priest and to the Temple, the second to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the Prince. 9 An exhortation vnto the heads of Israel. 10 Of iust weights and measures. 13 Of the first fruits, &c.

MOreouer, when yee shall diuide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation vnto the Lord, an a holy portion of the land, fiue and twenty thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shall be holy in all the borders thereof round about.

a Of all the land of Israel the Lord onely requireth this portion for the Temple and for the Priests, for the citie and for the Prince.

2 Of this there shall be for the Sanctuary fiue hundreth in length, with fiue hundreth in breadth, all square round about, and fifty cubites round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of fiue and twentie thousand, and the breadth of tenne thousand: and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4 The holy portion of the land shalbe the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall be a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the fiue and twentie thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth, shall the Leuites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twenty chambers.

6 Also yee shall appoint the possession of the citie fiue thousand broad, and fiue and twentie thousand long ouer against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the citie, euen before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the citie from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border vnto the East border.

8 In this land shall bee his possession in Israel: and my princes shall no more oppresse my people, and the rest of the land shall they giue to the house of Israel according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it b suffice you, O princes of Israel: leaue off cruelties and oppression, and execute iudgement and iustice: take away your exactions from my people, saith the Lord God.

b The Prophet sheweth that the heads must be first reformed, afore any good order can bee established among the people.

10 Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true c Ephah, and a true Bath.

c Ephah and Bath were both of one quantity, saue that Ephah conteined in dry things that which Bath did in liquor, Leuit. 5. 11. 1. king. 5. 11. *Exod.*30.13. *leuit.*27.25. numb 3.47.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equall: a Bath shall conteine the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitie thereof shalbe after the Homer.

12 * And the shekel shalbe twenty gerahs, and twenty shekels, and d fiue and twenty shekels, and fifteene shekels shalbe your Maneh.

d That is, three score shekels make a weight called Mina: for he ioyneth these three parts to a Mina.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye shal offer, the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of wheate, and ye shall giue the first part of an Ephah of an Homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euen of the Bath of oyle, yee shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Coz, (ten Baths are an Homer, for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering, & for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them, saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall giue this oblation for the prince in Israel.

17 And it shalbe the princes part to giue burnt offerings, and meate offerings, and drinke offerings in the solemne feasts, and in the new moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high feasts of the house of Israel: he shall prepare the sinne offring, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the house of Israel.

e Which was Nisan, conteining part of March and part of April.

18 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, In the first moneth, in the first day of e the moneth, thou shalt shalt take a yong bullocke without blemish, and cleanse the Sanctuary.

19 And the Priest shall take of the blood of the sinne offering, & put it vpon the postes of the house, and vpon the foure ‖ corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the postes of the gate of the inner court.

‖ Or, court.

20 And so shalt thou doe the seuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred, and for him that is deceiued: so shall you reconcile the house.

Exod. 12. 18. Lemit. 23. 5.

21 * In the first moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye shall haue the Passeouer a feast of seuen dayes, and ye shall eat vnleauened bread.

22 And vpon that day, shall the Prince prepare for himselfe, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a sinne offering.

23 And in the seuen dayes of the feast, hee shall make a burnt offering to the Lord, euen of seuen bullockes, and seuen rammes without blemish, dayly for seuen dayes, and an hee goate dayly for a sinne offering.

24 And hee shall prepare a meat offering of an Ephah for a bullocke, an Ephah for a ramme, and an [f] Hin of oyle for an Ephah.

f Reade Exod. 29. 40.

25 In the seuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, shall he doe the like in the feast for seuen dayes, according to the sinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meate offering, and according to the oyle.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the newe Moones. 8 Thorow which doores they must goe in, or come out of the Temple, &c.

THus sayth the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that turneth toward the East, shall bee shut the sixe working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moone it shall bee opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and hee shall worship at the threshold of the gate, after hee shall goe forth, but the gate shall not bee shut till the euening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the newe Moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer vnto the Lord on the Sabbath day shalbe sixe lambes without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

5 And the meat offring shal be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meate offering for the lambes [a] a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

a That is, as much as he will.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shal be a yong bullocke without blemish, and sixe lambes and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

7 And hee shall prepare a meate offering, euen an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambes [b] according as his hand shall bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

b Meaning, as he shall thinke good.

8 And when the prince shal enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemne feasts, hee that entreth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entreth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in: but they shall goe forth ouer against it.

10 And the prince shall bee in the mids of them: he shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnities, the meat offering shalbe an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambes, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shal make a free burnt offering or peace offerings freely vnto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and he shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt dayly make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a lambe of one yeare without blemish: thou shalt do it euery morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offring for it euery morning, the sixt part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine floure: this meate offering shalbe continually by a perpetuall ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lamb, and the meate offering, and the oyle euery morning, for a continuall burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus sayth the Lord God, If the Prince giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shalbe his sonnes, and it shalbe their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shalbe his to the [c] yeare of liberty: after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for them.

c Which was at the Iubile, Leuit. 25. 9.

18 Moreouer, the prince shall not [d] take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered euery man from his possession.

d But be content with that portion that God hath assigned him, as Chap. 45. 8.

19 ¶ After, hee brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priestes, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then sayd hee vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shall seethe the trespasse offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the vtter court, [e] to sanctifie the people.

e That the people should not haue to do with those things which appertaine to the Lord, and thinke it lawfull for them to eate them.

21 Then he brought me forth into the vtter court, and cauled me to goe by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the foure corners of the court there were courts ioyned of fortie cubits long, and thirty broad: these foure corners were of one measure.

23 And there went a wal about them, euen about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles round about.

24 Then said he vnto mee, This is the kitchin where the ministers of the house shal seethe the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters, that came out of the Temple. 13 The coasts of the land of promise, and the division thereof by tribes.

AFterward he brought me vnto the dore of the house: and behold, [a] waters issued out from vnder the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters ran down from vnder the right side of the house, at the South side of the Altar.

2 Then brought hee me out toward the North gate, and ledde me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came forth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loines.

4 Againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe hee measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loines.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, & it was a [b] riuer that I could not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow, as a riuer that could not be passed ouer.

6 And he said vnto me, Son of man, hast thou seene this? Then he brought me, & caused me to returne to the brinke of the riuer.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brinke of the riuer were very many [c] trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then said he vnto me, These waters issue out toward the East countrey, and run downe into the plaine, and shall goe into one [d] sea: they shall runne into another sea, and the [e] waters shalbe wholesome.

9 And euery thing that liueth, which moueth, where soeuer the riuers shall come, shall liue, and there shall bee a very great multitude of fish, because these waters shall come thither: for they shall bee wholesome, and euery thing shall liue whither the riuer commeth.

10 And then the [f] fishers shall stand vpon it, & from En-gedi euen vnto [g] En-eglaim, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shalbe according to their kinds, as the fish of [h] the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But [i] the myrie places thereof, and the marises thereof shall not be wholesome: they shalbe made saltpits.

12 And by this riuer vpon the brinke thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all ‖ fruitfull trees, whose leafe shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof faile: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his moneths, because their waters runne out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be meate, and the leafe thereof shall bee for ‖ medicine.

‖ Or, for bruises and sores.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, This shal be the border, whereby yee shall inherit the land according to the twelue tribes * of Israel: Ioseph shall haue two portions.

* Gen. 48. 22.

14 And yee shall inherit it, one as well as another: * concerning the which I lift vp mine hand to giue it vnto your Fathers, and this land shall fall vnto you for inheritance.

* Gen. 12. 7. & 13. 15. & 15. 18. and 26. 4. deut. 34. 4.

15 And this shalbe the border [k] of the land toward the North side, from the maine Sea toward Hethlon as men goe to Zedadah:

16 Hamath, Berothah, Sibraim, which is betweene the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath, and Hazar, Hatticon, which is by the coast of Hauran.

17 And the border from the Sea shall be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northward, and the border of Hamath: so shall bee the North part.

18 But the East side shal ye measure from Hauran, and from Damascus, and from Gilead, and from the land of Israel by Iorden, and from the border vnto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall bee toward Teman from Tamar to the waters of ‖ Meriboth in Kadesh, and the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come ouer against Hamath: this shall be the West part.

21 So shall ye diuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall diuide it by lot for an inheritance vnto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be vnto you as borne in the countrey among the children of Israel, [l] they shall part inheritance with you in the middes of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall yee giue him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLVIII.

1 The lots of the tribes. 9 The parts of the possession of the Priests, of the Temple, of the Leuites, of the citie, and of the Prince are rehearsed.

NOw these are the names of the [a] tribes: From the North side, to the coast toward Hethlon, as one goeth to Hamath, Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus Northward the coast of Hamath, euen from the East side to the West shall bee a portion for Dan.

2 And by the border of Dan frō the East side to the West side, a portion for Asher.

3 And by the border of Asher from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Naphtali.

4 And a Whereby are meant the spirituall graces that should be giuen to the Church vnder the kingdome of Christ.

b Signifying, that the graces of God should neuer decrease, but euer abound in his Church.

c Meaning, the multitude of them that should be refreshed by the spirituall waters.

d Shewing that the abundance of these graces should be so great, that all the world should be full therof which is here meant by the Persian sea, or Genezareth, and the sea called Mediterraneum, Zech. 14. 8.

e The waters which of nature are salt and vnholesome, shalbe made sweet and comfortable.

f Signifying, that when God bestoweth his mercies in such abundance, the ministers shal by their preaching winne many.

g Which were cities at the corners of the salt or dead sea.

h They shall be here of all sortes, and in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are bred.

i That is, the wicked and reprobate.

k By the land of promise he signifieth the spirituall land, whereof this was a figure.

l Meaning, that in this spirituall Kingdome there should be no difference betweene Iew nor Gentile, but that all should be partakers of this inheritance in their head Christ.

a The tribes, after that they entred into the land vnder Ioshua, diuided the land some what otherwise then is here set forth by this vision.

4 And by the border of Naphtali from the East quarter vnto the West side, a portion for Manasseh.

5 And by the border of Manasseh from the East side vnto the West side, a portion for Ephraim.

6 And by the border of Ephraim, from the East part euen vnto the West part, a portion for Reuben.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter vnto the West quarter, a portion for Iudah.

8 And by the border of Iudah, from the East part vnto the West part [b] shall bee the offering which they shall offer of fiue and twentie thousand reedes broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side vnto the West side, and the Sanctuary shall be in the mids of it.

[b] That is, the portion of the ground, which they shall separate & appoint to the Lord, which shall be diuided into three parts: for the Priests, for the Prince, and for the citie.

9 The oblation that ye shal offer vnto the Lord shall bee of fiue and twentie thousand long, and of ten thousand the breedth.

10 And for them, euen for the Priestes, shalbe this holy oblation, toward the North fiue and twentie thousand long, and toward the West tenne thousand broad, and toward the East tenne thousand broad, and toward the South fiue and twentie thousand long, and the Sanctuarie of the Lord shall bee in the mids thereof.

11 It shalbe for the Priestes, that are sanctified of the sonnes of * Zadok, which haue kept my charge, which wet not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Leuites went astray.

Chap. 44 15.

12 Therfore this oblation of the land that is offered, shalbe theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Leuites.

13 And ouer against the border of the Priests, the Leuites shall haue fiue and twentie thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fiue and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abalienate the first fruits of the land: for it is holy vnto the Lord.

15 And the fiue thousand that are left in the breadth ouer against the fiue and twenty thousand, shall be a prophane place for the citie, for housing, and for suburbs, and the citie shalbe in the mids thereof.

16 And these shall be the measures thereof, the North part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the South part [c] fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the East part fiue hundreth and foure thousand, and the West part fiue hundreth and foure thousand.

[c] Meaning, that it should be square.

17 And the suburbs of the city shal be toward the North two hundred and fifty, and toward the South two hundred and fiftie, and toward the East two hundred and fiftie, and toward the West two hundred and fiftie.

18 And the residue in length ouer against the oblation of the holy portion shal be tenne thousand Eastward, and tenne thousand Westward, and it shall bee ouer against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food vnto them that serue in the citie.

19 And they that serue in the citie, shall bee of all the tribes of Israel that shall serue therein.

20 All the oblation shalbe fiue and twenty thousand with [d] fiue and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation foure square for the Sanctuarie, and for the possession of the citie.

[d] Euery way it shall be fiue and twentie thousand.

21 And the residue shall bee for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuarie, and of the possession of the city, ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward ouer against the fiue and twentie thousand toward the West border, ouer against shal be for the portion of the prince: this shalbe the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuarie shall be in the mids thereof.

22 Moreouer, from the possession of the Leuites, and from the possession of the citie, that which is in the mids shall bee the Princes: betweene the border [e] of Iudah, and betweene the border of Beniamin shall bee the Princes.

[e] So that Iudah was on the North side of the princes and Leuites portions, & Beniamin on the South side.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part vnto the West part, Beniamin shalbe a portion.

24 And by the border of Beniamin, from the East side vnto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part vnto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar from the East side vnto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part vnto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward [f] Temath, the border shall be euen from [g] Tamar vnto the waters of Meribath in Kadesh, and to the [h] riuer that runneth into the maine Sea.

[g] Which was Iericho, the citie of Palme tres.

[h] Meaning, Nilus, that runneth into the sea called Mediterraneum, 29 This is the land, which yee shall distribute vnto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the citie, on the North side fiue hundreth, and foure thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the citie shall be after the Names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Iudah, and one gate of Leui.

32 And at the East side fiue hundred and foure thousand, and three gates, one gate of Ioseph, one gate of Beniamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, fiue hundreth and foure thousand measures, & three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side fiue hundreth and foure thousand, with their three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

35 It was round about eighteene thousand measures, and the name of the citie from that day, shalbe, ‡ The Lord is there.

¶ Daniel.

Daniel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe great prouidence of God, and his ſingular mercie toward his Church are moſt liuely here ſet foorth, who neuer leaueth his deſtitute, but now in their greateſt miſeries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom hee adorned with ſuch graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel aboue all other had moſt ſpeciall reuelations of ſuch things as ſhould come to the Church, euen from the time that they were in captiuitie, to the laſt end of the world, and to the generall reſurrection, as of the foure monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Perſians, Grecians and Romanes. Alſo of the certaine number of the times euen vnto Chriſt, when all ceremonies and ſacrifices ſhould ceaſe, becauſe he ſhould be the accompliſhment thereof: moreouer, he ſheweth Chriſts office and the cauſe of his death, which was by his ſacrifice to take away ſinnes, and to bring euerlaſting life. And as from the beginning God euer exerciſed his people vnder the croſſe, ſo hee teacheth here, that after that Chriſt is offered, hee will ſtill leaue this exerciſe to his Church vntill the dead riſe againe, and Chriſt gather his into his Kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

2 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim King of Iudah. 4 The King chuſeth certaine young men of the Iewes to learne his law. 5 They haue the Kings ordinarie appointed, 8 but they abſtaine from it.

a Reade 2. King. 24. 1. and Iere. 25. 1.

IN the [a] third yeere of the reigne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, came Nebuchad-nezzar king of Babel vnto Ieruſalem, and beſieged it.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

2 And the Lord gaue Iehoiakim king of Iudah into his hand, with part of the veſſels of the houſe of God, which he caried into the land of [b] Shinar, to the houſe of his god, and hee brought the veſſels into his gods treaſurie.

c Who was as maſter of the wardes.

d He calleth them Eunuches whom the King nouriſhed and brought vp to be rulers of other countreys afterward.

3 And the King ſpake vnto [c] Aſhpenaz the Maſter of his [d] Eunuches, that hee ſhould bring certaine of the children of Iſrael, of the [e] Kings ſeede, and of the Princes:

e His purpoſe was to keepe them as hoſtages, and that he might ſhew himſelfe victorious, and alſo by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him then the Iewes, and ſo to bee able to ſerue him as gouernours in their land: moreouer by this means the Iewes might be better kept in ſubiection, fearing otherwiſe to procure hurt to theſe noble men.

4 Children in whom was no blemiſh, but well [f] fauoured, and inſtructed in all wiſedome, and well leene in knowledge, and able to vtter knowledge, and ſuch as were able to ſtand in the kings palace, and whom they might teach the [g] learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

f The king required three things, that they ſhould be of noble birth, that they ſhould bee wittie and learned, and that they ſhould bee of a ſtrong and comely nature, that they might doe him better ſeruice: this he did for his owne commoditie, therefore it is not to praiſe his liberalitie: yet in this hee is worthy of praiſe, that he eſteemed learning, and knewe that it was an neceſſarie meane to gouerne by.

5 And the King appointed them prouiſion euery day of a[h] portion of the kings meat, and of the wine which hee dranke, to nourriſhing them three yeeres, that at the end thereof, they might ſtand [k] before the king.

g That they might forget their owne religion and countrey faſhions, to ſerue him the better to his purpoſe: yet it is not to bee thought that Daniel did learne any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refuſed the abuſe of things & ſuperſtition, inſomuch that hee would not eat the meate which the king appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things.

h That by their good entertainement, they might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people.

6 Now among theſe were certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the Eunuchs [l] gaue other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteſhazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Miſhael, Meſhach, and Azariah, Abednego.

i To the intent that in this time they might both learne the maners of the Caldeans, and alſo their tongue.

k As well to ſerue at the table as in other offices.

8 ¶ But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee would not [m] defile himſelfe with the portion of the kings meat, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that hee might not defile himſelfe.

l That they might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of ſome point of Religion: therefore this was a great temptation and a ſigne of ſeruitude which they were not able to reſiſt.

9 (Now God had brought Daniel into fauour and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches)

m Not that he thought any religion to bee in the meate or drinke (for afterward he did eate) but becauſe the king ſhould not entiſe him by this ſweet poyſon, to forget his religion and accuſtomed ſobrietie, and that in his meat and drinke he might daily remember of what people hee was: and Daniel bringeth this in to ſhew how God from the beginning aſſiſted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet,

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches ſayd vnto Daniel, [o] I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if he ſee your faces worſe liking, then the other children, which are of your ſort, then ſhall yee make mee loſe mine head vnto the king.

n He ſuppoſed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians: and therefore herein he repreſenteth them that are of no religion for neither hee would condemne theirs, nor maintaine his owne.

11 Then ſayd Daniel to Melzar, whom the chiefe of the Eunuches had ſet ouer Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael and Azariah, o Meaning, that within this ſpace he might haue the triall, and that no man ſhould be able to diſcerne it: and thus he ſpake, being moued by the Spirit of God.

12 Proue thy ſeruants, I beſeech thee, [p] ten dayes, and let them giue vs [q] pulſe to eat, and water to drinke.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate daintie meates and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they ſhould haue herein beene wonne to the King, and haue refuſed their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accurſed.

13 Then let our countenances be loked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate the portion of the kings meat: and as thou ſeeſt, deale with thy ſeruants.

14 So he conſented to them in this matter, and proued them ten dayes.

15 And at the ende of ten dayes, their q countenances appeared fairer, and in ‡better liking then all the childrens, which did eate the portion of the kings meate.

16 Thus Melzar tooke away the portion of their meate, and the wine that they ſhould drinke, and gaue them pulſe.

17 As for theſe foure children, God gaue them knowledge, and vnderſtanding in all learning r and wiſedome: alſo hee gaue Daniel vnderſtanding of all ſ viſions and dreames.

18 Now when the time was t expired, that the King had appointed to bring them in, the chiefe of the eunuches brought them before Nebuchad-nezzar.

19 And the King communed with them, and amongſt them all was found none like Daniel, Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah: therfore ſtood they before the King.

20 And in all matters of wiſedome, and vnderſtanding that the King enquired of them, hee found them ten times better then all the enchanters & aſtrologians that were in all his realme.

21 And Daniel was vnto u the firſt yeere of King Cyrus.

q This bare feeding, and that alſo of Moſes, when he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that wee muſt liue in ſuch ſobrietie as God doeth call vs vnto, ſeeing he will make it more profitable vnto vs, then all dainties: for his bleſſing onely ſufficeth.

r Meaning, in the liberall ſciences, and naturall knowledge, and not in the magicall artes, which are forbidden, Deut. 18. 11.

ſ So that he only was a Prophet, and none of the other: for by dreames and viſions God appeared to his Prophets, Num. 12. 6.

t Of the three yeeres aboue mentioned, verſe 5.

u That is, he was eſteemed in Babylon as a Prophet, ſo long as that common wealth ſtood.

CHAP. II.

1 The dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar. 13 The King commandeth all the wiſe men of Babylon to bee ſlaine, becauſe they could not interprete his dreame. 16 Daniel requireth time to ſolute the queſtion. 24 Daniel is brought vnto the King, and ſheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 44 Of the euerlaſting Kingdome of Chriſt.

a AND in the ſecond yeere of the reigne of a Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed b dreames wherewith his ſpirit was c troubled, and his d ſleepe was vpon him.

2 Then the King commanded to call the inchanters, and the aſtrologians, e the ſorcerers, and the e Caldeans, for to ſhew the King his dreames: ſo they came and ſtood before the King.

3 And the King ſaid vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, and my ſpirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4 Then ſpake the Caldeans to the King in the f Aramites language, O King, liue for euer: ſhew thy ſeruants thy dreame, and we ſhall ſhew the interpretation.

5 And the King anſwered, and ſaid to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from mee. If ye will not make me vnderſtand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye ſ ſhall be drawne in pieces, and your houſes ſhall bee made a takes.

6 But if yee declare the dreame, and the interpretation thereof, ye ſhall receiue of me gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore ſhew me the dreame, and the interpretation of it.

7 They anſwered againe, and ſaid, Let the King ſhew h his ſeruantes the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8 Then the King anſwered, and ſayd, I know certainely that ye ‡ would gaine the time, becauſe yee ſee the thing is gone from mee.

9 But if yee will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying ‖ corrupt wordes, to ſpeake before me till the time be changed: therefore tell mee the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare the interpretation thereof.

10 Then the Caldeans anſwered before the King, and ſaid, There is no man vpon earth, that can declare the Kings matter: yea, there is neither king nor prince nor lord that aſked ſuch things at an inchanter or aſtrologian, or Caldean.

11 For it is a rare thing that the king requireth, and there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whoſe dwelling is not with fleſh.

12 For this cauſe the King was angry and in great furie, and commaunded to deſtroy all the wiſe men of Babel.

13 ¶ And when ſentence was giuen the wiſe men were ſlaine, and they i ſought Daniel and his fellowes to be put to death.

14 Then Daniel anſwered with counſell and wiſedome to Arioch the Kings ‖ chiefe ſteward, which was gone forth to put to death the wiſe men of Babel.

15 Yea, he anſwered, and ſaid vnto Arioch the Kings captaine, Why is the ſentence ſo haſtie from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16 So Daniel went, and deſired the King that he would giue him leaſure, and that hee would ſhew the King the interpretation thereof.

17 ¶ Then Daniel went to his houſe and ſhewed the matter to Hananiah, Miſhael, and Azariah his companions, 18 That they ſhould beſeech the God of heauen for grace in this ſecret, that Daniel and his fellowes ſhould not periſh with the reſt of the wiſe men of Babel.

19 Then was the ſecret reuealed vnto Daniel in a viſion by night: therefore Daniel prayſed the God of heauen.

20 And Daniel anſwered and ſaid, *The Name of God be prayſed for euer and euer: for wiſedome and ſtrength are his.

*Pſal. 113. 2. and 115. 18.

21 And hee changeth the times and ſeaſons: hee taketh away Kings: he ſetteth vp kings: hee giueth wiſedome vnto the wiſe, and a The father and the ſonne were both called by this name: ſo that this is meant of the ſonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned alſo after a ſort with his father.

b Not ſ he had many dreames, but becauſe many matters were conteyned in this dreame.

c Becauſe it was ſo rare and ſtrange a dreame, that he had not had the like.

d Hee was ſo heauie with ſleepe that he began to ſleepe againe. Some reade, and his ſleepe was broken from him.

e For all theſe Aſtrologers and ſorcerers called themſelues by this name of honor, as though all the wiſedom & knowledge of the countrey depended vpon them, and that all other countreys were void of the ſame.

f That is, in the Syrian tongue, which differed not much from the Caldeans, ſaue it ſeemed to be more eloquent, and therfore the learned vſed to ſpeake it: as the Iewiſh writers doe to this day

g This is a ſurtreward of their arogancie (which vanted of themſelues that they had the knowledge of all things) that they ſhould be proued fooles, and that to their perpetuall ſhame and confuſion, h Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithſtanding their brags, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, and therefore they would pretend knowledge, where was but mere ignorance, and ſo as deluders of the people, they were worthy to die.

i Which declareth that God would not haue his ſeruant ioyned in the company of theſe ſorcerers and Aſtrologers whoſe arts were wicked, and therefore iuſtly ought to die, though the king did it vpon a rage, and no zeale.

and vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

22 Hee discouereth the deepe and secret things: hee knoweth what is in the darkenesse, and the [k] light dwelleth with him.

23 I thanke thee and praise thee, O thou God of my [l] fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisedome and [m] strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

24 ¶ Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whom the king had ordeined to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and sayd thus vnto him, Destroy not [n] the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the king, and I will declare vnto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the king in al haste, and said thus vnto him, I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that wil declare vnto the king the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king and said vnto Daniel, whose name was Beltesshazzar, Art thou able to shew me the dreame which I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and sayd, The secret which the King hath demaunded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the southsayers declare vnto the king.

28 But there is a God in [o] heauen that reuealeth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchad-nezzar what shall bee in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and he that reuealeth secrets, telleth thee what shall come.

30 As [p] for mee, this secret is not shewed mee for any wisedome that I haue, more then any other liuing, but onely to shew the king the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O king, thou sawest, and behold, there was a great Image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine [q] gold, his breast and his armes of siluer, his belly and his thighes of brasse, 33 His legs of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his feete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay the brasse, the siluer and the golde broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the Summer flowers, and the winde carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we will declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 ¶ O King, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heauen hath giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beastes of the field, and the foules of the heauen hath he giuen into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art [r] this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, [s] inferior to thee, as siluer, and another [t] third kingdome shall bee of brasse, which shall beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall bee strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron bruiseth all these things, so shall it breake in [u] pieces, and bruise all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feete and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall be [x] diuided: but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdom be partly [illegible] and partly broken.

43 And [illegible]hereas thou sawest yron mixt with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselues with the [y] seed of men: but they shall not ioyne one with another, as yron cannot be mixt with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which [z] shall neuer bee destroyed: and this kingdome shall not bee giuen to another people, but it shall breake and destroy all these kingdomes, and it shall stand for euer.

45 Whereas thou sawest that the [a] stone was cut off the mountaine without handes, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer and the gold: so k He sheweth that man hath neither wisdome nor knowledge, but very darke blindnes and ignorance of himselfe: for it commeth onely of God, that man vnderstandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promise, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excludeth all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interprete it.

n Whereby appeareth that many were slaine, as verse 13. and the rest at Daniels offer were preserued on condition: not that Daniel fauoured their wicked profession, but that he had respect to equitie, because the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, & not considering if their science were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason & Art is not able to attaine to the cause of Gods secrets, but the vnderstanding onely thereof must come of God: whereby he smiteth the king with a certaine feare and reuerence of God, that he might be the more apt to receiue the high mysteries that should be reueiled.

p Because he had said that God only must reueile the significatiō of this dreame, the king might haue asked, why Daniel did enterprise to interpret it: and therefore he sheweth that he was but Gods minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had giuen him to set forth his glory.

q By gold, siluer, brasse, and yron, are ment, the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian and Romane kingdom, which should successiuely rule all the world, till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Iewes, that their afflictions should not ende with the Empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the cōming of Messiah, which should be at the end of this fourth Monarchie.

r Daniel leaueth out the kingdom of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchy and generall Empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the comming of Christ, for the comfort of the elect amōg these wonderfull alterations: and hee calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden head, because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet was of it selfe wicked & cruell.

s Meaning the Persians, which were not inferiour in dignitie, power & riches, but were worse touching ambition, cruelty, and all kinde of vice: shewing, that the world should grow worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians shalbe of brasse, not alluding to the hardnesse thereof, but the vilenes in respect of siluer.

u That is, the Romane Empire shall subdue all these other afore named, which after Alexander were diuided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians, and Egyptians.

x They shall haue ciuill warres, and continual discords among themselues.

y They shal by marriages and affinities, thinke to make themselues strong, yet shal they neuer be ioyned in hearts.

z His purpose is to shew that all the kingdomes of the world are transitory, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for euer.

a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set vp by man whose kingdome at the beginning should be small and without beauty to mans iudgement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth which hee calleth a great mountaine, as vers. 35. And this kingdome which is not onely referred to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to euery member thereof shalbe eternall: for the Spirit that is in them is life eternall, Rom. 8. 10.

the great God hath shewed the King what shall come to passe hereafter, and the dreame is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fell vpon his face, and [b] bowed himselfe vnto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours vnto him.

47 Also the king answered vnto Daniel, and sayd, I know of a trueth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the reuealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the King made Daniel a great man, and gaue him many and great [d] gifts. He made him gouernor ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and aboue all the wise men of Babel.

49 Then Daniel [e] made request to the king, and hee set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel: but Daniel sate in the [f] gate of the king.

b Though this humbling of the king seemed to deserue cõmendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reproued, and Daniel herein erred if hee suffered it: but it is credible that Daniel admonished him of his fault and did not suffer it.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27, 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soone afterward. d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this meanes he might relieue his poore brethren which were grieuously oppressed in this their captiuitie, and also he receiued them, lest hee should offend this cruell king, which willingly gaue them. e He did not this for their priuate profite, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction, might haue some release & ease by this benefit. f Meaning, that either he was a Iudge, or that he had the whole authoritie, so that none could bee admitted to the Kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

1 The king setteth vp a golden image. 8 Certaine are accused because they despised the kings cõmandement, and are put into a burning ouen. 25 By beliefe in God they are deliuered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of the miracle.

NEbuchad-nezzar the King made [a] an image of golde, whose height was three score cubites, and the breedth thereof sixe cubites: he set it vp in the plaine of Dura, in the prouince of Babel.

2 Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent foorth to gather together the Nobles, the Princes and the Dukes, the Iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces, that they should come to the [b] dedication of the image which Nebuchad-nezzar the [c] king had set vp.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellers, the officers, and all the gouernours of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp, & they stood before the image, which Nebuchad nezzar had set vp.

4 Then an herald cryed aloude, Bee it knowen to you, O people, [d] nations, and languages,

5 That when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set vp.

6 And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shal the same houre be cast into the midst of an hote fierie fornace.

7 Therefore assoone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harp, sackbut, psalterie, and all instruments of musicke, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set vp.

8 ¶ By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeans, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

9 For they spake and sayd to the king Nebuchad nezzar, O king, liue for euer.

10 Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that euery man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicks, shall fall downe and worship the golden image, 11 And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that hee should be cast into the midst of an hote fiery fornace.

12 There are certaine Iewes whom thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, [e] Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, haue not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set vp.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: so these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and sayd vnto them, What disorder? will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serue my god, nor worship the golden image that I haue set vp?

15 [f] Now therefore are ye ready when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musike, to fall downe and worship the image, which I haue made? for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediatly into the midst of an hote fiery fornace, for who is that God that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered, and sayd to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we [g] are not carefull to answere thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom wee serue, is able a Vnder pretence of religion & holines in making an image to his idole Bel, he sought his owne ambition and vaine glory: & this declareth, that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that he confessed him on a sudden motion, as the wicked, when they are ouercome with the greatnes of his works. The Greeke interpreters write that this was done eighteene yeeres after the dreame, and as may appeare, the king feared lest the Iewes by their Religion should haue altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his own quietnes then Gods glorie. b Shewing that the idole is not knowen for an idole so long as he is with the workman: but when the ceremonies and customs are recited and vsed, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they haue made a god. c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approoue their religion, if the kings authoritie were alledged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Satan vseth to fight against the children of God, the consent of the multitude, and the cruelty of the punishment: for though some feared God yet the multitude which consented to the wickednesse, astonied them: and here the king required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Iewes might by little and little learne to forget their true Religion.

e It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings fauour, thinking if these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image, was inuented by the malicious flatterers, which sought nothing but the destruction of the Iewes, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude.

f Signifying, that he would receiue them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree.

g For they should haue done iniurie to God, if they should haue doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they say, that they are resolued to die for Gods cause.

h They ground on two points, first on the power & prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they wil not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

i This declareth that y more that tyrants rage, and the more wittie they shew themselues in inuenting strange and cruell punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants, to whom he giueth patience & constancie to abide the cruelty of their punishment: for either he deliuereth them from death, or els for this life giueth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God because of their excellency: therefore the King called this Angel, whom God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the Sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience vnto God, that they would not for any feare depart out of this fornace till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Arke till the Lord called him foorth.

h able to deliuer vs from the hote fierie fornace, and hee will deliuer vs out of thine hand, O king.

18 But if not, be it knowen vnto thee, O King, that wee will not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

19 ¶ Then was Nebuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore hee charged and commaunded that they should heate the fornace at once seuen i times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hote fierie fornace.

21 So these men were bound in their coates, their hosen, and their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the midst of the hote fiery fornace.

22 Therefore, because the Kings commandement was straite, & t the fornace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the midst of the hote fiery fornace.

24 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, and spake, and sayd vnto his counsellers, Did not wee cast three men bound into the middes of the fire? Who answered, and said vnto the king, It is true, O king.

25 And hee answered, and sayd, Loe, I see foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fire, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the k Sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hote fiery fornace, and spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the seruants of the high God, goe forth and come hither: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego l came forth of the middes of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, princes, and dukes, and the Kings counsellers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power ouer their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coates changed, nor any smell of fire came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzar spake and sayd, m Blessed bee the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commaundement, and yeelded their bodies rather then they would serue or worship any god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that euery people, nation, and language, which speake any n blasphemy against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall bee drawen in pieces, and their houses shall bee made a takes, because there is no God that can deliuer after this sort.

30 Then the king promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzar King vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the o world, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes & wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! p his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

m He was mooued by the greatnesse of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here wee see that miracles are not sufficient to conuert men to God, but that doctrine must chiefly be adioyned, without the which there can be no faith.

n If this heathen king mooued by Gods Spirit would not see blasphemie vnpunished, but made a law, and set a punishment to such transgressours, much more ought all they that professe religion, to take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge and charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment.

o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proud king he should become as a beast. 31 After he confesseth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

I Nebuchad-nezzar being at a rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Saw a b dreame, which made mee afraide, and the thoughts vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto me the interpretation of the dreame.

4 So came the inchanters, the astrologians, the Caldeans and the southsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but c they could not shew me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was d Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I told the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, e chiefe of the inchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell me the visions of my dreame, that I haue seene, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And behold, I saw an f tree in the mids of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire, and the fruite thereof much, and it was meate for all: it made a shadow vnder it for the beastes of the fielde, and the a There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

b This was another dreame besides that which he saw of the foure empires: for Daniel both declared what that dreame was, and what it meant: and here he only expoundeth the dreame.

c In that that he sent abroad to others whose ignorance in times past he had experimented, and left Daniel which was euer ready at hand, it declareth the nature of the vngodly, which neuer seeke to the seruants of God, but for very necessitie, and then they spare no flatterings.

d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel, not onely to haue his name changed, but to bee called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God.

e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet, to be numbred among the sorcerers, and men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods word.

f By the tree, is signified the dignity of a king, whom God ordeineth to be a defence for all kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankinde.

Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to do Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is euer holy: and in that that he commandeth to cut down this tree, he knew that it should not be cut down by man, but by God.

h Hereby bee meaneth y Nebuchad-nezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdom, but be like a beast.

i God hath decreed this iudgement and the whole army of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselues against God.

k He was troubled for y great iudgement of God which he saw ordained against the King: and so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pity.

l Whereby hee meaneth a long space, as seuen yeeres. Some interprete seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it seemeth hee meant of yeeres, foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head, vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman, and an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruite, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheless leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beasts among the grasse of the field.

13 h Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart bee giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 i The sentence is according to the decree of the watchmen, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demaund was answered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the most High hath power ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abiect among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shew mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

16 ¶ Then Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his k peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and said, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered, and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the world,

18 Whose leaues were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which y beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O king, that art great and mighty: for thy greatnesse is growen, and reacheth vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the king saw a watchman, and an holy one that came downe from heauen, and said, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it bee wette with the dew of heauen, and let his portion bee with the beasts of the fielde, l till seuen times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most High, which is come vpon my lord the King, 22 That they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eate grasse as the m oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heauen: and seuen times shal passe ouer thee, till thou know, that n the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdom of men, and giueth it to whomsoeuer he will.

23 Whereas they said, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree rootes, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt know that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O king, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and o breake off thy sinnes by righteousnesse, and thine iniquities by mercy toward the poore: loe, let there bee an p healing of thine errour.

25 All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad nezzar.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue q moneths, hee walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the King spake and said, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O king Nebuchad-nezzar, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shall driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beastes of the fielde: they shall make thee to eate grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most High beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whomsoeuer he will.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzar, and hee was driuen from men, and did eate grasse as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heauen, till his haires were growen as Egles feathers, and his nayles like birdes clawes.

31 And at the end of these r dayes I Nebuchad-nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thankes vnto the most High, and I praised and honoured him that liueth for euer, * whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: s according to his t will he worketh in the army of heauen, and in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What doest thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glory and my beautie was restored vnto mee, and my counsellers u and my princes sought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore, I Nebuchad-nezzar

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but that he was either striken mad, and so auoyded mans company, or was cast out for his tyranny, and so wandred among y beasts, and ate herbes and grasse.

n Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him.

o Cease from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sinnes, that hee may mitigate his punishment, if thou shew by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance.

p Suffer the errours of thy former life to be redressed.

q After that Daniel had declared this vision: and this his pride declareth that it is not in man to conuert to God except his Spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatnings could not moue him to repent.

r When the terme of these seuen yeeres was accomplished.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 8 The soothsayers called of the King cannot expound the writing. 25 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slaine. 31 Darius enioyeth the kingdome.

KIng a Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine b before the thousand.

a Daniel reciteth this history of king Belshazzar Euilmerodachs sonne, to shew Gods iudgments against the wicked, for the deliuerance of his Church, & how the prophecie of Ieremiah was true, that they should be deliuered after seuenty yeeres.

b The kings of the East parts then vsed to sit alone cõmonly, and disdained that any should sit in their company: and now to shew his power, and how litle he set by his enemy, which then besieged Babylon, he made a solemne banquet, and vsed excesse in their companie, which is meant here by drinking wine: thus the wicked are moste dissolute and negligent when their destruction is at hand.

2 And Belshazzar ‖ whiles hee tasted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and siluer vessels, which his c father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines might drinke therein.

‖ Or, ouercome with wine.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the king and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines dranke in them.

c Meaning, his grandfather.

4 They dranke wine, and praised the d gods of gold and of siluer, of brasse, of yron, of wood and of stone.

d In contempt of the true God they praised their idoles, not that they thought that the gold or siluer were gods, but that there was a certain vertue and power in thẽ to do them good, which is also the opinion of all idolaters.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer e against the candlesticke vpon the playster of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

e That it might the better be seene.

6 Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioynts of his loynes were loosed, and his f knees smote one against the other.

f So he that before was mooued by this sight to tremble for feare of Gods iudgements.

7 Wherefore the King cryed lowde, that they should bring g the Astrologians, the Caldeans & the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayd to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can reade this writting, and declare mee the interpretation thereof, shall be clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall bee the third ruler in the kingdome.

g Thus the wicked in their troubles seeke many meanes, who draw them from God because they seek not to him who is the only comfort in all afflictions.

8 Then came all the kings wise men, but they could neither reade the writting, nor shew the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

10 Now the h Queene by reason of the talke of the King and his princes, came into the banket house, and the Queene spake, and said, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

h To wit, his grandmother Nebuchad-nezzars wife, which for her age was not before at the feast, but came thither when she heard of these strange newes.

11 There is a man in thy kingdome, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisedome like the wisedome of the gods, was found in him: whom the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the i Inchanters, Astrologians, Caldeans, and Soothsayers.

i Reade Chap. 4. 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him. and also that he did not vse these vile practises, because he was not among them when all were called.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were found in him, euen in Daniel, whom the king named Belteshazzar: now let Daniel be called, and he will declare the interpretation.

13 ¶ Then was Daniel brought before the king, and the king spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the King brought out of Iurie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that k the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding, and excellent wisedome is found in thee.

k For the idolaters thought, that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophecie and vnderstanding came of them.

15 Now therefore, wise men, and Astrologians haue beene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof, but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shew interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst read the writing, and shew me the interpretation thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of gold about thy necke, and shalt bee the third ruler in the kingdome.

17 Then Daniel answered, and said before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The most High God gaue vnto l Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

l Before he read the writing, he declareth to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderfull worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that he doth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

19 And for the Maiesty that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled, and feared before him: hee put to death whom he would: he smote whom he would: whom hee would hee set vp, and whom hee would he put downe.

20 But when his heart was puft vp, and his mind hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the heauen, till hee knew that the most High God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that hee appointeth ouer it, whomsoeuer hee pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things,

23 But

23 But hast lift vp thy selfe against the Lord of heauen, & they haue brought the vessels of his house before thee, and thou & thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and gold, of brasse, yron, wood, and stone, which neither see, neither heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

24 [m] Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, & hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that hee hath written, [n] MENE, MENE, TEKEL, VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretation of the thing, MENE, God hath numbred thy kingdome, and hath finished it.

27 TEKEL, thou art weighed in the ballance, and art found ‖ too light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar, they clothed Daniel with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar the king of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius [o] of the Medes tooke the kingdome, being threescore & two yeere old.

m After that God had so long time deferred his anger, and patiently waited for thine amendment.

n This word is twise written for the certaintie of the thing: shewing that God had most surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdomes, and that a miserable end shall come on all that raise themselues against him.

o Cyrus his sonne in law gaue him this title of honour, although Cyrus in effect had the dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lions by the commaundement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God, 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

IT pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome [a] an hundreth and twentie gouernours, which should be ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernors might giue accompts vnto them, and the King should ‖ haue no domage.

3 Now this Daniel [b] was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole Realme.

4 ¶ Wherefore the rulers and gouernours [c] sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for hee was so faithfull that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then sayd these men, Wee shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayd thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellers, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King, and to establish a statute, that whosoeuer shall aske a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, O king, he shalbe cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O king, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it be not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not,

9 Wherefore king Darius [d] sealed the writing and the decree.

10 ¶ Now when Daniel vnderstood that he had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his [e] window being open in his chamber toward Ierusalem, he kneeled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as he did afore time.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, Hast thou not sealed the decree, that euery man that shal make a request to any God or man within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall bee cast into the denne of lions? The king answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the Law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayd vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, he was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him: and hee laboured till the Sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the king, Vnderstand, O king, that the Law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may be [f] altered.

16 ¶ Then the king commaunded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and said vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layde vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musicke brought before him, and his sleepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the den of lions.

20 And when hee came to the denne, hee cried with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and a Reade Esther, Chap. 1. 1.

b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles and familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such assaults there is no better remedie then to walke vprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience.

d Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the king, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes he approoued for the maintenance of the same.

e Because hee would not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decree, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalem, when hee prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people whē they should pray toward that Temple, and also that other might see, that he would neither consent in heart nor deed for these fewe dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

f Thus the wicked maintaine euill lawes by constancie and authority, which is oft times either lightnes, or stubburnesse, when as the innocents thereby perish, & therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

and the king spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) g able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel vnto the King, O King, liue for euer.

22 My God hath sent his Angel, and hath shut the lyons mouths, that they haue not hurt mee: for my h iustice was found out before him: and vnto thee, O King, I haue done i no hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commaunded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no maner of hurt was found vpon him, because hee k beleeued in his God.

24 And by the commaundement of the king, these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were l cast into the den of lions, euen they, their children, & their wiues: and the lions had the masterie of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or euer they came at the ground of the den.

25 ¶ Afterward king Darius wrote, Vnto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied vnto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdom, men tremble and feare m before the God of Daniel: for he is the n liuing God, and remaineth for euer: and his kingdome shall not perish, and his dominion shalbe euerlasting, 27 He rescueth & deliuereth, and he worketh signes and wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lyons.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

g This declareth that Darius was not touched with the true knowledge of God, because he doubted of his power.

h My iust cause and vprightnesse in this thing, wherein I was charged, is approued of God.

i For he did disobey the kings wicked commandemene, to obey God, and so did no iniury to the king, who ought to command nothing, whereby God should be dishonoured.

k Because hee committed himselfe wholy vnto God, whose cause he did defend, he was assured that nothing but good could come vnto him: wherin we see the power of faith, as Heb. 11, 33.

l This is a terrible example against all the wicked, which doe against their conscience make cruell lawes to destroy the children of God, and also admonisheth Princes how to punish such, when their wickednes is come to light: though not in euery point, or with like circumstances, yet to execute true iustice vpon them.

m This prooueth not that Darius did worship God aright, or els was conuerted: for then hee would haue destroyed all superstition and idolatry, and not only giuen God the chiefe place, but also haue set him vp, and caused him to be honoured according to his word: but this was a certaine confession of Gods power, whereunto hee was compelled by this wonderfull miracle.

n Which hath not onely life in himselfe, but is the onely fountaine of life, and quickeneth all things, so that without him there is no life.

CHAP. VII.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed vnto Daniel. 8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the euerlasting kingdome of Christ.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a continuall quietnesse after these seuenty yeeres, as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shall not be a deliuerance from all troubles, but a beginning, and therefore encouraged them to looke for a continuall affliction till the Messiah be vttered and reuealed, by whom they should haue a spirituall deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they should haue a certaine token in the destruction of the Babylonicall kingdome.

IN the first yere of Belshazzar king of Babel, Daniel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed: a then hee wrote the dreame, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake, and sayd, I saw in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen strooue vpon b the great sea:

3 And foure great beasts came vp from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a c lion, and had egles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, & it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

5 And behold, another beast which was the second, was like a d beare, and stood vp on the e one side: and he had three ribbes in his f mouth betweene his teeth, & and they said thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and loe, there was another like a h leopard, which had vpon his backe i foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and k dominion was giuen him.

7 After this, I saw in the visions by night, and beholde, the l fourth beast was fearefull, and terrible, and very strong. It had great m yron teeth: it deuoured, and brake in pieces, and stamped the n residue vnder his feete: and it was vnlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had o tenne hornes.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another little p horne, before whom there were q three of b Which signified that there should be horrible troubles and afflictions in the world, in all corners of the world, and at sundry times.

c Meaning, the Assyrian & Caldean Empire, which was most strong and fierce in power, and most soone come to their authoritie, as though they had had wings to flie: yet their wings were pulled by the Persians, & they went on their feet, and were made like other men, which is here meant by mans heart.

d Meaning, the Persians, which were barbarous and cruel.

e They were small in the beginning, and were shut vp in their mountaines, and had no bruit.

f That is, destroyed many kingdomes, and was insatiable.

g To wit, the Angels by Gods commandement, who by this means punished the ingratitude of the world.

h Meaning Alexander the king of Macedonie.

i That is, his foure chiefe captaines, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was king of Macedonie, & Ptolemeus had Egypt.

k It was not of himselfe, nor of his own power that he gate all these countreys: for his army conteined but thirty thousand men, and he ouercame in one battel Darius, which had ten hundred thousand when he was so heauy with sleepe, that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories report: therefore this power was giuen him of God.

l That is, the Romane Empire, which was a monster, and could not bee compared to any beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it.

m Signifying the tyrannie and greedinesse of the Romanes.

n That which the Romanes could not quietly enioy in other countreys, they would giue it to other kings & rulers, that at all times when they would, they might take it againe: which liberality is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the feete.

o That is, sundry and diuers prouinces, which were gouerned by the Deputies and Proconsuls, whereof euery one might be compared to a King.

p Which is meant of Iulius Cæsar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius & Nero, &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because they could not rule, but by the consent of the Senate, their power is compared to a little horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romane Empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernment: therefore this cannot bee applyed vnto them. And also in this prophecie the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole body of Antichrist.

q Meaning, a certaine portion of the tenne hornes: that is, a part from the whole estate was pluckt away. For Augustus tooke from the Senate the libertie of chusing the Deputies to send into the prouinces, and tooke the gouernment of certaine countreys to himselfe.

the first hornes pluckt away: and beholde, in this horne were [r] eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the [s] thrones were set vp, and the [t] Ancient of daies did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fiery flame, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fierie streame issued, and came foorth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and ten thousand [u] thousandes stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the [x] bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, [y] because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the horne spake: I beheld, euen till the beast was slaine and his body destroyed, and giuen to the burning fire.

12 As [z] concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certain time and season.

13 ¶ As I beheld in visions by night, behold, [a] one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and [b] approched vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him [c] dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shall neuer bee taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was [d] troubled in my spirite in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine heade made mee afrayd.

16 Therefore I came vnto [e] one of them that stode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so hee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the [f] kingdome of the Saints of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this I would know the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so [h] vnlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse, which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the [i] residue vnder his feete.

20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, & of the other which came vp, before whom three fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose [k] looke was more stout then his fellowes.

21 I beheld, and the same [l] horne made battell against the Saints, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Until [m] the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approched, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shalbe the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shal be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the tenne hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that shall rise: & another shall rise after them, and he shall be vnlike to the first, and he shall subdue [n] three kings,

25 And shall speake words against [o] the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that hee may [p] change times and lawes, and they shall bee giuen into his hand, vntill a [q] time, & times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the [r] iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the [s] kingdome, and dominion, r These Romane Emperors at the first vsed a certaine humanitie, and gentlenesse, & were content that others, as the Consuls and Senate should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the profite, and therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselues according as did other Senators: yea gainst their enemies, and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth.

s Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Mornarchies, which iudgement should begin at the first comming of Christ.

t That is, God which was before all time, & is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

u That is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandement. x This is meant of the first comming of Christ, when as the wil of God was plainely reuealed by his Gospel. y Meaning, that he was astonied when he saw these Emperours in such dignitie and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the comming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchy was subiect to men of other nations. z As the three former Monarchies had an end, at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enioy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the son of Dauid according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinity. b To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine Maiestie appeared, and all power was giuen vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour. c This is meant of the beginning of Christs kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour, to the intent that hee should gouerne heere his Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternall life. d Through the strangeneese of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

f Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the world, Rom. 4. 13. and in him all the faithfull, therefore the kingdom thereof, is theirs by right, which these foure beasts or tyrants should inuade, and vsurpe vntill the world were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions should haue an ende at length.

g That is, of the most hie things, because God hath chosen the out of this world that they should looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth.

h For the other three monarchies were gouerned by a king, & the Romane Empire by consuls: the Romans changed their gouernors yerely, and the other monarchies reteined them for terme of life: also the Romans were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselues. i Reade vers. 7. k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning, the Romane Emperors, who were most cruel against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles. m Til God shewed his power in the person of Christ, & by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his some rest, & so obtained a famous name in the world, & were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. n Reade the exposition hereof vers. 8. o That is, shal make wicked decrees & proclamations against Gods word & send thorowout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe it. p These Emperours shall not consider that they haue their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c. q God shal suffer thē thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length he will asswage these troubles, and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matth. 24. 22. which is here meant by the diuiding of time. r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little horne that it shall neuer rise vp againe. s He sheweth wherefore the beast should be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which though they do not fully enioy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospel enioy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, Vnder the heauens: and therefore hee here speaketh of the beginning of Christes kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithfull haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head.

and the greatnesse of the kingdome vnder the whole heauen shall bee giuen to the holy people of the most High, whose kingdom is an euerlasting kingdome, and all t powers shall serue and obey him.

28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many u cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

t That is, some of euery sort that beare rule.

u Though he had many motions in his heart which moued him to and fro to seeke out this matter curiously: yet was he content with that which God reuealed, and kept it in memorie, and wrote it for the vse of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

1 A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goat. 20 The vnderstanding of the vision.

IN the third yeere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto me Daniel, a after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

a After the generall vision he commeth to certaine particular visions, as touching the destruction of the monarchy of the Persians & Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the prouince b of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the riuer of Ulai.

b That is, of Persia.

3 Then I looked vp, and saw, and behold, there stood before the riuer a c ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was d higher then another, and the highest came vp last.

c Which represented the kingdome of the Persians and Medes, which were ioyned together.

d Meaning, Cyrus, which after grew greater in power then Darius his vncle & father in law.

4 I sawe the ramme pushing against the West, e against the North, and against the South: so that no c beasts might stand before him, nor could deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

e That is, no kings or nations

5 And as I considered, behold, f a goate came from the West ouer the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goate had an g horne that appeared betweene his eyes.

f Meaning Alexander that came from Grecia with great speed and expedition.

6 And he came vnto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come vnto the ramme, and being moued against him, hee h smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes, and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped vpon him, and there was none that could deliuer the ramme out of his power.

g Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title and dignitie of the generall captaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meant by this horne.

8 Therefore the goate waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great i horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that k appeared toward y foure windes of the heauen.

h Alexander ouercame Darius in two seuerall battels, and so had the two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians.

i Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome all the East, he thought to returne toward Grecia, to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so dyed by the way.

9 And out of one of them came forth a l little horne, which waxed very great toward the m South, and toward the n East, and toward the o pleasant land.

k That is, which were famous: for almost in the space of fifteene yeere there were fifteene diuers successors before this monarchy was diuided to these foure, whereof Cassander had Macedonia, Seleucus Syria, Antigonus Asia the lesse, and Ptolomeus Egypt.

l Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, and also there were other betweene him and the kingdome: and therefore is here called the little horne, because neither princely conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he should obtaine this kingdome.

10 Yea, it grew vp vnto the p hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, and of the starres to the ground, and trode vpon them, r He laboured to abolish all religion, and therefore cast Gods seruice out of his Temple, which God had chosen as a little corner from all the rest of the world to haue his name there truely called vpon.

13 Then I heard one of the t Saints speaking, and one of the Saintes spake vnto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the x desolation to treade both the Sanctuarie and the y armie vnder foote?

s He sheweth that their sinnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them in that he appointeth this tyrant a time, whom he would not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

14 And hee z answered mee, Vnto the a euening, and the morning, two thousand and three hundred, then shal the sanctuary be clensed.

CHAP. IX.

3 Daniel desireth to haue that performed of God which hee had promised concerning the returne of the people from their banishment in Babylon. 5 A true confession. 20 Daniels prayer is heard. 21 Gabriel the Angel expoundeth vnto him the vision of the seuentie weekes. 24 The anoynting of Christ. 25 The building againe of Ierusalem. 26 The death of Christ.

IN the first yeere of Darius the sonne of [a] Ahashuerosh, of the seede of the Medes, which was made King ouer the [b] realme of the Caldeans, 2 Euen in the first yeere of his reigne, I Daniel vnderstood by [c] bookes the number of the yeeres, where of the Lord had spoken vnto Ieremiah the Prophet, that he would accomplish seuentie yeeres in the desolation of Ierusalem.

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and [d] sought by prayer and supplications, with fasting, and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, Oh Lord God, which art [e] great and fearefull, and keepest couenant ‡ mercie toward them which loue ‡ thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandements,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, wee haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

6 For wee would not obey thy seruants the Prophets, which spake in thy Name to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, and to all the people of the land.

7 O Lord, [f] righteousnes belongeth vnto thee, and vnto vs ‡ open shame, as appeareth this day vnto euery man of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem: yea, vnto all Israel, both neere and farre off, through all the countreyes, whither thou hast driuen them, because of their offences, that they committed against thee.

8 O Lord, vnto vs appertaineth open shame, to our [g] kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because wee haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiuenesse is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed the [h] voice of the Lord our God, to walke in his Lawes, which hee had laid before vs by the ministerie of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy law, and are turned backe, ‡ haue not heard thy voice: therefore the [i] curse is powred vpon vs, and the oth that is written in the Law of Moses the seruant of God, because wee haue sinned against him.

12 And hee hath confirmed his wordes, which hee spake against vs, and against our Iudges that ‡ iudged vs, by bringing vpon vs a great plague: for vnder the whole heauen hath not beene the like, as hath beene brought vpon Ierusalem.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the law of Moses: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities, and vnderstand the trueth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord ‡ made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which he doeth: for we would not heare his voyce.

15 *And now, O Lord our God, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and hast gotten thee renowne, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy [k] righteousnesse, I beseech thee, let thine anger ‡ thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Ierusalem thine holy mountaine: for because of our sinnes, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalem and thy people are a reproch to all that are about vs.

17 Nowe therefore, O our God, heare the prayer of thy seruant and his supplications, and cause thy face to [l] shine vpon thy Sanctuary, that lyeth waste for the [m] Lords sake.

18 O my God, incline thine eare, and heare: open thine eyes, and beholde our desolations, and the Citie whereupon thy Name is called: for wee doe not present our supplications before thee for our owne [n] righteousnesse, but for thy great tender mercies.

19 O Lord heare, O Lord forgiue, O Lord [o] consider ‡ do it, deferre not, for thine owne sake, O my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 ¶ And whiles I was speaking and praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israel, ‡ did present my supplication before the Lorde my God, for the 21 Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, euen the man *Gabriel whom I had seene before in the vision, came flying, and touched mee about the time of the euening oblation, 22 And he informed me, and talked with mee, and sayd, O Daniel, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge and vnderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commandement came forth, and I am come to shew thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter and consider the vision.

24 Seuenty [p] weekes are determined vpon [q] thy people, and vpon thine holy city to finish the wickednesse, and to seale vp the [r] sinnes, and to reconcile the iniquity, and to bring in euerlasting righteousnes, & to seale vp the vision and prophesie, and to anoynt the most Holy.

25 Know therefore and vnderstand, that from [s] the going forth of the commandement to bring againe the people, and to build Ierusalem vnto Messiah the prince shall be seuen [t] weekes, and [u] threescore & two weekes, and the streete shall be built againe, and the wall euen in a ‡ troublous time.

26 And after threescore and two [x] weeks, shall Messiah be slaine, and shall [y] haue nothing, and the people of [z] the prince that shal come, shall destroy the city and the Sanctuary, and the end thereof shall be with a flood: and vnto the ende of the battell it shalbe destroyed by desolations.

27 And he shall [a] confirme the couenant with many for one weeke: and in the mids of the weeke he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to [b] cease, [c] & for the ouerspreading of the abominations, hee shall make it desolate, euen vntill the consummation determined shalbe powred vpon the desolate.

p He alludeth to Ieremiahs prophesie, who prophesied that their captiuitie should be seuenty yeres: but now Gods mercy should seuen fold exceede his iudgement which should be 4. hundred and 90. yeres, euen to the comming of Christ, and so then it should cõtinue for euer.

q Meaning, Daniels nation, ouer whom hee was carefull.

r To shew mercy & to put sin out of remembrance.

s That is, from the time that Cyrus gaue them leaue to depart.

t These weekes make 49. yeres, whereof 46. are referred to the time of the building of the Temple, and 3. to the laying of the foundation.

u Counting frõ the first yeere of Darius, who gaue the second commandement for the building of the Temple, are 62. weekes, which make 434 yeres, which comprehend the time from the building of the Temple, vnto the baptisme of Christ. ‡ Ebr. in streits of time.

x In this last weeke of the seuenty, shall Christ come and preach and suffer death.

y He shall seeme to haue no beautie, nor to be of any estimation, as Isa 53. 2.

z Meaning Titus, Vespasians sonne, who should come and destroy both the Temple and the people without all hope of recouery.

a By the preaching of the Gospel he confirmed his promise, first to the Iewes, and after to the Gentiles.

b Christ accomplished this by his death and resurrection.

c Meaning that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary should be vtterly destroied for their rebellion against God, and their idolatry: or as some reade, that the plagues shall be so great, that they shall all be astonied at them.

CHAP X.

There appeareth vnto Daniel a man clothed in linnen, 11 which sheweth him wherefore he is sent.

a He noteth this third yeere, because at this time the building of the temple began to be hindred by Cambyses Cyrus sonne, when the father made warre in Asia minor against the Scythians, which was a discouraging to the godly, and a great feare to Daniel.

b Which is to declare that the godly should not hasten too much, but patiently to abide the issue of Gods promise.

IN the [a] third yere of Cyrus king of Persia, a thing was reuealed vnto Daniel (whose name was called Beltesshazzar) and the word was true, but the time appointed was [b] long, and he vnderstood the thing, and had vnderstanding of the vision.

2 At the same time I Daniel was in heauinesse for three weekes of dayes.

3 I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh, nor wine in my mouth, neither did I anoynt my selfe at all, till three weekes of dayes were fulfilled.

4 And in the foure and twentieth day of the [c] first moneth, as I [d] was by the side of that great riuer, euen Hiddekel,

5 And I lift vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a man [e] clothed in linnen, whose loynes were girded with fine gold of * Vphaz.

6 His body also was like the Chrysolite, and his face (to looke vpon) like the lightening, and his eyes as lampes of fire, and his armes and his feete were like in colour to polished brasse, and the voyce of his words was like the voyce of a multitude.

7 And I Daniel alone saw the vision: for the men that were with mee, saw not the vision: but a great feare fel vpon them, so that they fled away and hid themselues.

8 Therefore I was left alone, & saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me: for my [f] strength was turned in mee into corruption, and I reteined no power.

9 Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes, and when I heard the voyce of his words, I slept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

10 And behold, an hand [g] touched mee, which set mee vp vpon my knees, and vpon the palmes of my hands, 11 And he said vnto me, O Daniel, a man greatly beloued, vnderstand the words that I speake vnto thee, and stand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now sent. And when he had said this word vnto mee, I stood trembling.

12 Then sayd he vnto me, Feare not Daniel: for from the first day that thou diddest set thine heart to vnderstand, and to humble thy selfe before thy God, thy words were heard, and I am come for thy words.

13 But the [h] Prince of the kingdome of Persia withstood me one and twentie dayes: but loe, [i] Michael one of the chiefe Princes, came to helpe me, and I remained there by the kings of Persia.

14 Now I am come to shewe thee what shall come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the [k] vision is for many dayes.

15 And when he spake these words vnto mee, I set my face toward the ground, and held my tongue.

16 And behold, [l] one like the similitude of the sons of man touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spake, and sayd vnto him, that stood before mee, O my Lord, [m] by the vision my sorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue reteined no strength.

17 For how can the seruant of this my Lord talke with my Lord being such a one? for as for me, straightway there remained no strength in me, neither is there breath left in me.

c Called Abib, which cõteineth part of March, & part of April.

d Being caried by the spirit of prophecy to haue the sight of this riuer Vgris.

e This was the Angel of God, which was sent to assure Daniel in this prophecie that followeth. Iere. 10. 9.

f The word also signifieth comelinesse or beauty, so that for feare he was like a dead man for deformity.

g Which declareth that when we are stricken downe with the maiestie of God, we cannot rise, except he also lift vs vp with his hand, which is his power.

h Meaning Cambyses, who reigned in his fathers absence, and did not only for this space hinder the building of the temple, but would haue further raged, if Godhad not sent me to resist him, & therefore haue I stayed for the profite of the Church.

i Though God could by one Angel destroy all the world, yet to assure his children of his loue, hee sendeth foorth double power, euen Michael, that is Christ Iesus the head of Angels.

k For though the Prophet Daniel should end and cease, yet his doctrine should continue till the comming of Christ for the comfort of his Church.

l This was the same Angel that spake with him before in the similitude of a man.

m I was ouercome with feare and sorrow, when I saw the vision.

18 Then

n He declareth hereby, that God would be merciſull vnto the people of Iſrael.

o Which declareth ỹ when God ſmiteth down his children, he doth not immediatly liſt them vp at once (for now the Angel had touched him twiſe) but by little and little.

18 Then there came again, and touched me, one like the appearance of a man, and he ſtrengthened me, 19 And ſayd, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: [n] peace be vnto thee: bee ſtrong and of good courage. And when he had ſpoken vnto me, [o] I was ſtrengthened, and ſaid, Let my Lord ſpeake: for thou haſt ſtrengthened me.

20 Then ſaid he, Knoweſt thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Perſia: and when I am gone forth, loe, the [p] Prince of Grecia ſhall come.

21 But I wil ſhew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of trueth: [q] and there is none that holdeth with me in theſe things, but Michael your prince.

p Meaning, ỹ he would not onely himſelfe bridle ỹ rage of Cambiſes, but alſo the other kings of Perſia by Alexander the king of Macedonia. q For this Angel was appointed for the defence of the Church vnder Chriſt, who is the head thereof.

CHAP. XI.

1 A propheſie of the kingdomes which ſhould be enemies to the Church of God, as of Perſia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Romanes.

a The Angel aſſureth Daniel that God hath giuen him power to performe theſe things, ſeeing he appointed him to aſſiſt Darius when he ouercame ỹ Caldeans.

b Wherof Cambyſes that now reigned, was the firſt, the ſecond Smerdes, the third Darius the ſon of Hyſtaſpis, & the fourth, Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and ſtood againſt them.

c For he raiſed vp all the Eaſt countreys to fight againſt the Grecians: and albeit he had in his army nine hundred thouſand men, yet in foure battels he was diſcomfited, and fled away with ſhame.

ALſo I, in the firſt yeere of Darius of the Medes, euen I [a] ſtood to incourage and to ſtrengthen him.

2 And now will I ſhew thee the trueth. Behold, there ſhal ſtand vp yet [b] three kings in Perſia, and the fourth ſhal be farre richer then they all: and by his ſtrength, and by his riches he ſhall ſtir vp [c] all againſt the realme of Grecia.

3 But a [d] mighty king ſhall ſtand vp, that ſhall rule with great dominion, and doe according to his pleaſure.

4 And when he ſhal ſtand vp, [e] his kingdome ſhalbe broken, [f] and ſhal be diuided toward the [g] foure windes of heauen: [g] not to his [h] poſterity, nor according to [i] his dominion which he ruled: for his kingdome ſhall be pluckt vp, euē to be for others beſides [k] thoſe.

5 And the [l] King of the South ſhall bee mighty, and one of [m] his princes, and ſhall preuaile againſt him, and beare rule: his dominion ſhall be a great dominion.

6 And in the end of yeres they ſhalbe ioyned together: for the kings [n] daughter of the South ſhall come to the king of the North, to make an agreement, but ſhee ſhall not retaine the power of the [o] arme, neither ſhall [p] he continue, nor his [q] arme: but ſhe ſhall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her and [r] he that begate her, and he that comforted her in theſe times.

d That is, Alexander the great. e For when his ſtate was moſt flouriſhing, hee ouercame himſelfe with drinke, and ſo fel into a diſeaſe: or as ſome write, was poiſoned by Caſſander. f For his twelue chiefe Princes firſt diuided his kingdom among themſelues. g After this his monarchie was diuided into foure: for Seleuchus had Syria, Antigonus Aſia minor, Caſſander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemeus Egypt. h Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition & cruelty, in cauſing his poſterity to be murthered, partly of the fathers chiefe friends, & partly one of another. i None of theſe foure ſhall be able to bee compared to the power of Alexander. k That is, his poſterity hauing no part thernof. l To wit, Ptolemeus the king of Egypt. m That is, Antiochus the ſonne of Seleuchus, & one of Alexanders princes ſhalbe more mighty: for he ſhould haue both Aſia & Syria. n That is, Bernice the daughter of Ptolemeus Philadelphus ſhalbe giuen in mariage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinity, that Syria and Egypt ſhould haue a continuall peace together.

o That force and ſtrength ſhall not continue: for ſoone after, Berenice and her yong ſonne after her huſbands death, was ſlaine of her ſtepſonne Seleucus Calinicus the ſon of Laodice, the lawful wife of Antiochus, but put away for this womans ſake.

p Neither Ptolemeus, nor Antiochus.

q Some reade ſeede, meaning the childe begotten of Bernice.

r Some reade, ſhe that begate her, and thereby vnderſtand her nurſe, which brought her vp: ſo that all they that were occaſion of this mariage, were deſtroyed.

7 But out of the budde of her [f] rootes ſhall one ſtand vp in his ſtead, [t] which ſhall come with an armie, and ſhall enter into the fortreſſe of the king of the North, and doe with them as hee liſt, and ſhall preuaile,

8 And ſhal alſo cary captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious veſſels of ſiluer and of gold, and he ſhall continue [u] moe yeeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South ſhall come into his kingdome, and ſhall returne into his owne land.

10 Wherefore his [x] ſonnes ſhalbe ſtirred vp, and ſhall aſſemble a mighty great army: and one [y] ſhall come and ouerflow, and paſſe thorow: then ſhal [z] he returne, and be ſtirred vp at his fortreſſe.

11 And the king of the South ſhall bee angry, and ſhall come forth, and fight with him, euen with the king of the North: for hee ſhall ſet forth a great [a] multitude, and the multitude ſhall bee giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude ſhalbe proud, and their heart ſhall be lifted vp: for he ſhall caſt downe thouſands: but he ſhall not ſtill preuaile.

13 For the King of the North [b] ſhall returne, and ſhall ſet forth a greater multitude then afore, and ſhall come forth (after certaine yeeres) with a mightie army, and great riches.

14 And at the ſame time there ſhall [c] many ſtand vp againſt the King of the South: alſo the rebellious children of thy [d] people, ſhall exalt themſelues to ſtabliſh the viſion, but they ſhall fall.

15 So the King of the North ſhall come, and caſt vp a mount, and take the ſtrong Citie: and the armes of the South ſhall [e] not reſiſt, neither his choſen people, neither ſhall there bee any ſtrength to withſtand.

16 But he that ſhall come, ſhall doe vnto him as hee liſt, and none ſhall ſtand as That is, Philopater, when he ſhall ſee Antiochus to take great dominions from him in Syria, and alſo ready to inuade Egypt. a For Antiochus had ſixe thouſand horſemen, and threeſcore thouſand footmen. b After the death of Ptolemeus Philopater, who left Ptolemeus Epiphanes his heire. c For not only Antiochus came againſt him, but alſo Philip king of Macedonia, and theſe two brought great power with them. d For vnder Onias which falſly alledged that place of Iſaiah 19.19. certaine of the Iewes retired with him into Egypt to fulfill this propheſie: alſo the Angel ſheweth that all theſe troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence and counſell of God. e The Egyptians were not able to reſiſt Stopas Antiochus captaine.

s Meaning, that Ptolemeus Euergetes, after the death of his father Philadelphus, ſhould ſucceed in the kingdome, being of the ſame ſtock that Berenice was.

t To reuenge his ſiſters death againſt Antiochus Calinicus king of Syria.

u For this Ptolemeus reigned ſixe and fourtie yeeres. x Meaning, Seleucus and Antiochus the great, the ſonnes of Calinicus, ſhall make warre againſt Ptolemeus Philopater the ſonne of Philadelphus. y For his elder brother Seleucus died, or was ſlaine whiles the warres were preparing, against him: and he shall stand in the [f] pleasant land, which by his hand shall bee consumed.

17 Againe hee shall [g] set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, and his confederates with him: thus shal he doe, and hee shall giue him the [h] daughter of women, to destroy [i] her: but [k] she shall not stand on his side, neither bee for him.

18 After this shall he turne his face vnto the [l] yles, and shall take many: but a prince [m] shall cause his shame to light vpon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to turne vpon [n] himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the forts of his [o] owne land: but he shalbe ouerthrowen, and fall, and be no more [p] found.

20 [q] Then shall stand vp in his place in the glorie of the kingdome, one that shall raise tares, but after fewe dayes hee shall bee destroyed, neither in [r] wrath, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand vp a [s] vile person, to whome they shall not giue the honour of the kingdome: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdome by flatteries.

22 And the [t] armes shall be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of [u] the couenant.

23 And after [x] the league made with him, he shall worke deceitfully: for he shall come vp, and ouercome with a [y] small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull prouince, and he shall doe that which his fathers [z] haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shal diuide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall forecast his deuices against the strong holds, euen for a [a] time.

25 Also he shall stirre vp his power & his courage against the king of the South with a great army, and the king of the South shal bee stirred vp to battell with a very great and mighty armie: but he shall not [b] stand; for they shall forecast and practise against him.

26 Yea, they that feede of the portion of [c] his meate, shall destroy him: and his armie [d] shall ouerflow: and many shall fall, and be slaine.

27 And both these kings hearts shall bee to doe [e] mischiefe, and they shall talke of deceit at one table: but it shall not auaile: for [f] yet the ende shall be at the time appointed.

28 Then shall he returne into his lande with great substance: for his heart shall be against the holy couenant: so shall he do and returne to his owne land.

29 At the time appointed he shall returne, and come toward the South: but the last shall not be as the first.

30 For the ships [h] of Chittim shall come against him: therefore he shall be sory and returne, and freet against the holy couenant: so shall he do, he shal euen returne [i] and haue intelligence with them that forsake the holy couenant.

31 And armes [k] shall stand on his part, and they shall pollute the Sanctuarie [l] of strength, and shall take away the daily sacrifice, and they shall set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly [m] breake the couenant, shall he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that doe know their God, shal preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among [n] the people, shall instruct many: [o] yet they shall fal by sword, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoile, many dayes.

34 Now when they shall fall, they shall be holpen with a [p] little helpe: but many shal cleaue vnto them [q] fainedly.

35 And some of them [r] of vnderstanding shall fall to trie them, and to purge, and to make them white till the time bee out: for there is a time appointed.

f He sheweth that he shal not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shall enter into their countrey, whereof he admonisheth them before, that they may know that all these things come by Gods prouidence.

g This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemeus Epiphanes.

h To wit, a beautifull woman which was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.

i For he regarded not the life of his daughter, in respect of the kingdome of Egypt.

k She shall not agree to his wicked counsell, but shall loue her husband, as her duetie requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

l That is, toward Asia, Grecia, and those yles which are in the sea called Mediterraneum for the Iewes called all countreys yles, which were diuided from them by sea.

m For whereas Antiochus was wont to contemne the Romans, and put their ambassadours to shame in all places, Attilius the Consul, or Lucius Scipio put him to flight, and caused his shame to turne on his owne head.

n By his wicked life, and obeying of foolish counsell.

o For feare of the Romanes hee shall flee to his holds.

p For when as vnder the pretence of pouertie he would haue robbed the Temple of Iupiter Dodonæus, the countrey men slew him.

q That is, Seleucus shall succeed his father Antiochus.

r Not by forreine enemies, or battell, but by treason.

s Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who as is thought, was the occasion of Seleucus his brothers death, and was of a vile, cruell, & flattering nature, and defrauded his brothers sonne of the kingdome, and vsurped the kingdome without consent of the people.

t Hee sheweth that great forreine powers shall come to helpe the young sonne of Seleucus against his vncle Antiochus, and yet shall be ouerthrowen.

u Meaning Ptolemeus Philometor, Philopaters sonne, who was this childes cousin germane, and is here called the prince of the couenant, because hee was the chiefe, and all other followed his conduct.

x For after the battell, Philometor and his vncle Antiochus made a league.

y For hee came vpon him at vnawares, and when he suspected his vncle Antiochus nothing.

z Meaning in Egypt.

a He will content himselfe with the small holdes for a time, but euer labour by craft to attaine to the chiefest.

b Hee shalbe ouercome with treason.

c Signifying his princes, and the chiefe about him.

d Declaring that his souldiers shal burst out & venture their liues to slay and to be slaine for the safegard of their prince.

e The vncle and the nephew shall take truce, and banket together, yet in their harts they shal imagin mischiefe one against another.

f Signifying that it standeth not in the counsell of men to bring things to passe, but in the prouidence of God who ruleth the kings by a secret bridle, that they cannot doe what they list themselues.

g Which hee shall take of the Iewes in spoiling Ierusalem & the Temple, and this is told them before, to moue thē to patience, knowing that al things are done by Gods prouidence.

h That is, the Romane power shall come against him: for P. Popilius the ambassadour appointed him to depart in the Romanes name: to which thing hee obeyed, although with griefe, and to reuenge his rage, he came against the people of God the second time.

i With the Iewes which shall forsake the couenant of the Lord: for first hee was called against the Iewes by Iason the hie Priest, and this second time hy Menelaus.

k A great faction of the wicked Iewes shall holde with Antiochus.

l So called because the power of God was nothing diminished, although this tyrant set vp in the Temple the image of Iupiter Olympius, and so began to corrupt the pure seruice of God.

m Meaning, such as bare the name of Iewes, but indeede were nothing lesse: for they sold their soules, and betrayed their brethren for gaine.

n They that remaine constant among the people, shal teach others by their example, and edifie many in the true religion.

o Whereby hee exhorteth the godly to constancie, although they should perish a thousand times, and though their miseries endure neuer so long.

p As God will not leaue his Church destitute, yet will he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe as they may still seeme to fight vnder the crosse, as he did in the time of the Maccabees, whereof he here prophesieth.

q That is, there shall be euen of this small number many hypocrites.

r To wit, of them that feare God, and will lose their life for the defence of true Religion, signifying also, that the Church must continually be tryed & purged, & ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey.

[Because the Angels purpose is to shew the whole course of the persecutions of the Iewes vnto the comming of Christ, he now speaketh of the Monarchy of the Romanes, which he noteth by the name of a king, who were without all religion, and contemned the true God.

t So long the tyrants shall prevaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time.

u The Romanes shall observe no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shal chãge their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them and prefer themselues to their gods.

x Signifying, ỹ they should be without all humanity: for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2. Sam. 1. 26.

y That is, the god of power and riches: they shall esteeme their owne power aboue all their goods, and worship it.

z Vnder pretence of worshipping the gods, they shall enrich their citie with the most precious iewels of all the worlde, because that hereby all men should haue them in admiration for their power & riches.

a Although in their hearts they had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods and worshipped them in their temples, lest they should haue bene despised as Atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others rulers thereof, that the profit euer came to the Romanes.

b That is, both the Egyptians and Syrians shall at length fight against the Romanes, but they shall be ouercome

c The Angel forewarneth the Iewes, that when they should see the Romanes inuade them, & that the wicked should escape their hands, that then they should not thinke but that all this was done by Gods prouidence, forasmuch as hee warned them of it so long afore, and therefore he would still preserue them.

d Hearing that Crassus was slaine & Antonius discomfited.

e For Augustus ouercame the Parthians, and recouered that which Antonius had lost.

f The Romanes after this reigned quietly through all countreys, and from sea to sea, and in Iudea: but at length for their cruelty God shall destroy them.

36 And the t king shall doe what him list, he shall exalt himselfe, and magnifie himselfe against all, that is God, and shall speake marueilous things against the God of gods, and shal prosper till the wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Neither shall he regard the u God of his fathers, nor the desire x of women, nor care for any god: for he shall magnifie himselfe aboue all.

38 But in his place shall hee honour the y god Mauzzim, and the god whom his fathers knew not shall hee honour with golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shall hee doe in the a holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whom he shall acknowledge: he shall encrease his glory, and shal cause them to rule ouer many, and shall diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the end of time shall the King of the b South push at him, and the King of the North shall come against him like a whirlewinde, with charets and with horsemen, and with many shippes, and hee shall enter into the countreys, and shall ouerflow and passe thorow.

41 Hee shal enter also into the c pleasant land, & many countreys shalbe ouerthrowen: but these shal escape out of his hand, euen Edom and Moab, and the chief of the children of Ammon.

42 He shall stretch forth his hands also vpon the countreys, and the land of Egypt shall not escape.

43 But he shall haue power ouer the treasures of gold and of siluer, and ouer all the precious things of Egypt, and of the Libyans, and of the blacke Mores where he shall passe.

44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shall d trouble him, therefore hee shal goe forth e with great wrath to destroy and roote out many.

45 And he shal plant the tabernacles f of his palace between the Seas in the glorious and holy mountaine. yet he shall come to his end, and none shall helpe him.

CHAP. XII.

1 Of the deliuerance of the Church by Christ.

AND at that a time shal Michael stand vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people. and there shall bee a time of trouble, such as neuer was since there began to bee a nation, vnto that same time: and at that time thy people shal be deliuered, euery one that shall be found written in the booke.

2 And many b of them ỹ sleepe in the dust of the earth shal awake, some to euerlasting life, & some to shame & perpetuall contempt.

3 And they that be c wise, shall shine as the brightnesse of the firmament: and they that d turne many to righteousnes, shal shine as the starres, for euer and euer.

4 But thou, O Daniel, e shut vp the wordes, and seale the booke f till the end of the time: many shall runne to and fro, and knowledge shalbe increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniel looked, and behold, there stood other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.

6 And one sayd vnto the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shalbe the end of these wonders?

7 And I heard the man clothed in linen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his g right hand and his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shal tarie for a i time, two times and an halfe: and when he shall haue accomplished k to scatter the power of the holy people, all these things shalbe finished.

8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstood it not: then sayd I, O my Lord, what shall bee the end of these things?

9 And he sayd, Goe thy way, Daniel: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, till the end of the time.

10 Many shall bee purified, made white and tried: but the wicked shall doe wickedly. and none of the wicked shall haue vnderstanding: but the wise shall vnderstand.

11 And from the time that the l dayly sacrifice shall be taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, there m shall be a thousand two hundreth and ninety dayes.

12 Blessed is hee that waiteth and commeth to the thousand three hundreth & n fiue and thirtie dayes.

13 But goe o thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

a The Angel here noteth two things: first that the Church shall be in great afflictiõ & trouble at Christs cõming, & next that God wil send his Angel to deliuer it, whõ here he calleth Michael, meaning Christ, which is published by the preaching of the Gospel

b Meaning, all shall rise at the generall resurrectiõ, which thing here he nameth, because the faithfull should haue euer their respect to that: for in the earth their shalbe no sure comfort.

c Who haue kept the true feare of God and his religion, d He chiefly meaneth ỹ ministers of Gods word, & next all ỹ faithfull which instruct the ignorant and bring them to the true knowledge of God.

e Though the most part despise this prophesie, yet keepe thou it sure, esteeme it as a treasure.

f Till the time that God hath appointed for the full reuelation of these things, and then many shall run to and fro to search the knowledge of these mysteries, which things they obtaine now by the light of the Gospel.

g Which was Tygris.

h Which was as it were a double oath & did the more cõfirme the thing.

i Meaning, a long time, a lõger time, & at length a short time signifying, that their troubles should haue an end.

k When the Church shal be scattered & diminished in such sort as it shall seeme to haue no power.

l From the time that Christ by his sacrifice shal take away the sacrifice and ceremonies of the law.

m Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christs second comming, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred.

n In this number he added a moneth and an halfe to the former number, signifying, that it is not in man to appoint the time of Christs comming, but that they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing.

o The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, till the time appointed come, signifying that he should depart this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled and purged his Church.

Hosea.

THE ARGVMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked & subtil counsel of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true seruice commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies & traditions of men, giuing themselues to most vile idolatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew euer worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefits. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as hee did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to condemne them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adultery: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdom, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuenty yeres, though they remained stil in their wickednes & vices, and derided the Prophets, and contemned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselues by the sweetnesse of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithfull to Messiah, by whom onely they should haue true deliuerance: and for the second, he vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices: and this is the chiefe scope of al the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or else by threatning of his iudgements to feare them from vice: and albeit that the whole Law containe these two points, yet the Prophets moreouer note peculiarly, both the time of Gods iudgements, and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time when Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

THe word of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of [a] Vzziah, Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah [b] kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe, take vnto thee a wife [c] of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredom, departing from the Lord.

3 So hee went and tooke [d] Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceiued and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name [e] Israel: for yet a little, and I will visite the blood of Izreel vpon the house [f] of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdom of the house of Israel.

5 And at that [g] day will I also breake the bow of Israel in the valley of Izreel.

6 Shee conceiued yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name, [h] Lo-ruhamah: for I will no more haue pittie vpon the house of Israel: but I will vtterly [i] take them away.

7 Yet will I haue mercie vpon the house of Iudah, and will [k] saue them by the Lord their God, and will not saue them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battell, by horses, nor by horsemen.

8 Now when she had weaned Lo ruhamah, she conceiued and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his name [l] Loammi: for yee are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the [m] children of Israel shal be as the sand of the sea, which cannot bee measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Yee are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Yee are the sonnes of the liuing God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be [n] gathered together, and appoint themselues one head, and they shall come vp out of the land: for great is the [o] day of Izreel.

a Called also Azariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome.

b So that it may be gathered by the reigne of these foure kings that he preached aboue threescore yeere.

c That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he saw this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to set forth vnder this parable or figure the idolatry of the Synagogue, and of the people her children.

d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusters of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs.

e Meaning, that they should bee no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chiefe citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2. King. 10. 8, 11.

f I wil be reuenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition, and not for the glory of God, as the end declared: for hee builded vp that idolatry, which hee had destroyed.

g When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their policie and force.

h That is, not obteining mercy: whereby he signifieth that Gods fauor was departed from them.

i For the Israelites neuer returned, after that they were taken captiues by the Assyrians.

k For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by the means of Cyrus, Ezra. 1, 1.

l That is, not my people.

m Because they thought that God could not haue been true in his promise except he had preserued them, he declared that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9, 26.

n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles.

o The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shalbe so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 Hee sheweth their idolatry, and threatneth them except they repent.

SAy vnto your [a] brethren, Ammi, and to your sisters, Ruhamah,

2 Pleade with your [b] mother: pleade a Seeing that I haue promised you deliuerance, it remaineth that considering that you encourage one another to embrace the same, ye are my people on whom I will haue mercie.

b God sheweth that the fault was not in him but in their Synagogue, & their idolatries, that he forsooke them, Isa 50, 1.

with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her fornications out of her sight, & her adulteries [c] from betweene her breasts,

3 [d] Lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was [e] borne, and make her as a wildernesse, and leaue her like a drie land, and slay her for thirst.

4 And I will haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the [f] children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: shee that conceiued them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I will goe after my [g] louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle & my drinke.

6 Therefore behold, I wil stop [h] thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not find her paths.

7 Though shee follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though she seeke them, yet shall she not finde them: then shall she say, [i] I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now shee did not know that I [k] gaue her corne and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, & take away [l] my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recouer my wooll and my flaxe lent to couer her shame.

10 And now will I discouer her [m] lewdnesse in the sight of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I wil also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, hernewe moones, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemne feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines, and her fig trees, whereof shee hath sayd, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forrest, and the wild beasts shall eate them.

13 And I wil visit vpon her the dayes [n] of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked her selfe with her [o] earerings and her Iewels, and she followed her louers, and forgate me, sayth the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will [p] allure her, and bring her into the wildernes, and speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of [q] Achor for the doore of hope, and she shall [r] sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me [s] Ishi, and shalt call me no more [t] Baali.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembred by their [u] names.

18 And in that day will I make a couenant for them, with the [x] wilde beastes, and with the fowles of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth, & I wil breake the bow and the sword, and the battel out of the earth, and will make them to slepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mee for euer: yea, I wil marry thee vnto me in righteousnes, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.

20 I will euen marry thee vnto me in [y] faithfulnes, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I will euen heare [z] the heauens, and they shall heare the earth.

22 And the earth shall heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shall heare Izreel.

23 And I will sow her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I wil say to them which were not my people, [*] Thou art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The Iewes shall be cast off for their idolatry. 5 Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

THen sayd the Lord to me, [a] Goe yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and [b] loued the wine bottles.

2 So [c] I bought her to mee for fifteene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barley, and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I sayd vnto her, Thou shalt abide with [d] me many dayes: Thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt bee to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shal [e] remaine many dayes without a king, and without a [f] prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and [g] Dauid their king, and shal feare the Lord, and his goodnesse in the latter dayes.

c Meaning, that their idolatry was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16. 25.

d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell & dowrie and certaine signes of his fauor, but if they continued stil, he would vtterly destroy them.

e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4.

f That is, bastards, & begotten in adultery.

g Meaning the idoles which they serued, and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.

h I will punish thee, that then thou mayest trie whether thine idoles can helpe thee, and bring thee into such streitnesse, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.

i This he speaketh of y faithfull which are truly conuerted, and also sheweth the vse and profit of Gods rods.

k This declareth y idolaters defraud God of his honour, when they attribute his benefits to their idoles.

l Signifying, that God will take away his benefits, when man by his ingratitude doeth abuse them.

m That is, all her seruice, ceremonies and inuentions, whereby she worshipped her idols.

n I will punish her for her idolatrie.

o By shewing how harlots trim themselues to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters set a great part of their religion in decking themselues on ther holy dayes.

p By my benefits in offering her grace and mercie, euen in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort.

q Which was a plentifull valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wildernesse, as Ioth. 7. 26. and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing from death, and an entrie into life.

r Shee shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

s That is, mine husband, knowing that I am ioyned to thee by an inuiolable couenant.

t That is, my master: which name was applyed to their idoles.

u No idolatry shall once come into their mouth but they shall serue me, surely according to my word.

x Meaning, that he will so blesse them, that all creatures shall fauour them.

y With a couenant that neuer shall bee broken.

z Then shall the heauen desire rain for the earth which shal bring forth for the vse of man. Rom. 9. 25. 1. pet. 2, 10.

a Herein the Prophet representeth the person of God, which loued his Church before he called her, and did not withdraw the same when she gaue her self to idoles.

b That is, gaue & themselues wholely to pleasures, and could not take vp, as they that are giuen to drunkennesse.

c Yet I loued her, and paid a small portion for her, least she abused me, and two were but halfe the price of a slaue, Exod. 21. 32.

d I will trie thee a long time as in thy widowhood whether thou wilt be mine or no.

e Meaning also vnto Christ.

f That is, they should neither haue policie nor Religion, and the idoles also wherein they put their confidence should bee destroyed.

g This is meant of Christs kingdome, which was promised to Dauid to be eternall, Psal. 72. 17.

perceiuing the greatnesse of my loue should haue not bene vnder dutie:

CHAP. IIII.

A complaint against the people, and the Priests of Israel.

Heare

HEare the word of the Lord, yee children of Israel: for the Lord [a] hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By swearing and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring, they breake out, and [b] blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and euery one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the foules of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shal be taken away.

4 Yet [c] let none rebuke, nor reproue another: for the people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shalt thou fall in the [d] day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy [e] mother.

6 My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because [f] thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to mee: and seeing [g] thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were [h] increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 [i] They eat vp the sinnes of my people, and lift vp their mindes in their iniquity.

9 And there shall bee like people, like [k] Priest: for I will visite their wayes vpon them, and reward them their deeds.

10 For they shall eate, and not haue enough: they shall [l] commit adultery, [f] shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 [m] Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine, take away their heart.

12 My [n] people aske counsell at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the [o] spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, [g] burne incense vpon the hilles vnder the okes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughters shalbe [p] harlots, and your spouses shalbe whores.

14 I will not [q] visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselues are [h] parated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doth not vnderstand, shall fall.

15 Though thou, Israel, play the harlot, yet [r] let not Iudah sinne: come not yee vnto [i] Gilgal, neither goe ye vp to [s] Beth-auen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.

16 For Israel is rebellious as an vnruly heifer. Now the Lord will feede them as a [u] lambe in a large place.

17 Ephraim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.

18 Their drunkennesse stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, [x] Bring ye.

19 The winde hath [y] bound them vp in her wings, and they shall bee ashamed of their sacrifices.

a Because the people would not obey the admonitions of the Prophet, he citeth them before the iudgement seat of God against whom they chiefly offended, Isa. 7. 13. Micah 6. 1, 2. Zech. 12. 10.

b In euery place appeareth a liberty to most heinous vices, so that one followeth in the necke of another.

c As though he would say, that it were in vaine to rebuke them: for no man can abide it: yea, they will speake against the Prophets and Priests whose office it is chiefly to rebuke them.

d Ye shall perish all together: the one because he would not obey, and the other because he would not admonish.

e That is, the Synagogue wherein thou boastest.

f That is, the Priests shall be cast off, because that for lacke of knowledge they are not able to execute their charge, and instruct others, Deut. 33. 3. Mal. 2. 7.

g Meaning, the whole body of the people which were weary with hearing the word of God.

h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.

i To wit, the priests seeke to eate the peoples offrings, and flatter them in their sinnes.

k Signifying, that as they had sinned together, so shall they be punished together.

l Shewing that their wickednes shalbe punished on all sorts: for though they thinke by the multitude of wiues to haue many children, yet they shalbe deceiued of their hope.

m In giuing themselues to pleasures, they become like brute beasts.

n Thus he speaketh by derision in calling them his people, which now for their sinnes they were not: for they sought helpe of stocks and stickes.

o They are caried away with a rage.

p Because they take away Gods honour, and giue it to idols, therefore he will giue them vp to their lustes, that they shal dishonour their owne bodies, Rom. 1. 28.

q I will not correct your shame to bring you to amendment, but let you runne headlong to your owne damnation.

r God complaineth that Iudah is infected, and willeth them to learne by their example to returne in time.

s For albeit the Lord had honoured this place in times past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatry, he would not that his people should resort thither.

t He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-auen, that is, the house of iniquity, because of their abomination set vp there, signifying that no place is holy, where God is not purely worshipped.

u That God wil so disperse them, that they shall not remaine in any certaine place.

x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they will commaund men to bring them vnto them.

y To cary them suddenly away.

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel. 13 The helpe of man is vaine.

OYe Priests, heare this, and hearken ye, O house of Israel, and giue yee eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue bene a [a] snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Tabor.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to [b] slaughter, though I haue bene a [c] rebuker of them all.

3 I know [d] Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, O Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the mids of them, and they haue not knowen the Lord.

5 And the [e] pride of Israel doeth testifie to his face: therefore shall Israel [f] Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to seeke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawen himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten [g] strange children: now shall [s] a moneth deuoure them with their portions.

8 Blow yee the trumpet in Gibeah, and the shawme in Ramah: cry out at Beth-auen, after thee, O [h] Beniamin.

9 Ephraim shall be desolate in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to [i] know the trueth.

10 The princes of Iudah were like them that [k] remoue the bound: therefore will I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in a The Priests & princes catched the poore people in their snares, as the foulers did the birds, in these two hie mountaines.

b Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holinesse, and to sacrifices, which here he calleth slaughter in contempt.

c Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophets.

d They boasted themselues, not only to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe.

e Meaning, their contemning of all admonitions.

f That is, their children are degenerate, so that there is no hope in them.

g Their destruction is not farre off.

h That is, all Israel comprehended vnder this part, signifying, that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed.

i By the successe they shall know that I haue surely determined this.

k They haue turned vpside downe all politicall order, and all maner of Religion.

iudgement, because he willingly walked after the [i] commandement.

12 Therefore will I be vnto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Iudah as a rottennesse.

13 When Ephraim saw his sicknes, and Iudah his wound, then went Ephraim vnto [m] Ashur, and sent vnto king [n] Iareb: yet could hee not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will bee vnto Ephraim as a lyon, and as a lyons whelpe to the house of Iudah: I, euen I will spoyle, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seeke me: in their affliction they will seeke mee diligently.

i To wit, after king Ieroboams commandement, and did not rather follow God.

m Instead of seeking for remedy at Gods hand.

n Who was king of the Assyrians.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednesse of the Priests.

[a] COme, and let vs returne to the Lord: for hee hath spoyled, and hee will heale vs: hee hath wounded vs, and he will binde vs vp.

2 After two daies will [b] he reuiue vs, and in the third day he will raise vs vp, and wee shall liue in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and indeuour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? O Iudah, how shall I entreate thee? for [c] your goodnesse is as a morning cloude, and as the morning deaw it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I [d] cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and [e] thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired [f] mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like [g] men haue transgressed the couenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 [h] Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theeues wait for a man, so the company of Priestes murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischiefe.

10 I haue seene villanie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Yea, Iudah hath set a [i] plant for thee, whiles I would returne the captiuitie of my people.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord that he might cal back his plagues.

b Though he correct vs from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.

c You seeme to haue a certaine holinesse, and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden, and as a morning cloud.

d I haue still laboured by my Prophets, and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meete to feed them, but a sword to slay them.

e My doctrine which I taught thee was most euident.

f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended, that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbor with outward sacrifice.

g That is, like light and weake persons.

h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, and which should haue bene best instructed in my word.

i That is, doeth imitate thine idolatrie, and hath taken grafts of thy trees.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonnesse of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

WHen I would haue healed Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickednesse of Samaria: for they haue dealt falsely: and the [a] theefe commeth in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickednesse: now their owne inuentions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the [b] king glad with their wickednes, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very [c] ouen heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough vntill it be leauened.

5 This is the [d] day of our king: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scorners.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hote as an ouen, and haue [e] deuoured their Iudges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath [f] mixt himselfe among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue deuoured his strength and hee knoweth it not: yea, [g] gray haires are here and there vpon him, yet hee knoweth not.

10 And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they do not returne to the Lord their God, nor seeke him for all this.

11 Ephraim also is like a doue deceiued, without [h] heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Ashur.

14 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vpon them, and draw them down as the foules of the heauen: I will chastise them as their [i] congregation hath heard.

13 Woe vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against mee: though I haue [k] redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cried vnto me with their hearts, [l] when they howled vpon their beds: [m] they assemble themselues for corne and wine, and they rebell against mee.

15 Though I haue bound, and strengthned their arme, yet doe they imagine mischiefe against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most high: they are like a deceitfull bow: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage [n] of their tongues: this shall bee their derision in the land of Egypt.

a Meaning, that there was no one kind of vice among them, but that they were subiect to al wickednesse, both secret and open.

b They esteeme their wicked king Ieroboam aboue God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.

c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning ouen which the baker heateth still til his dough be leauened and raised.

d They vsed all riot and excesse in their feasts & solemnities, whereby their king was ouercome with surfet, and brought into diseases, and delighted in flatteries.

e By their occasion God hath depriued them of all good rulers.

f That is, hee counterfeiteth the religion of the Gentiles, yet is but as a cake baked on the one side, and raw on the other: that is, neither through hot nor through cold, but partly a Iew, and partly a Gentile.

g Which are a token of his manifold afflictions.

h That is, without al iudgment, as they that cannot tell whether it is better to cleaue onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man.

i According to my curses made to the whole Congregation of Israel.

k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and deliuered them from death.

l When they were in affliction, and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto mee for helpe.

m They onely seeke their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me their God.

n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruant, Psal. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

Set

SEt the trumpet to thy mouth: he shal come as an Eagle against the house of the Lord, because they haue transgressed my couenant, and trespassed against my Law.

2 Israel shall [b] crie vnto mee, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemies shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a [c] king, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knew it not: of their siluer and their gold haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them: how long will they be without [d] innocencie!

6 [e] For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall bee broken in pieces.

7 For they haue [f] sowen the wind, & they shal reape the whirlewind: it hath no stalke: the bud shall bring forth no meale: if so bee it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessell wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a [g] wild asse alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow a little, for the [h] burthen of the king, and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a [i] strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eate it: but [k] the Lord accepteth them not: now will hee remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, and buildeth temples, and Iudah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

a God encourageth the Prophet to signifie the speedy comming of the enemie against Israel, which was once the people of God.
b They shall crie like hypocrites, but not from the heart, as their deedes declare.
c That is, Ieroboam by whom they sought their owne libertie, and not to obey my will.
d That is, vpright iudgement and godly life.
e Meaning, the calfe was inuented by themselues, and of their fathers in the wilderneſſe.
f Shewing that their religion hath but a shew, and in it selfe is but vanitie.
g They neuer cease but run to and fro to seeke helpe.
h That is, for the tribute which the king and the princes shall lay vpon them: which meanes the Lord vseth to bring them to repentance.
i Thus the idolaters count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inuentions.
k Saying, that they offer it to the Lord, but he accepteth no seruice, which he himselfe hath not appointed.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

REioyce not, O Israel for ioy, [a] as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued [b] a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 [c] The floore and the wineprese shall not feed them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They wil not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eate vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer [d] wine to the Lord, neither shall their sacrifices bee pleasant vnto him: but they shall bee vnto them as the bread of mourners: all that eate thereof, shall bee polluted: for their bread [e] for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What wil ye doe [f] then in the solemne day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For lo, they are gone from [g] destruction: but Egypt shal gather them vp, & Memphis shall burie them: the nettle shal possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, and the throne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall know it: [h] the prophet is a foole: the spirituall man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim [i] should be with my God: but the prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his wayes, and hatred in the house of his God.

9 They [k] are deepely set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquitie, he will visite their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like [l] grapes in the wildernesse: I saw your fathers as the first ripe in the figtree at her first time: but they went to Baal-peor, and separated themselues vnto that shame, and their abhominations were according to [m] their louers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall flee away like a bird: from the birth [n] and from the wombe, and from conception.

12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I will depriue them from being men: yea, woe to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree [o] in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murtherer.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a [p] barren wombe and drie breasts.

15 All their wickednes is in [q] Gilgal: for there doe I hate them: for the wickednes of their inuentions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will loue them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay euen the dearest of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

a For although all other people should escape, yet thou shalt be punished.
b Thou hast committed idolatrie in hope of reward, and to haue thy barnes filled, Iere. 44. 17 as an harlot that had rather liue by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her owne husband.
c These outward things that thou seekest, shall be taken from thee.
d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shalbe reiected as things polluted.
e The meate offering which they offered for themselues.
f When the Lord shall take away all the occasions of seruing him, which shall be the most grieuous point of your captiuitie, when you shall see your selues cut off from God.
g Though they thinke to escape by fleeing the destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in the place whither they flee for succour.
h Then they shal know that they were deluded by them who challenged to themselues to be their Prophets and spirituall men.
i The Prophets duetie is to bring men to God, and not to be a snare to pull them from God.
k This people is so rooted in their wickednesse, that Gibeah which was like to Sodome, was neuer more corrupt, Iudg. 19. 22.
l Meaning, that he so esteemed them and delighted in them.
m They were as abominable vnto me, as their louers the idoles.
n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by little and little.
o As they kept tender plants in their houses in Tyrus, to preserue them from the colde ayre of the sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now wil I giue him to the slaughter.
p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren, rather then that this great slaughter should come vpon their children.
q The chiefe cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatrie, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

CHAP. X.

1 Against Israel and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

ISrael is an [a] emptie vine, yet hath it brought forth fruit vnto it selfe, and according to the multitude of the fruit thereof he hath increased the altars: according to the [b] goodnesse of their land they haue made faire images.

2 Their heart is [c] diuided: now shal they be found faultie: he shall breake downe their altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, Wee haue no [d] king because we feared not the Lord: and what should a king doe to vs?

4 They haue spoken words, swearing falsly in making a [e] couenant: thus [f] iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall [g] feare because of the calfe of Beth-auen: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the [h] Chemarims thereof, that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

6 It shall also be brought to Asshur, for a present vnto king Iareb: Ephraim shall receiue shame, and Israel shall bee ashamed of his owne counsell.

7 Of Samaria, the king thereof is destroyed as the foame vpon the water.

8 The hie places also of [i] Auen shalbe destroyed: euen the sinne of Israel: the thorne and the thistle shall grow vpon their altars, and they shal say to the mountaines, *Couer vs, and to the hils, Fall vpon vs.

9 O Israel, thou hast [k] sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there they [l] stood: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquitie did not [m] touch them.

10 It is my desire [n] that I should chastise them: and the people shall bee gathered against them, when they shall gather themselues in their two [o] furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as an heifer vsed to delight in [p] threshing: but I will passe by her [q] faire necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Iudah shall plow, and Iaakob shall breake his clods.

12 Sow to your selues in righteousnes: reape after the measure of mercie: [r] breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till hee come and raine righteousnes vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickednesse: ye haue reaped iniquitie: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as [s] Shalman destroyed Beth-arbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el do vnto you, because of your malicious wickednesse: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

a Wherof thogh the grapes were gathered, yet euer as it gathered new strength, it increased new wickednesse, so that the correction which should haue brought them to obedience, did but vtter their stubburnesse.
b As they were rich and had abundance.
c To wit, from God.
d The day shall come, that God shall take away their king, and then they shall feele the fruit of their sinnes, and how they trusted in him in vaine, 2. King. 17. 6, 7.
e In promising to be faithfull toward God
f Thus their integritie & fidelitie which they pretended was nothing but bitternes and griefe.
g When the calfe shall be caried away.
h Chemarims were certaine idolatrous priests which did weare blacke apparell in their sacrifices and cried with a lowde voyce: which superstition Elijah derided, 1. King. 18. 27. read 2. King. 23. 5.
i This hee speaketh in contempt of Beth-el, read Chap. 4. 15. Isa. 2. 19, Luke 23. 30 ren 6. 16. and 9. 6.
k In those dayes wast thou as wicked as the Gibeonites, as God there partly declared: for thy zeale could not be good in executing Gods iudgements, seeing thine owne deeds were as wicked as theirs.
l To wit, to fight, or the Israelites remained in that stubburnnes from that time.
m The Israelites were not moued by their example to cease from their sinnes.
n Because they were so desperate, I will delight to destroy them.
o That is, when they haue gathered all their strength together.
p Wherein is pleasure, as in plowing is labour and paine.
q I will lay my yoke vpon her fat necke.
r Read Ieremie 4. 4.
s That is, Shalmanazzar in the destruction of that citie spared neither kinde nor age.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel. 5 Their ingratitude against him.

WHen Israel [a] was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but [b] they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his armes: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords [c] of a man, euen with bands of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh off the yoke from their iawes, and I laid the meat vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt, but Asshur shall be his [d] king, because they refused to conuert.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against mee: though [e] they called them to the most High, yet none at all would exalt him.

8 [f] How shall I giue thee vp, Ephraim? how shall I deliuer thee, Israel? how shall I make thee, as [g] Admah? how shall I set thee as Zeboim? mine heart is turned within me: [h] my repentings are rolled together.

9 I will not execute the fiercenes of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim, for I am God, and not man, the Holy one in the mids of thee, and I will not [i] enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a lyon: when hee shall roare, then the children of the West shall feare.

11 [k] They shal feare as a sparrow out of Egypt, and as a doue out of the land of Asshur, and I will place them in their houses, saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth mee about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth [l] with God, and is faithfull with the Saints.

a While the Israelites were in Egypt, and did not prouoke my wrath by their malice and ingratitude.
b They rebelled and went a contrary way when the Prophets called them to repentance.
c That is, friendly and not as beasts or slaues.
d Seeing they contemne all this kindnesse, they shall be led captiue into Assyria.
e To wit, the Prophets.
f God considereth with himselfe, and that with a certaine griefe, how to punish them.
g Which were two of the cities that were destroyed with Sodom, Deut. 29. 23.
h Meaning, that his loue wherewith he first loued them, made him betweene doubt and assurance what to doe: and herein appeareth his fatherly affection, that his mercy toward his shall ouercome his iudgements, as hee declareth in the next verse.
i To consume thee, but will cause thee to yeelde and so receiue thee to mercy: and this is meant of the small number who shall walke after the Lord.
k The Egyptians and Assyrians shall bee afraid when the Lord maintaineth his people.
l Gouerneth their state according to Gods word, and doth not degenerate.

CHAP. XII.

Hee admonisheth by Iaakobs example to trust in God and not in man.

EPhraim is fed [a] with the wind, and followeth after the East wind: hee increaseth dayly lies and destruction, and they doe make a couenant with Asshur, and [b] oile is caryed into Egypt.

2 The Lord hath also a controuersie with [c] Iudah, and will visite Iaakob, according to his wayes: according to his workes will he recompense him.

a That is, flattereth himself with vain confidence.
b Meaning, presents to get friendship.
c Which in these points was like to Ephraim, but not in idolatries.

3 He toke his brother by the heele in the wombe, and by his ſtrength he had [c] power with God,

4 And had [c] power ouer the Angel, and preuailed: hee wept and prayed vnto him: [f] he found him in Beth-el, and there he ſpake with vs.

5 Yea, the Lord God of hoſtes, the Lord is himſelfe his memoriall.

6 Therefore turne thou to thy God: keepe mercy and iudgement, and hope ſtill in thy God.

7 Hee is [g] Canaan: the balances of deceit are in his hand, he loueth to oppreſſe.

8 And Ephraim ſaid, Notwithſtanding I am rich, I haue found me out riches in all my labours: they ſhall find none iniquity in me, [h] that were wickednesſe.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in [i] the dayes of the ſolemne feaſt.

10 I haue alſo ſpoken by the Prophets, and I haue multiplied viſions, and vſed ſimilitudes by the miniſtery of the Prophets.

11 Is there [k] iniquity in Gilead? ſurely they are vanity: they ſacrifice bullockes in Gilgal, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 [l] And Iaakob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Iſrael ſerued for a wife, and for a wife he kept ſheepe.

13 And by a [m] Prophet the Lord brought Iſrael out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reſerued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with bitter places: therefore ſhall his blood bee powred vpon him, and his reproch ſhall his Lord reward him.

d Seeing that God did thus preferre Iaakob their father, Iudahs ingratitude was the more to be abhorred.

e Reade Gen. 32.31.

f God found Iaakob as he lay ſleeping in Beth-el, Gen. 28.12. & ſo ſpake with him there, that the fruit of that ſpeach appertained to the whole body of the people, whereof we are.

g As for Ephraim, he is more like the wicked Canaanites, then godly Abraham or Iaakob.

h Thus the wicked meaſure Gods fauour by outward proſperitie, and like hypocrites cannot abide that any ſhould reproue their doings.

i Seeing thou wilt not acknowledge my benefits, I wil bring thee againe to dwel in tents as in the feaſt of Tabernacles, which thou doeſt now contemne. k The people thought that no man durſt haue ſpoken againſt Gilead that holy place, and yet the Prophet ſaith, that all their religion was but vanity. l If you boaſt of your riches and nobility, yee ſeeme to reproch your father who was a poore fugitine and ſeruant. m Meaning Moſes, whereby appeareth, that whatſoeuer they haue, it commeth of Gods free goodneſſe.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Iſrael, 9 And cauſe of their deſtruction.

a He ſheweth the excellencie and authority that this tribe had aboue all the reſt.

b Hee made a king of his tribe.

c The Ephraimites are not farre from deſtruction, and haue loſt their authority.

d The falſe prophets perſwaded the idolaters to offer their children after the example of Abraham, and hee ſheweth how they would exhort one another to the ſame, and to kiſſe and worſhip theſe calues which were their idoles.

WHen Ephraim ſpake, there was [a] trembling: he [b] exalted himſelfe in Iſrael, but he hath ſinned in Baal, [c] and is dead.

2 And now they ſinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their ſiluer, and idoles according to their owne vnderſtanding: they were all the worke of the craftesmen: they ſay one to another whiles they ſacrifice [d] a man, Let them kiſſe the calues.

3 Therefore they ſhal be as the morning cloude, and as the morning dew that paſſeth away, as the chaffe that is driuen with a whirlewinde out of the flooze, and as the ſmoke that goeth out of the chimney.

4 Yet I am the Lord thy God [e] from the land of Egypt, and thou ſhalt know no God but me: for there is no Sauiour beſide me.

5 I did know thee in the wilderneſſe, in the land of drought.

6 As in their paſtures, ſo were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I will be vnto them as a very lyon, and as a leopard in the way of Aſſhur.

8 I will meete them as a Beare that is robbed of her whelps, and I will breake the kall of their heart, and there will I deuoure them like a lyon: the wilde beaſt ſhall teare them.

9 O Lord, one [f] hath deſtroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 [g] I am: where is thy king that ſhould helpe thee in all thy cities? and thy Iudges of whom thou ſaideſt, Giue me a King, and Princes?

11 I gaue thee a king in mine anger, and I toke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is [h] bound vp: his ſinne is hid.

13 The ſorrowes of a trauailing woman ſhall come vpon him: he is an vnwiſe ſonne, elſe would he not ſtand ſtill at the time, euen at the [i] breaking forth of the children.

14 I will redeeme them from the power of the graue: I wil deliuer them from death: O [k] death, I will be thy death: O graue, I will bee thy deſtruction: [l] repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Though hee grow vp among his brethren, an Eaſt winde ſhall come, euen the winde of the Lord ſhall come vp from the wilderneſſe, and dry vp his veine, and his fountaine ſhalbe dried vp: he ſhall ſpoyle the treaſure of all pleaſant veſſels.

e Hee calleth them to repentance, and reproueth their ingratitude.

f Thy deſtruction is certain, and my benefits toward thee declare that it commeth not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatry and vaine confidence in men muſt needes be the cauſe thereof.

g I am all one, Iames 1.17.

h It is ſurely laid vp to be puniſhed, as Ier. 17.1.

i But would come out of the wombe, that is, out of this danger, wherein he is, and not tary to be ſtifeled.

k Meaning, that no power ſhall reſiſt God when he will deliuer his, but euen in death will hee giue them life.

l Becauſe they wil not turne to me, I will not change my purpoſe.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The deſtruction of Samaria. 2 He exhorteth Iſrael to turne to God, who requireth prayſe and thankes.

SAmaria ſhall be deſolate: for ſhe hath rebelled againſt her God: they ſhall fall by the ſword: their infants ſhall bee dashed in pieces, and their women with childe ſhall be ript.

2 O Iſrael, [a] returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou haſt fallen by thine iniquity.

3 Take vnto you wordes, and turne to the Lord, and ſay vnto him, [b] Take away all iniquity, and receiue vs graciouſly: ſo wil we render the calues of our [c] lips.

4 Aſſhur ſhall [d] not ſaue vs: neither will wee ride vpon horſes: neither will wee ſay any more to the worke of our hands, Yee are our gods: for in thee the fatherleſſe findeth mercy.

5 [e] I will heale their rebellion: I will loue them freely: for mine anger is turned away from him.

6 I will bee as the deaw vnto Iſrael: hee ſhall grow as the lilie, and faſten his a He exhorteth them to repentance, to auoyde all theſe plagues, willing them to declare by words their obedience and repentance.

b He ſheweth them, how they ought to confeſſe their ſinnes.

c Declaring that this is the true ſacrifice that the faithfull can offer, euen thanks and praiſe, Heb. 13.15.

d We will leaue off all vaine confidence and pride e He declareth how ready God is to receiue them that doe repent.

rotes as the trees of Lebanon.

7 His branches shall spread, and his beautie shalbe as the olive tree, and his smell as Lebanon.

f Whosoever ioyne themselues to this people, shalbe blessed.

8 They that dwell vnder his f shadow shall returne: they shall reuiue as the corne, and flourish as the vine: the sent thereof shal be as the wine of Lebanon.

9 Ephraim shall say, What haue I to doe any more with idoles? I haue heard him, and looked vpon him: I am like a greene firre tree: vpon mee is thy fruite found.

g God sheweth how prompt he is to heare his, when they repēt, and to offer himself as a protection and safegard vnto them, as a most sufficient fruit and profit.

10 Who is h wise, and hee shall vnderstand these things? and prudent, and he shall know them? for the wayes of the Lord are righteous, and the iust shall walke in them: but the wicked shall fall therein.

h Signifying, that the true wisdom and knowledge consisteth in this, euen to rest vpon God.

Ioel.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet Ioel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew dayly to a more hardnesse of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceede from the heart, because they had grieuously offended God. And so doing, he promiseth that God will be merciful, and not forget his couenant that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and libertie, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophecie against the Iewes. 2 He exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

THE word of the Lord that came to Ioel the sonne of Pethuel.

2 Heare yee this, O a Elders, and hearken yee all inhabitants of the land, whether b such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

a Signifying, the Princes, the Priests, and the gouernours.

b He calleth the Iewes to the consideration of Gods iudgments who had now plagued the fruites of the ground for the space of foure yeres, which was for their sinnes, and to call them to repentance.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, and their children to another generation.

4 That which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grashopper eaten, and the residue of the grashopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpiller eaten.

5 Awake yee c drunkards, and weepe and howle all yee drinkers of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall be pulled from your mouth.

c Meaning, that the occasion of their excesse and drunkennesse was taken away.

6 Yea, d a nation commeth vpon my land, mighty, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a lion, and he hath the iawes of a great lion.

d This was an other plague wherewith God had punished them, when he stirred vp the Assyrians against them.

7 He maketh my vine waste, and pilleth off the barke of my figge tree: he maketh it bare, and casteth it downe: the branches thereof are made white.

8 Mourne like a virgine girded with sackcloth for the e husband of her youth.

e Mourne grieuously as a woman which hath lost her husband to whom shee hath bene married in her youth.

9 The meate offring, and the drinke offring is f cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

f The tokens of Gods wrath didappeare in his Temple, in so much as Gods seruice was left off.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: g the new wine is dried vp, and the oyle is decayed.

g All comfort and substance for nourishment is taken away.

11 Bee yee ashamed, O husbandmen: howle, O ye vine dressers, for the wheat, and for the barley, because the haruest of the field is perished.

12 The vine is dried vp, and the fig tree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, euen all the trees of the field are withered: surely the ioy is withered away the sonnes of men.

13 h Gird your selues and lament, yee Priests, howle yee ministers of the altar: come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

h He sheweth that the onely meanes to anoyd Gods wrath, and to haue al things restored, is vnfained repentance.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemne assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the House of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord, 15 Alas: for the day, for the i day of the Lord is at hand, and it commeth as a destruction from the Almighty.

i We see by these great plagues, that vtter destruction is at hand.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and ioy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seed is rotten vnder their clods: the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How did the beastes mourne? the heards of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flocks of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernesse, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beasts of the field cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried vp, and the k fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wildernes.

k That is, drought.

CHAP II.

He propheseth of the comming and cruelty of their enemies. 13 An exhortation to moue them to conuert. 18 The loue of God toward his people.

BLow a the trumpet in Zion, and shout in mine holy mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for the day of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

a He sheweth the great iudgements of God which are at hand, except they repent.

2 A b day of darkenesse, and of blackenesse, a day of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spread vpon the mountaines, so is there a c great people, and a mighty: there was none like it from the beginning, neither shall be any more after it, vnto the yeres of many generations.

b Of affliction and trouble.

c Meaning, the Assyrians.

3 A fire deuoureth before him, and behind him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of d Eden before him, & behind him a desolate wildernesse, so that nothing shall escape him.

4 The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, & like the horsmen, so shal they run.

5 Like the noise of charets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noyse of a flame of fire that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces e shall gather blackenesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe vp to the wall like men of warre, and euery man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their paths.

8 Neither shall one f thrust another, but euery one shall walke in his path: and when they fall vpon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the city: they shall runne vpon the wall: they shall clime vp vpon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heauens shall shake, the sunne and the moone shall bee darke, and the starres shall withdraw their shining.

11 And the Lord shal h vtter his voice before his hoste: for his hoste is very great: for he is strong that doeth his word: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now the Lord sayeth, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

13 And i rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnes, and repenteth him of the euill.

14 Who knoweth, if he will k returne and repent and leaue a blessing behind him, euen a meate offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the Congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the children, & those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegrome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

17 Let the Priestes the ministers of the Lord weepe betweene the porch and the altar, and let them say, Spare thy people, O Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproch that the heathen should rule ouer them. * Wherefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be m iealous ouer his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answere and say vnto his people, Behold, I will send you corne, and wine, and oile, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproch among the heathen.

20 But I will remoue farre off from you the n Northren armie, and I will drive him into a land, barren and desolate, with his face toward the * East sea, and his ende to the vtmost sea, and his stinke shall come vp, and his corruption shall ascend, because hee hath exalted himselfe to doe this.

21 Feare not, O land, but be glad and reioyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Bee not afraid yee beasts of the field: for the pastures of the wildernes are greene: for the tree beareth her fruite: the figge tree and the vine doe giue their force.

23 Bee glad then ye children of Zion, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for hee hath giuen you the raine of p righteousnesse, * and he wil cause to come down for you the raine, euen the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

24 And the barnes shalbe full of wheate and the presses shal abound with wine & oile

25 And I will render you the yeeres that the grashopper hath eaten, the canker worm and the catterpiller, and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

26 So you shall eate and bee satisfied, and praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marueilously with you: and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

27 Yee shall also know that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall neuer be ashamed.

28 And afterward wil I powre q out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shal prophesie: your old men shall dreame r dreames, and your young men shall see visions, 29 And also vpon the seruants, and vpon the maydes in those dayes will I powre my Spirit.

30 And I wil shew s wonders in the heauens and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The t sunne shalbe turned into darknesse, and the moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whosoeuer shal call u on the Name of the Lord, shalbe saued: for in mount Zion and in Ierusalem, shalbe deliuerance, as the Lord hath said, and in the x remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

d The enemy destroyeth our plentifull country, wheresoeuer he commeth.

e They shalbe pale and blacke for feare, as Nam.2.10.

f For none shall be able to resist them.

n That is, the Assyrians your enemies.

o Called the salt sea, or Persian sea: meaning, that though his army were so great, that it filled all from this sea to the sea called Mediterraneum, yet he would scatter them.

p That is, such as should come by iust measure, and as was wont to be sent when God was reconciled with them. *Leuit.*26.4. deut. 11.14.

q That is, in greater abundance, & more generally then in time paste: & this was fulfilled vnder Christ, when as Gods graces, and his Spirit vnder the Gospel was abundantly giuen to the Church, Isa. 44.3. acts 2.17. iohn 7.38, 39.

r As they had visions & dreames in old time, so shall they now haue clearer reuelations.

s He warneth the faithfull what terrible things should come, to the intent they should not looke for continuall quietnesse in this world, and yet in all these troubles he would preserue them.

t The order of nature shal seeme to be changed for the horrible afflictions that shal be in the world, Isa. 13.10. ezek 32.7. chap. 3.15. matth. 24.29.

u Gods iudgements are for the destruction of the infidels, & to moue the godly to call vpon the name of God, who wil giue them saluation.

x Meaning here by the Gentiles, Rom. 10.13.

CHAP. III.

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of the his people.

FOr behold, in a those dayes, and in that time, when I shall bring againe the captiuitie of Iudah and Ierusalem,

2 I will also gather all nations, and will bring them downe into the b valley of a When I shall deliuer my Church, which standeth of the Iewes and of the Gentiles.

b It appeareth that hee alludeth to the great victory of Iehoshaphat, when as God without mans helpe destroyed the enemies, 2. Chro. 20.26. also he hath respect to this word Iehoshaphat, which signifieth pleading, or iudgement, because God would iudge the enemies of his Church as he did there.

Iehosha-

c That which the enemy gate for the ſale of my people, he beſtowed vpō harlots and drinke.
d He taketh the cauſe of his Church in hand againſt the enemy, as though the iniury were done to himſelfe.
e Haue I done you wrong, that ye wil render me the like?
f For afterward God ſold them by Nebuchadnezzar, & Alexander the great, for the loue he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs.
g When I ſhall execute my iudgments againſt mine enemies, I wil cauſe euery one to be ready and to prepare their weapons to deſtroy one another for my Church ſake.

Iehoſhaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Iſrael, whome they haue ſcattered among the nations, and parted my land.

3 And they haue caſt lots for my people, & haue giuen the child c for the harlot, & ſold the girle for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Yea, and d what haue you to doe with me, O Tyrus and Zidon, and all the coaſts of Paleſtina? will yee render me e a recompenſe? and if ye recompenſe me, ſwiftly and ſpeedily will I render your recompenſe vpon your head:

5 For yee haue taken my ſiluer and my gold, and haue caried into your temples my goodly and pleaſant things.

6 The children alſo of Iudah and the children of Ieruſalem haue you ſolde vnto the Grecians, that ye might ſend them farre from their border.

7 Beholde, I will raiſe them out of the place where ye haue ſold them, and will render your reward vpon your owne head,

8 And I will ſell your ſonnes and your daughters into the hande of the children of Iudah, and they f ſhall ſell them to the Sabeans, to a people farre off: for the Lorde hath ſpoken it.

9 Publiſh this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake vp the mightie men: let al the men of warre draw neere and come vp.

10 g Breake your plowſhares into ſwords, and your ſithes into ſpeares: let the weake ſay, I am ſtrong.

11 Aſſemble your ſelues, and come all ye heathen, and gather your ſelues together round about: there ſhal the Lord caſt downe thy mightie men.

12 Let the heathen bee wakened, and come vp to the valley of Iehoſhaphat: for there will I ſit to iudge all the heathen round about.

13 Put in your h ſithes, for the harueſt is ripe: come, get you downe, for the winepreſſe is full: yea, the wine-preſſes runne ouer, for their wickedneſſe is great.

14 O multitude, O multitude, come into the valley of threſhing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threſhing.

15 The ſunne & moone ſhal be darkened, and the ſtarres ſhall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord alſo ſhall roare out of Zion, and vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the heauens and the earth ſhall ſhake, but the Lord will be the hope i of his people, and the ſtrength of the children of Iſrael.

17 So ſhall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then ſhall Ieruſalem bee holy, and there ſhall no ſtrangers go k thorow her any more.

18 And in that day ſhall the mountaines l drop downe new wine, and the hilles ſhall flow with milke, and all the riuers of Iudah ſhall run with waters, and a fountaine ſhal come forth of the houſe of the Lord, and ſhal water the valley of Shittim.

19 m Egypt ſhalbe waſte, & Edom ſhalbe a deſolate wildernes, for the iniuries of the children of Iudah, becauſe they haue ſhed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Iudah ſhall dwell for euer, and Ieruſalem from generation to generation.

21 For I n wil cleanſe their blood, that I haue not cleanſed, and the Lord will dwel in Zion.

h Thus he ſhall encourage the enemies, when their wickednes is full ripe, to deſtroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods iudgement.
i God aſſureth his againſt all troubles, that when he deſtroieth his enemies, his children ſhal be deliuered.
k The ſtrangers ſhal no more deſtroy his church: which if they do, it is the people which by their ſinnes make the breach for the enemy.
l He promiſeth to his Church abundance of graces, reade Ezekiel 47.1. which ſhould water and comfort the moſt barren places, Amos.9.13.
m The malicious enemies ſhall haue no part of this grace.
n His Church hitherto to lie in their filthineſſe, but now he promiſeth to cleanſe them, and to make them pure vnto him.

Amos.

THE ARGVMENT.

AMong many other Prophets that God raiſed vp to admoniſh the Iſraelties of his plagues for their wickedneſſe & idolatrie, he ſtirred vp Amos, who was an herdman or ſhepherd of a poore towne, and gaue him both knowledge and conſtancie to reprooue all eſtates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements againſt them, except they did in time repent: ſhewing them, that if God ſpare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in reſpect of them, but for their ſinnes will puniſh them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible deſtruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfained repentance. And finally he comforteth the godly with hope of the comming of the Meſſiah, by whom they ſhould haue perfect deliuerance and ſaluation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophecie of Amos. 3 The word of the Lord againſt Damaſcus, 6 the Philiſtims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

THE wordes of Amos, who was among the heardmen a at Tecoa, which hee ſaw vpon Iſrael in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah, and in the dayes of b Ieroboam the ſonne of Ioaſh King of Iſrael, two yeere before the c earthquake.

2 And he ſaid, The Lord ſhal roare from Zion, & vtter his voyce from Ieruſalem, and the dwelling places of the ſhepheards ſhall periſh, and the toppe of d Carmel ſhall wither.

3 ¶ Thus ſayeth the Lord, For e three tranſgreſſions of Damaſcus, and for foure I will not turne to it, becauſe they haue f threſhed Gilead with threſhing inſtruments of yron.

4 Therefore will I ſend a fire into the houſe of Hazael, and it ſhall deuoure the g palaces of Ben-hadad.

a Which was a towne ſixe miles from Ieruſalem in Iudea, but he propheſied in Iſrael.
b In his dayes the kingdom of Iſrael did moſt flouriſh.
c Which as Ioſephus writeth, was when Vzziah would haue vſurped the Prieſts office, and therefore was ſmitten with the leproſie.
d Whatſoeuer is fruitful and pleaſant in Iſrael ſhal ſhortly periſh.
e He ſheweth firſt that all the people round about ſhould be deſtroyed for their manifold ſinnes: which are meant by three and foure which make ſeuen, becauſe the Iſraelites ſhould the more deepely conſider Gods iudgements toward them.
f If the Syrians ſhall not be ſpared for committing this cruelty againſt one citie, it is not poſſible that Iſrael ſhould eſcape puniſhment, which hath committed ſo many and grieuous ſinnes againſt God and man.
g The antiqnity of their buildings ſhall not auoyd my iudgements, reade Iere.49.27.

5 I will breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bikeath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, and the people of Aram shall goe into captiuitie vnto h Kir, saith the Lord.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they i caried away prisoners the whole captiuity to shut them vp in Edom.

7 Therefore I will send a fire vpon the wals of Azzah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I wil cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, & him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembred the k brotherly couenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the wals of Tyrus, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did ✝ cast off all pitie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, and his wrath watched him l alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shal deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they m haue ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlewind.

15 And their King shall goe into captiuitie, hee and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

THus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the a bones of the king of Edom into lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, & it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the Iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the Princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, b I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandements, and their lies caused them to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shal deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 ¶ Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of c Israel, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, because they sold the righteous for siluer, and the poore for d shoes.

7 They gape ouer the head of the poore in the e dust of the earth, and peruert the waies of the meeke: and a man and his father wil gos in to a mayd, to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes layd to pledge f by euery altar: and they g drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Yet destroyed I the h Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oakes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his root from beneath.

10 Also I brought you vp from the land of Egypt, and led you fourtie yeares thorow the wildernesse, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I raised vp of your sonnes for Prophets, and i of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But yee gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophesie not.

13 Behold, I am k pressed vnder you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaues.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the l swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty saue his life.

15 Nor he that handleth the bowe, shall stand, and he that is swift of foote, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mighty courage amongst the strong men, shal flee away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

h Tilgath Pileser led the Syrians captiue, and brought them to Cyrene, which he calleth here Kir.

i They ioyned themselues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

k For Esau (of whom came the Edomites) and Iaakob were brethren: therefore they ought to haue admonished the of their brotherly friendship, and not to haue prouoked them to hatred.

✝ Or corrupt his compassion.

l He was a continuall enemie vnto him.

m He noteth the great cruelty of the Ammonites, that spared not the women, but most tyrannously tormented them, and yet the Ammonites came of Lot, who was of the household of Abraham.

a For the Moabites were so cruel against the King of Edom, that they burnt his bones after that he was dead: which declared their barbarous rage, seeing they would reuenge themselues of the dead.

b Seeing the Gentiles that had not so farre knowledge, were thus punished, Iudah, which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

c If he spare not Iudah vnto whom his promises were made, much more he will not spare this degenerate kingdome.

d They esteemed most vile bribes more then mens liues.

e When they haue spoiled him & throwen him to the ground, they gape for his life.

f Thinking by these ceremonies, that is, by sacrificing, and being neere mine altar, they may excuse all their other wickednes.

g They spoyle others and offer therof vnto God, thinking that he wil dispense with them, when he is made partaker of their iniquity.

h The destruction of their enemies, & his mercy toward them, should haue caused their hearts to melt for loue toward him.

i Yee contemned my benefits, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets. k You haue wearied me with your sinnes, Isa. 1. 14. l None shall be deliuered by any meanes.

CHAP. III.

He reproueth the house of Israel of ingratitude, 11 for the which God will punish them.

HEare this word that the Lord pronounceth against you, O children of Israel, euen against y whole family which I brought vp from the land of Egypt, saying,

2 You a only haue I knowen of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit you for all your iniquities.

3 Can two walke together except they be b agreed?

4 Will a c lion roare in the forrest, when he hath no pray? or will a lions whelpe cry out of his den if he haue taken nothing?

a I haue onely chosen you to be mine among all other people, and yet you haue forsaken me.

b Hereby the Prophet signifieth that he speaketh not of himselfe, but as God guideth and mooueth him, which is called the agreement betweene God and his Prophets.

c Will God threaten by his Prophets, except there be some great occasion?

5 d Can

d Can any thing come without Gods prouidence?
e Shall his threatnings be in vaine?
f Shal the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements, and the people not be afraid?
g Doeth any aduersity come without Gods appointment? Isa.45.7.
h God dealeth not with the Israelites as hee doth with other people: for he euer warneth them before of his plagues, by his Prophets.
i Because the people euer murmured against the Prophets, he sheweth that Gods Spirit moued them so to speake as they did.
k He calleth the strangers, as the Philistims and Egpytians to be witnesses of Gods iudgments against the Israelites for their cruelty and oppression.

5 d Can a bird fall in a snare vpon the earth where no fouler is? or will he take vp the e snare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?
6 Or f shall a trumpet be blowen in the citie, and the people bee not afrayd? or shall there g be euill in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?
7 Surely the Lord God wil do nothing, but he h reuealeth his secret vnto his seruants the Prophets.
8 The lion hath roared: who wil not be afraid? The Lord God hath spoken: who can but i prophesie?
9 Proclaime in the palaces at k Ashdod, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and say, Assemble your selues vpon the mountaines of Samaria: so behold the great tumults in the mids thereof, and the oppressed in the mids thereof.
10 For they know not to doe right, sayth the Lord: they store vp violence, and robbery l in their palaces.
11 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, An aduersary shall come euen round about the countrey, and shall bring downe thy strength from thee, and thy palaces shall be spoiled.
12 Thus saith the Lord, As the shepheard taketh m out of the mouth of the Lyon two legs, or a piece of an eare: so shal the children of Israel be taken out that dwel in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in n Damascus, as in a couch.
13 Heare and testifie in the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord, the God of hosts.
14 Surely in the day that I shal visit the transgressions of Israel vpon him, I will also visit the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar shalbe broken off, and fall to the ground.
15 And I wil smite the winter house with the Summer house, and the houses of yuory shall perish, and the great houses shalbe consumed, saith the Lord.

l The fruit of their cruelty and theft appeareth by their great riches which they haue in their houses. m When the Lion hath satiate his hunger, the shepheard findeth a legge, or a tip of an eare, to shew that the sheepe hath bene woried. n Where they thought to haue had a sure hold, and to haue bene in safetie.

CHAP. IIII.

Against the gouernours of Samaria.

a Thus he calleth the princes and gouernours, which being ouerwhelmed with the great abundance of Gods benefits, forgat God, and therefore he calleth them by the name of beasts, and not of men.
b They encourage such as haue authority ouer the people, to powle them, so that they may haue profit by it. c He alludeth to fishers which catch fish by hookes and thornes.

HEare this word ye a kine of Bashan, that are in the mountaine of Samaria, which oppresse the poore, and destroy the needy, and they say to their masters, b Bring, and let vs drinke.
2 The Lord God hath sworne by his holinesse, that loe the dayes shall come vpon you, that he will take you away with c thornes, and your posterity with fishhookes.
3 And yee shall goe out at the breaches, euery kow forward: and yee shall cast your selues out of the palace, saith the Lord.
4 Come to d Beth-el, and transgresse: to Gilgal, and multiply transgression, & bring your sacrifices in the morning, & your tithes after three e yeeres.
5 And offer a thankesgiuing f of leauen, publish and proclaime the free offerings: for this s liketh you, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord God.
6 And therefore haue I giuen you h cleannesse of teeth in all your cities, and scarcenes of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
7 And also I haue withholden the raine from you, when there were yet three i moneths to the haruest, and I caused it to raine vpon one city, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another city: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.
8 So two or three cities wandered vnto one citie, to drinke water, but they were k not satisfied: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
9 I haue smitten you with blasting, and mildew: your great gardens and your vineyards, and your fig trees, and your oliue trees did the palmer worme deuoure: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
10 Pestilence haue I sent among you, after the manner of l Egypt: your young men haue I slaine with the sword, and haue taken away your horses: and I haue made the stink of your tents to come vp euen into your nostrils: yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
11 I haue ouerthrowen you, as God ouerthrew Sodome and Gomorah: and yee were as a m firebrand pluckt out of the burning, yet haue ye not returned vnto me, saith the Lord.
12 Therefore thus will I doe vnto thee, O Israel: and because I will doe this vnto thee, prepare to n meet thy God, O Israel.
13 For lo, he that formeth the mountains, and createth the winde, and declareth vnto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkenesse, and walketh vpon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of hosts is his Name.

d He speaketh this in contempt of them which resorted to these places, thinking that their great deuotion and good intention had bene sufficient to haue bold God vnto them, e Reade Deu. 14.28.
f As Leuit.7.13.
g You onely delite in these outward ceremonies and haue none other respect.
h That is, lacke of bread and meat.
i I stayed the rain til the fruits of the earth were destroyed with drought, and yet you would not consider it to returne to me by repentance.
k They could not find water enough where they had heard say it had rained.
l As I plagued the Egyptians, Exod.9.10.
m You were almost all consumed, and a few of you wonderfully preserued, 2.King.14.26.
n Turne to him by repentance.

CHAP. V.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Israel.

HEare ye this word, which I lift vp vpon you, euen a lamentation of the house of Israel.
2 The a virgin Israel is fallen, and shall no more rise: she is left vpon her land, & there is none to raise her vp.
3 For thus saith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shal leaue an b hundreth: and that which went forth by an hundreth, shall leaue ten to the house of Israel.
4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israel, Seeke ye me, and ye shall liue.
5 But seeke not Beth-el, nor enter into c Gilgal, and goe not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgal shall go into captiuity, and Beth-el shall come to nought.
6 Seeke the Lord, and ye shal liue, lest he a He so calleth them, because they so boasted of themselues, or because they were giuen to wantonnes and daintines.

b Meaning, that the tenth part should scarcely be saued.
c In these places they worshipped new idols, which aforetime serued for the true honour of God: yet he saith that these shall not saue them.

breake

breake out like fire in the house of Ioseph, and deuoure it, and there be none to quench it in Beth-el.

7 They turne [d] iudgement to wormewood, & leaue off righteousnesse in the earth.

8 Hee [e] maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadow of death into the morning, and hee maketh the day darke as night: hee calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 Ye strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shall come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him, [f] that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that speaketh vprightly.

11 Forasmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue built houses of hewen stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drinke wine of them.

12 For I knowe your manifolde transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewards, and they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore [h] the prudent shall keepe silence in that time, for it is an euill time.

14 Seeke good and not euil, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hosts shalbe with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euill and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may bee that the Lord God of hostes will be mercifull vnto the remnant of Ioseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hosts, the Lord sayeth thus: Mourning shall be in all streetes: and they shall say in all the high wayes, Alas, alas: and they shall call the [i] husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shall be lamentation: for I will passe thorow thee, sayeth the Lord.

18 Woe vnto you, that [k] desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day the Lord is darknesse and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shall not the day of the Lord bee darknesse, and not light? euen darknesse and no light in it?

21 I hate & abhorre your feast dayes, and I will not smell in your solemne assemblies.

22 Though you offer me burnt offerings and meate offerings, [l] I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I will not heare the melodie of thy viols.)

24 And let iudgement runne downe as [m] waters, & righteousnes as a mighty riuer.

25 Haue ye offered vnto me sacrifices and offerings in the wildernesse forty yeeres, O house of Israel?

26 But you haue borne [n] Siccuth your king, & Chiun your images, and the starre of your gods, which ye made to your selues.

27 Therefore will I cause you to go into captiuity beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose Name is the God of hosts.

CHAP. VI.

Against the princes of Israel liuing in pleasures.

WOe to [a] them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountaine of Samaria, [b] which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Goe you vnto Calneh, and see: and from thence goe you to Hamath the great: then goe downe to Gath of the Philistims: bee [c] they better then these kingdomes? or the border of their lands greater then your border,

3 Ye that put farre away the [d] euill day, and approch to the seat of iniquitie?

4 They lie vpon beds of yuorie, & stretch themselues vpon their beds, and eate the lambes of the flocke, and the calues out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viole: they inuent to themselues instruments of musicke like [e] Dauid.

6 They drinke wine in bowles, & anoint themselues with the chiefe ointments, but no man is [f] sory for the affliction of Ioseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captiue with the first that goe captiue, and [g] the sorrow of them that stretched themselues, is at hand.

8 [k] The Lord God hath sworne by himselfe, sayeth the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre [i] the excellencie of Iaakob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliuer vp the city with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine ten men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his vncle [k] shall take him vp and burne him to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say vnto him that is by the [l] sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, [m] Hold thy tongue: for we may not remember the Name of the Lord.

11 For beholde, the Lord commaundeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses [n] runne vpon the rocke? or will one plowe there with oxen? for yee haue turned iudgement into gall, and the fruit a The Prophet threateneth the wealthy, which regarded not Gods plagues nor menaces by his Prophets.

b The two cities were famous by their first inhabitants the Canaanites: and seeing before time they did nothing auaile them that were there born, why shou'd you looke that they should saue you which were brought in to dwell in other mens possessions?

c If God haue destroyed these excellent cities in three diuers kingdomes, as in Babylon, Syria, and of the Philistims, and hath brought their wide borders into a greater straitnesse, then yours are yet, thinke you to be better, or to escape?

d Yee that continue still in your wickednes, and thinke that Gods plagues are not at hand, but giue your selues to idlenesse, wantonnesse and ryot.

e As he caused diuers kinds of instruments to be made to serue Gods glory, so these did contend to inuent as many to serue their wanton affections and lustes.

f They pitied not their brethren, whereof now many were slaine, & caried away captiue.

g Some reade, the ioy of them that stretch themselues, shall depart.

h Reade Ierem. 52.14.

i That is, the riches and pompe.

k The destruction shall be so great, that none almost shalbe left to bury the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to carie out the burnt ashes with more ease.

l That is, some neighbour that dwelleth round about.

m They shall be so astonied at this destruction, that they shal no more boast of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall bee dumbe when they heare Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or reprobate.

n He compareth them to barren rocks, whereupon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benefits can haue no place among them.

d In stead of iudgement and equity, they execute cruelty and oppression.

e He describeth the power of God, Iob 9.9.

f They hate the Prophets, which reproue them in the open assemblies.

g Ye take both his money and also his foode wherewith he should liue.

h God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly once to open their mouthes to admonish them of their faults.

i So that all degrees shall haue matter of lamentation for the great plagues.

k Thus he speaketh because the wicked & hypocrites said they were content to abide Gods iudgements, whereas the godly tremble and feare, Iere. 30.7. Ioel 2.2, 11. Zeph. 1.15.

l Because yee haue corrupted my true seruice and remaine obstinate in your vices, Isa. 1.11. Iere. 6.10.

m Doe your duty to God and to your neighbour, and so ye shall feele his grace plentifully if you shew your abundant affections according to Gods word.

n That idole which you esteemed as your King, and caried about as you did Chiun, in the which images you thought that there war a certaine diuinitie.

o Reade Chap. 5.7.

p That is, power and glory.

fruit of righteousnesse into o wormewood.

13 Ye reioyce in a thing of nought, ye say, Haue not we gotten vs p hornes by our owne strength?

14 But behold, I will raise vp against you a nation, O house of Israel, saith the Lord God of hosts: and they shall afflict you from the entring in of q Hamath vnto the riuer of the wildernesse.

q From one corner of the countrey to another.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certaine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His craftie counsell.

THus hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, he formed a grashoppers in the beginning of the shooting vp of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth b after the kings mowing.

a To deuoure the land, & he alludeth to the inuading of the enemies.

b After the publike commandement for mowing was giuen or as some reade, when the Kings sheep were shorn.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the grasse of the lande, then I saide, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord c repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

c That is, stayed this plague at my prayer.

4 ¶ Thus also hath the Lord God shewed vnto me, and behold, the Lord God called to iudgement by fire: d and it deuoured the great deepe, and did eat vp a part.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stubbornesse of this people.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise vp Iaakob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

e Signifying that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would deferre his iudgement no longer.

7 ¶ Thus againe hee shewed me, and behold, the Lorde stood vpon a wall made by line e with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said vnto mee, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the middes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

f That is, when Amos had prophesied that the Kings should be destroyed: for this wicked priest more for hatred he bare to the Prophet, then for loue toward the king, thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, whereas none other could take place.

9 And the hie places of Isaak shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall bee destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Ieroboam with the sword.

10 ¶ f Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Ieroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Ieroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shalbe led away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also g Amaziah said vnto Amos, O thou the Seer, goe, flee thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophesie there.

g When this instrument of Satan was not able to compasse his purpose by the king, he assailed by another practise:

13 But prophecie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappell, and it is the Kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no h Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an heardman, and a gatherer of wild figs.

that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, & not reproue their idolatry there openly, and so hinder his profit.

h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocation, that God had giuen him a charge which he must needs execute.

15 And the Lord tooke me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said vnto me, Goe, prophesie vnto my people Israel.

16 Now therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou saiest, Prophesie not against Israel, and speake nothing against the house of Isaak.

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, i Thy wife shall be an harlot in the citie, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be diuided by line: and thou shalt die in a polluted lande, and Israel shall surely goe into captiuitie foorth of his land.

i Thus God vsed to approue the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues & iudgements against the which were malicious enemies, Ier. 28.12. & 29. 21, 25. as this day he doth against them that persecute the ministers of his Gospel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord sweareth. 11 The famine of the word of God.

THus hath the Lord God shewed vnto mee, and behold, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And hee said, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said the Lord vnto me, The end is come vpon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

a Which signified the ripenesse of their sinnes, & the readinesse of Gods iudgments.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall bee howlings in that day, saith the Lord God: many dead bodies shalbe in euery place: they shall cast them forth with b silence.

b There shalbe none left to mourne for them.

4 Heare this, O ye that c swallow vp the poore, that yee may make the needy of the land to faile, c By staying the sale of food, and necessary things which you haue gotten into your own hands, & so cause the poore to spend quickly that little that they haue, and at length for necessitie to become your slaues.

5 Saying, When will the d new moneth be gone, that we may sell corne, and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, and make c the Ephah small, and the shekel great, and falsifie the weights by deceit?

d When the dearth was once come, they were so greedy of gaine, that they thought the holy day to be an hinderance vnto them.

6 That we may buy the poore for siluer, and the needie for shoes: yea, and sell the refuse of the wheat.

e That is, the measure small, and the price great.

7 The Lord hath sworne by the excellencie of Iaakob, Surely I will neuer forget any of their works.

8 Shall not the lande tremble for this? and euery one mourne, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise vp wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and f drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

f That is, the inhabitants of the land shall bee drowned, as Nilus drowneth many when it ouerfloweth.

9 And in that day, saith the Lord God, I will euen cause the g Sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the cleare day.

g In the mids of their prosperity I will send great affliction.

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackecloth vpon all loynes, and baldnesse vpon euery head: and I will make it as the mourning of an onely sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and fro to seeke the h word of the Lord, and shall not find it.

h Whereby he sheweth that they shall not onely perish in body, but also in soule for lacke of Gods word, which is the food thereof.

13 In that day shal the faire virgins and the yong men perish for thirst.

14 They that sweare by the sinne of Samaria, and that say, Thy God, O Dan, liueth, and [k] the maner of Beer-sheba liueth, euen they shall fall, and neuer rise vp againe.

i For the idolaters did vse to sweare by their idoles, which here he calleth their sinne, as the Papists yet do by theirs. k That is, the common maner of worshipping, and the seruice or religion there vsed.

CHAP. IX.

1 Threatnings against the Temple, 2 and against Israel. 11 The restoring of the Church.

I Saw the Lord standing vpon the [a] Altar, and he said, Smite the lintell of the dore, that the postes may shake: and cut them in pieces: euen the [b] heads of them all, and I will slay the last of them with the sword: he that fleeth of them, shall not flee away: & he that escapeth of them, shall not be deliuered.

2 Though they dig into the hell, thence shall mine hand take them: though they climbe vp to heauen, thence will I bring them downe.

3 And though they hide themselues in the toppe of Carmel, I will search and take them out thence: and though they be hidde from my sight in the bottome of the Sea, thence will I commande the [c] serpent, and he shall bite them.

4 And though they goe into captiuity before their enemies, thence will I command the sword, and it shall slay them: and I will set mine eyes vpon them for euill, and not for good.

5 And the Lord God of hostes shal touch the land, and it shall melt away, and all that dwell therein shall mourne, and it shall rise vp wholly like a flood, and shalbe drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

6 He buildeth his [d] spheres in the heauen, and hath layd the foundation of his globe of elements in the earth: he calleth the waters of the Sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

7 Are yee not as the Ethiopians [e] vnto mee, O children of Israel, sayeth the Lord? haue not I brought vp Israel out of the land of Egypt? and the Philistims from [f] Caphtor, and Aram from Kir?

8 Beholde, the eyes of the Lord God are vpon the sinful kingdome, and I will destroy it cleane out of the earth. Neuertheless I will not vtterly destroy the house of Iaakob, saith the Lord.

9 For loe, I will command, and I will sift the house of Israel among all nations, like as corne is sifted in a sieue: yet shall not the [h] least stone fall vpon the earth.

10 But all the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, which say, The euill shall not come, nor hasten for vs.

11 In that day will I raise vp the [i] tabernacle of Dauid, that is fallen downe, and close vp the breaches thereof, and I will raise vp his ruines, and I will build it, as in the dayes of old, 12 That they may possesse the remnant of [k] Edom, and of all the heathen, because my Name is called vpon them, sayeth the Lord, that doeth this.

13 Behold, the dayes come, sayeth the Lord, that the plowman shall [l] touch the mower, and the treader of grapes him that soweth seede: and the mountaines shall [m] droppe sweete wine, and all the hilles shall melt.

14 [n] And I will bring againe the captiuity of my people of Israel: and they shall build the waste cities and inhabite them, and they shall plant vineyardes, and drinke the wine thereof, they shall also make gardens, and eate the fruits of them.

15 And I will plant them vpon their land, and they shall no more bee pulled vp againe out of their land, which I haue giuen them, saith the Lord God.

a Which was at Ierusalem: for he appeared not in the idolatrous places of Israel. b Both the chiefe of them, and also the common people.

c Hee sheweth that God wil declare himselfe enemie vnto them in all places, and that his elements and all creatures shall be enemies to destroy them. d He declareth the wonderfull power of God by the making of the heauens and the elements, that it is not possible for man to escape his iudgments when he punisheth. e Am I more bound to you then to the Ethiopians or blacke Moores? yet haue I bestowed vpon you greater benefits.

Obadiah.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Idumeans which came of Esau, were mortall enemies alwayes to the Israelites, which came of Iaakob: and therfore did not onely vexe them continually with sundry kindes of cruelty, but also stirred vp other to fight against them. Therefore when they were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did most triumph against Israel, which was in great affliction and miserie, God rayled vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, forasmuch as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them such as should deliuer them, and set vp the Kingdome of Messiah, which he had promised.

THe vision of Obadiah. Thus sayeth the Lord God against Edom, [a] Wee haue heard a rumour from the Lord, and an ambassadour is sent among the heathen: arise, and [b] let vs rise vp against her to battell.

2 Beholde, I haue made thee small among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

3 The [c] pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rockes, whose habitation is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shall bring me downe to the ground?

4 Though thou exalt thy selfe as the egle, and make thy nest among the starres, thence will I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

5 [d] Came theeues to thee or robbers by God hath certainely reuealed to his Prophets that hee will raise vp the heathen to destroy the Edomites, whereof the rumour is now published, Ier. 49.14. b Thus the heathen encourage themselues to rise against Edom.

c Which despiseth all other in respect of thy selfe, & yet art but an handful in cõparison of others, and art shut vp among the hils as separate from the rest of the world. d God will so destroy them that he will leaue none, though theeues when they come, take but till they haue enough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behinde them, Ierem. 49.9.

night? how wast thou brought to silence? would they not haue stollen, till they had enough? if the grape gatherers came to thee, would they not leaue some grapes?

6 How are the things of Esau sought vp, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie e haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: they that eate thy f bread, haue laid a wound vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, euen destroy the wise men out of Edom, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esau?

9 And thy strong men, O Teman, shall be afraid, because euery one of the mount of Esau shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy cruelty against thy g brother Iaakob, shame shall couer thee, and thou shalt be cut off for euer.

11 When thou stoodest on the other side, in the day that the strangers caried away his substance, and strangers entred into his gates, and cast lots vpon Ierusalem, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made a i stranger, neither shouldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldest not haue spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue laid handes on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Neither shouldest thou haue stood in the crosse way to cut off them, that should escape, neither shouldest thou haue shutte vp the remnant thereof in the day of affliction.

15 For the day k of the Lord is neere vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shall be done to thee: thy reward shall returne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue l drunke vpon mine holy mountaine, so shall all the heathen drinke continually: yea they shall drinke and swallow vp, and they shall bee m as though they had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Zion shall be deliuerance, and it shall be holy, and the house of Iaakob shall possesse their possessions.

18 And the house of Iaakob shall bee a n fire, and the house of Ioseph a flame, and the house of Esau as stubble, and they shall kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shall be no remnant of the house of Esau: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And they shall possesse the South side of the o mount of Esau, and the plaine of the Philistims: and they shall possesse the fields of Ephraim and the fields of Samaria, and Beniamin shall haue Gilead.

20 And the captiuity of this hoste of the children of Israel, which were among the p Canaanites, shall possesse vnto Zarephath, and the captiuity of Ierusalem, which is in Sepharad, shall possesse the cities of the South.

21 And they q that shal saue, shal come vp to mount Zion to iudge the mount of Esau, and the kingdome shall be the Lords.

e They in whom thou didst trust, for to haue helpe and friendship of them, shall bee thine enemies and destroy thee.

f That is, thy familiar friends & ghests haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

g He sheweth the cause whythe Edomites were so sharpely punished, to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whom now he comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h When Nebuchad-nezzar came against Ierusalem, thou ioynedst with him, and hadst part of the spoile, and so diddest reioyce, when my people, that is, thy brother, were afflicted, whereas thou shouldest haue pitied & holpen thy brother.

i When the Lord depriued them of their former dignitie, and gaue them to be caried into captiuitie.

k When he will summon all the heathen, & send them to destroy thee.

l That is, reioyced and triumphed.

m The Edomites shall be vtterly destroyed, and yet in despite of all the enemies, I will reserue my Church, and restore it.

n God attributeth this power to consume his enemies to his Church, which power is only proper to himselfe, as Hā. 10. 17. deut. 4. 24. hebr. 12. 29.

o He describeth how the Church shalbe enlarged and haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder Christ, when as the faithfull are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head.

p By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutch men, and by Zarepath, France, and by Sepharad, Spaine.

q Meaning, that God will raise vp in his Church such as shall rule and gouerne for the defence of the same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messiah, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord and head of this Kingdome.

Ionah.

THE ARGVMENT.

WHen Ionah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gaue him expresse charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineueh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because he had appointed that they which were of the heathen, should conuert by the mightie power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching; that Israel might see how horribly they had prouoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Ioash and Ieroboam, as 2. Kings 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when hee was sent to preach. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

a After that he had preached a long time in Israel: and so Ezekiel, after that for a time he had prophesied in Iudah, he had visions in Babylon, Ezek. 1. 1.

b For seeing the great obstination of the Israelites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles, that they might prouoke them to repentance, or at least make them inexcusable, for Nineueh was the chiefe citie of the Assyrians,

THE word of the Lord came a also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittai, saying,

2 Arise, and goe to b Nineueh that c great citie, and cry against it: for their wickednesse is come vp before me.

c For as authors write, it contained in circuit about eight and fortie mile, and had a thousand and fiue hundred towers, and at this time there were an hundreth and twenty thousand children therein, Chap. 4. 11.

3 But Ionah rose vp to d flee into Tarshish from the presence of the Lorde, and went downe to e Iapho: and hee found a shippe going to Tarshish: so hee payed the d Whereby he declared his weakenesse, that would not promptly follow the Lords calling, but gaue place to his own reason, which perswaded him that he could nothing at all profit there seeing he had done so small good among his owne people, Chap. 4. 2.

e Which was the hauen and port to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe.

fare

fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might goe with them vnto Tarshish, from the f presence of the Lord.

4 But the Lord sent out a great winde into the Sea, and there was a mighty tempest in the Sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

5 Then the mariners were afrayd, and cried euery man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the Sea, to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe g into the sides of the ship, and he lay downe, and was fast asleepe.

6 So the Shipmaister came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, O sleeper? Arise, call vpon thy h God, if so bee that God will thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And they said euery one to his fellow, Come, and let vs cast i lots, that wee may know, for whose cause this euill is vpon vs. So they cast lots, and the lot fell vpon Ionah.

8 Then said they vnto him, Tell vs for whose cause this euill is vpon vs? What is thine occupation? & whence commest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And hee answered them, I am an Ebrew, and I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the Sea, and the dry land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afrayd, and sayd vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knew that hee fled from the presence of the Lord, because hee had told them)

11 Then said they vnto him, What shall we doe vnto thee, that the sea may be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shall the sea be calme vnto you: for I know, that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheless, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but they could not: for the sea wrought and was troublous against them.

14 Wherefore they cried vnto the Lord, and said, k We beseech thee, O Lord, we beseech thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and lay not vpon vs innocent blood: for thou, O Lord, hast done as it pleased thee.

15 So they tooke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, k the sea ceased from her raging.

16 Then the men l feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice vnto the Lord, and made vowes.

17 Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallow vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the m belly of the fish three dayes and three nights.

f From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein hee would haue assisted him.

g As one that would haue cast off this care and solicitude, by seeking rest and quietnesse.

h As they had called on their idoles: which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certaintie, but in their troubles seeke they cannot tell to whom.

i Which declareth that the matter was in great extremity & doubt, which thing was Gods motion in them for the triall of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

k This declareth that y very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for succour, and also that they are touched with a certaine feare to shed mans blood, whereas they know no manifest signe of wickednesse.

l They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God by whom they saw themselues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare, and not of a pure heart and affection, neither according to Gods word.

m Thus the Lord would chastise his Prophet with a most terrible spectacle of death, and hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was enioyned him.

CHAP. II.

1 Ionah is in the fishes belly. 2 His prayer. 10 He is deliuered.

THen Ionah prayed vnto the Lord his God out of the a fishes belly,

2 And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto the Lord, and hee heard me: out of the belly b of hell cryed I, and thou heardest my voyce.

3 For thou hadst cast me into the bottom in the middes of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy surges, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

4 Then I said, I am c cast away out of thy sight: yet will I looke againe toward thine holy Temple.

5 The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me round about, and the weedes were wrapt about mine head.

6 I went downe to the bottomes of the mountaines: the earth with her barres was about mee for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the d pit, O Lord my God.

7 When my soule fainted within mee, I remembred the Lord, and my prayer came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

8 They that wait vpon lying e vanities, forsake their owne f mercy.

9 But I will sacrifice vnto thee with the voyce of thanksgiuing, and will pay that that I haue vowed: saluation is of the Lord.

10 And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the dry land.

a Being now swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedie to escape, his faith braft out vnto the Lord, knowing that out of the very hell hee was able to deliuer him.

b For he was now in the fishes belly, as in a grave or place of darknesse.

c This declared what his prayer was, and how he laboured betweene hope and despaire, considering the neglect of his vocation and Gods iudgements for the same: but yet in the ende faith gat the victory.

d Thou hast deliuered me from the belly of the fish, and all these dangers, as it were raising mee from death to life.

e They that depend vpon any thing saue on God alone.

f They refuse their owne felicity, and that goodnesse which they should receiue of God.

CHAP. III.

1 Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the king of Nineueh.

AND the word of the Lord came vnto Ionah the second time, saying,

2 Arise, goe vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preach vnto it the preaching which I bid thee.

3 So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the word of the Lord: Now Nineueh was a b great and excellent citie of three dayes iourney.

4 And Ionah began to enter into the citie a c dayes iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fourtie dayes, and Nineueh shalbe ouerthrowen.

5 So the people of Nineueh d beleeued God, and proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euen to the least of them.

6 For word came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he arose from his throne, and layed his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

7 And hee proclaimed and said through Nineueh, (by the counsel of the king and his nobles) saying, Let neither man nor e beast, bullocke nor sheepe tast any thing, neither feed nor drinke water.

8 But let man and beast put on sacke-a This is a great declaration of Gods mercy, that he receiueth him again, & sendeth him forth as his Prophet, which had before shewed so great infirmitie.

b Reade Chap. 1. 2.

c He went forward one day in the citie, and preached, and so he continued till the citie was conuerted.

d For he declared that he was a Propbet sent to them from God, to denounce his iudgements against them.

e Not that the dumbe beastes had sinned or could repent, but that by their example man might be astonished, considering that for his sinne the anger of God hanged ouer all creatures.

f Hee willed, that the men should earnestly call vnto God for mercy.
g For partly by the threatning of the Prophet, and partly by the motion of his own conscience he doubted whether God would shew them mercy.
h That is, the fruits of their repentance, which did proceed of faith, which God had planted by the ministery of his Prophet.
i Reade Iere. 18.8.

cloth, and f cry mightily vnto God: yea, let euery man turne from his euill way, and from the wickednes that is in their hands.

9 g Who can tell if God will turne, and repent & turne away from his fierce wrath, that we perish not?

10 And God sawe their h workes, that they turned from their euill wayes: and i God repented of the euill that he had said, that he would doe vnto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnesse of God toward his creatures.

a Because hereby he should be taken as a false Prophet, and so the Name of God which he preached, should be blasphemed.
b Reade Chap. 1. 3.
c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgiuenesse might be blasphemed, as though hee sent his Prophets foorth to denounce his iudgements in vaine.
d Wilt thou be iudge when I do things for my glory, and when I doe not?

THerefore it displeased a Ionah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and said, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my countrey? therefore I preuented it to flee vnto b Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life c from me: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then said the Lord, Doest thou well to be d angry?

5 So Ionah went out of the citie, and sate on the East side of the citie, and there made him a booth, and sate vnder it in the shadow e till hee might see what should be done in the citie.

6 And the Lord God prepared a f gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might bee a shadow ouer his head, and deliuer him from his griefe. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next day: and it smote the gourd that it withered.

8 And when the Sunne did arise, God prepared also a fernent East winde: and the Sunne beat vpon the head of Ionah, that hee fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for me to die then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Ionah, Doest thou well to be angry for the gourd? And he said, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should h not I spare Nineueh that great citie, wherein are liue score thousand persons, that i cannot discerne betweene their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattell?

e For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercie or no: and therefore after fourty dayes, he departed out of the citie, looking what issue God would send.
f Which was a further meanes to couer him from the heat of the Sunne, as he remained in his boothe.
g This declareth the great inconueniences wherein Gods seruants doe fall when they giue place to their owne affections, and do not in all things willingly submit themselues to God.
h Thus God mercifully reproueth him, which would pitie himselfe and this gourd, and yet would restraine God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people.
i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

Micah.

THE ARGVMENT.

MIcah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah, serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and Israel, at the least thirtie yeeres, at what time Isaiah prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatry. And to this end he noteth the wickednes of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false prophets, and the delighting in them. Then hee setteth forth the commiug of Christ, his kingdome and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which resisted Ahab and all his false Prophets, as 1. King. 22 8. but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel because of their idolatrie.

THe word of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the a Morashite in the dayes of Iotham, Ahaz, and Hezekiah Kings of Iudah, which hee sawe concerning Samaria, and Ierusalem.

2 Heare, b all yee people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnesse against you, euen the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord commeth out of his place, and will come c downe, and tread vpon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleane) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are powred downeward.

5 For the wickednesse of Iaakob is all this, and for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednesse of Iaakob? Is not d Samaria? and which are the high e places of Iudah? is not Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof shal be broken, and all the f gifts thereof shall be burnt:

a Borne in Mareshah a citie of Iudah.
b Because of the malice and obstinacie of the people whom he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he summoned them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures and God himselfe to witnesse, that the preaching of his Prophets which they had abused shall be reuenged.
c Meaning, hereby, that God will come to iudgement against the strong cities and holds.
d Samaria which should haue bene an example to all Israel of true religion and iustice, was the puddle and stewes of all idolatry and corruption, and boasted themselues of their father Iaakob.
e That is, the idolatrie and infection.
f Which they gathered by euill practises, and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their seruice vnto them.

burnt with the fire, and all the idols thereof, will I destroy: for she gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore will I mourne and houle: I will goe without clothes, and naked: I wil make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grieuous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalem.

10 Declare yee it not at [b] Gath, neither weepe ye: for the houle of [i] Aphrah roule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at [k] Shaphir, go together naked with shame: shee that dwelleth at Zaannan, shall not come foorth in the mourning of Beth-ezel: the enemie shall [l] receiue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maroth waited for good, but euill came from the Lord vnto the [m] gate of Ierusalem.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charet to the beastes [n] of price: she [o] is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Moresheth [p] Gath: the houses of Achzib shall be as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an [q] heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Mareshah, hee shall come vnto Adullam, [r] the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee balde: and shaue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the egle: for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

g The gaine that come by their idols, shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent.

h Lest the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destruction.

i Which was a citie neere to Ierusalem, Iosh. 18. 23. there called Ophrah, & signifieth dust: therefore he willeth them to mourne, and roule themselues in the dust for their dustie citie.

k These were cities whereby the enemie should passe as hee came to Iudah.

l Hee shall not depart before he hath ouercome you, and so you shall pay for his tarying.

m For Rabshakeh had shut vp Ierusalem that they could not send to succour them.

n To flee away: for Sancherib laid siege first to that citie, and remained therein when hee sent his captaines and armie against Ierusalem.

o Thou first receiuedst the idolatrie of Ieroboam and so diddest infect Ierusalem.

p Thou shalt bribe the Philistims thy neighbours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem.

q He propheseieth against his owne citie, and because it signified an heritage, hee sayth that God would send him an heire to possesse it.

r For so they thought themselues for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

t Threatnings against the wanton and dainty people. 6 They would teach the Prophets to preach.

WOe vnto them that imagine iniquity, & worke wickednes vpon their beds: [a] when the morning is light they practise it, because their hand ‡ hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this family haue I deuised a plague, whereout yee shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not goe so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shal they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a dolefull lamentation, and say, [b] We be vtterly wasted: hee hath changed the portion of my people, how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

a Assoone as they rise, they execute their wicked deuices of the night, and according to their power hurt other.

b Thus the Iewes lament, and say, that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their possessions are diuided among the enemies.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a cord by lot, in the [c] congregation of the Lord.

6 [d] They that prophesied, Prophesie yee not. [d] They shall not prophesie to them, nether shall they take shame.

7 O thou that art named the house of Iaakob, is the spirit of the Lord shortened? [e] are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him [e] that walketh vprightly?

8 But hee that was [h] yesterday my people, is risen vp on the other side, as against an enemie: they spoyle the [i] beautifull garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue ye taken away [k] my glorie continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your [l] rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, euen with a sore destruction.

11 If a man [m] walke in the spirit, and would lie falsly, saying, [n] I will prophesie vnto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, hee shall euen be the prophet of this people.

12 I will surely [o] gather thee wholly, O Iaakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their fold: the cities shall be full of braue of the men.

13 The [p] breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out and passe by the gate, and go out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shalbe [q] vpon their heads.

c Ye shall haue nomore lands to diuide, as you had in time past, and as you vsed to measure them in the Iubile.

d Thus the people warne the Prophets that they speake to them nomore: for they cannot abide their threatnings.

e God saith that they shall not prophecie, nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taunts.

f Are these your workes according to his law?

g Doe not the godly finde his words comfortable?

h That is, afore time.

i The poore can haue no commoditie by them, but they spoyle them as though they were enemies.

k That is, their substance and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were part of his glory.

l Ierusalem shall not be your safegard, but the cause of your destruction.

m That is, shew himselfe to be a Propher.

n He sheweth what Prophets they delight in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities.

o To destroy thee.

p The enemie shall breake their gates and walles, and lead them into Caldea.

q To driue them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyrannie of princes and false prophets.

AND I sayd, Heare, I pray you, O heads of Iaakob, and ye princes of the house of Israel: should not ye know [a] iudgement?

a That thing which is iust and lawfull, both to gouerne my people aright, and also to discharge your owne conscience?

2 But they hate the good: and loue the euill: they plucke off their skins from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eate also the [b] flesh of my people, and flay off their skinne from them, and they brake their bones, and choppe them in pieces as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

b The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours, not onely of couetousnesse, theft & murther, but compareth them to wolues, lions, and most cruell beastes.

4 Then [c] shall they cry vnto the Lord, but he will not heare them: he will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

c That is, when I shall visit the wickednesse: for though I heare the godly before they cry, Isai. 65. 24. yet I will not heare them though they cry, Isa. 1. 15. ezek. 8. 18. iam. 2. 13. 1. pet. 3. 11, 12.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophets that deceiue my people, and [a] bite them with their teeth, and cry, Peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore [c] night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkenesse shall be vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shall be darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the sooth sayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer [e] their lippes, for they haue none answere of God.

8 Yet notwithstanding, I am full [g] of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iaakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with [h] blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Priests thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophesie for money: yet will they [i] leane vpon the Lord, and say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake bee [k] plowed as a field, and Ierusalem shalbe an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of the forest.

d They deuoure all their substance and then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well: but if one restraine from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischiefe.

e As you haue loued to walke in darkenesse and to prophesie lies, so God shall reward you with grosse blindnesse and ignorance, so that when all others shall see the bright beams of Gods graces, ye shall as blinde men grope as in the night.

f When God shall discouer them to the world, they shall bee afraide to speake: for all shall know that they were but false prophets, & did belie the word of God.

g The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, setteth himselfe alone against all the wicked, shewing how God both gaue him gifts, ability and knowledge to discerne betweene good and euill, and also constancie to reproue the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them

h They builde them houses by briberie, which hee calleth blood and iniquitie.

i They shall say, that they are the people of God, & abuse his name, as a pretence to cloke their hypocrisie.

k Reade Iere. 26. 18.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Of the kingdome of Christ, and felicitie of his Church.

BVt in the last dayes it shal come to passe, that the mountaine of the house of the Lord shalbe prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it shalbe exalted aboue the [b] hils, and people shall flow vnto it.

2 Yea, many nations shall come and say, Come, [c] let vs goe vp to the mountaine of the Lord, and to the house of the God of Iaakob, and hee will [b] teach vs his wayes, and wee will walke in his pathes: for the Law shall goe foorth of Zion, and the word of the Lord from Ierusalem.

3 And hee shall iudge among many people, and [d] rebuke mighty nations afarre off, and they shall breake their swords into mattockes, and their speares into [e] sithes: nation shall not lift vp a sword against nation, neither shall they [f] learne to fight any more.

4 But they shall sit euery man vnder his vine, and vnder his figge tree, and none shall make them afeard: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke [g] euery one in the name of his god, and wee will walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that halteth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that halted, [h] a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mightie nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in mount Zion from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O [i] tower of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen [k] the first dominion, and Kingdome shall come to the daughter of Ierusalem.

9 Now why doest thou cry out with lamentation? is [l] there no King in thee? is thy counseller perished? for sorrow hath taken thee as a woman in trauaile.

10 Be sorowe & mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and shalt goe into Babel, but there shalt thou bee deliuered: there the Lord shall redeeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shalbe condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they [m] know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for he shall gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

13 Arise, and thresh, [n] O daughter Zion: for I will make thine horne yron, and I will make thine hoofes brasse, and thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

a When Christ shall come, and the Temple shall be destroyed.

b Reade Isa. 2. 2.

c He sheweth that there is no true Church but whereas the people are taught by Gods pure word.

d By his correction & threatnings, hee will bring the people into subiection, which are in the vtmost corners of the world.

e They shall abstaine from all euill doings, and exercise themselues in godlinesse & in well doing to others.

f Reade Isa. 2. 4.

g He sheweth that the people of God ought to remaine constant in their religion, albeit all the world should giue themselues to their superstition and idolatry.

h I will cause that Israel, which is now as one lame and halting, and so almost destroyed, shall liue againe, & grow into a great people.

i Meaning Ierusalem, where the Lords flocke was gathered.

k The flourishing state of the kingdome, as it was vnder Dauid and Salomon, which thing was accomplished to the Church by the comming of Christ.

l In the meane season he sheweth that they should endure great troubles and tentations, when they saw themselues neither to haue king nor counsell.

m He sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgements by the brags and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God to call for deliuerance.

n God giueth his Church this victory, so oft as hee ouercommeth their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shall bee at the last comming of Christ.

CHAP. V.

1 The destruction of Ierusalem. 2 The excellencie of Beth-lehem.

NOw assemble thy garisons, O daughter [a] of garisons: he hath laid siege against vs: they shall smite the iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth-lehem Ephrathah, art [b] little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall hee come foorth vnto mee, that shall bee the ruler in a He forewarneth them of the dangers that shal come before they enioy these comforts, shewing that forasmuch as Ierusalem was accustomed with her garisons to trouble others, the Lord would now cause other garisons to vexe her, and that her rulers should bee smitten on the face most contemptously.

b For in the Iewes diuided their countrey, that for euery thousand there was a chiefe captaine: and because Beth lehem was not able to make a thousand, he calleth it little, but yet God will raise vp his captaine & gouernour therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefit, as Matt. 2. 6.

Israel:

Israel: whose [c] goings forth haue bene from the beginning and from euerlasting.

3 Therefore will he giue them vp, vntill the time that [d] shee which shall beare, shall trauaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne vnto the children of Israel.

4 And hee [e] shall stand and feede in the strength of the Lord, and in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, and they shal dwell still: for now shall he bee magnified vnto the ends of the world.

5 And he [f] shalbe our peace when Asshur shal come into our land: when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall wee raise against him seuen shepeheards and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy [g] Asshur with the sword, and the land of Nimrod with their swords: thus shall he [h] deliuer vs from Asshur, when hee commeth into our land, and when hee shall tread within our borders.

7 And the [i] remnant of Iaakob shal be among many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Iaakob shalbe among the Gentiles, in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beasts of the forrest, and as the lyons whelpe among the flocks of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, and all thine enemies shall bee cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut off thine [k] horses out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy charets.

11 And I wil cut off the cities of thy land, and ouerthrow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine inchanters out of thine hand, and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke vp thy groues out of the mids of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation vpon the heathen, [l] which they haue not heard.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarrell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell against his people, and he will pleade with Israel.

3 O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieued thee? testifie against me.

4 Surely I [b] brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I hauesent before thee Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had deuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from [c] Shittim vnto Gilgal, that yee may know the [d] righteousnesse of the Lord.

6 Wherewith [e] shall I come before the Lord, and bow my selfe before the hie God? shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calues of a yeere old?

7 Will the Lord bee pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand riuers of oyle? shall I giue my [f] first borne for my transgression, euen the fruit of my bodie for the sinne of my soule?

8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: [g] surely to doe iustly, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce cryeth vnto the [h] citie, and the man of wisedome shall see thy name: Heare the rod, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abhominable?

11 Shall I iustifie the wicked ballances, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men [i] thereof are full of crueltie, and the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lyes, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sicke in smiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and [k] thy casting downe shall be in the mids of thee, and thou [l] shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou deliuerest, will I giue vp to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt tread the oliues, but thou shalt not anoynt thee with oyle: and make sweete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the [m] statutes of Omri are kept, c He sheweth that the comming of Christ and all his wayes were appointed of God from all eternitie.

d He compareth the Iewes to women with childe, who for a time should haue great sorrowes, but at length they should haue a comfortable deliuerance, Ioh. 16.21.

e That is, Christs kingdom shalbe stable and euerlasting, and his people, aswel the Gentiles, as the Iewes shall dwel in safetie.

f This Messiah shalbea sufficient safegard for vs, and though the enemie inuade vs for a time, yet shal God stir vp many which shall be able to deliuer vs.

g These whom God shall raise vp for the deliuerance of his Church, shal destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians which were the chiefe at that time.

h By these gouernors God wil deliuer vs when the enemie commeth into our land.

i This remnant or Church which God shal deliuer, shall onely depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man.

k I will destroy all things wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and so will helpe thee.

l It shall be so terrible, that the like hath not bene heard of.

b I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefits vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefits from the beginning, how I deliuered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

d That is, the truth of his promise, and his manifold benefits toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocrisie aske how to please God, & are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing so deare to man but the hypocrite will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoid his auger: but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affections, & to giue themselues willingly to serue God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet in few words calleth them to the obseruation of the second table, to know if they will obey God aright or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this.

h Meaning, that when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godly will acknowledge his Maiestie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatning, but God that sendeth it.

i That is, of Ierusalem.

k Thou shalt be consumed with inward griefe and euils.

l Meaning, that the city should go about to saue her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would preserue.

m You haue receiued all the corruption and idolatrie, where with the ten tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the kings authoritie by his statutes, and also wisedom and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment, but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke. 12.47.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumbe creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkinde. 6 What maner of sacrifices please God.

HEarken ye now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the [a] mountaines, and let the hils heare thy voyce.

a He taketh the high mountaines and hard rockes to witnesse against the obstinacie of his people.

and all the manner of the house of Ahab, and yee walke in their counsailes, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shall beare the reproch of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 A complaint for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickednesse of those times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of the earth, which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left: that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are giuen to cruelrie and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

WOe is me, for I am as [a] the Summer-gatherings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eate: my soule desired the first ripe fruits.

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: [b] they all lie in wait for blood: euerie man hunteth his brother with a net,

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the [c] great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so [d] they wray it vp.

b He sheweth that the Prince, the iudge, and rich man are linked together, all to doe euill and to cloke the doings one of another.

4 The best of them is as [e] a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of [f] thy watchmen and thy visitation commeth: then shall bee their confusion.

c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abstaineth from no wickednes, nor iniury.

d These men agree among themselues, and conspire with one consent to doe euill.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counseller: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

e They that are of most estimation, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briers to pricke.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will wait for God my Sauiour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, [h] O mine enemie: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shallbe a light vnto me.

f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lorde, because I haue sinned against him, vntill hee pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then will he bring me foorth to the light, and I shall see his righteousnesse.

g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedie for the godly in desperat euils is to flee vnto God for succour.

10 Then shee that is mine enemie, shall h This is spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemy.

looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which saide vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eyes shall behold her: now shall shee bee troden downe as the mire of the streetes.

11 This is [i] the day that thy walles shallbe built: this day shall driue farre away [k] the decree.

i To wit, when God shall shew himselfe a deliuerer of his Church, and a destroyer of his enemies.

k Meaning, the cruell empire of the Babylonians.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from [l] Ashur, and from the strong cities and from the strong holdes euen vnto the riuer, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shalbe desolate because of them that dwel therein, and for the fruits of [m] their inuentions.

l When the Church shalbe restored, they that were enemies afore, shall come out of all the corners of the world vnto her, so that neither holds, riuers, seas, nor mountaines shallbe able to let them.

14 [n] Feede thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitary in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: let them feede in Bashan and Gilead, as in olde time.

m Afore this grace appeare, he sheweth how grieuously the hypocrites themselues shall be punished, seeing, that the earth it selfe, which cannot sinne, shalbe made waste because of their wickednesse.

15 [o] According to the dayes of the comming out of the land of Egypt will I shew vnto him marueilous things.

n The Prophet prayeth to God to be mercifull vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitary places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them, as in time past 16 The nations shal see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall [p] lay their hand vpon their mouth: [q] their eares shall be deafe.

o God promiseth to be fauourable to his people, as he had bin afore time.

17 They shall [r] licke the dust like a serpent: they shal moue out of their holes like wormes: they shalbe afraide of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of thee.

p They shalbe as dumbe men, and dare brag no more.

q They shalbe astonished and afraid to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and [s] passeth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercy pleaseth him.

r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will subdue our iniquities, and cast all [t] their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

s As though he would not see it, but winke at it.

20 Thou wilt performe thy [u] trueth to Iaakob, and mercie to Abraham, as thou hast sworne vnto our fathers in olde time.

t Meaning of his elect.

u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the trueth of his mercifull promise, which hee had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

Nahum.

THE ARGVMENT.

AS they of Nineueh shewed themselues prompt and ready to receiue the word of God, at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselues to wordly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begun, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enioyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath continuall care of his Church, hee stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should bee for their consolation. And as it seemeth he propheried about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time Manasseh his sonne, as the Iewes write.

CHAP.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliuerance of Israel.

THe [a] burden of Nineueh. [b] The booke of the vision of Nahum the [c] Elkeshite.

2 God is [d] ielous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: euen the [e] Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his aduersaries, and he reserueth wrath for his enemies.

3 The [f] Lord is slow to anger, but hee is great in power, and will not surely cleare the wicked: the Lord hath his way in the whirlewinde, and in the storme, and the cloudes are the dust of his feet.

4 He rebuketh the sea, and dryeth it, and he dryeth vp all the riuers: Bashan is wasted and Carmel, and the floure of Lebanon is wasted.

5 The mountains tremble for him, and the hilles melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world and all that dwell therein.

6 [g] Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenesse of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rocks are broken by him.

7 The Lorde is good, [h] and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and he knoweth them that trust in him.

8 But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will vtterly destroy the [i] place thereof, and darknesse shall pursue his enemies.

9 What doe yee [k] imagine against the Lord? he wil make an vtter destruction: affliction shall not rise vp the second time.

10 For he shall come as vnto [l] thornes folden one in another, and as vnto drunkards in their drunkennesse: they shall be deuoured as stubble fully dried.

11 There [m] commeth one out of thee that imagineth euill against the Lord, euen a wicked counsellour.

12 Thus sayeth the Lord, Though they be [n] quiet, and also many, yet thus shall they be cut off when he shall passe by: though I haue afflicted thee, I will afflict thee no more.

13 For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

14 And the Lord hath giuen a commandement concerning thee, that no more of thy name be [o] sowen: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the grauen and the molten image: I wil make it thy graue for thee, for thou art vile.

15 [p] Behold, vpon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth and publisheth peace: O Iudah, keepe thy solemne feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is vtterly cut off.

a Read Isa. 13. 1

b The vision or reuelation which God commanded Nahum to write concerning the Ninenites.

c That is, borne in a poore village in the tribe of Simeon.

d Meaning, of his glory.

e With his he is but angry for a time, but his anger neuer asswageth toward the reprobate, though for a time he deferre it.

f Thus the wicked would make Gods mercy an occasion to sinne, but the Prophet willeth them to consider his force and iustice.

g If all creatures be at Gods commaundement, and none is able to resist his wrath, shall man flatter himselfe, and thinke by any meanes to escape when he prouoketh his God to anger?

h Lest the faithfull should be discouraged by hearing the power of God, he sheweth them that his mercies appertaine vnto them, and that he hath care ouer them.

i Signifying, that God wil suddenly destroy Nineueh, and the Assyrians in such sort, as they shall lie in perpetuall darkenesse, and neuer recouer their strength againe.

k He sheweth that the enterprises of the Assyrians against Iudah and the Church, were against God, and therefore he would so destroy them at once, that hee should not neede to returne the second time.

l Though the Assyrians thinke themselues like thorns that pricke on all sides, yet the Lord will set fire on them, and as drunken men are not able to stand against any force, so they shall be nothing able to resist him.

m Which may be vnderstood either of Sanacherib, or of the whole body of the people of Nineueh.

n Though they thinke themselues in most safetie, and of greatest strength, yet when God shall passe by, he will destroy them: notwithstanding hee comforteth his Church, and promiseth to make an end of punishing them by the Assyrians.

o Meaning, Sanacherib, who should haue no more children, but be slaine in the house of his gods, 2. King. 19. 36, 37. Isa. 52. 7. rom. 10. 15.

p Which peace the Iewes should enioy by the death of Sanacherib.

CHAP. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

THe [a] destroyer is come before thy face: keepe thy munition: looke to the way: make thy loines strong: increase thy strength mightily.

2 For the Lord hath [b] turned away the glory of Iaakob, as the glory of Israel: for the emptiers haue emptied them out, and [c] marred their vine branches.

3 The shield of his mighty men is made red: [d] the valiant men are in scarlet: the charets shall bee as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and [e] the firre trees shall tremble.

4 The charets shall rage in the streetes: they shall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they shall seeme like lampes: they shall shoot like the lightning.

5 [f] Hee shall remember his strong men, they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

6 The gates of the riuers shalbe opened, and the palace shall melt.

7 And Huzzab the Queene shall be led away captiue, and her maids shall leade her as with the voyce of doues smiting vpon their breasts.

8 But Nineueh is [g] of olde like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they crie: but none shall looke backe.

9 Spoile ye the siluer, spoile the gold: for there is none end of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

10 [h] She is emptie and voyd, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all loynes, and the faces of them all [k] gather blacknesse.

11 Where is the [l] dwelling of the Lions, and the pasture of the Lions whelps? where the lyon and the lyoneesse walked, and the lyons whelpe, and none made them afraid.

12 The lyon did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and wozied for his lyoneesse, and filled his holes with pray, and his dens with spoile.

a That is, Nebuchad-nezzar is in a readinesse to destroy the Assyrians, and the Prophet derideth the enterprises of the Assyrians, which prepared to resist him.

b Seeing God hath punished his owne people Iudah and Israel, he will now punish the enemies by whom he scourged them: reade Isa. 10. 12.

c Signifying, that the Israelites were vtterly destroyed.

d Both to feare the enemie, and also that they themselues should not so soone espie blood out of an other to discourage them.

e Meaning, their speares should shake and crash together.

f Then the Assyrians shall seeke by all meanes to gather their power, but all things shall faile them.

g The Assyrians will flatter themselues and say, that Nineueh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fishpoole, whose waters they that walke on the bankes cannot touch: but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe though men would call them.

k God commandeth the enemies to spoile Nineueh, and promiseth them infinite riches and treasures.

i That is, Nineueh and the men thereof shall be after this sort.

k Reade Ioel 2. 6.

l Meaning Nineueh, whose inhabitants were cruel like the lions, and giuen to all oppression, and spared no violence or tyranny to prouide for their wiues and children.

13 Behold,

13 Beholde, I come vnto thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and I will burne her charets in the [m] ſmoke, and the ſword ſhall deuoure thy yong lyons, and I will cut off thy ſpoile from the earth, and the voice of thy [n] meſſengers ſhall no more be heard.

m That is, as ſoone as my wrath begins to kindle.
n Signifying, the heralds which were accuſtomed to proclaime warre.

Some reade, of thy gumme teeth, wherewith Nineueh was wont to bruiſe the bones of the poore.

CHAP. II.

1 Of the fall of Nineueh, 8 No power can eſcape the hands of God.

O Bloudy citie, it is all full of lies, and robbery: [a] the pray departeth not:

2 The noiſe of the whip, [b] and the noiſe of the moouing of the wheeles, and the beating of the horſes and the leaping of the charets.

3 The horſman lifteth vp both the bright ſword, and the glittering ſpeare, and a multitude is ſlaine, and the dead bodies are many: there is no end of their corpſes: they ſtumble vpon their corpſes.

4 Becauſe of the multitude of the fornications of the [c] harlot that is beautifull, and is a miſtreſſe of witchcrft, and ſelleth the people through her whoredome, and the nations through her witchcrafts.

5 Beholde, I come vpon thee, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes, and will diſcouer thy ſkirts vpon thy face, and will ſhew the nations thy filthines, and the kingdomes thy ſhame.

6 And I will caſt filth vpon thee, [c] make thee vile, and will ſet thee as a gazing ſtocke.

7 And it ſhall come to paſſe, that all they that looke vpon thee, ſhall flee from thee, and ſay, Nineueh is deſtroyed, who will haue pitie vpon her? where ſhall I ſeeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then [d] No, which was full of people, that lay in the riuers, and had the waters round about it, whoſe ditch was the ſea, and her wall was from the ſea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her ſtrength, and there was none end, Put and Lubim were her ‖ helpers.

‖ Or, thine.

10 Yet was ſhee caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children alſo were daſhed in pieces at the head of all the ſtreets: and they caſt lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chaines.

11 Alſo thou ſhalt be drunken: thou ſhalt hide thy ſelfe, and ſhalt ſeeke helpe, becauſe of the enemie.

12 All thy ſtrong cities ſhall be like figge trees with the firſt ripe figges: for if they be ſhaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land ſhalbe opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire ſhall deuoure the barres.

14 Draw thy waters for the ſiege: fortifie thy ſtrong holds: goe into the clay, and temper the morter: make ſtrong bricke.

15 There ſhall the fire deuoure thee: the ſword ſhall cut thee off: it ſhall eate thee vp like the [e] locuſts, though thou be multiplied like the locuſts, and multiplied like the graſſhopper.

16 Thou haſt multiplied thy merchants aboue the ſtarres of heauen: the locuſt ſpoileth and flieth away.

17 Thy princes are as the graſſhoppers, and thy captaines as the great graſſhoppers which remaine in the hedges in the colde day: but when the ſunne ariſeth, they flee away, and their place is not knowen where they are.

18 Thy [f] ſhepheards doe ſleepe, O king of Aſſhur: thy ſtrong men lie downe: thy people is ſcattered vpon the mountains, and no man gathereth them.

19 There is no healing of thy wound: thy plague is grieuous: all that heare the bruit of thee, ſhall clap the hands ouer thee: for vpon [g] whom hath not thy malice paſſed continually?

a It neuer ceaſeth to ſpoile and robbe.
b He ſheweth how the Caldeans ſhall haſte, and how couragious their horſes ſhalbe in beating the ground, when they come againſt the Aſſyrians.
c He compareth Nineueh to an harlot, which by her beauty and ſubtilty entiſeth young men, and bringeth them to deſtruction.
d Meaning, Alexandria, which was in a league with ſo many nations, and yet was now deſtroyed.
e Signifying that Gods iudgments ſhould ſuddenly deſtroy the Aſſyrians, as theſe vermine are with raine or change of weather.
f Thy princes and counſellers.
g Meaning, that there was no people to whom the Aſſyrians had not done hurt.

Habakkuk.

THE ARGVMENT.

THe Prophet complaineth vnto God, conſidering the great felicity of the wicked, and the miſerable oppreſſion of the godly, which endure all kind of affliction and cruelty, and yet can ſee none end. Therefore he had this reuelation ſhewed him of God, that the Caldeans ſhould come and take them away captiues, ſo that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, becauſe of their ſtubburneſſe and rebellion againſt the Lord. And leſt the godly ſhould deſpaire, ſeeing this horrible confuſion, he comforteth them by this, that God will puniſh the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie ſhall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithful to patience by his own example, and ſheweth them a forme of prayer, whereewith they ſhould comfort themſelues.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint againſt the wicked that perſecute the iuſt.

THe burden which Habakkuk the Prophet did ſee.

2 O Lord, how long ſhall I cry, and thou wilt not heare! euen cry out vnto thee [a] for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why doeſt thou ſhew me iniquity, and cauſe me to behold ſorrow? for ſpoiling, and violence are before mee: and there are that raiſe vp ſtrife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is diſſolued, and iudgement doth neuer goe forth: for the wicked [b] doeth compaſſe about the righteous: therefore [c] wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Beholde among the heathen, and regard, and wonder, and maruelle: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: [d] ye will not beleeue it, though it be told you.

6 For loe, I raiſe vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nation, which ſhall goe vpon the breadth of the land to poſſeſſe the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

a The Prophet complaineth vnto God, and bewaileth that among the Iewes is left none equitie nor brotherly loue: but in ſtead hereof reigneth crueltie, theft, contention and ſtrife.
b To ſuppreſſe him if any ſhould ſhew himſelfe zealous of Gods cauſe.
c Becauſe the iudges which ſhould redreſſe this exceſſe, are as euill as the reſt.
d As in times paſt you would not beleeue Gods word, ſo ſhall yee not now beleeue the ſtrange plagues which are at hand.

7 They

7 They are terrible and fearefull: [e] their iudgement and their dignitie shall proceed of themselues.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopard, and are more fierce then the wolues in the [*] euening, and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from far, they shall flie as the Eagle hasting to meat.

6 They come all to spoile: before their faces shall bee an [f] East winde, and they shal gather the captiuity [g] as the sand.

10 And they shall mocke the kings, and the Princes shall be a scorne vnto them: they shall deride euery strong hold: for they shall gather [h] dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they [i] take a courage, and transgresse and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their God.

12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine holy one? wee shall [k] not die: O Lord thou hast ordained them for iudgement, & O God, thou hast established them for correctiō 13 Thou art of pure eies, & canst not see euil: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore doest thou looke vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the [l] fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things that haue no ruler ouer them?

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch it in their net, and gather it in their parne, wherefore they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their [m] net, and burne incense vnto their parne, because by them their portion is fatte, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shal they therfore stretch out their net & not spare continually to slay the [n] nations?

e They themselues shalbe your Iudges in his cause, and none shal haue authority ouer them to control them. Zeph.3.3.

f For the Iewes most feared this winde, because it destroyed their fruites.

g They shal be so many in number.

h They shal cast vp mounts against it.

i The Prophet comforted the faithful that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shal abuse this victory & become proud and insolent, attributing the praise hereof to their idoles.

k He assureth the godly of Gods protectiō, shewing that the enemie can doe no more then God hath appointed, & also that their sinnes required such a sharpe rod l So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world.

m Meaning, that the enemies flatter themselues, & glory in their owne force, power, and wit.

n Meaning, that they should not.

CHAP. II.

1 A vision 5 against pride, couetousnesse, drunkennesse, and idolatrie.

1 I Will stand vpon my [a] watch, and set mee vpon the towre, and will looke, & see what he would say vnto me, and what I shall answere to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me and said, Write the vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne [b] that readeth it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the [c] last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarie, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not stay.

4 Behold, [d] he that lifteth vp himselfe, his minde is not vpright in him, but the iust shall liue by his faith.

5 Yea, indeed the proude man is as [e] hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shal he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heapeth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, & a taunting prouerbe against him, and say, Vo, hee that increaseth that which is not his? [f] how long? and he that ladeth himselfe with thicke clay.

7 Shall [g] they not rise vp suddenly, that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stirre thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall spoile thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Vo, he that coueteth an euill couetousnesse to his house, that hee may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou [h] hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

11 For the [i] stone shal cry out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shall answere it.

12 Woe vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the [k] Lord of hosts, that the people shall labour in the very fire? the people shall euen wearie themselues for very vanity.

14 For the earth shall be [l] filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Woe vnto him that giueth his neighbour [m] drinke: thou powrest thine heate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their priuities.

16 Thou art filled with shame [n] for glory: drinke thou also and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shamefull spuing shall be for thy glory.

17 For the [o] crueltie of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoile of the beastes, which make them afrayd, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the city, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What profiteth the [p] image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idoles.

19 Woe vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall teach thee: [q] beholde, it is layde a I wil renounce mine owne iudgment, and only depend on God to be instructed what shall I answere them that abuse my preaching, and to be armed against all tentations.

b Write it in great letters, that he that runneth, may reade it.

c Which conteined the destruction of the enemie, and the comfort of the Church: which thing though God execute not according to mans hasty affections, yet the issue of both is certain at his time appointed.

d To trust in himselfe or in any worldly thing, is neuer to be quiet: for the only rest is to stay vpon God by faith, Rom.1.17. gal.3.11. heb. 10.38.

e He compareth the proud and couetous man to a drunkard that is without reason and sense, whom God will punish, and make him a laughing stocke to all the world: and this he speaketh for the comfort of the godly, and against the Caldeans.

f Signifying, that al the world shal wish the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression & couetousnesse, they heape but vpon themselues more heauie burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

g That is, the Medes and Persians that should destroy the Babylonians?

h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his own house when as hee thinketh to enrich it by cruelty and oppression.

i The stones of the house shall cry, and say that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answer, and say the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God wil not deferre his vengeance long, but would come and destroy all their labors, as though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appeare thorow all the world.

m He reproacheth thus the king of Babylon: who as he was drunken with couetousnesse and crueltie, so hee prouoked others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the end brought them to shame.

n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cup with others in thy turne.

o Because the Babylonians were cruel, not only against other nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beasts therein, he sheweth that the like cruelty shall be executed against them.

p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auaile them: for they were but blockes or stones, reade Ier.10.8.

q If thou wilt consider what it is, and how that it hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it.

20 But the Lord is in his holy Temple: let all the earth keepe silence before him.

CHAP. III.

A prayer for the faithfull.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the [a] ignorances.

2 [b] O Lord, I haue heard thy voyce, and was afrayd: O Lord, reuiue thy [c] worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the yeeres make it knowen: in wrath remember mercy.

3 God commeth from [d] Teman, and the holy one from mount Paran, Selah, his glorie couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his prayse,

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: [e] hee had hornes comming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feete.

6 He stood and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolued the nations, and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, and the ancient hilles did bow: his [f] wayes are euerlasting.

7 [g] For his iniquitie I sawe the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the [h] riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was thy wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride [i] vpon thine horses & thy charets brought saluation.

9 Thy [k] bowe was manifestly reuciled, and the [l] othes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, thou [m] diddest cleaue the earth with riuers.

10 The mountaines saw thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water [n] passed by: the deepe made a noyse, and lift vp his hand on high.

11 The [o] Sunne and Moone stood still in their habitation: [p] at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy speares.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine [q] Anointed: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoueredst the foundations vnto the [r] necke, Selah.

14 Thou diddest [s] strike thorow with his owne staues the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to deuoure the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the Sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I [t] heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voice: rottennesse entred into my bones, and I trembled in my selfe, that I might rest in [u] the day of trouble: for when he commeth vp [x] vnto the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the fig tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruit bee in the vines: the labour of the Oliue shall faile, and the fieldes shall yeeld no meate: the sheepe shall bee cut off from the fold, and there shall be no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy [y] in the God of my saluation.

19 The Lord God is my strength: he will make my feet like hindes feete, and hee will make mee to walke vpon mine high places. [z] To the chiefe singer on Neginothai.

a The Prophet instructeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great sinnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

b Thus the people were afraid when they heard Gods threatnings, & praied.

c That is, the state of thy Church which is now ready to perish before it come to halfe a perfect age, which should be vnder Christ.

d Teman & Paran were neere Sinai where the Law was giuen: whereby is signified that his deliuerance was as present now as it was then.

e Wherby is meant a power that was ioyned with his brightnes, which was hid to the rest of the world, but was reueiled in mount Sinai to his people, Psal. 31.16.

f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meanes, and euer had a marueilous power when he would deliuer his Church.

g The iniquitie of this king of Syria in vexing thy people, was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iud. 3.10. and also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselues, Iudg. 7.22.

h Meaning that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this meanes hee would destroy his enemies and deliuer his Church.

i And so diddest vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies.

k That is, thy power.

l For he had not onely made a couenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posteritie.

m Reade Num. 20.11.

n He alludeth to the red sea and Iorden, which gaue passage to Gods people, and shewed signes of their obedience, as it were by lifting vp of their hands.

o As appeareth, Iosh. 10.12.

p According to thy commandement the sunne was directed by the weapons of thy people, that fought in thy cause, as though it durst not goe forward.

q Signifying, that there is no saluation, but by Christ.

r From the top to the toe thou hast destroyed the enemies.

s God destroyed his enemies both great and small with their own weapons, though they were neuer so fierce against his Church.

t He returneth to that which he spake in the second verse, and sheweth how he was afraid of Gods iudgements.

u He sheweth that the faithfull can neuer haue true rest, except they feele before the weight of Gods iudgements.

x That is, the enemie: but the godly shall be quiet, knowing that all things shall turne to good vnto them.

y He declareth wherein standeth the comfort & ioy of the faithfull, though they see neuer so great afflictions prepared.

z The chiefe singer vpon the instruments of musicke shall haue occasion to praise God for this great deliuerance of his Church.

Zephaniah.

THE ARGVMENT.

SEeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendement, he denounceth the great indgement of God which was at hand, shewing that their countrey should be vtterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

4 Threatnings against Iudah and Ierusalem, because of their idolatry.

THE word of the Lord which came vnto Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the sonne of Gedaliah, the sonne of Amariah, the sonne of Hizkiah, in the dayes of *Iosiah, the sonne of *Ammon king of Iudah.

2.Kin.22.1. 2.King.21.19.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the [a] foules of the heauen, and the fishes of the sea, and ruines shalbe to the wicked, & I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Iudah, and vpon all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the [b] Chemarims with their priests,

5 And them that worship the hoste of heauen vpon the house tops, and them that worship and sweare by the Lord, and sweare by [c] Malcham,

6 And them that are turned backe from the Lord, and those that haue not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his ghests.

8 And it shall be in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visit the princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with [d] strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visit all those that [e] daunce vpon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shalbe a noise, and cry from the [f] fish gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hilles.

11 Howle ye inhabitants of [g] the low place for the company of the marchants is destroyed: all they that beare siluer are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Ierusalem with [h] lights, and visit the men that are frozen [i] in their dregs, and say in their hearts, The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shalbe spoyled, and their houses waste: * they shall also build houses, but not inhabite them, and they shall plaint vineyardes, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 The great day of the Lord is neere: it is neere and hasteth greatly, euen the voice of the day of the Lord: [k] the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 *That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heauinesse, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscurity and darkenesse, a day of cloudes and blackenesse.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distresse vpon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they haue sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall be powred out as dust, and their flesh as the dung.

18 *Neither their siluer nor their golde shalbe able to deliuer them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the * whole land shall bee deuoured by the fire of his iealousie: for hee shal make euen a speedy riddance of all them that dwell in the land.

CHAP. II.

Hee moueth to returne to God, 5 prophecying destruction against the Philistims, Moabites, and others.

GAther [a] your selues, euen gather you, O nation not worthy to be beloued,

2 Before the decree come forth, and ye be as chaffe that passeth in a day, and before the fierce wrath of the Lord come vpon you, and before the day of the Lords anger come vpon you.

3 Seeke ye the Lord all the meeke of the earth, which haue [b] wrought his iudgement: seeke righteousnesse, seeke lowlinesse, if so be that ye may be hid in the day of the Lords wrath.

4 For [c] Azzah shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall driue out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall be rooted vp.

5 Woe vnto the inhabitants of the sea [d] coast: the nation of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistims, I will euen destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shalbe dwellings, and cottages for shepheards and sheepfolds.

7 And that coast shall bee for the [e] remnant of the house of Iudah to feede thereupon: in the house of Ashkelon shall they lodge toward night: for the Lord their God shall visit them, and turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they vpbrayded my people, and [f] magnified themselues against their borders.

d That is, Galilea: by these nations hee meaneth the people that dwell neere to the Iewes, and in stead of friendship were their enemies: therefore hee calleth them Cananites whom the Lord appointed to be slaine.

e He sheweth why God would destroy their enemies, because their country might bee a resting place for the Church.

f These nations presumed to take from the Iewes that country which the Lord had giuen them.

Haggai.

THE ARGVMENT.

VVHen the time of the seuentie yeeres captiuitie, prophesied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi to comfort the Iewes, & to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spirituall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declareth that the plague of famin, which God sent then among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they will returne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that he hath begun, and send Christ whom he had promised, and by whom they should attaine to perfect ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

IN the second yeere of King [a] Darius, in the first moneth, the first day of the moneth came the word of the Lord (by the Ministerie of the Prophet Haggai) vnto [b] Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak, the hie Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, [c] that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministery of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

4 Is it time for your selues to dwell in your [d] sieled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore, thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

6 [e] Ye haue sowen much, and bring in little, ye eat, but ye haue not enough: yee drinke, but yee are not filled: yee clothe you, but yee be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne wayes in your hearts.

8 Goe [f] vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and [g] I will be fauourable in it, and I will [h] bee glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Ye looked for much, and loe, it came to little: and when ye brought it home, I did blow [i] vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? because of mine house that is waste, and yee runne euery man to his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed it selfe from dewe, and the earth stayed her fruit.

11 And I called for a drought vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth: both vpon men and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the [k] voyce of the Lord their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai (as [l] the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp the [l] spirit of Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hosts their God.

a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis, and the third king of the Persians as some thinke.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two notable men had need to be stirred vp, and admonished of their duties, what shal we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the building the rof, but they preferred policie, and priuate profit to religion, being content with small beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessities, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.

e Consider the plagues of God vpon you for preferring your policie to his religion, and because yee seeke not him first of all.

f Meaning that they should leaue off their owne commodities, and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting forth of his religion.

g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promise, 1. King. 8. 21, 29.

h That is, my glory shall be set forth by you.

i And so bring it to nothing.

k This declared that God was the authour of the doctrine, & that he was but the minister, as Exo. 14. 31. iud 7. 20 acts 15. 28.

l Which declareth that men are vnapt & dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new spirits, Iohn 6. 44.

CHAP. II.

Her sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceed the first.

IN the foure and twentieth day of the sixt moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius,

2 In the seuenth moneth, in the one and twentieth day of the moneth, came the word of the Lord by the ministery of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that saw this [a] House in her first glory, and how do you see it now? is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it, as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest: and bee strong all yee people of the land, saith the Lord, and [b] doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hosts.

6 According to the word that I couenanted with you, when yee came out of Egypt: so my spirit shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, [c] Yet a little while, and I will shake the heauens, and the earth, and the sea, and the dry land:

a For the people according as Isa. 32. 11. and Eze. 41. 1. had prophesied, thought this Temple should haue bin more excellent then Salomons Temple, which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the Spirituall Temple the church of Christ.

b That is, goe forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorteth them to patience, though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

8 And

8 And I will moue all nations, and [d] the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The [e] siluer is mine, & the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hosts.

10 The glory of this last house shall bee greater then the first, saith the Lord of hosts: and in this place will I giue [f] peace, saith the Lord of hosts.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Haggai, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, aske now the priests concerning the Law, and say, 13 If one beare [g] holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered, and said, No.

14 Then said Haggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, and said, It shall be vncleane.

15 Then answered Haggai, and said, So is this people, & so is this nation before mee, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here is vncleane.

16 And now I pray you, consider in your minds: from this [h] day, and afore, euen afore a stone was laid vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 [i] Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but tenne: when one came to the wine presse for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to mee, saith the Lord.

19 Consider I pray you, in your mindes, from [k] this day, and afore from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, euen from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the [l] seede yet in the barne? as yet the vine, and the fig tree, and the pomegranate, and the oliue tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I blesse you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying, 22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I [m] will shake the heauens and the earth.

23 And I will ouerthrow the throne of kingdomes, and I will destroy the strength of the [n] kingdomes of the heathen, and I will ouerthrow the charets, and those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shall come downe, euery one by the sword of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, will I take thee, O Zerubbabel my seruant the sonne of Shealtiel, sayth the Lord, and will make thee as a [o] signet: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord of hosts.

d Meaning Christ, whome all ought to look for and desire, or by desire, he may signifie all precious things, as riches and such like.

e Therfore when his time commeth, hee can make al the treasures of ỹ world to serue his purpose: but ỹ glory of the second Temple doth not stand in materiall things, neither can be built.

f Meaning, all spirituall blessings and felicity purchased by Christ, Phil. 4.7.

g That is, the flesh of the sacrifices: whereby he signifieth that that thing, which of it self is good, cannot make an other thing so: and therefore they ought not to iustifie themselues by their sacrifices and ceremonies: but contrary, he that is vncleane and not pure of heart, doth corrupt those things, and make them detestable vnto God, which els are good and godly.

h Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple.

i That is, before the building was begun.

k From the time they began to build the Temple, he promiseth that God would blesse them: and albeit as yet the fruite was not come forth, yet in the gathering they should haue plentie.

l He exhorteth them to patience and to abide till the harueste came, and then they should see Gods blessings.

m I will make a change, and renew all things in Christ, of whom Zerubbabel here is a figure.

n Hereby hee sheweth that there shalbe no let or hinderance when God will make this wonderfull restitution of his Church.

o Signifying, that his dignity should be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

Zechariah.

THE ARGVMENT.

TWo moneths after that Haggai had begun to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore he putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vnfainedly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithfull should haue from death and sinne, by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickednesse and coldnesse to set foorth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, hee rebuketh them most sharpely: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he euer mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receiue Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, and to eschew the wickednesse of their fathers. 16 Hee signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the second yeere of [a] Darius came the word of the Lord vnto [b] Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hath beene [c] sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, [d] Turne yee vnto me, sayeth the Lorde of hostes, and I will turne vnto you, sayeth the Lord of hostes.

4 Be yee not as your fathers, vnto whom a Who was the sonne of Hystaspis.

b This was not that Zechariah, whereof is mention, 2. Chr. 24.20. but had the same name, and is called the sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitors, as of Ioiada or Berechia and Iddo c He speaketh this to feare them with Gods iudgements, that they should not prouoke him, as their fathers had done, whom he so grieuously punished.

d Let your fruites declare that you are Gods people, and that he hath wrought in you by his Spirit, and mortified you: for els man hath no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ierem. 31.18. Lamentat. 5.21. Isaiah 21. 8. and 31.6. and 45.21.

the Ierem. 3.12. ezek. 18. 30. hose 14. 2. ioel. 2.12.

the * former Prophets haue cryed, saying, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, Turne you you nowe from your euill wayes, and from your wicked workes: but they would not heare nor hearken vnto mee, sayth the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where e are they? and do the Prophets liue for euer?

6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commaunded by my seruants the Prophets, take holde of f your fathers? And g they returned, and said, As the Lord of hostes hath determined to doe vnto vs according vnto our own wayes, and according to our workes, so hath hee dealt with vs.

7 Vpon the foure and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth h Shebat, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I i saw by night, and beholde, k a man riding vpon a red horse, and he stood among the myrrhe trees that were in a bottome, and behinde him were there l red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lorde, What are these? And the Angel that talked with mee, sayd vnto mee, I will shew thee what these bee.

10 And the man that stood among the myrrhe trees answered, and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

11 And they answerd the Angel of the Lorde, that stood among the myrrhe trees, and sayd, We haue gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world sitteth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the m Angel of the Lord answered, and sayd, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmercifull to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whom thou hast been displeased now these threescore and ten yeeres?

13 And the Lord answerd the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes, and comfortable wordes.

14 So the Angel that commuued with mee, sayd vnto mee, Crie thou, and speake, Thus sayeth the Lord of hostes, I am n ielous ouer Ierusalem and Zion with a great zeale, 15 And am greatly angry against the careleste heathen: for I was angry but o a little, and they helped forward the affliction.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie: mine house shall bee builded in it, sayth the Lord of hostes, and a line p shall be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

17 Crie yet, and speake, Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, My cities shall yet q bee broken with plenty: the Lord shall yet comfort Zion, and shall yet chuse Ierusalem.

18 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and sawe, and behold, r foure hornes.

19 And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And hee answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel and Ierusalem.

20 And the Lord shewed me foure s carpenters.

21 Then sayd I, What come these to do? And hee answered and sayd, These are the hornes, which haue scattered Iudah so, that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fray them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah to scatter it.

e Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing them ought still to be before your eyes: and though the prophets be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2. Pet. 1. 15.

f Seeing ye sawe the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why doe not ye feare the threatnings contained in the same, and declared by my Prophets?

g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance.

h Which conteineth part of Ianuary and part of February.

i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church, but as yet it should not appeare to mans eyes, which is here meant by the night, by the bottome, and by the myrrhe trees, which are blacke and giue a darke shadow: yet he compareth God to a King, who hath his postes and messengers abroad, by whom hee still worketh his purpose, and bringeth his matters to passe.

k Who was the chiefe among the rest of the horsmen.

l These signified the diuers offices of Gods Angels, by whom God sometime punisheth and sometime comforteth, and bringeth forth his works in diuers sorts.

m That is, Christ the Mediatour prayed for the saluation of his Church, which was now troubled, when all the countreys about them were at rest.

n Though for a time God deferre his helpe and comfort from his Church, yet this declared that hee loueth them still most dearely, as a most mercifull Father his children, or an husband his wife, and when it is expedient for them, his helpe is euer ready.

o In destroying the reprobate, I shewed my selfe but a little angry toward my Church, but the enemy would haue destroyed them also, and considered not the end of my chastisements.

p To measure out the buildings.

q The abundance shall be so great, that the places of store shall not be able to containe these blessings, that God will send, but shall euen breake for fulnesse.

r Which signified all the enemies of the Church, East, West, North, South.

s These carpenters or smiths are Gods instruments, which with their mallets and hammers breake these hard and strong hornes, which would ouerthrow the Church, and declare that none enemies horne is so strong, but God hath an hammer to breake it in pieces.

CHAP. II.

The restoring of Ierusalem and Iudah.

I Lift vp mine eyes againe and looked, and behold, a a man with a measuring line in his hand.

2 Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said vnto mee, To measure Ierusalem, that I may see what is the breath thereof, and what is the length thereof.

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with mee, went forth: and another Angel went out to meete him,

4 And sayd vnto him, Runne, speake to this b yong man, and say, c Ierusalem shal be inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therin.

5 For I sayth the Lord, will be vnto her a wall of d fire round about, and will e be the glory in the mids of her.

6 Ho, ho, f come foorth, and flee from the land of the North, sayth the Lord: for I haue scattered you into the foure g windes of the heauen, saith the Lord.

7 Saue h thy selfe, O Zion, that dwellest with the daughter of Babel.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, After this i glory hath he sent me vnto the nations, which spoyled you: for hee that toucheth a That is, the Angel, who was Christ: for in respect of his office he is oft times called an Angel, but in respect of his eternall essence is God, & so called.

b Meaning, himselfe Zechariah.

c Signifying, the spirituall Ierusalem and Church vnder Christ, which should be extended by the Gospel thorow all the world, & should need no materiall walles, nor trust in any worldly strength but should bee safely preserued, & dwell in peace among all their enemies.

d To defend my Church, to feare the enemies, and to destroy them if they approch neere.

e In me they shall haue their full felicitie and glory.

f He calleth to them, which partly for feare, and partly for their owne ease remained still in captiuitie, and so preferre their owne priuate commodities to the benefits of God promised in his Church.

g As it was I that scattered you, so naue I power to restore you.

h By fleeing from Babylon, and comming to the Church.

i Seeing that God hath begun to shew his grace among you by deliuering you, he continueth the same still toward you, and therefore sendeth me his Angel and his Christ to defend you from your enemies, that they shall not hurt you, neither by the way, nor at home.

k Yeare so deare vnto God, that he can no more suffer your enemies to hurt you, then a man can abide to be thrust in the eye, Psal.17.8.

you, toucheth the k apple of his eye.

9 For beholde, I will lift vp mine hand l vpon them: and they m shall bee a spoyle to those that serued them, and yee shall knowe that the Lord of hosts hath n sent me.

10 Reioyce, and bee glad, O daughter Zion: for loe, I come, and will dwell in the mids of thee, sayth the Lord.

11 And many nations shall bee ioyned to the Lord in that day, and shall be my people: and I will dwell in the mids of thee, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto thee.

12 And the Lord shall inherite Iudah his portion in the holy Land, and shall chuse Ierusalem againe.

13 Let all flesh be still before the Lord: for he is raised vp out of his holy place.

l Vpon the heathen your enemies.

m They shall be your seruants, as you haue been theirs.

n This must necessarily be vnderstood of Christ, who being God equall with his Father was sent as hee was Mediatour to dwell in his Church, and to gouerne them.

CHAP. III.

A propheſie of Chriſt, and of his Kingdome.

AND hee shewed mee Iehoshua the high Priest, a standing before the Angel of the Lord, and b Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.

a He prayed to Christ the Mediator for the state of the Church.

b Which declareth that the faithfull haue not onely warre with flesh and blood, but with Satan himselfe and spirituall wickednesses, Ephes.6.12.

2 And the c Lord sayd vnto Satan, The Lord rebuke thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, rebuke thee. Is not this a d brand taken out of the fire?

c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here hee shewed himselfe to be the continuall preseruer of his Church.

3 Now Iehoshua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.

4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stoode before him, saying, Take away the e filthy garments from him. And vnto him he sayd, Behold, I haue f caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, & I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

n Meaning, that Iehoshua was wonderfully preserued in the captiuity, and now Satan sought to afflict and trouble him, when he was doing his office.

5 And I sayd, Let them g set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.

6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

7 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also h iudge mine house, and shalt also keepe my i courts, and I will giue thee place among k these that stand by.

e In respect of the glorious garments, and precious stones that the Priestes did weare before the captiuity: & by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings should bee made excellent when Christ shal make the full restitution of his Church.

f He sheweth of what apparel he speaketh, which is, whē our filthy sinnes are taken away, & we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution.

g The Prophet prayeth that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue tire for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignity of the Priesthood might be perfect, and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obtaineth it.

h That is, haue rule and gouernment in my Church, as thy predecessors haue had.

i Whereby he meaneth, to haue the whole charge and ministery of the Church.

8 Heare now, O Iehoshua the high Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they l are monstrous persons: but behold, I will bring forth the m Branch my seruant.

k That is, the Angels, who represented the whole number of the faithfull: signifying, that all the godly should willingly receiue him.

l Because they folow my word, they are contemned in the world and esteemed as monsters, Isa.8.18.

9 For loe, the n stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes: behold, I will cut out the o grauing thereof, saith the Lord of hostes, and I will take away the p iniquitie of this land in one day.

10 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall yee call euery man his neighbour vnder the q vine, and vnder the figge tree.

m That is, Christ, who did so humble himselfe, that not onely he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they should haue comfort, although in the world they were contemned, Isa.11.1. ier.23.5. and 33.14.15.

n Hee sheweth that the ministers cannot builde, before God lay the first stone, which is Christ, who is full of eyes, both because hee giueth light vnto all others, and that all ought to seeke light at him, Cha.4.10.

o That is, I will make it perfect in all points, as a thing wrought by the hand of God.

p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, and visit their sinnes no more.

q Yee shall then liue in peace and quietnesse, that is, in the Kingdome of Christ, Isa.2.2. micah.4.4. hag.2.10.

CHAP. IIII.

The viſion of the golden Candleſticke, and the expoſition thereof.

AND the Angell that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe,

2 And sayd vnto mee, What seest thou? and I sayd, I haue looked, and beholde, a a candlestick all gold of with a bowle vpon the top of it, and his seuen lampes therein, and seuen b pipes to the lampes which were vpon the top thereof.

a Which was euer in the mids of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirit should shine there in most abundance, and in all perfection.

b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull that God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and to bring his promise to passe, though he had no helpe of man.

3 And two olive trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.

4 So I answered and spake to the Angell that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, answered and said vnto mee. Knowest thou not what these bee? And I sayd, No, my Lord.

6 Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the word of the Lord vnto c Zerubbabel, saying, Neither by d an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

7 Who art thou, O e great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt bee a plaine, and f hee shall bring foorth the head stone c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members.

d Hee sheweth that Gods power only is sufficient to preserue his Church, though he vse not mans help thereunto.

e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daily labour to let in the building of the Spirituall Temple, but all in vaine.

f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that hee would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.

thereof,

thereof with shoutings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

g Meaning, the Prophet, that I am Christ, sent of my Father for the building and preseruation of my spirituall Temple.

8 Moreouer, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The handes of Zerubbabel haue layed the foundation of his house: his hands shall also finish it, and [g] thou shalt know that the Lord of hosts hath sent me vnto you.

h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.

10 For who hath despised the day of the [h] small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of [i] tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: [k] these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

i Whereby he signifieth the plummet & line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should go forward with his building to the ioy and comfort of the godly though ỹ world be against him, and though his for a whle be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, [l] What are these two Oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreouer, and sayd vnto him, What bee these two Olive branches, which thorow the two golden pipes emptie themselues into the gold?

13 And he answered me, and said, Knowest thou not what these bee? And I said, No my Lord.

14 Then said he, These are the two [l] Olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning a continual prouidence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can goe about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9.

l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that still they powred forth oyle into the lampes: Signifying, that God will continually maintaine & preserue his Church, and endue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theeues, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

a Because the Iewes had prouoked Gods plagues by contemning his word, and casting off all iudgement and equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had iustly light both on them & their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

THen I turned mee, and lifted vp mine eyes, and looked, and behold, a [a] flying booke.

2 And he sayd vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying [a] booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

b That is, vseth any iniurie toward his neighbour.

3 Then said hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for euery one that [b] stealeth, shall bee cut off, aswell on this [c] side, as on that: and euery one that [d] sweareth, shall be cut off, aswell on this side, as on that.

c Meaning, whereseoeuer he bee in the world.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thiefe, and into the house of him that falsly sweareth by my Name: and it shall remaine in the mids of his house and shal consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

d He that transgresseth the first Table, and serueth not God aright, but abuseth Gods name.

5 Then the Angel that talked with me, went forth and said vnto mee, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth

6 And I said, What is it? And he said, This is an [e] Ephah that goeth forth. Hee said moreouer, This is the [f] sight of them, throughout all the earth.

e Which is a measure in dry things, conteining about ten pottels.

f That is, all the wickednesse of the vngodly is in Gods sight, which he keepeth in a measure, and can shut it, or open it at his pleasure.

7 And behold, there was lift vp a [g] talent of leade: and this is a [h] woman that sitteth in the mids of the Ephah.

g To couer the measure.

8 And he said, This is [i] wickednesse, and hee cast it into the mids of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and behold, there came out two [k] women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a storke) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

i Signifying that Satan should not haue such power against the Iewes to tempt them, as he had in time past, but that God would shut vp iniquitie in a measure as in a prison.

10 Then said I to the Angel that talked with mee, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And he said vnto me, [l] To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall bee established and set there vpon her owne place.

k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the meanes of weake and infirme meanes.

l To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the same from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

CHAP. VI.

By the foure charets hee describeth the foure Monarchies.

a By charets here, as by horses afore, he meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.

AGaine, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: & behold, there came foure [a] charets out from betweene [b] two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountains of brasse.

b By the brasen mountaines he meaneth the eternall counsell and prouidence of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter.

2 In the first charet were [c] red horses, and in the second charet [d] blacke horses,

3 And in the third charet [e] white horses, and in the fourth charet horses of [f] diuers colours, and reddish.

c Which signified the great crueltie and persecutions that the Church had endured vnder diuers enemies.

4 Then I answered, and said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered and said vnto mee, These are the [g] foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the [h] South country,

7 And the [i] reddish went out, and required to goe and passe thorow the world. And he said, Goe passe thorow the world. So they went thorowout the world.

8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto me, saying, Behold, these that goe toward d Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians.

e These represented their state vnder the Persians, which restored them to libertie.

f Which signified that God would sometime giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as he did in destroying Nimuth and Babylon, and other their enemies.

g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods Spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsell he causeth to appeare through all the world.

h That is, toward [illegible] and other countreys thereabout.

i That is, they of diuers which ask leaue, to signifie that Sathan hath no power to afflict, till God giue it him, Iob. 1. 12.

x By punishing the Caldeans, mine anger ceased, & you were deliuered.

the North countrey, haue pacified my [k] spirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captiuitie, euen of Heldai, and of Tobiiah, and Iedaiah, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go vnto the house [l] of Iosiah, the sonne of Zephaniah.

11 Take euen siluer and gold, and make crownes, and set them vpon the [m] head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, 12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and saith, Behold the man whose name is the [n] Branch, and hee shall grow [o] vp out of his place, and he shall [p] build the Temple of the Lord.

13 Euen he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the [q] glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and he shall bee a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shalbe betweene [r] them both.

14 And the crownes shall bee to [s] Helem, and to Tobiiah, and to Iedaiah, & to [t] Hen the sonne of Zephaniah, for a [u] memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are [x] farre off, shal come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and yee shall knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent mee vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if yee will [y] obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

l To receiue of him and the other three, money to make the two crownes: which were men of great authoritie among the Iewes, and doubted of the restitution of the Kingdome and of the Priesthood, and hurt others by their example.

m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law, therefore it followeth that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning, Christ, of whom Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greek they were both called Iesus.

o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man. p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, whereof Haggai speaketh, but onely Christ: and therefore it was spirituall, and not materiall, Haggai 2. 10. q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow. r The two offices of the Kingdome and Priesthood shall be so ioyned together, that they shall be no more disseuered. s Who was also called Heldai. t He was also called Iosiah. u That they may acknowledge their infirmitie, which looked that all things should haue bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, Actes 1.6. x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospell shall helpe toward the building of this spirituall Temple. y If ye will beleeue and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people is the cause of their affliction.

a Which conteined part of Nouember and part of December.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to [y] Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, because these fasts were consented vpon by the agreement of the whole Church, in the moneth that the Temple was destroied, & the other iah was slaine. Iere. 41.2. c By weeping and mourhat exercises they vsed in their fasting. d That is, rh all deuotion to this fast. e Which was now le was destroyed.

AND in the fourth yeere of King Darius, the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah in the fourth day of the ninth moneth, euen in [a] Chisleu,

2 For [b] they had sent vnto the house of God, Sharezer, and Regem-melech, and their man to pray before the Lord,

3 And to speake vnto the Priests, which were in the house of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophets, saying, Should I [c] weepe in the fift moneth, and [d] separate my selfe as I haue done these so many [e] yeeres?

4 Then came the word of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the [f] Priests and say, When ye fasted and mourned in the fift & seuenth moneth, euen these seuenty yeres, did ye fast vnto me? s doe I approoue it?

6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did yee not eate [h] for your selues, and drinke for your selues?

7 Should ye not heare the wordes which the Lord [i] hath cried by the ministerie of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hosts, saying, [k] Execute true iudgement, and shew mercy and compassion, euery man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger, nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and [l] pulled away the shoulder, & stopped their eares that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an Adamant stone, lest they should heare the law and the words which the Lord of hostes sent in his [m] Spirit by the ministery of the former Prophets: therfore came a great wrath from the Lord of hosts.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cried, and they would not heare, so they cryed, and I would not heare, saith the Lord of hosts.

14 But I scattered them among all the nations, whom they knew not: thus the land was desolate [n] after them, that no man passed thorow nor returned: for they layd the pleasant land [o] waste.

f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this controuersie, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserued toward God, because of this fast which they inuented of themselues: & though fasting of it selfe bee good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is here reprooued.

h Did you not eate and drinke for your owne commoditie and necessitie? and so likewise ye did abstaine according to your own fantasies, & not after the prescript of my law.

i Hereby he condemneth their hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, & by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not serue him as he had commanded. k Hee sheweth that they did not fast with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because that they lacked these offices of charitie, which should haue declared [y] they were godly, Mat. 23.23. l And would not cary the Lords burthen, which was sweet and easie: but would beare their own, which was heauy and greiuous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which shrinke at the yoke, Nehem. 9.29. m Which declareth that they rebelled not onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them. n That is, after they were caried captiue. o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger.

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good works. 20 The calling of the Gentiles.

AGaine the word of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I was [a] iealous for Zion with great iealousie, and I was iealous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the middes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a [b] citie of trueth, and the mountaine of the Lord a I loued my city with a singular loue, so that I could not abide [y] any should doe her any iniurie.

b Because she shalbe faithfull & loyall toward me her husband

Lord of hostes, the holy mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, There shall yet c olde men and old women dwell in the streetes of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streets of the citie shall be full of boyes and girles playing in the streetes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Though it be b impossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be impossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall c dwell in the mids of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will bee their God in trueth and in righteousnesse.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes: Let your f hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these wordes by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was layd, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for a man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now I will not intreate the residue of this people as aforetime, saieth the Lord of hosts.

12 For the seede shall bee prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruite, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the heauens shall giue their dewe, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as yee were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and ye shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish b you, when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes i to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shal doe. Speake yee euery man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truely and vprightly in your gates, 17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oath: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lorde of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fift, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the k tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous hie feasts: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shall yet come l people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shall goe to another, saying, * Up, let vs goe and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 Yea, great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, in those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take hold of the skirt of him that is a Iew, and say, Wee will goe with you: for wee haue heard that God is with you.

c Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and so preserue them so long as nature would suffer them to liue, and increase their children in great abundance.

d Hee sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleeue that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme neuer so vnpossible to man, Gen. 18.14. Rom. 4.20.

e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperity shall bee sure and stable.

f Let neither respect of your priuate commodities, neither counsell of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets which incourage you thereunto.

g For God cursed your worke, so that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours.

h Reade Ezek. 18.20.

i Which declareth that man cannot turne to God till hee change mans heart by his Spirit and so begin to do well, which is to pardon his sinnes, and to giue him his graces.

k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, & was the first fast of these foure: and here the Prophet sheweth that if the Iewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of heauinesse: for God wil send them ioy and gladnesse.

l He declareth the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ. Isa. 2.2. micah. 4.1.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatning of the Gentiles. 9 The comming of Christ.

THe burden of the word of the Lorde in the land of a Hadrach: and Damascus shall bee his b rest: when the c eyes of man euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border d thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be e very wise.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, and gold as the mire of the streetes.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and hee will smite her f power in the Sea, and she shall bee deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Azzah also shall be very sorowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be ashamed, and the king shall perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the g stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistims.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betweene his b teeth: but hee that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and hee shall bee as a prince in Iudah, but i Ekron shall bee as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about k mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, a Weereby hee meaneth Syria.

b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe city, and not spare so much as that.

c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

d That is, by Damascus meaning that Hamath or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague.

e He secretly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft and subtilitie, which they cloked with this name of Wisedome.

f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselues inuincible by reason of the Sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements.

g Meaning, that all should be destroyed sauc a very few, that should remaine as strangers.

h Hee promiseth to deliuer the Iewes when hee shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them.

i As the Iebusites had been destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistims.

k He sheweth that Gods power onely shall be sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaties, be they neuer so cruell, or assemble their power neuer so often.

and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now l haue I seene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold, thy King commeth vnto thee: m he is iust, and saued himselfe, poore, and riding vpon an n asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the o charets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall be broken, and hee shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall bee from p sea vnto sea, and from the q riuer to the ende of the land.

11 r Thou also shalt bee saued through the blood of thy Couenant, I haue loosed thy s prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the r strong holde, yee u prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will render the x double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I y bent as a bow for mee: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raysed vp thy sonnes, O Zion, against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sword.

14 And the Lord shalbe seene ouer them, and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shal blow the trumpet, & shal come forth with the whirlewinds of the South.

15 The Lord of hosts shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, z and subdue them with sling stones, and they shal drinke, and make a noyse as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowles, and as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall bee as the a stones of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! corne shall make the yong men cheerefull, and new wine the maides.

l That is, God hath now seene the great iniuries and afflictions wherewith they haue been afflicted by their enemies.

m That is, hee hath righteousnesse and saluation in himselfe for the vse and commodity of his Church, n Which declareth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of Christ, as Mat. 21. 5.

o No power of man or creature shalbe able to let this kingdom of Christ, and he shall peceably gouerne them by his word.

p That is, from the red sea to the sea called Syriacum, and by these places which the Iewes knew he meant an infinite space and compasse ouer the whole worlde.

q That is, from Euphrates. r Meaning, Ierusalem, or the Church which is saued by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church and left it with them, for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he wil deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great. t That is, into the holy land, where the city & the Temple are, where God will defend you. u Meaning, the faithful, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euery side, and yet lined in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefites and prosperity in respect of that, which your fathers enioyed from Dauids time to the captiuity. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he heare meaneth by the Grecians. z He promiseth, that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and excesse of all thinges, as there is abundance on the altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to mooue them to intemperancie, but to sobrietie, and a thankefull remembrance of Gods great liberalitie. a The faithfull shall be preserued, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them, as Iosephus declareth of Alexander the great, when he met Iadi the high Priest.

CHAP. X.

2 The vanity of idolatry. 3 The Lord promiseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

Aske you of the a Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shal the Lord make white clouds, and giue you shoures of raine, and to euery one grasse in the field.

2 Surely the b idoles haue spoken vanity, and the soothsayers haue seene a lie, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing, they comfort in vaine: therefore c they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepherd.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepheards, and I did visite the d goats: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as e his beautifull horse in the battell.

4 Out f of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bow of battel, and out of him euery g appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall bee as the mighty men, which tread downe their enemies in the mire of the streetes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders and horses shalbe confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preserue the house h of Ioseph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pity them, and they shall be as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will heare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall be as a gyant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and bee glad: & their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I wil i hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I will k sowe them among the people, and they shall remember me in farre countreyes: and they shall liue with their children, and l turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Assyria: and I will bring them into the land of Gilead and Lebanon, and place shall not be found for them.

11 And he m shall goe into the Sea with affliction, and shall smite the waues in the sea, & all the depths of the riuer shall dry vp: and the pride of Assyria shalbe cast down, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

a The Prophet reproueth the Iewes, because by their owne infidelity they put backe Gods graces promised, and so famine came by Gods iust iudgement: therefore to auoide this plague, he willeth them to turne to God, and to pray in faith to him, and so he will giue them bundance.

b He calleth to remembrance Gods punishments in times past, because they trusted not in him, but in their idols & forcerers, who euer deceiued them.

c That is, the Iewes went into captiuity.

d Meaning, the cruell gouernors which did oppresse the poore (here ere, Ezek. 34 16. 17.

e He will be mercifull to his Church, & cherish them as a King or Prince doeth his best horse which shal be for his owne vse in the warre.

f Out of Iudah shall the chiefe gouernour proceede, who shall be as a corner to vphold the building and as a naile to fasten it together.

g Ouer their enemies.

h That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church.

i Whereby he declareth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when he wil deliuer his: for with a becke or hisse he can call thē frō all places suddenly.

k Though they shall yet be scattered, and seeme to be lost, yet it shall be profitable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name, which was accomplished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached.

l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but be gathered & ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel.

m He alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithfull is committed to Christ. 7 A grieuous vision against Ierusalem and Iudah.

OPen thy doores, O [a] Lebanon, and the fire shall deuoure thy cedars.

2 Howle [b] firre trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all [c] the mightie are destroyed: howle ye, O okes of Bashan, for the [c] defenced forrest is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepheards: for their [d] glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lions whelps: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the [e] slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them, [f] and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, [g] Blessed bee the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely, I wil no more spare those that dwell in the land, sayeth the Lord: but lo, [h] I will deliuer the men euery one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his [i] king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the [k] poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto me [l] two staues: the one I called Beautie, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 [m] Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed [n] them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feed you: that that dieth, let it die: and that that perisheth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, euery one of the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, enen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanull my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the [o] poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me [p] my wages: and if no, leaue off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pieces of siluer.

13 And the Lord said vnto mee, Cast it vnto the [q] potter: as goodly price that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pieces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bands, that I might dissolue the brotherhood between Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto mee, Take to thee yet [r] the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambes, nor heale that which is hurt, nor feede that that [s] standeth vp: but he shall eat the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in pieces.

a Because the Iewes thought themselues so strong by reason of this mountain, that no enemie could come to hurt them, the Prophet sheweth that when God sendeth the enemies, it shal shew it selfe ready to receiue them.

b Shewing, that if the strong men were destroyed, the weaker were not able to resist.

c Seeing that Lebanon was destroyed, which was the strongest munition, the weaker places could not thinke to hold out.

d That is, the renoume of Iudah and Israel should perish.

e Which being now destinate to be slaine, were deliuered as out of the Lions mouth.

f Their gouernours destroy them without any remorse of conscience, or yet thinking that they doe euill.

g He noteth the hypocrites which euer haue the Name of God in their mouthes, though in their life & doings they deny God, attributing their gaine to Gods blessing, which commeth of the spoile of their brethren.

h I will cause one to destroy another.

i Their gouernours shall execute cruelty ouer them.

k That is, the small remnant, whom he thought worthy to shew mercy vnto.

l God sheweth his great benefits toward his people, to conuince them of greater ingratitude, which would neither be ruled by his most beautiful order of gouernment, neither continue in the bands of brotherly vnitie, and therfore he breaketh both the one and the other. Some reade for Bands, Destroyers, but in the 14. verse the first reading is confirmed.

m Whereby hee sheweth his care and diligence, that hee would suffer them to haue no euil rulers, because they should consider his great loue.

n Meaning the people, because they would not acknowledge these great benefits of God.

o He sheweth that the least part euer profit by Gods iudgements.

p Besides their ingratitude, God accuseth them of malice and wickednesse, which did not onely forget his benefits, but esteemed them as things of nought.

q Shewing that it was too little to pay his wages, which could scarcely suffice to make a few tiles for to couer the Temple.

r Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shew of gouernment: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should bewolues and deuouring beasts in stead of shepheards.

s And is in health and sound.

t By the arme he signifieth strength, and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both the strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

THe burden of the word of the Lord vpon [a] Israel, sayth the Lord, which spread the heauens, and laid the foundation of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a [b] cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he bee in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp shall be torne, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day sayeth the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and wil smite euery horse of the people with blindnesse.

5 And the princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The [c] inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hosts their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall deuoure all the people round about on the right hand and on the left: and Ierusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserue the [d] tents of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shal not boast, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and he that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shalbe as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of a That is, the ten tribes which neglected Gods benefit in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home when God called them.

b Ierusalem shal be defended against al her enemies so shal God defend all Iudah also, and shal destroy [f] enemies.

c Euery captaine that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shalbe sufficient to defend them against all enemies; because the Lord is among them.

d The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shalbe no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their kings. (which is meant by the house of Dauid) or in their defenced cities.

Dauid, and vpon the inhabitants of Ieruſalem the Spirit of e grace and of compaſſion, and they ſhall looke vpon me, whom they haue f pierced, and they ſhall lament for g him, as one mourneth o his onely ſonne, and be ſory for him as one is ſory for his firſt borne.

11 In that day ſhall there bee a great mourning in Ieruſalem, as the h mourning of i Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the k land ſhall bewaile euery familie l apart, the family of the m houſe of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the houſe of Nathan apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the houſe of Leui apart, and their wiues apart: the family of n Shemei apart, and their wiues apart.

14 All the families that o remaine, euery familie apart, and their wiues apart.

e They ſhal haue the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I haue compaſſion on them.

f That is, whom they haue continually vexed with their obſtinacy, & grieued my ſpirit, Ioh. 19. 37. whereit is referred to Chriſts body, which here is referred to the Spirit of God.

g They ſhall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had ſo grieuouſly offended by their ingratitude.

h They ſhal lament and repent exceedingly for their offences againſt God.

i Which was the name of a towne and place neere to Megiddo, where Ioſiah was ſlaine, 2. Chron. 35. 22.

k That is, in al places where the Iewes ſhall remaine.

l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance ſhould not be a vaine ceremonie: but euery one touched with his owne griefe ſhall lament.

m Vnder theſe certaine families hee containeth all the tribes, and ſheweth that both the Kings and the Prieſts had by their ſins pierced Chriſt.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie. 3 The zeale of the godly againſt falſe prophets.

1 IN that day there a ſhal be a fountaine opened to the houſe of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, for ſinne and for vncleannelle.

2 And in that day, ſayeth the Lord of hoſts, I will cut off the b names of the idoles out of the land: and they ſhall no more be remembred: and I will cauſe the c prophets, and the vncleane ſpirit to depart out of the land.

3 And when any ſhall d yet propheſie, his father and his mother that begate him ſhall ſay vnto him, Thou ſhalt not liue: for thou ſpeakeſt lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, e ſhall thruſt him through, when hee propheſieth.

4 And in that day ſhall the prophets f be aſhamed euery one of his viſion, when hee hath propheſied: neither ſhall they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he ſhall ſay, I am no g Prophet: I am an huſbandman: for man taught mee to be an herdman from my youth vp

6 And one ſhall ſay vnto him, What are theſe h wounds in thine hands? Then hee ſhall anſwere, Thus was I wounded in the houſe of my friends.

7 ¶ Ariſe, O ſword, vpon my i ſhepheard, and vpon the man that is my fellow, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes: ſmite the shepheard, and the ſheepe ſhall bee ſcattered, and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, ſayeth the Lord, k two parts therein ſhall be cut off, and die: but the third ſhall be left therein.

9 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and will fine them as the ſiluer is fined, and will try them as gold is tryed: they ſhall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will ſay, It is my people, and they ſhall ſay, The Lord is my God.

a He ſheweth what ſhalbe the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remiſſion of ſinnes by the blood of Chriſt, which ſhall be a continuall running fountaine, and purge them from al vncleanneſſe.

b He promiſeth that God wil alſo purge them from all ſuperſtition, and that their religion ſhalbe pure.

c Meaning, the falſe prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane ſpirits.

d That is, when they ſhall propheſie lies, and make God, which is the authour of trueth, a cloke thereunto.

e He ſheweth what zeale the godly ſhal haue vnder the kingdome of Chriſt, Deut. 13. 6, 9.

f God ſhall make them aſhamed of their errors & lies, and bring them to repentance, and they ſhall no more weare Prophets apparrel, to make their doctrine ſeeme more holy.

g They ſhal confeſſe their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

h Hereby he ſheweth that though their parents and friends dealt more greatly with them, & put them not to death, yet they would ſo puniſh their children that became falſe prophets, that the markes and ſignes ſhould remaine for euer.

i The Prophet warneth the Iewes, that before this great comfort ſhall come vnder Chriſt, there ſhould bee an horrible diſſipation among the people: for their gouernours and paſtours ſhould be deſtroyed, and the people ſhould be as ſcattered ſheepe: and the Euangeliſt applyeth this to Chriſt, becauſe hee was the head of all paſtors, Mat. 26. 31.

k The greateſt part ſhal haue no portion of theſe bleſſings, & yet they that ſhal enioy them, ſhal be tried with great afflictions, ſo that it ſhalbe knowen that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preſerue them.

CHAP. XIIII.

8 Of the doctrine that ſhall proceede out of the Church, and of the reſtauration thereof

BEhold, the day of the Lord commeth, and thy ſpoile ſhall bee a diuided in the mids of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations againſt Ieruſalem to battell: and the citie ſhal be taken, and the houſes ſpoyled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie ſhall goe into captiuitie, and the reſidue of the people ſhal not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then ſhall the Lord goe forth & fight againſt thoſe nations, as when hee b fought in the day of battel.

4 And his feete ſhall ſtand in that day vpon the c mount of oliues, which is before Ieruſalem on the Eaſt ſide, and the mount of oliues ſhall cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the Eaſt and toward the Weſt there ſhall bee a very great d valley, and halfe of the mountaine ſhall remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And yee ſhall flee vnto the e valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines ſhall reach vnto Azal: yea, ye ſhal flee like as yee fled from the f earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord my g God ſhall come, and all the ſaints with thee.

6 And in that day ſhal there be no cleare light, but darke.

a He armeth the godly againſt the great tentations that ſhould come before they enioyed this proſperous eſtate promiſed vnder Chriſt, that whē theſe dangers ſhould come, they might know that they were warned of them before.

b As your fathers and you haue had experience both at the red ſea and at all other times.

c By this maner of ſpeach the Prophet ſheweth Gods power and care ouer his Church, and how he will as it were by miracle ſaue it.

d So that out of all the parts of the world, they ſhal ſee Ieruſalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the ſpirituall Ieruſalem the Church.

e He ſpeaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods preſence, but ſhould flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountains. f Read Amos 1. 1.

the Lord) [h] neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shall be light.

8 And in that day shall there [i] waters of life goe out from Ierusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the vttermost sea, and shall bee both in summer and winter.

9 And the Lord shalbe King ouer all the earth: in that day shall there be one [k] Lord, and his Name shall be one.

10 All the earth shalbe turned [l] as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shalbe lifted vp, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananiel, vnto the kings wineprelles.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Ierusalem shall be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all people that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand vpon their feete, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shal consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day [m] a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and euery one shall take the [n] hand of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

14 And Iudah shal fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall bee gathered round about, with [o] gold and siluer, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shalbe the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the asse, and of all the beasts that be in these tents as this [p] plague.

16 But it shal come to passe that euery one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shall goe vp from yeere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hosts, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the family of [q] Egypt goe not vp, and come not, it shal not raine vpon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shalbe the punishment of Egypt and the punishment of all the nations, that come not vp to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there be written vpon the [r] bridles of the horses, The holinesse vnto the Lord, and the [s] pots in the Lords house shalbe like the bowles before the altar.

21 Yea, euery pot in Ierusalem and Iudah shall be holy vnto the Lord of hosts, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seethe therein: and in that day there shall be no more the [t] Canaanite in the house of the Lord of hostes.

h Signifying that there should be great troubles in the Church, & that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is here meant by the euening) God would send comfort.

i That is, the spirituall graces of God, which should euer continue in most abundance.

k All idolatry & superstition shall be abolished, and there shal be one God, one faith, and one religion.

l This new Ierusalem shall be seene through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellencie, wealth, and greatnesse.

m God will not onely raise vp war without, but sedition at home to try them.

n To hurt and oppresse him.

o The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a praye, but to destroy and shed blood.

p As the men should be destroyed, verse. 12.

q By the Egyptians which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to what seruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to serue in warre) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

s As precious the one as the other, because they shal be sanctified.

t But all shall be pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, nor any that shal corrupt the true seruice of God.

Malachi.

THE ARGVMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised vp for the comfort of his Church after the captiuity, and after him there was no more vntill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more feruent desires looke for the comming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine that the two former doe, but chiefly he reproueth the Priests for their couetousnesse, and for that they serued God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and many wiues, murmurings against God, impatience, and such like. Notwithstanding for the comfort of the godly, he declareth that God would not forget his promise made vnto their fathers, but would send Christ his messenger, in whom the Couenant should be accomplished, whose comming should be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioy vnto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chiefly the Priests.

THe [a] burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by the ministerie of Malachi.

2 I haue loued you, sayeth the Lord: yet ye say, [b] Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iaakobs brother, sayth the Lord? yet I loued Iaakob,

3 And I [c] hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wildernesse for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, We are impouerished, but we will returne, and build the desolate places, yet sayeth the Lord of hostes, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickednesse, and the people with whom the Lord is angry for euer.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will bee magnified vpon the border of Israel.

6 A sonne honoureth his father, and a seruant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? And if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hosts vnto you, [d] O Priests that despise my Name? and ye say, [e] Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

a Reade Isai. 13.1.

b Which declareth their great ingratitude, that did not acknowledge this loue, which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham from out of all the world, and next chose Iaakob the younger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the Elder.

c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when hee was made seruant vnto his younger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterward in that he was put from his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that that his countrey lieth waste, and he shal neuer returne to inhabite it, whereas ye my people, whom the enemy hated more then them, are by my grace and loue toward you deliuered, Reade Rom. 9.13.

d Besides the rest of the people, he condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should haue reprouedothers for their hypocrisie, and obstinacy against God, and not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils.

e Hee noteth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently couered them, and so were blind guides.

f Ye receiue all manner offerings for your owne greedinesse, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.

g Not that they said this, but by their doings they declared no lesse.

h You make it no fault: whereby he condemneth them that thinke it sufficient to serue God partly as he hath commaunded, and partly after mans fantasie, and so come not to that purenes of religiō, which he requireth, and therefore in reproch heshweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so serued.

i He derideth the Priests, who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.

k Will God consider your office and state, seeing ye are so couetous and wicked?

7 Yee offer [f] vncleane bread vpon mine altar, and you say, Wherein haue wee polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not [g] to be regarded.

8 And if yee offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is [h] not euill: and if yee offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto thy Prince: will hee be content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, [i] pray before God, that hee may haue mercy vpon vs: this hath beene by your meanes: will hee regard [k] your persons, sayeth the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, [l] that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, sayeth the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the Sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is [m] great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall bee offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is [n] polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to bee regarded.

13 Ye said also, Behold, it is a [o] weariness, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was rome, and the lame, and the sicke: thus yee offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed bee the deceiuer, which hath in his flocke [p] a male, and vowth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

l Because the Leuites who kept the doores, did not try whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God wisheth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receiue such as were not perfect.

m God sheweth that their ingratitude, & neglect of his true seruice, shalbe the cause of the calling of the Gentiles: and here the Prophet that was vnder the Law, framed his words to the capacity of the people, and by the office and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall seruice of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, when an end should be made to all these legall ceremonies by Christes onely sacrifice.

n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this errour, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fat: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which he required, and so committed both impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God, and couetousnesse.

o The Priests and people were both weary with seruing God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and seruice they gaue to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good enough for the Lord.

p That is, hath abilitie to serue the Lord according to his word, and yet will serue him according to his couetous mind.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

AND now, O ye [a] Priests, this commandement is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to giue glory [b] vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, & will curse your [c] blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt [d] your seed, and cast dung vpon your faces, euen the [e] dung of your solemne feasts, and you shall bee like vnto it.

4 And ye shall know, that I haue [f] sent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant which I made with Leui, might stand, saith the Lord of hosts.

5 My [g] couenant was with him of life and peace, and I [h] gaue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was afrayde before [i] my Name.

6 The law of [k] trueth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his lippes: hee walked with mee in peace and equity, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests [l] lips should preserue knowledge, and they should seeke the Law at his mouth: for he is the [m] messenger of the Lord of hosts.

8 But yee are gone out of the way: yee haue caused many to fall by the Law: yee haue broken the Couenant of Leui, saith the Lord of hosts.

9 Therefore haue I made you also to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue beene partiall in the Law.

10 Haue not we all one [n] father? hath not one God made vs? why doe wee transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the couenant of [o] our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holinesse of the Lord which he loued, and hath married the [p] daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iaakob, and him that [q] offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue yee done againe, and [r] couered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping, and with mourning: because a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.

b To serue me according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.

d Your seede sowen shall come to no profit.

e You boast of your holinesse, sacrifices, and feasts, but they shall turne to your shame, and be as vile as dung.

f The Priests obiected against the Prophet, that he could not reproue them, but he must speake against the Priesthood, and the office established of God by promise, but hee sheweth that the office is nothing slandered, when these villaines and dung are called by their owne names.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the couenant made with the tribe of Leui: on Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felicity, and on their part, that they should faithfully serue him according to his word.

h I prescribed Leui a certaine Law to serue me.

i He serued me and set foorth my glory with all humility and submission.

k He sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord.

l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessity, and not to reserue it for himselfe.

m Shewing, that whosoeuer doeth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger and Priest.

n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God, nor their brethren.

o Whereby they had bound themselues to God to be an holy people.

p They haue ioyned themselues in marriage with them that are of another religion.

q That is, the Priests.

r Ye cause the people to lament, because that God doth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.

the s This is another fault, whereof he accuseth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage.

t As the one halfe of thy selfe u She that was ioined to thee by a solemne couenant, and by the inuocation of Gods Name.
x Did not God make man & woman as one flesh and not many?
y By his power and vertue hee could haue made many women for one man.
z Such as should be borne in lawfull & moderate mariage wherein is no excesse of lusts. a Conteine your selues within your bounds, & be sober in mind, & bridle your affections. b Not that he doth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults, he sheweth which is y lesse. c He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were conereth his fault. d Ye murmured against God, because he heard not you assoone as ye called. e In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, & hath no respect to them that serue him. f Thus they blasphemed God in cõdemning his power and iustice, because he iudged not according to their fantasies.

the offering is no more regarded, neither receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet yee say, [s] Wherein? Because the Lord hath bene witnesse betweene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed, yet shee is thy [t] companion, and the wife of thy [u] couenant.

15 And did not [x] hee make one? yet had he [y] abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because he sought a godly [z] seede: therefore keepe your selues in your [a] spirit, and let none trespasse against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, [b] put her away, saith the Lord God of Israel, yet he couereth [c] the iniurie vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue [d] wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, Wherein haue we wearied him? When ye say, Euery one that [e] doth euill is good in the sight of the Lord, and hee delighteth in them. Or where is the God of [f] iudgement?

CHAP. III.

1 Of the messenger of the Lord Iohn Baptist, and of Christs office.

a This is meant of Iohn Baptist, as Christ expoũdeth it, Luk. 7.27 b Meaning Messias, as Psa. 40.1, 7. dan. 9.17. 25.
c That is, Christ by whom the couenant was made & ratified, who is called the Angel or messenger of the couenant, because he reconcileth vs to his father: and is Lord or king, because he hath the gouernment of his Church.
d He sheweth that the hypocrites which wish so much for the Lords comming, will not abide when he draweth neere: for he will consume them, and purge his, & make them cleane. e He beginneth at the Priests, that they might be lights and shine vnto others. f They murmured against God, because they saw not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore he accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not dayly consumed, it is a token that hee doth stil defend them, & so his mercy toward them neuer changeth.

BEhold, I will send my [a] messenger, and he shall prepare the way before mee: and the [b] Lord whom yee seeke, shal sodenly come to his Temple: euen the [c] messenger of the couenant whom yee desire: behold, hee shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.

2 But who may [d] abide the day of his comming? and who shall endure, when hee appeareth? for hee is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope.

3 And hee shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: hee shall euen fine the sonnes of [e] Leui, and purifie them as golde and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousnesse.

4 Then shall the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time, and in the yeeres afore.

5 And I will come neere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnesse against the soothsayers, and against the adulterers, and against false sweerers, & against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widowe and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iaakob [f] are not consumed.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, yee are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: [g] returne vnto me, and I will returne vnto you, sayeth the Lord of hostes: but yee said, Wherein shall wee returne?

8 Will a [h] man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoiled me: but ye say, Wherein haue we spoyled thee? In [i] tithes and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoyled me, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring yee all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prooue me now herewith, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, & powre you out a blessing [k] without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the [l] deuourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the field, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue bene stout [m] against mee, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Yee haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his commaundement, and that we walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore we count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse are set vp, and they that tempt God, yea, they are [n] deliuered.

16 [o] Then spake they that feared the Lord, euery one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a [p] booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shal be to me, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day [q] that I shal doe this, for a [r] flocke, and I will [r] spare them as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discerne betweene the righteous and wicked: betweene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

g Read Zech. 1.3.
h There are none of the heathen so barbarous, that wil defraud their gods of their honour, or deale deceitfully with them.
i Whereby the seruice of God should haue bin maintained, and the Priests, and the poore relieued.
k Not hauing respect how much ye need, but I will giue you in all abundance, so that ye shall lacke place to put my blessings in.
l Meaning the caterpiller, and whatsoeuer destroyeth corne and fruit.
m The Prophet condemneth them of double blasphemie against God: first, in that they said that God had no respect to them that serued him, and next that the wicked were more in his fauour then the godly.
n They are not onely preferred to honour, but also deliuered from dangers. o After these admonitions of the Prophet some were liuely touched, and encouraged others to feare God. p Both because the thing was strange in that some turned to God in that great and vniuersall corruption, and also that this might be an example of Gods mercies to all penitent sinners. q When I shal restore my Church according to my promise, they shall be as mine owne proper goods. r That is, forgiue their sinnes, and gouerne them with my Spirit.

CHAP. IIII.

The day of the Lord, before the which Elijah should come.

Elyas

FOr behold, the day commeth, that shall [a] burne as an ouen, and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shalbe stubble, and the day that commeth, shall burne them vp, saith the Lord of hosts, and shall leaue them neither root nor branch.

called the Sunne of righteousnesse, because in himselfe hee hath all perfection, and also the iustice of the Father dwelleth in him: whereby he regenerateth vs into righteousnesse, clenseth vs from the filth of this world, and reformeth vs to the image of God. c Ye shalbe set at libertie and increase in the ioy of the Spirit, 2. Corinth. 3.17.

d Because the time was come that the Iewes should be destitute of Prophets vntill the time of Christ, because they should with more feruent minds desire his comming, the Prophet exhorteth them to exercise themselues diligently in studying the Lawe of Moses in the meane season, whereby they might continue in the true religion, and also be armed against all tentations.

e This Christ expounded of Iohn Baptist, Matt. 11.13,14. who both for his zeale, and restoring of religion is aptly compared to Elijah.

f Which as it is true for the wicked, so doth it waken the godly, and call them to repentance

g He sheweth wherein Iohns office should stand, in the turning of men to God, and ioyning the father and children in one vnity of faith: so that the father shal turne to the religion of his sonne which is converted to Christ, and the sonne shall imbrace the faith of the true fathers Abraham, Izhak and Iaakob.

h The second point of his office, was to denounce Gods iudgments against them that would not receiue Christ.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGVMENT.

THese bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the New Testament, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, books which were not receiued by a common consent to be read & expounded publikely in the Church, neither yet serued to proone any point of Christian religion, saue in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonicall to confirme the same, or rather whereupon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were receiued to be read for the aduancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the hystory, & for the instruction of godly maners: which books declare, that at all times God had an especial care of his Church, & left them not vtterly destitute of teachers and means to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his prouidence, who had both so threatned by his Prophets, & so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

I. ESDRAS.

CHAP. I.

2 Iosias appointeth Priestes, and keepeth the passeouer. 7 Offerings for the Priests and the people. 21 The order of the Leuites. 23 The vpright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachas appointed king. 53 The destruction of Ierusalem.

AND Iosias kept the * Passeouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passeouer, in the fourteeneth day of the first moneth, 2. King. 23. 21. 2. Esdr. 35. 1.

2 And appointed the Priestes according to their daily courses, being clothed with long garments in ỳ Temple of the Lord.

3 And hee spake to the Leuites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the house, which Salomon the sonne of king Dauid had built,

4 And sayd, Ye shall no more beare the Arke vpon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

5 After the writing of Dauid king of Israel, and according to the maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to ỳ order of the dignity of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passeouer, and make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, & keepe the Passeouer after the Lords commaundement giuen to Moses.

7 And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kids with three thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias, and || Syelus the gouernors of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passeouer two thousand fiue hundred sheepe, and three hundred calues.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias, and Nathanael his brethren, and || Sabias, and || Chelus, and || Iozam captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passeouer fiue thousand sheepe, and seuen hundred calues.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests & the Leuites stood in order, hauing vnleauened bread according to the tribes, 11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they rosted the Passeouer with fire, as * appertained, and they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons & pots, Exod. 12. 8.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselues, and for the Priestes their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make ready for themselues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, & Azarias, and || Eddinus, which was of the kings appointment. ||Or, Iedithun.

16 And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull that any should passe his ordinarie watch: for their brethren the Leuites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeouer, 18 And offer sacrifices vpon the Altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of king Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer, and the feast of vnleauened bread, seuen dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all ỳ kings of Israel did not offer such a Passeouer, as did Iosias, & the Priests and the Leuites, and the Iewes, & all Israel, which were found remaining in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteeneth yeere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before

||Or, Ieduthun.

||Or, Helkiel.

||Or, Hasabias.
||Or, Ishiel.
||Or, Chorabia.

before his Lord with a heart ful of godlines.

24 And concerning the things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, to wit, of those that sinned and did wickedly against the Lord, aboue euery nation and kingdome, and grieued him with ‖sensible things, so that the words of the Lord stood vp against Israel.

‖ Or, by worshipping sensible creatures.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh king of Egypt came to moue war at Carchemis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him. 2. Chron. 35.20.

26 But the king of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to doe with thee, O king of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with mee, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: depart from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne backe his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the words of Ieremias the Prophet, by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee set himselfe in battell aray against him in the field of Megeddo, and the princes came downe to king Iosias.

30 And the king said to his seruants, Conuey mee out of the battell, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So he gate vp on his second chariot, & being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, & was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the stories of the kings of Iudea, & euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which he did before, & the things now rehearsed, are registred in the booke of the kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twentie yeere old. 2. King. 23.30. 2. chron. 36.1.

35 And he reigned in Iudea, and in Ierusalem three moneths: for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He tared also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Ioacim his brother king of Iudea, and Ierusalem.

38 And he bound Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when hee had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fiue yeere old was Ioacim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem and he did euil in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chaine of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caryed them away, and set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his acts, and his profanation, and his reproach are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the kings.

43 And Ioacim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made King, he was eighteene yeere old.

44 And he reigned three moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after, Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when he was one and twentie yeere old, and he reigned eleuen yeeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did he feare the words spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord. Iere. 38.21.

48 For after that he was sworne to king Nabuchodonosor, hee forswore himselfe by the name of the Lord, and fel away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the lawes, and passed all the pollutions of al nations, & polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them back, because he spares them, and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the day that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that he being mooued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the kings of the Chaldeans to inuade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare young man nor mayden, neither old man nor child among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the arke of God: and they tooke and caryed away the kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake down the walles of Ierusalem, and burnt their towres with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things therof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword, he caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children til the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias, Iere 25.11. and 29.10.

58 And that the land might enioy her Sabbaths all the time that it was desolate till seuenty yeeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leaue to the Iewes to returne, 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their building, and the kings letters for the same.

IN * the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus king of the Persians, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias, 2. Chron. 36.22. ezra. 1.1.

2 The

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, and he made proclamation throughout all his kingdom, euen by expresse letters,

3 Saying, Thus sayth Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the most hie Lord, hath made me king ouer the whole world,

4 And he hath cõmanded me to build him an house in Ierusalem which is in Iudea.

5 If there be any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euen his Lord be with him, and let him goe vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, those, I say, þ are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and siluer,

7 With gifts, with horses and cattell, and other things, which shal be brought, according to the vowes, into the temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Beniamin, and the Priests and Leuites, and all whose mind the Lord had moued to goe vp, and build an house to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and gold, horses, and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whose minds were stirred vp.

10 Also King Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus King of the Persians had brought them out, hee deliuered them to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whom they were giuen to ‖ Abassar the gouernour of Iudea.

‖ Or, Shash-bassar, or Sanabassar.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand siluer cups, basins of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twenty, violes of gold thirty, and of siluer two thousand foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of gold and siluer, which they caried away, were fiue thousand foure hundreth threescore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanaballar with them of the captiuity of Babylon to Ierusalem.

Ezra 4.8.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerres king of the Persians, ‖ Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, and ‖ Semellius the secretary, and others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them that dwelt in Iudea and Ierusalem,

‖ Or, Bislemus.

‖ Or, Shimshai.

TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretary, and the rest of their councell, and the Iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowen to our lord the King, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, and build the market places, and make vp the walles thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this city bee built, and the walles bee finished, they will not onely not endure to pay tribute, but will also resist kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meet to passe ouer such a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt find in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this city did alwayes rebell, and did trouble both kings and cities.

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this city was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the King, wee declare it, that if this city bee built, and the wals thereof repaired, you shal haue no more passage into Coelosyria nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Semellius the secretary, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria & Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it should be sought out, and it was found, that this citie hath alwayes practised against kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which take tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build vp the citie, & that it be taken heed that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things which should molest the king, goe not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretary, and the rest which were ioined with them, had read the things which King Artaxerres had written, they mooued their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The three wise sentences.

NOw when Darius reigned, hee made a great feast to all his subiects, and to all those of his owne house, and to all the princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernors and captains and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and dronke, and were satisfied, they departed, and king Darius went into his chamber, and slept till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the ye guard, keepers of the kings body, said one to another,

5 Let euery one of vs speake a sentence, & hee that shall ouercome, and whose sentence shall appeare wiser then the others, Darius the king shal giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victory,

6 As to weare purple, and to drinke in gold, and to sleep in gold, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head tire of fine linen, and a chaine about his necke,

7 And hee shal sit next to Darius for his wisedome, and shall be called Darius cousin.

8 Then euery man wrote his sentence, and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of King Darius, 9 And sayd, When the King rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King, and the three princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but trueth ouercommeth all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernors and the captaines, and lieutenants, and the Consuls, 15 And sate him downe in the Councill, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine.

18 And sayd on this maner, O yee men, how strong is wine! it deceiueth all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the King and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bondman and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also euery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembreth no maner of sorrow nor debt.

21 It maketh euery heart rich, so that one remembreth neither king nor gouernor, and causeth to speake all things by ‖ talents.

‖ Or, pounds.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue either friends or brethren, and a little after they draw out swords.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, Is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. IIII.

Of the strength of a king. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approoued, 47 and his petition granted.

THen the second which had spoken of the strength of the King, began to say,

2 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If he bid them make warre one against another, they doe it: if he send them out against the enemies, they go and breake down mountaines, and walles, and towres.

5 They kil & are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they ouercome, they bring all to the king, as well the spoiles as all other things.

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowen it again, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compel one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man; if hee bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people, and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeth.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne busines, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O ye men, how should not the King be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed? So he held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake.

14 O ye men, neither the mightie King, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the King, & al the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, & they nourished them which planted the vines of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments, and make men honourable, neither can men bee without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and siluer, or any goodly thing, doe they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Do they not leaue all those things and giue themselues wholly vnto her, and gape, and gaze vpon her, & all men desire her more then gold or siluer, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueth his owne father which hath nourished him, and his [illegible] country, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he ieopardeth his life, and neither remembreth father, nor mother, nor country.

22 Therefore by this ye may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe yee not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man taketh his sword, and goeth forth to kill and to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And he seeth a Lion, & goeth in darkenesse, and when he hath stollen, rauished and spoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Yea,

26 Yea, many haue run mad for women, and haue beene seruants for them.

27 Many also haue perished and haue erred and sinned for women.

28 Now therefore doe you not beleeue me? is not the King great in his power? do not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bartacus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

30 And shee tooke the crowne off the Kings head, and put it vpon her owne, and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: and if shee were angry with him, hee did flatter her, that he might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing thby doe thus?

33 ¶ Then the King and the Princes looked one vpon another, and he began to speake of the trueth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, and the sun is swift in his course: for he turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any vniust thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked works are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but she doeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from vniust and wicked things, and all men fauour her works.

40 Neither is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome, and the power, and Maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and sayd, Trueth is great & strongest.

42 Then the King said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt, besides that which is appointed, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.

43 ¶ Then he said to the King, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Jerusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdome, 44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Jerusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the temple, which the Idumeans burnt when Judea was destroyed by the Caldeans.

46 And now, O Lord the King, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Then king Darius rising vp, kissed him, and wrote him letters to all the stewards, and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernors, that they should bring on the way both him, and all that went with him, which went vp to build Jerusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria, and Phenice, & for them that were in Libanus, that they should bring cedar wood from Libanus to Jerusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And hee wrote for all the Jewes, which went vp out of his kingdome vnto Judea, concerning their libertie, that no Prince, nor Lieutenant, nor gouernor nor steward should enter into their doores,

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Idumeans should let goe the villages of the Jewes which they held,

51 And that euery yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple twentie talents, vntil it were built,

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings vpon the altar euery day (as they had a commandement to offer fourteene) other ten talents euery yeere.

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges, and the Priests garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And he wrote that they should giue the Leuites their charges, vntil the house were finished and Jerusalem built.

56 Also, he wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And hee sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set apart out of Babylon, and whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, he also commanded to doe it, and to send to Jerusalem.

58 And when the ‖ young man was gone forth, hee lift vp his face to heauen towards Jerusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen, ‖ Or, Zorobabel.

59 Saying, Of thee is the victory, and of thee is wisedome, and of thee is glory, and I am thy seruant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen me wisdome: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our Fathers.

61 ¶ So he tooke the letters, and went out, and came to Babylon, and told all his brethren.

62 And they blessed the God of their Fathers, because he had giuen them freedome & libertie

63 To go vp and to build Jerusalem, and the Temple, where his name is renowned, and they reioyced with instruments of Musicke and ioy seuen dayes.

48 Then Jesus the sonne of Josedec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the Altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dressed the Altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is * ordeined in the Law, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite, Leuit 23. 34.

59 And the Priests stood clothed with their long garments with musicall instruments, and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with Cymbales, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

61 And they sung with loude voyce songes to the praise of the Lorde, because his mercie and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with loude voyce, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, to wit, the Ancients which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets and ioy cryed with loude voyce.

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blewe trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Judah and Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was.

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families, sayd vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of ‖ Asbasareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

43 Camels, foure hundreth thirtie and fiue: and horses, seuen hundreth thirtie & sixe: mules, two hundreth fourtie and fiue: ‖ beasts that bare the yoke, fiue thousand, fiue hundreth, twentie and fiue.

44 And there were of the gouernours after their families, which when they were come to the Temple in Jerusalem, vowed to build the house in his owne place according to their power, 45 And to giue to the treasure of the workes, a ‖ thousand pound in gold, and fiue thousand pound in siluer, and an hundreth Priestly garments.

46 And the Priests and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the country, and the holy singers and the porters, and all Israel in their ‖ villages.

47 ¶ But * when the seuenth moneth was come, and when the children of Israel were euery one at home, they were all gathered together with one accord into the open place of the first gate, which is toward the East.

48 Then Jesus the sonne of Josedec and his brethren the Priests, with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel and his brethren, rising vp, made ready the Altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offer burnt offerings vpon it according as it is written in the booke of Moses the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered against them of all nations of the land: but they dressed the Altar in his owne place, although all the nations of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offered sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offerings to the Lord, morning and euening.

51 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is * ordeined in the Law, and offered sacrifices euery day, as was requisite, 52 And afterward, the continuall oblations and offerings of the Sabbaths, and of the new moneths and of all holy feasts.

53 ¶ And all * they which had made any vow to God, began to offer sacrifice vnto God, in the first day of the seuenth moneth, although the temple of God was not yet built. Ezra 3. 6.

54 They gaue also money to the masons and to the workemen, and meate and drinke with gladnesse, 55 And chartes to the Sidonians, & to those of Tyrus to bring Cedar wood out of Libanus, which should bee brought by flotes to the hauen of Joppe, according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus king of Persia.

56 And in the second yere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Jerusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, & Jesus the sonne of Josedec, and their brethren, and the Priestes and Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Jerusalem, 57 And * layd the foundation of the house of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yere, after their returne into Judea, and Jerusalem. Ecclus. 49. 12.

58 And they appointed the Leuites from twentie yere old, ouer the workes of the Lorde, and Jesus and his sonne and his brethren, and his brother Cadmiel, and the sonnes of Madiabon, with the sonnes of Joda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes and brethren, euen all the Leuites with one accord did follow after the worke, calling vpon the workes in the house of God: thus the workemen built the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests stood clothed with their long garments with musicall instruments, and trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with Cymbales, 60 Singing and blessing the Lord, according to the ordinance of Dauid King of Israel.

61 And they sung with loude voyce songs to the praise of the Lorde, because his mercie and glory is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blew trumpets, and cryed with loude voyce, praising the Lord for the raising vp of the house of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, euen the Ancients which had seene the former house,

64 Came to see the building of this with weeping and great crying, and many with trumpets and ioy cryed with loude voyce.

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blewe trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Judah and Beniamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was.

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they comming to Zorobabel, and Jesus, and the chiefe of the families, sayd vnto them, Let vs build also with you.

69 For we obey your Lord as you doe, and sacrifice vnto him since the dayes of ‖ Asbasareth king of the Assyrians, which brought vs hither.

70 Then Zorobabel and Jesus and the chiefe of the families of Israel sayde to them, It doth not appertaine to vs, and to you to builde an house to the Lord our God.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 2 The building of the Temple. 3 Sisinnes would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The Kings answere to the contrary.

Ezra.5.1. nehe.12.1. BUt * in the second yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophecied to the Iewes, euen vnto them that were in Judea and Jerusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called ‡ vpon.

‡ Greeke, vpon them. 2 Then Zorobabel sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josedec stood vp and beganne to build the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 ¶ In that time Sisinnes the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement build you this house and this building, and enterprise all these other things? & who are the builders that enterprise such things?

5 But the ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord, after that hee had visited the captiuitie, 6 They that were not letted to build, vntill it was signified vnto Darius of these matters; and answere was returned.

7 ¶ The copie of the Epistle, which hee did write and send to Darius: SISINNES gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius.

8 It may please the King our master plainly to vnderstand that when wee came to the countrey of Judea, and entred into the citie of Jerusalem, we found in the citie of Jerusalem the ancients of the Iewes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an house to the Lord great and new, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber already laid vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked their ancients, saying, By whose commandement build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 ¶ Wee asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore we demaunded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, ¶ We are the seruants of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

1. King. 6.2. 14 And * this house was built vp many yeeres agoe, by a King of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking GOD to wrath, sinned against the Lorde of Israel, which is in heauen, * hee deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon of the Caldeans, 2. King. 24.

16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it, and caryed the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this house should be built vp.

18 And the holy vessels of gold and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house of Jerusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to ‖ Sanaballarus ruler. ‖ Or, Shashbazar.

19 And a commandement was giuen vnto him, that he should carry away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Jerusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should bee built in this place.

20 Then the same Sanaballarus, being come hither, layde the foundations of the house of the Lorde at Jerusalem, and since that time till nowe, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the king, let it be sought vp in the kings Libraries concerning Cyrus.

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem hath beene done by the consent of King Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the Lord our King, let him make vs answere concerning these things.

23 Then King Darius commaunded to search in the Kings Libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecbatane, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were layd vp for memorie.

24 In the first yeere of the raigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commaunded the house of the Lord at Jerusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites, with three rowes of hewen stones, and one row of new wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payed out of the house of King Cyrus,

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of the house in Jerusalem, and brought into Babylon, should bee restored to the house which is in Jerusalem; and set in the place where they were afore.

27 Also hee commaunded that Sisinnes gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companions, & those which were constitute captaines in Syria & Phenice, should take heede to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Judea, and the Elders of the Iewes to builde that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commanded to build it cleane vp againe, and that they bee diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, till the house of the Lord be finished.

29 And that some part of the tribute of Cole-

losyria and Phenice should be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vnto the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rammes, and lambes:

30 Also corne, and salt, and wine, and oile continually euery yeere without faile, as the Priests which are in Ierusalem shall testifie to be spent euery day.

31 That offrings may be made to the hie God for the king and his children, and that they may pray for their liues, 32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoeuer should transgresse any thing aforespoken or written, or derogate any thing therof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and hee be hanged thereon, and that his goods should bee the kings.

33 And therefore let the Lord whose name is there called vpon, destroy euery king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or do euill to that house of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.

Ezra 6.12. 34 *I Darius the King haue ordained that it should be diligently executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisinus and his companions follow the Kings commandement, and helpe the Jewes to build the Temple. 5 The time that it was built. 10 They keepe the Passeouer.

Ezra 6.13. THen Sisinus the* gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, & their companions obeying King Darius commandements, 2 Assisted diligently the holy workes, working with the ancients and gouernours of the sanctuary.

3 And the holy works prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophecied.

4 So they finished all things by the commaudement of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artarerres, kings of the Persians.

6 Thus the holy house was finished in the three and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the first yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 ¶ And the children of Israel, and the Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyses.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rammes, foure hundreth lambes, 8 And twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chiefe of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests and the Leuites stood according to their kinreds, clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, and also the porters in euery gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the Passeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the foureteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Leuites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passeouer for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priestes, and for themselues.

13 Then al the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eate, euen all they that had separated themselues from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord, 15 Because he had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a scribe well taught in the Law of Moyses, giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the King gaue him great honour, and hee found grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites, and of the holy singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,

6 In the seuenth yeere of the reigne of Artarerres, and in the fift moneth: this was the seuenth yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speed in their iourney.)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that hee would let nothing passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the commaundements, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.

9 So the Commission written by King Artarerres was giuen Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie therof followeth.

10 King Artarerres to Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 For as much as I consider things with pitie, I haue commaunded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Jewes, & of the Priests and Leuites, which are in our kingdome, should goe with thee vnto Israel

12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to mee and my seuen friends the counsellers,

13 That they may visite the things that are in Judea and Jerusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord,

14 And carie gifts to the Lord God of Israel in Jerusalem, which I & my friends haue vowed: also all the golde and siluer, which shall bee found in the countrey of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Jerusalem,

15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Jerusalem, as well siluer as gold, for bulles and rammes, and lambes, and things thereunto pertaining,

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Jerusalem.

17 And whatsoeuer thou and thy brethren will doe with the gold or siluer, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Jerusalem.

19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also king Artaxerxes haue commaunded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoeuer Esdras, the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the highest God, shall send for, they should giue it him with all speede, euen to the summe of an hundreth talents of siluer, 21 And likewise to an hundreth cores of corne, and an hundreth pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God, according to the Law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpon the kingdome of the king, and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or Porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workmen of this Temple, no tribute nor tare be taken, nor that any haue power to take them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wisdome of God, ordaine iudges and gouernours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Law of God and the King, bee diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Esdras the Scribe sayd, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Jerusalem, 27 And hath honoured mee before the king, and the counsellers, and all his friends and gouernours.

46 And they brought vnto vs by the mighty hand of our Lord learned men of the sonnes of Moli, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, ‖ Sisebehzan and his sonnes, and his brethren being eighteene. ‖Or, Serebia.

47 And Asebia, and ‖Annon, and Osaian his brethren of the sonnes of ‖Canaineus, with their sonnes twentie persons. ‖Or, Anam, Iosias. ‖Or, Canaanien.

48 And of the ministers of the temple, which Dauid gaue, and those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundreth and twentie, of whom all the names were registred.

49 ¶ And * there I proclaimed a fast for the young men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney both for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, and for our cattell. Ezra 8.21.

50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footemen or horsemen, or conduct for safe-gard

gard against our enemies,

51 Because we had said to the king, that the power of our Lord should bee with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Wherefore wee prayed our Lord againe according to these things, whom wee found fauourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefe of the tribes, and of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, [or, Sirebias.] ‖ Esebrias and Assanias, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the siluer and the golde, and the holy vessels of the house of our Lord, which the King and his counsellers, and his princes, and all Israel had giuen.

55 And I weighed them sixe hundreth and fiftie talents of siluer, and siluer vessels of an hundreth talents, and an hundreth talents of gold, 56 And twentie golden basins, and twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the siluer is a vow to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch, and keepe them, till that you giue them to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the Priests and Leuites tooke the siluer and the golde, and the vessels, and caried them to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And wee departed from the flood Thera, in the twelfth day of the first moneth, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mightie power of our Lorde with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So wee came to Jerusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, and the golde was deliuered in the house of our

[or, Marimuth the son of Uri of Uria.] Lord to ‖ Warmoth the Priest, the sonne of Iouri,

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phinees: and there were with them, Iosabad

[or, Nodia, sonne sonne of Banu.] the sonne of Jesus, and ‖ Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue buls for al Israel, rammes fourescore and sixteene, 65 Lambes threescore and twelue, twelue goates for saluation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandements of the King to the Kings stewards, and to the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

Ezra 9.1. 67 ¶ *When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the Princes and the Priestes, and the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Canaanites, and Chetites, and Pherezites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy seede is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the gouernours and rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednesse from the beginning of the thing.

70 And assoone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire off mine head, and off my beard, and sate me downe sorrowfull, and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moued with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched foorth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, *O Lord, I am ashamed, and Ezra 9.6. confounded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heads, and our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

75 Yea, euen from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne vnto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our Kings & Priests haue bene giuen vp to the kings of the earth, to the sword and to captiuitie, and to a pray with all shame vnto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy bene, O Lord, that there should be left vs a roote and name in the place of thy holinesse!

78 And that thou houldest reueale to vs a light in the house of the Lord our God, and giue vs meate in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they should giue vs meate, 80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Judea and Jerusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall wee say, hauing these things? for we haue transgressed thy Commandements, which thou hast giuen by the handes of thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

82 *Because the land which yee goe to inhe- Deut. 7.1. rite, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthinesse,

83 Therefore now yee shall not ioyne their daughters with your sonnes, neither giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Neither shall you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eate the good things of the land, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lorde, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs such a roote: but we againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, and to mire vs with the vncleannesse of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not bee angry with vs to destroy vs, so that thou shouldest neither leaue vs roote, nor seede, nor name?

88 But O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Behold, we are now before thee with our iniquities, neither can we endure before thee for these things.

Ezra 10.1. 90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and lay vpon the ground before the Temple, a very great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Jerusalem, of men and women, and young children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

‖Or, Ieiel. 91 Then Jechonias the sonne of ‖ Jeel of the sonnes of Israel, crying out, sayd, O Esdras, wee haue sinned against the Lord God: wee haue taken in marriage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is doubtful: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord, to put away all our wiues which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seeme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doth it appertaine, and we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, & made all the chiefe of the families of the Priests and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they would doe thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

7 After Esdras had read the Law for the strange wiues,
10 they promise to put them away.

Ezra 10.6. THen * Esdras rose from the court of the temple, and went to the chamber of Joannan the sonne of Eliasib,

2 And being lodged there, hee did eate no bread, nor drinke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Judea and Jerusalem, to all them that were of the captiuitie, that they should be gathered to Jerusalem,

4 And that all they which should not meete there within two or three dayes, according to the ordinance of the Elders, which bare rule, should haue their cattell confiscate to the Temple, and be cast out from among them of the captiuity.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Juda and Beniamin, came together within three dayes into Jerusalem: this was the ninth moneth, and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Yee haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And doe his will, and separate your selues from the people of the land, & from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cried out and said with a loude voice, We will doe so as thou hast sayd

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that wee cannot stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seeing that many of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chiefe men of the multitude, and all they which haue strange wiues of our families, tary:

13 And let the Priests and Judges come out of all places at the day appointed, till they haue appeased the wrath of the Lord against vs for this matter.

14 Then Jonathas Asahels sonne, and ‖ Ezecias sonne of ‖ Thecan were appointed concerning these things, and Mosollam and Sabbateus did helpe them. ‖Or, Iahazias. ‖Or, Thecua.

15 And they which were of the captiuity, did after all these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certaine men, chiefe of their families, all by name: and they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter, 17 And they made an ende of the things perteining to them that had maried strange wiues, in the first day of the first moneth.

18 And there were found of the Priests which had married strange wiues, ‖Or, Maasias. ‖Or, Iedaliah.

19 Of the sonnes of Jesus, the sonne of Josedec, and of his brethren, ‖ Mathelas, and Eleazar, and Joribus, and ‖ Jonadan. ‖Or, Anani, and Zabiah. ‖Or, Phashur, Elioenai, Maasias, Ismael.

20 Who also gaue their hands to cast out their wiues, and offered a ramme for their reconciliation in their purgation.

21 And of the sonnes of Emmer, ‖ Ananias, and Zabdeus, and Canes, and Samelus, and Hiereel, and Azarias. ‖Or, Olridel, and Alasa. ‖Or, Iosabad, Semei.

22 And of the sonnes of ‖ Phaisu, Ellionas, Massias, Elmaelus, and Nathanael, and ‖ Ocidelus, and Tallas. ‖Or, Galias, Pathias, Iohudas.

23 And of the Leuites, ‖ Jozabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called ‖ Calitas, and Patheas, and Doudas, and Jonas. ‖Or, Eliasib, and Bacur.

24 Of the holy singers, ‖ Eliazurus, Bacchurus. ‖Or, Sallum. ‖Or, Remias.

25 Of the porters, ‖ Sallumus, & Tolbanes. ‖Or, Banadias ‖Or, Elam.

26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of Phorus, ‖ Hiermas, and Eddias, and Melchias, and Maelus, and Eleazar, & Asibias, and Banaias. ‖Or, Iehiel. ‖Or, Ieremoth and Helias.

27 Of the sonnes of ‖ Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and ‖ Hiericlas, and ‖ Hieremoth, and Aedias. ‖Or, Zathone, Eliadas, Elisib.

28 And of the sonnes of ‖ Zamoth, Eliadas, Elisimus, Othonias, Jarimoth, and ‖ Sabatus, and Sardeus. ‖Or, Sabad, and Sardai.

29 Of the sonnes of ‖ Bebai, Joannes, and Ananias, and ‖ Jolabad, and Ematheas. ‖Or, Bebe. ‖Or, Iosaphat, and Emah.

30 Of the sonnes of ‖ Mani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Jedaias, Jasubus, Jasael, and Jeremoth. ‖Or, Bani, Olam, Maluch, Iedeia, Iasub.

31 And of the sonnes of ‖ Addi, Naathus, Mosias, Laccunus, and Naidus, & Mathanias, and ‖ Seschel, and Balnuus, and Manasseas. ‖Or, Addin, Naatus, Laccum, Banaias.

32 And of the sonnes of Annas, Elionas, and Aleas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Cholamite.

33 And of the sonnes of ‖ Asom, Altaneus, and ‖ Matthias, and Bannaias, Eliphalat, and Manasses, and Semei. ‖Or, Bezelil, Balnus, Manasses. ‖Or, Hasam.

34 And of the sonnes of ‖ Maani, Jeremias, Momdis, Omarus, Inel, Mamai, and Dactias, and Amos, Carabasion, and Eualibus, and Mamnimatanaeus, Eliasiasis, Uanus, Eliali, Samis, Selemias, Nathanias, and of the sonnes of Ozoras, Sesis, Eziil, Azailus, Samaras, ‖Or, Mathmas, Matathias. ‖Or, Ban, Ieremias, Moadi, Esiram.

maras, Sambis, Iosiphus.

35 And of the sonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Iuel, Banaias.

36 All these married strange wines, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Priests and the Leuites dwelt in Ierusalem, and in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the children of Israel in their owne houses.

38 ¶ * Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, Nehe. 8. 1.

39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that hee should bring the Law of Moyses, which had bin giuen by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Esdras the chiefe Priest the Law to all the multitude, both man and woman, & to all the Priests, that they might heare the Law the first day of the seuenth moneth.

41 And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Lawe, stood vpon a Pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stood by him ‖ Matgathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Urias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand. ‖ Or, Mattithias.

45 Then Esdras tooke the booke of the Law before the multitude (for he sate honourably before them all.)

46 And they all stood vpright, when hee expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mighty God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cried, Amen.

48 Then Iesus, and ‖ Anus, and Sarabias, and Adinus, and Iacobus, Sabataias, Autanias, Maianias, and Calitas, Azarias, and Ioazabdus, and Ananias, and Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fel downe on the ground and worshipped the Lord, ‖ Or, Bani.

49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stood also earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then said ‖ Aththarates to Esdras the chiefe Priest and Reader, and to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holy vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law. ‖ Or, Nehemias.

51 Goe therefore and eate the fat meates and drinke the sweete drinkes, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and bee not sory: for the Lord God wil glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commaunded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holy to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eat and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to them that had not, and to make good cheere.

55 For they were yet filled with the words wherwith they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

CHAP. I.

8 The people is reprooued for their vnfaithfulnesse.
30 God will haue another people, if these will not bee reformed.

THe second booke of the Prophet * Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sadanias, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob, Ezra 7. 1.

2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of Alie, the sonne of Marimoth, the sonne of Arna, the sonne of Ozias, the sonne of Bozith, the sonne of Abisei, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,

3 The sonne of Aaron, (of the tribe of Leui) which Esdras was prisoner in the land of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes king of Persia. Ezra 7. 1.

4 * And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Goe, and shew my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednesse, which they haue committed against mee, that they may tell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offered vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all euill vpon them: for they haue not beene obedient vnto my Law, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbeare them, vnto whom I haue haue done so much good?

10 * Many kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharao with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe. Exod. 14. 28.

12 Speak thou therefore vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord, 14 * I gaue you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders haue I done among you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord. Exod. 13. 21.

15 Thus sayeth the Almighty Lord, The quailes * were a token vnto you: I gaue you tents for safegard, wherein ye murmured: Exod. 16. 13. psal. 104. 40.

16 And yee triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure still.

17 Where are the benefits that I haue done for you? when ye were hungry in the wildernesse, * did ye not cry vnto me. Num. 14. 3.

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought vs into this wildernesse, to kill vs? It had beene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to die in this wildernes?

28 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her young babes, 33 Thus sayeth the Almighty Lord, Your house shall be desolate, I will cast you out as the wind doeth the stubble.

34 You children shall not haue generation: for they haue despised my commandement, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I giue vnto a people to come, who shall beleeue mee though they heare mee not, and they vnto whom I neuer shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I commaund them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they haue not seene mee with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleeue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory, I see the people that come from the East.

39 Unto whom I will giue for leaders, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Joel, Abdias, Jonas,

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth fault with her owne children. 18 The Gentiles are called.

THus saith the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commaundements by my seruants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, sayth vnto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you vp with gladnesse, but with sorow and heauinesse haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe vnto you? I am a widow and forsaken: goe yee, O my children, and aske mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O Father, I call for a witnesse for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoyle, that their kinred be not continued.

7 Let their names be scattered among the heathen, let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

8 Woe vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vnrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember *what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorrha, Gen. 19. 24.

9 Whose land is mired with clouds of pitch, and heapes of ashes: so will I doe vnto them, that heare me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 ¶ Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will giue them the kingdome of Jerusalem, which I would haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I wil get me glory by them, and giue them the euerlasting Tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall haue at wil the tree of life smelling of oyntment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 Go ye, and ye shal receiue it: pray that the time which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnesse: for I haue abolished the euill, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnesse: make their feet as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead wil I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my seruants Esai and Jeremie to help thee, by whose counsel I haue sanctified and prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers fruits, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mighty mountaines, whereupon there grow roses and lilies, whereby I will fill thy children with ioy.

20 Execute iustice for the widow: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: giue to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale

21 Heale the wounded and ſicke: laugh not a lame man to ſcorne, defend the creeple, and let the blind come into the light of my clearneſſe.

22 Keepe the old and the young that are within thy wals.

Tobit 1.17. 23 *Whereſoeuer thou findeſt the dead, take them, and burie them, and I will giue thee the firſt place in my reſurrection.

24 Abide ſtill, O my people, and reſt: for thy quietneſſe ſhall come.

25 Nouriſh thy children, O thou good nurſe: ſtabliſh their feete.

26 None of the ſeruants that I haue giuen thee, ſhall periſh: for I will ſeeke them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauineſſe commeth, other ſhall weepe and be ſorowfull, but thou ſhalt be merrie, and haue abundance.

28 The heathen ſhall enuie thee, and ſhall do nothing againſt thee, ſaith the Lord.

29 Mine hands ſhall couer thee, ſo that thy children ſhall not ſee hell.

30 Be ioyfull, O thou mother, with thy children, for I will deliuer thee, ſaith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that ſleepe: for I will bring them out of the ſides of the earth, and will ſhew mercie vnto them: for I am mercifull, ſaith the Lord Almightie.

32 Embrace thy children, vntill I come and ſhew mercy vnto them: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace ſhall not faile.

33 I Eldras receiued a charge of the Lord vnto the mount Horeb, that I ſhould goe vnto them of Iſrael, but when I came to them, they caſt me off, and deſpiſed the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I ſay vnto you, O yee heathen, that heare and vnderſtand. Waite for your ſhepheard, who ſhal giue you euerlaſting reſt: for he is neere at hand, that ſhall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdome: for the euerlaſting light ſhall ſhine vpon you for euermore.

36 Flee the ſhadowe of this world: receiue the ioy of your glory: I teſtifie my Sauiour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thankes vnto him that hath called you to the heauenly kingdome.

38 Ariſe and ſtand vp, and behold the number of thoſe that are ſealed for the feaſt of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the ſhadow of the world, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Sion, and ſhut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longeſt for, is fulfilled: beſeech the power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called from the beginning, may be ſanctified.

Rom.7.9. 42 *I Eldras ſaw vpon mount Sion a great people whom I could not number, and they all prayſed the Lord with ſongs.

43 And in the mids of them there was a yong man higher in ſtature then them all, and vpon euery one of their heads hee ſet crownes, and was higher then the other, which I much marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and ſaid, Who are theſe, my Lord?

45 Who anſwered and ſaid vnto me, Theſe be they that haue put off the mortall clothing, and haue put on the immortall, and haue confeſſed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then ſaid I vnto the Angel, What yong man is it that ſetteth crownes on them, and giueth them the palmes in their hands?

47 And he anſwered, and ſaid vnto me, It is the Sonne of God, whom they haue confeſſed in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them, that had ſtood ſo ſtrongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel ſaid vnto mee, Goe thy way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou haſt ſeene.

CHAP. IIII.

4 The wonderous workes, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Eſdras marueileth that God ſuffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are ſinners alſo.

IN the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the city, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart,

2 Becauſe I ſaw the deſolation of Sion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my ſpirit was ſore mooued, ſo that I began to ſpeake fearefull wordes to the moſt High, and ſaid,

4 O Lord, Lord, thou ſpakeſt at the beginning, when thou alone plantedſt the earth, and gaueſt commandement vnto thy people,

5 *And a body vnto Adam without ſoule, who was alſo the workmanſhip of thine hands, and haſt breathed in him the breath of life, ſo that he liued before thee, Gen.2.7.

6 And ledſt them into Paradiſe, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth ‖ brought forth. ‖ Or, went forward.

7 Euen then thou gaueſt him commaundemen to loue thy way: but he tranſgreſſed it, and immediatly thou appointedſt death to him, and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people, and kinreds out of number.

8 *And euery people walked after their own will, and did wonderful things before thee, and deſpiſed thy commandements. Gen.6.12.

9 *But at the time appointed thou broughteſt the flood vpon thoſe that dwelt in the world and deſtroyedſt them, Gen.7.10.

10 So that by the flood, that came to euery one of them, which came by death vnto Adam.

11 Yet thou leſteſt one, euen *Noe, with his houſhold, of whom came all righteous men. 1.Peter.3.20.

12 And when they that dwelt vpon the earth, began to multiplie, and the number of the children, people, and many nations were increaſed, they began to be more vngodly then the firſt.

13 Now when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou didſt chuſe thee a man from among them, whoſe name was *Abraham. Gen.12.1. Gen.17.5.

14 Whom thou louedſt, and vnto whom only thou ſhewedſt thy will,

15 And madeſt an euerlaſting couenant with him, promiſing him that thou wouldeſt neuer forſake his ſeed. Gen.22.2,3. Gen.25.25, 26.

16 *And vnto him thou gaueſt Iſaac, *vnto Iſaac alſo thou gaueſt Iacob and Eſau, *and Mal.1.2,3. rom.9.13.

didſt didst chuse Iacob, and cast off Esau, and so Iacob became a great multitude.

17 And when thou leddest his seed out of Egypt, *thou broughtest them vp to mount Sina, Exod. 19. 1. deut. 4. 10.

18 And inclinedst the heauens, and bowedst downe the earth, and didst moue the ground, and cause the depths to shake, and didst astonish the world.

19 And thy glory went thorow foure gates of fire, with earthquakes, wind and cold, that thou mightest giue the Law vnto the seed of Iaakob, and that which the generation of Israel should diligently obserue.

20 Yet tookest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring foorth fruit in them.

Gen. 3. 6. 21 For *Adam first hauing a wicked heart, was ouercome and vanquished, and all they that are borne of him.

22 Thus remained weakenesse ioyned with the Law in the hearts of the people, with the wickednesse of the roote: so that the good departed away, and the euill abode still.

23 So the times passed away, and the yeeres were brought to an end, *til thou didst raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid, 1. Sam. 16. 13. 2. Sam. 5. 1. and 7. 5, 13.

24 *Whom thou commandedst to build a city vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice.

25 When this was done many yeeres, the inhabitants forlooke thee,

26 Following the wayes of Adam and all his generation: for they also had a wicked heart.

27 Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.

28 But doe they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they should haue the dominion of Sion?

29 For when I came thither, and sawe their wicked deeds without number (for this is the thirtieth yeere that I see many trespassing) I was discouraged.

30 For I saw, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, whereas thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preserued thine enemies, and thou hast not shewed it.

31 I cannot perceiue how this commeth to passe. Are the deedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?

32 Or is there any other people that knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generation hath so beleeued thy testimonies as Iacob?

33 And yet their reward appeareth not, and their labour hath no fruit: for I haue gone here and there thorowout the heathen, and I see them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commaundements.

34 Weigh thou therefore our wickednesse now in the balance, and theirs also that dwel in the world, and no mention of thee shall be found but in Israel.

35 Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hath so kept thy commandements?

36 Thou shalt surely find that Israel by name hath kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

2 The Angel reproueth Esdras, because he seemed to enter into the profound iudgements of God.

AND the Angel that was sent vnto me, whose name was Uriel, answered,

2 And said, Thine heart hath taken too much vpon it in this world, and thou thinkest to comprehend the wayes of the Highest.

3 Then sayd I, Yea, my Lord. And hee answered me, and said, I am sent to shew thee three wayes, and to set forth three similitudes before thee.

4 Whereof if thou canst declare mee one, I will shew thee also the way that thou desirest to see, and I will shew thee from whence the wicked heart commeth.

5 And I said, Tell on, my Lord. Then said he vnto me, Goe thy way, weigh me the weight of the fire, or measure me the blast of the winde, or call me againe the day that is past.

6 Then answered I, and said, What man is borne, that can doe that which thou requirest me, concerning these things?

7 And he said vnto me, If I should aske thee how deepe dwellings are in the mids of the sea, or how great springs are in the beginning of the depth, or how great springs are in the stretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradise,

8 Peraduenture thou wouldest say vnto me, I neuer went downe to the deepe, nor yet to the hell, neither did I euer climbe vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I asked thee but of fire and winde, and of the day, whereby thou hast passed, and from the which things thou canst not be separated, and yet canst thou giue me none answer of them.

10 He said moreouer vnto mee, Thine owne things, and such as are growen vp with thee, canst thou not know:

11 How should thy vessell then bee able to comprehend the wayes of the Highest, and now outwardly in the corrupt world, to vnderstand the corruption, that is euident in my sight?

12 Then said I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, then that we should liue in wickednesse, and to suffer, and not to know wherefore.

13 And he answered me, and said, *I came to a forrest in the plaine where the trees held a counsell, Iudg. 9. 8. 2. chron. 25. 18.

14 And said, Come, let vs goe fight against the sea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the flouds of the sea tooke counsell, and said, Come, let vs goe vp and fight against the trees of the wood, that we may get an other country for vs.

16 But the purpose of the wood was vaine, for the fire came and consumed it.

17 Likewise also the purpose of the flouds of the sea: for the sand stood vp and stopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betweene these two, whom wouldest thou iustifie? or whom wouldest thou condemne?

19 I answered and said, Verely it is a foolish purpose that they both haue deuised: for the ground is appointed for the wood, and the sea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he mee, and said, Thou hast giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgest thou not thy selfe also?

21 For like as the ground is appointed for the the wood, and the sea for his floods, so * they that dwell vpon earth can vnderstand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: and they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue the height of the heauens.

22 Then answered I, and sayde, I beseech thee, O Lord, let vnderstanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of thine high things, but of such as wee daily meddle withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproch to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the lawe of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why we are tossed to and fro through the world as the grashoppers, and our life is a very feare, and wee are not thought worthy to obtaine mercie.

25 But what will he doe to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of these things haue I asked the question.

26 Then answered hee mee, and sayd, The more thou searchest, the more thou shalt marualle: for the world hasteth fast to passe away, 27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of vnrighteousnesse and weakenesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou askest, the euill is sowen, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euill now that is sowen bee not turned vpside downe, and if the place where the euill is sowen, passe not away, then cannot the thing come that is sowen with good.

30 For the corne of euill seede hath bene sowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlinesse hath he brought vp vnto this time? And how much shall hee bring forth vntill the harueste come?

31 Ponder with thy selfe, how much fruite of wickednesse the corne of euil seede bringeth forth, 32 And when the stalkes shall bee cut downe which are without number, how great an harueste must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? wherefore are our yeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Haste not to bee aboue the most High: for thou labourest in vaine to be aboue him, though thou endeauour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shall I thus hope? and when commeth the fruite of my barne and our wages?

36 And vpon this Jeremiel the Archangel answered, and sayd, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the balance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not bee moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all euen full of sinne.

39 And for our sake peraduenture the harueste of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So hee answered mee, and sayd, Goe and aske a woman with childe, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if here wombe may keepe the birth any longer within her?

41 Then said I, No, Lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with childe, hasteth to escape the necessitie of the trauell, so doe these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet therefore, 45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past, I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And he sayd vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So, I stood, and beholde, a hote burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before mee a watry cloude, & sent downe much raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand, and the drops and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayd, May I liue, thinkest thou, vntill that time? Or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered mee, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest mee, I can tell thee a part: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1 In the latter times trueth shall be hid. 10 Vnrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23 Israel is reiected, & God deliuereth them. 35 God doeth all things in season.

NEuertheless concerning the tokens, behold, the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth shall be taken in a great number, and the way of the trueth shall bee hid, and the land shall be barren from faith,

2 And * iniquitie shall bee increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past: Mat. 24. 12.

3 And it shall come to passe that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the lande desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grant thee to liue, thou shalt see after the third trumpet that the sunne shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone shall giue his voyce, and the people shall be moued.

6 And he shall rule, of whom they hope not that dwel vpon earth, and the soules shall change place.

7 And

Isa. 55. 8, 9. Ecclus. 3. 21. 1. Cor. 2. 13, 14

Dan. 9. 8. 2. Chron. 25.

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noise in the night, which many shall not know, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake foorth, and the wilde beastes shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beare monsters.

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall wit hide it selfe, and understanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 It shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall unrighteousnesse and voluptuousnes haue the upper hand upon earth.

11 One land also shall aske another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtaine: they shall labour, but their enterprises shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue, & if thou wilt pray againe, and weepe, as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, & my minde was feeble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted mee, and set me up upon my feet.

16 And in the second night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came unto mee, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed unto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Up then and eate, and forsake us not, as the shepheard that leaueth his flock in the hands of the cruell wolues.

19 Then sayd I unto him, Goe thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when hee heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning, and weeping, as Uriel the Angel had commaunded mee.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grieuous unto mee againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I beganne to talke with the most High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euery forrest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all landes of the world thou hast chosen thee one pit, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lillie,

25 And of all the depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of all builded cities thou hast sanctified Sion unto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattell that are made thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people, and unto this people whom thou louedst, thou gauest a lawe, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer unto many? and upon one roote thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleeue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou diddest so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, the Angel that came to me the night before, was sent unto me, 32 And said unto me, Heare mee, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he unto me, Thou art sore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better then he doeth that made them?

34 And I said, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines paine mee euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seeke out part of his iudgement.

35 And hee sayd unto mee, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not seene the trouble of Iaakob, and the griefe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And hee sayd unto mee, Number unto me the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring mee foorth the windes that are shut up therein: shew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and labourest to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can know these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things, whereof thou askest mee?

40 Then said he unto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised unto my people.

41 Then I said, Behold, O Lord, the last things are present unto thee, and what shall they doe that haue bene before mee, or wee that bee now, or they that shall come after us?

42 And hee said unto mee, I will compare my iudgement unto a ring: as there is no slacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and sayd, Couldest thou not make at once, those that haue bene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered hee mee, The creature, said hee, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I sayde, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen like at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it

now also conteine all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest foorth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I diuided the number of the earth by times when seede is sowen vpon it.

49 For as a young childe begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordained the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast tolde me is young, draweth she neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that trauaileth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shall answere thee, Some were borne in the flowre of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that yee are lesse of stature then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now begin to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shew thy seruant, by whome doest thou gouerne thy workemanship?

CHAP VI.

God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsell, and is authour thereof, and hath created them for his children. 25 The felicity of the age to come.

AND hee said vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the borders of the worlde were set, and before the windes blewe one against another:

2 Before the noyse of thunders sounded, before the bright lightning did shine foorth, before the foundations of paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire flowres did appeare, before the moueable powers were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chimneys in Sion were hote:

5 Before the present yeeres were sought out, and before the affections of them that now sinne, were turned away, and they that haue laide vp the treasure of faith, were sealed,

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall bee ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shall be the distinction of times? or when shall bee the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And hee sayd vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him, *Iacobs hand held first the heele of Esau. *Gen. 25. 26.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered then, & said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an end to shew thy seruaunt thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst mee part the last night.

13 So he answered mee, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mighty sounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest shall not bee moued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, be not afraid: for of the ende shall bee the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee vnderstood.

16 Therefore whilst one speaketh of them, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I heard it, I stood vp vpon my feet, and hearkened, and behold, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And I said, Behold, the dayes come, that I will come and enquire of them that dwell vpon the earth.

19 And when I beginne to enquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnesse haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall bee fulfilled, 20 And the world that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the bookes shall be opened before the heauen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yeere old shall speake with their voyces: the women with childe shall bring foorth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddenly shall the sowen places appeare as the vnsowen, and the full store houses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 And at that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies: and the earth shall feare with them: the springs of the welles shall stand still, and in three houres they shall not runne.

25 Whosoeuer remaineth frō all these things that I haue told thee, shall be saued and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are receiued, shall see it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall bee changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shall be put out, and deceit shalbe quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shalbe ouercome, and the truth which hath bin so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 ¶ And

29 ¶ And when he talked with me, beholde, I looked a little vpon him before whome I stood.

30 And these wordes said he vnto mee, I am come to shew thee the time of the night to come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, & fast seuen daies more, I will tell thee more things, and greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the highest: surely the Mighty hath seene thy righteous dealing: hee hath seene also thy chastitie which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Bee of good comfort, and feare not,

34 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seuen dayes in like maner, that I might fulfill the three weekes which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the most high.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou speakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst * that the heauen and the earth should be made, and thy worke followed thy word. Gen. 1.1.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darknes was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commaundedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might giue light to thy worke.

41 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly ayre, and commandedst it, that going betweene, it should make a diuision betweene the waters, that the one part might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

42 Vpon the third day thou commaundedst, that the waters should be gathered together in the seuenth part of the earth: sixe parts diddest thou drie, & kept them, to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being sowen of God and tilled.

43 Assoone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediatly great and innumerable fruit did spring vp, and many diuers pleasures for the taste, and flowres of vnchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 * Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the starres, Gen. 1.14.

46 And gauest them a charge, to doe * seruice euen to man that was for to be made. Gen. 1.14, 15. deut. 4. 19.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saidst vnto the seuenth part * where the waters were gathered, that it should bring forth beasts, fowles and fishes: and it was so. Gen. 1.20.

48 For the dumbe waters, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandement of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous works.

49 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst ‖ Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Leuiathan, ‖ Or, Enoch.

50 And didst separate the one from the other: for the seuenth part where the water was gathered could not hold them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried vp the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hils.

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest the seuenth part that is wet, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beasts, cattell, and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the works which thou hast created, of him come we all, & the people also, whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessell. Deut. 8.1.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the only begotten, and thy feruent louer) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession? or how long shall we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

5 Without tribulation none can can come to felicitie. 12 God aduertiseth all in time. 28 The comming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement. 43 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnesse of God.

AND when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel which had beene sent downe to mee the nights afore.

2 And hee said vnto mee, Vp, Esdras, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I said, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto mee, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

5 Who could goe into the sea to looke vpon it, and to rule it? if he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a city is builded, and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left,

8 And there is but one path betweene them, euen betwixt the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if hee neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could hee receiue his inheritance?

10 And

10 And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes haue I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my Statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorrow and trauaile: they are but few and euill, and full of perils, and very painefull.

13 For the entrances of the fore world were wide and sure, and brought immortall fruit.

14 If then they that are liuing labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they cannot attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible; and why art thou moued, seeing thou art mortall?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

Gen. 1.1. 17 Then said, I O Lord, Lord, * seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Law, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the vngodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things: yet they that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said vnto mee, There is no Iudge more iust then God, and there is none more wise then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came, so oft as they came, what they should doe to haue life, and what they should obserue to auoyd punishment.

22 Neuerthelesse, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things, 23 And deceiued themselues by their wicked deedes, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his wayes.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I haue told thee, shall come to passe, and the bride shall appeare, and she shall come foorth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

27 And whosoeuer shal escape these euils, hee shall see my wonders.

28 For my Sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that bee with him, and they that remaine, shall reioyce within foure hundreth yeeres.

29 After these same yeeres shall my Sonne Christ die, and all men that haue life.

30 And the world shalbe turned into the old silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgments, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seuen dayes, the world that is yet asleepe, shall bee raised vp: and that shall die, that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those, that haue slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare vpon the seate of Iudgement, and miseries shall vanish away, and long suffering shall haue an ende, 34 Iustice onely shall continue: the truth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The worke shall follow, and the reward shall be shewed: the good deedes shall be of force, and vnrighteousnesse shall beare no more rule.

36 Then said I, * Abraham prayed first for the Sodomites, and * Moses for the Fathers that sinned in the wildernesse: Gen. 18. 23. Exod. 32. 31, 17.

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz and Samuel, 38 And * Dauid for the destruction, * and Salomon for them that came into the Sanctuarie, 2. Sam. 24. 17. 2 Chr. 6. 14.

39 * And Elias for those that receiued raine, and for the dead that he might liue, 1. King. 17. 21. and 18. 42, 45.

40 And * Ezechias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and diuers others for many. 2. King. 19. 15.

41 Euen so now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then hee answered mee, and said, This present life is not the ende, oft times honour is reserued in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shalbe the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperancie shall passe away: infidelitie shalbe cut off: righteousnesse shall grow vp, and the veritie shall spring vp.

45 Then shall no man bee able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adam, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that hee should not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to bee in beastinesse, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also reboundeth vnto vs that come of thee. Rom. 5. 18.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there bee promised an immortall life, when wee doe the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euerlasting hope should bee promised vs, seeing that we betide our selues to deadly vanitie?

51 And that there should bee appointed vs dwellings of health and safety, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glory of the most High should be kept to defend them which haue led a patient life, if wee haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternall Paradise should be shewed, whose fruite remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safety and health, if we wil not enter into it?

54 (For wee haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places.)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abstained, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darkenesse?

56 For while we liued, we did not remember when we did vnrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the maner of the battel, which man that is borne in the earth, shall fight, 58 That if he be ouercome, he should suffer as thou hast said, but if he get the victory, he should receiue the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life whereof Moses spake Deut.30.19. vnto the people, while he liued, saying, Chuse thee life that thou mayest liue.

60 Neuertheless they beleeued him not, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauinesse should not so bee to their destruction, as ioy should come vnto them, to whom saluation is perswaded.

62 I answered then, and said, I know, Lord, that the most High is called merciful, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world, 63 And that he hath pity on those that walke in his Law.

Rom.2.4. 64 And that * he is patient: for he long suffereth those that haue sinned as his creatures,

65 And that he is liberall: for he will giue as much as needeth,

66 And that he is of great mercy: for he ouercommeth in mercy those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also for if he gaue not of his godnesse, that they which haue done euil, might be releeued from their wickednesse, the ten thousand part of men should not remaine aliue,

69 And if hee, being iudge, forgaue not those that bee healed with his word, and tooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peraduenture bee very few left in an innumerable multitude.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The number of the godly is small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayer for him and for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the vniust.

AND he answered me, saying, The most High made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shall say vnto thee that it giueth much earthy matter to make pots, but little dust that gold commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

Mat.20.16. 3 * There be many created, but few shalbe saued.

4 Then answered I, and said, Then swallow vp the wit, O my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may intreat thee, that thou mayest giue seed vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby euery one which is corrupt, may liue, who can set himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, and wee all are one workemanship of thy hands, as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is fashioned now in the wombe, & thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preserued by fire and water, & the worke created by thee, doeth suffer nine moneths the creature which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that conteineth, and that which is conteined, shall both be preserued, and when time is come, the wombe being preserued, deliuereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, euen the breasts to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing which is created, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousnesse, nourturest it in thy Law, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, and giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy Commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preserued.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speake (as touching men in generall, thou shalt rather prouide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sory,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whom I am wofull, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieued, 17 For them will I pray before thee, aswell for my selfe as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the swidden comming of the Iudge which is to come.

19 Therfore heare my voyce, and vnderstand my words which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras, before he was taken vp:

20 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the aire,

21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glory incomprehensible, before whom the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde & fire, whose word is true, and sayings stedfast, whose Commaundement is strong, and gouernment terrible, 23 Whose looke driueth vp the depths, and wrath maketh the mountaines to melt away: & the thing beareth witnesse.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answere.

26 Looke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deeds of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue lined like beastes, but looke vpon them that haue clearely taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beasts, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousnesse, and glory.

31 For we and our Fathers haue all the same sickenesse, but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If therfore thou wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt be called mercifull toward vs which haue no works of righteousnes.

33 For the righteous which haue laid vp many good workes, let them receiue the reward of their owne deeds.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest bee so grieued towards it?

35 * For verily there is no man among them that be borne, but hee hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse. 1 King. 8. 46. Psalm. 143. 2.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousnesse and thy goodnesse shalbe praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good works.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according to thy words it shall be.

38 For I will not verily consider the workes of them before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation, & the reward that they shall haue. Esa. 44.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shal it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seed vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sowen, commeth not vp in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saued.

42 I answered then and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it bee destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perisheth man which is created with thine hands, and thou art called his paterne, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, & likened him vnto the husbandmans seed.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, & said, The things present are for the present, & the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou are farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature aboue me: but I haue oft times drawen neere vnto thee, and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art marueilous before the Highest, 49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not iudged thy selfe worthy to haue thy selfe greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries and calamities remaine for them, that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnesse made ready: the citie is builded: and rest is prepared, perfect goodnesse and absolute wisedome.

53 The root of euill is sealed vp from you: the weakenesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorrowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therfore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish:

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most High, they contemned his Lawe, and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die. Psal. 14. 1. and 53. 1.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thirst and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankefull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said.

63 Behold now, O Lord: thou hast shewed mee the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The Iewes ingratitude: 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

HE answered me then, and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the most High will begin to visite the world which he made.

3 Therefore when there shall bee seene an *earthquake in the world, and an vprore of the people, Matthew 24. 7.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most High spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles,

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleeued,

8 Shalbe preserued from the said perils, and shall see my saluation in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shall they haue pitie of themselues, which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue receiued benefits, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my Lawe, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendment, and would not vnderstand but despised it, 12 They must bee taught it after death by paine.

13 And therefore be thou no more carefull to know how the vngodly shal be punished, but enquire how the righteous shalbe saued, & whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now, and will speake it hereafter, that there be many moe of them which perish, then of them that shal

Chap. 8. 3. matth. 20. 16. be * saued,

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers bee, so are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the maners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seed, and by a law, where out they cannot rid themselues.

20 So I considered the world, and behold, there was perill, because of the deuiles, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, & a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape bee kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 ¶ Neuertheless, if thou wilt cease seuen dayes moe, (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, & shalt eate onely of the flowers of the field, & eate no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the flowers onely,

25 And pray vnto the most high continually) then will I come and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had commanded mee, into the field, which is called Ardath, and there I sate among the flowers, and did eat of the herbes of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within mee, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most high, and to say,

Exod. 19. 9. and 20. 1. deut. 4. 12. 29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shewe thy selfe vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our Fathers in the wildernesse, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt, 30 And expressly spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and marke my words, thou seed of Jacob.

31 For behold, I sow my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for euer.

32 But our fathers which receiued the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 * For they that receiued it, perished be- Exod. 32. 28. cause they kept not the thing that was sowen in them.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiueth seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessell meate and drink, if that perish wherein a thing is sowen, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sowen, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish, so the things that are receiued, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it commeth not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it:

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the right side * I saw a woman, which mourned sore, and Chap. 10. 44. lamented with a loud voyce, and was grieued in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And said vnto her, Wherefore weepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And she said vnto mee, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my self, and increase sorow: for I am sore vexed in my mind, and brought very low.

42 Then I said vnto her, What ailest thee? tell me.

43 And shee said to mee, I thy seruant haue bene barren, and haue had no child, hauing an husband thirtie yeeres.

44 And euery houre, & euery day these thirty yeres, I praied to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeeres God heard mee thine handmaid, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almightie.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell.

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

CHAP. X.

1 Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

BUt when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lights, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

3 And when they had all left off to comfort mee that I should be quiet, then I rose vp by night, and fledde, and am come into this field field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast vntil I die.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and sayd, 6 Thou foolish woman abone all other, seest thou not our heauinesse, and what commeth vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all wofull, and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing wee be all now in heauinesse, and make one mone (for we be all sorrowful) art thou sore for one sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and she shall tell thee that it is she which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow vpon her.

10 For from the beginning, all men are born of her, and other shall come, and behold, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Who should then rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sore but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the fruit of my wombe, which I brought forth with heauinesse, and bare with sorrowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauel, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit vnto man, euen to him that laboured her.

15 Now therefore withold thy sorrow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which commeth vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband.

18 ¶ Then shee sayd vnto me, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 20 Do not so, but be counselled: for how many falles hath Sion? Bee of good comfort, because of the sorrow of Jerusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is layd waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed.

22 Our Psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away, and the light of our candlesticke is quenched, and the Arke of our Couenant is taken away, & our holy things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon ouer vs, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Leuites are carted into captiuitie, and our virgins are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, and our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weake.

23 And which is the greatest of all, Sion the seale hath lost her worthip: for shee is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great heauinesse, and put away the multitude of sorrowes that the Almightie may be mercifull vnto thee, and that the most High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mused what it might bee.

26 And behold, immediatly shee cast out a great voyce, very fearefull, so that the earth shook at the noyse of the woman.

27 And I looked, and behold, the woman appeared vnto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, & a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cried with a loud voyce, and sayd, 28 Where is Uriel the Angel * which came to me at the first? for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke. * Chap. 4. 1.

29 And as I was speaking these words, behold, he came vnto me, and looked vpon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and hee tooke me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feete, and sayd vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vered? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou sory?

32 And I sayd, Because thou hast forsaken mee, and I haue done * according vnto thy words: I went into the field, and there haue I seene things, and see that I am not able to expresse. * Chap. 5. 29.

33 Then sayd he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I will giue thee exhortation.

34 Then sayd I, Speake vnto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, lest I die through rashnesse.

35 For I haue seene that I knew not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding deceiued, or doeth my minde, being hautie, erre?

37 Now therefore, I beseech thee, that thou wilt shew thy seruant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered mee, and sayd, Heare me, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most High hath reuealed many secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art sore continually for thy people, and makest great lamentation for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the vision, which appeared vnto thee a little while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou begannest to comfort her.

42 But now seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie builded.

43 And whereas she told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, shee is Sion: and whereas she told thee (euen she which thou seest now as a citie builded)

45 And as touching that shee said vnto thee, that she was barren thirtie yeeres, this was concerning that there was euen thirty yeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirtie yeeres, Salomon built the citie, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas she told thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Jerusalem.

48 But whereas she told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, died when thee came vnto her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Jerusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou begannest to comfort her: of these things which haue chanced, these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art sory in thy mind, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearenesse of her glory, and the fatrenes of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I knew that the most High would shew these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to go into the field where no foundation or building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the Citie of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but go in, and see the beauty and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboue many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morow at night thou shalt remain here,

59 And the most High shal shew thee visions of high things, which the most High wil doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last daies. So I slept the same night and another, as hee had commanded mee.

CHAP. XI.

1 The vision of an Eagle comming foorth of the Sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a Lyon comming forth of the forrest.

THen saw I a dreame, and behold, there came vp from the sea an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I saw, & behold, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the winds of the ayre blew on her, and gathered themselues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the mids was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreouer, I saw that the Eagle flew with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the eagle stood vp vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not all together: sleepe euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preserued for the last.

10 Neuertheles I saw that ẏ voyce went not out of her heads, but from the mids of her body.

11 Then I numbred her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold, in processe of time the feathers that followed, stood vp on the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set vp, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, & behold, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles body, but two heads that rested, and six wings.

24 Then saw I also, that two wings diuided themselues from the six, and remained vnder the head that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the vnderwings thought to set vp themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and lo, the two that remained, thought also in themselues to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awaked one of ẏ heads that were at rest, which was in the mids: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I saw that the two heads were ioyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eat vp the two vnderwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth, with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had beene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I beheld, and loe, the head vpon the right right side deuoured it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which sayd vnto mee, Looke before thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I saw, and behold, as it were a lyon that roareth, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the Eagle, and spake, and sayd,

38 Heare thou, I will talke with thee, and the most High shall say vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that, that of the foure beasts remainest, whom I made to reigne in my world, that by them the end of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beastes that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearefulnesse, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dwelleth so long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the world with trueth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meeke, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruite, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come vp vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Mighty.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine body, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, and that shee may hope for the iudgement and mercy of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

AND when the lyon spake these words to the Eagle, I saw,

2 And behold, the head that had the vpper hand appeared no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselues to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vproares.

3 And I saw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and sayd vnto my spirit, 4 Loe, this hast thou done vnto mee in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 Loe, yet am I weary in my mind, and very weake in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now, will I beseech the most High, that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy sight, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deed be come vp before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule,

9 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretation of this vision, 11 The Eagle whom thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the * kingdome which was seene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. *Dan.7.7.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shalbe feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another.

15 Whereof the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie, which thou sawest.

17 As for the voice that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not go out from the heads, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation,

18 That after the time of that kingdome, there shall arise great strife, and it shalbe in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their yeres swift, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time commeth, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads resting, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the dominion of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle:

25 For they shal accomplish his wickednesse, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bedde, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall her fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnderwings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation, 30 These are they whom the most High hath preserued for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lion whom thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnesse with all the wordes that thou hast heard,

32 This is the winde which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesse vnto the end, and hee shall reproue them, and cast before them their spoyles.

33 For hee shall set them alone in the iudgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he will deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preserued vpon my borders, and hee shall make them ioyfull, vntill the comming of the day of iudgement, wherof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou only hast bene meete to know this secret of the most High.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke, and hide them, 38 And teach them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seuen dayes moe, that it may be shewed thee whatsoeuer it pleaseth the most High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceiued, that the seuen dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the most, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,

41 What haue we offended thee? or what euil haue wee done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou only art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, and as a hauen or ship preserued from the tempest.

43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, sufficient?

44 If thou then forsake vs, how much better had it been for vs, that we had beene burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For we are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loude voice. Then answered I them, and sayd, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heauie thou house of Iacob.

47 For the most High hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I haue not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercy for the low estate of your sanctuary.

49 And now goe your way home euery man, and after these dayes will I come vnto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie as I commanded them:

51 But I remayned still in the field seuen dayes, as he had commaunded me, and did eate only of the flowers of the fielde, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The vision of a winde comming forth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His properties and power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

AND after the seuen dayes I dreamed a dreame by night.

2 And behold, there arose a winde from the sea, and it mooued all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and behold, there was a mighty man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene vnder him.

4 And when the voice went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voice, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and behold, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the foure windes of ỹ heauen, to fight against the man that came out fro the sea.

6 And I looked, and behold, he graued himselfe a great mountaine, and flew vp vpon it.

7 But I would haue seene the countrey or place whereout the hill was graued, and I could not.

8 I saw after these things, and behold, all they which came to fight against him were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 Neuertheless, when he saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hand: for he held no sword nor any instrument of warre,

10 But only, as I saw, he sent out of his mouth, as it had beene a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.

11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, & fell with violence vpon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the immumerable multitude there was nothing seene, but only dust and smell of smoke. When I saw this, I was afraid.

12 Afterward saw I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offred: and I was sicke through great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted me worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.

16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, Woe vnto them that shall be left in those dayes, and much more woe vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauinesse.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are laid vp in the latter dayes, which shal come both vnto them, and to those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils, and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that he that is in danger should fall into these, and forsee the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the world.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, and sayd, The interpretation of the vision will I shew thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Whereas thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation.

23 He that shal beare the danger in that time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into danger, are such as haue workes and faith faith toward the moſt mighty.

24 Know therefore, that they which bee left behind, are more bleſſed then they that be dead.

25 Theſe are the meanings of the viſion, Whereas thou ſaweſt a man comming vp from the mids of the ſea, 26 The ſame is he whom the moſt High hath kept a great ſeaſon, who by his owne ſelfe ſhall deliuer his creature, and he ſhall order them that are left behind.

27 ¶ And whereas thou ſaweſt, that out of his mouth there came as a blaſt with fire and ſtorme,

28 And that he neither held ſword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenelle hee deſtroyed the whole multitude that came to fight againſt him, this is the interpretation,

29 Beholde, the dayes come that the moſt High will begin to deliuer them that are vpon the earth:

30 And hee ſhall aſtoniſh the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one ſhall prepare to fight againſt another, citie againſt citie, and place againſt place, Mat.24.7. *and nation againſt nation, and realme againſt realme.

32 When this commeth to paſſe, then ſhall the tokens come, that I ſhewed thee before, and then ſhal my ſonne be reuealed, whom thou ſaweſt goe vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euery man ſhall in their owne land leaue the battell that they haue one againſt another.

34 And an innumerable multitude ſhall bee gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight againſt him.

35 But he ſhall ſtand vpon the top of mount Sion.

36 And Sion ſhal come, and ſhalbe ſhewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou ſaweſt the hill grauen forth without any hands,

37 And this my ſonne ſhall rebuke the wicked inuentions of thoſe nations, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempeſt, 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they ſhall be tormented: and without any labour will he deſtroy them euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fire.

39 And whereas thou ſaweſt that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him,

40 Thoſe are the ten tribes, which were caried away captiues out of their owne land *in
2.King.17.3 the time of Oſeas the king, whom Salmanaſar the king of the Aſſyrians tooke captiue, and caried them beyond the riuer: ſo were they brought into another land.

41 But they tooke this counſel to themſelues, that they would leaue the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further countrey, where neuer mankind dwelt,

42 That they might there keepe their ſtatutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.

43 And they entred in at the narrow paſſages of the riuer Euphrates.

44 For the moſt High then ſhewed them
Exod.14.21 ſignes, *and ſtayed the ſprings of the flood till Ioſh.3.15,16 they were paſſed ouer.

45 For thorow the countrey there was a great
Or, Arſa- tourney, euen of a yeere and a halfe, and the ſame reth. region is called ‖ Arſareth.

46 Then dwelt they there vntill the latter time: and when they come forth againe, 47 The moſt High ſhall hold ſtill the ſprings of the riuer againe, that they may goe thorow: therefore ſaweſt thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that be left behind of thy people, are thoſe that be found within my borders.

49 Now when he deſtroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, he ſhall defend the people that remaine.

50 And then ſhal he ſhew great wonders vnto them.

51 Then ſaid I, O Lord, Lord, ſhew me this, wherefore haue I ſeene the man comming vp from the mids of the ſea:

52 And he ſaid vnto mee, As thou canſt neither ſeeke out, nor know theſe things that are in the deepe of the ſea, ſo can no man vpon earth ſee my ſonne, or thoſe that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou ſaweſt, and whereby thou onely art lightned.

54 For thou haſt forſaken thine owne law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and ſought it.

55 Thy life haſt thou ordered in wiſedome, and haſt called vnderſtanding thy mother.

56 Therefore haue I ſhewed thee the rewards with the moſt High: and after three other dayes I will ſpeake other things vnto thee, and will declare vnto thee great and wonderous things.

57 Then went I forth vnto the field, glorifying and praiſing the moſt High for the wonders which he did in time, 58 Which he gouerneth, and ſuch things as come in their ſeaſons: and there I ſate three dayes.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moſes in the buſh. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worſe then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Iſrael. 35 The reſurrection and iudgement.

VPon the third day I ſate vnder an oke, and behold, there came forth a voyce vnto mee out of the buſh, and ſaid, Eſdras, Eſdras.

2 And I ſaid, Here am I, Lord, and ſtood vp vpon my feet.

3 Then ſaid he vnto mee, *In the buſh I re- Exod.3.2,&c.
uealed my ſelfe, and ſpake vnto Moyſes, when my people ſerued in Egypt:

4 And I ſent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long ſeaſon,

5 And I told him many wonders, and ſhewed him the ſecrets of the times and the end, and commanded him, ſaying,

6 Theſe words ſhalt thou declare, and theſe ſhalt thou hide.

7 And now I ſay vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the ſignes that I haue ſhewed, and the dreames that thou haſt ſeene, and the interpretations, which thou haſt heard.

8 For thou ſhalt be taken away from all, and thou ſhalt remaine hencefoorth with my counſel, and with ſuch as be like thee, vntill the times be ended.

9 For the world hath loſt his youth, and the times times begin to ware old.

10 For the world is divided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature,

14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils bee increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall bee borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Law, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fortie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, til the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as hee commanded mee, and gathered all the people together, and said, 28 Heare these words, O Israel.

Gen.47.4. 29 *Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

Act.7.53. 30 And receiued the Law of life, *which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and yee also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as he is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are yee here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shalbe kept aliue, and after death shall ye obtaine mercy.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, and the works of the vngodly shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fortie dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as he commaunded mee, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, saying, Esdras, *open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. Ezek.3.2.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eat bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fortie dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.

46 But keepe the seuentie last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition 20 and punishment vpon the kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to bee written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnes.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I wil bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked works are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will hold my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither wil I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,

Zach. 6. 10. and 13 2.

8 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, sayth the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

11 But I will bring them out with a mightie hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall be smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seedes shall faile through the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Woe to the world, and to them that dwel therein.

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth neere, and one people shall stand vp to fight against another with swords in their hands.

16 For there shal be sedition among men, and one shall inuade another: they shall not regard their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a citie, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall be troubled, the houses shall bee afraide, men shall feare.

19 A man shall haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shalbe spoyled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, sayth God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence mee, which are from the || East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon them and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

|| Or, West.

21 As they doe yet this day vnto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God,

22 My right hand shal not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

24 Woe to them that sinne, and keepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children from the power: defile not my Sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, and ye shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because yee haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision commeth from the East,

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charets, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble,

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shall goe forth as the boares of the forrest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the vpper hand, (remember their nature, and shall turne about: and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall bee troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemie besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shall bee feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold cloudes from the East, and from the North vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth: euen their owne starre, and the blood shall bee from the sword vnto the belly,

36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shall be great fearefulnesse and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shalbe afraid, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shall winds arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which hee raised vp in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West wind, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty clouds shall be lift vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraide, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation,

41 As fire and haile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may bee full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake down the cities, and walls and mountaines, and hils, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the medowes, and their corne.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course
vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.

44 They shall come to her and besiege her, and shall powre forth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shal doe service vnto them that haue put her in feare.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person,

47 Woe vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast decke thy daughters in whoredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whoredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuentions: therefore saith God,

49 I will

times begin to ware old.

10 For the world is diuided into twelue parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and halfe of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee mortall thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the weake nature,

14 And set aside thy most grieuous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the euils bee increased vpon them that dwell therein.

17 For the trueth is fled farre away, and lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall bee borne afterward, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the works that shall be done.

22 But if I haue found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, and I will write all that hath bene done in the world since the beginning, which was written in thy Law, that men may finde the path, and that they which will liue in the latter dayes, may liue.

23 And he answered me, saying, Goe and gather the people, and say vnto them, that they seeke thee not for fortie dayes,

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these fiue, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are ready to write swiftly,

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, til the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as hee commanded mee, and gathered all the people together, and said, 28 Heare these words, O Israel.

Gen.47.4. 29 *Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered,

Act.7.53. 30 And receiued the Law of life, *which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, euen the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and yee also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commanded you.

32 And for so much as he is a righteous iudge, he tooke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are yee here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shalbe kept aliue, and after death shall ye obtaine mercy.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall liue againe: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, and the works of the vngodly shalbe declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seeke me these fortie dayes.

37 So I tooke the fiue men, as he commaunded mee, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, saying, Esdras, *open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. Ezek.3.1.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had dunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisedome grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fiue men, that they wrote the high things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did eat bread, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In fortie dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure bookes.

45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vnworthy may reade it.

46 But keepe the seuentie last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among thy people.

47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisedome, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAP. XV.

1 The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lord will auenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall lament. 16 Sedition 20 and punishment vpon the kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles and warres vpon the whole earth. 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

BEhold, speake thou in the eares of my people the words of prophecie, which I will put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to bee written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Feare not the imaginations against thee: let not the vnfaithfulnesse of the speakers trouble thee, that speake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithfull shall die in his vnfaithfulnes.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I wil bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death, and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, & their wicked works are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will hold my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither wil I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,

Reuel. 6. 10. and 19. 2.

8 Behold, *the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely auenge them, sayth the Lord, and receiue vnto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person, 50 And the glory of thy power shall be dried vp, as a flowre when the heat riseth, that is sent vpon thee.

51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wife that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie, and the louers shal not be able to receiue thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, sayth the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alwayes slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and sayd ouer their death, when thou wast drunken,

54 Set forth the beautie of thy countenance:

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosome: therfore shalt thou receiue a reward.

56 As thou hast done vnto my cholen, saith the Lord, so will God doe vnto thee, and will deliuer thee vnto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and thy cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fal by the sword in the field.

58 And they that bee in the mountains, shall die of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, and drink their owne blood for want of bread and thirst of water.

59 And thou, as vnhappy, shalt come thorow the Sea, and receiue plagues againe.

60 In the passage they shall cast downe the slaine citie, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glorie, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt bee to them as stubble, as they shall bee to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: al thy woods and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they cary away captiue, and shall spoyle thy substance, and marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, Egypt and Syria. 18. 38 Of the euill that shall come vpon the world, with admonition how to gouerne themselues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselues to the Lord, 55 whose mightie prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WOe to thee, Babylon, and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sack and haircloth, and mourne your children, and be lorie: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, & who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any man driue away a hungry Lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begun to burne? may one turne againe the arrow, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? he shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shal threaten, and who shal not vtterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof: the sea ariseth vp with waues from the deepe, and the waues thereof are troubled, and the fishes thereof, before the Lord and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrowes that hee shooteth, are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shal not turne againe till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not be put out till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shotte of a mighty archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne againe.

13 Woe is me, woe is me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorrowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine, and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendement.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor be alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, victuals shall bee so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselues to bee in good case: but then shall the euils budde forth vpon earth, euen the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perish with famine, and the other that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shalbe cast out as dung, and there shall be no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall be cast downe.

20 There shal no man be left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shal giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall bee ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, or to heare his voyce.

22 For of one citie there shall be ten left, and two of the field which shall hide themselues in the thicke woods, and the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine three or foure olives in the place where olives growe, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently sought thorow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall bee three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword, 26 And the earth shall be left waste, and the fields thereof shall waxe old, and her wayes and all her paths shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall trauaile therethorough.

Luke 16.

Gene. 1. 1.

27 The

27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no helpers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But, ye seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Behold the word of the Lord, receiue it: beleeue not the gods, of whom the Lord speaketh: behold, the plagues daw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauailing woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth foorth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the childe commeth to the birth, they tarry not a whit:

32 So shal not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and sorrowes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.

34 He that selleth let him be as he that fleeth his way, and hee that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 Who so occupieth merchandise as he that winneth not: and hee that buildeth, as hee that shall not dwell therein.

36 He that soweth, as one that shal not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shall not gather the grapes:

37 They that marry, as they that shal get no children, and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoyle their goods, and ouerthrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, & their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angry against them, for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shal righteousnes hate iniquitie, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when she shall come that shall bridle the authour of all sinne vpon earth.

44 And therefore be yee not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquity shalbe taken away out of the earth, and righteousnesse shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coles of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

Luke 16.16. 46 Behold, the Lord *knoweth all the works of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

Gene.1.1. 47 * For assoone as he said, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created:

48 By his word were the starres established, and he *knoweth the number of them. Psal.147.4.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: hee hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his word hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 He spreadeth out the heauen like a vault: vpon the waters hath he founded it.

52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountaines, to powre out flouds from the high rockes to water the earth.

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the middes of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the Almightie God, which made all things, and hath searched al the hid things in the secrets of the earth, 55 He knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne & would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, yee shall bee confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will yee doe, or how will you hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the Iudge: feare him: ceale from your sins, and forget your iniquities, and meddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall take away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate to the idoles.

61 And they that consent vnto them, shall be had in derision, and in reproch, and troden vnder foote.

62 For in euery place & cities that are neere, there shall be great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall be like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoile their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shal the trial of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord, Behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: bee not ye afraid: doubt not, for God is your captaine.

67 Who so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you down, and let not your iniquities lift themselues vp.

68 Woe vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, & the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

5 * Now all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

He fled from Idoles. Exod. 22. 29 deut. 12. 6.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerlasting decree) went alone often to Ierusalem, at the feasts, * bringing the first fruites and the tenths of beasts, with that which was first borne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem: the other tenth part I solde, and came and bestowed it euery yeere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meete, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me, for my father left mee as a pupil.

9 ¶ Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of * mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

He marieth to wife, Anna, which beareth to him Tobiah Numb. 36. 7. Gene. 43. 32.

10 ¶ But when I was led captiue to Nineue, all my brethren and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the * bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating,

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

He found grace in the sight of Salmanasar. ‖ Or, sonne.

13 Therefore the most High gaue mee grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his purueyour.

14 ¶ And I went into Media, and I deliuered ten talents of siluer to Gabael, the ‖ brother of Gabrias ‖ in the land of Media.

‖ Or, in Rages a citie of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

‖ Or, Salmanasar.

16 ¶ But in the time of Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry.

The charity of Tobit.

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if the king Sennacherib had slaine any, when hee * was come and fled from Iudea, I buryed them priuily, (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

19 Therefore when a certaine Ninenite had accused me to the king, because I did bury them, I hidde my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for feare.

Tobit fleeth from the face of Sennacherib.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, neither was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheless * within fiue and fifty dayes two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Ararath, and Sarchedonus his sonne raigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts, and ouer all his domesticall affaires, Achiacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for mee, I came againe to Nineue: now Achiacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and steward, and ouerlaw the accounts: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

Tobit returneth.

CHAP. II.

2 Tobit calleth the faithfull to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to bury the dead. 10 How he became blind. 11 His wife laboureth for her liuing. 14 She reproacheth him bitterly.

NOw when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto mee, with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eate.

2 And when I saw abundance of meate, I sayd to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt find of our brethren, which doth remember God, and loe, I will tary for thee.

Tobit doeth bid to dinner those which feare God.

3 But he came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start vp, and brought him into my house vntill the going downe of the Sunne.

Tobit leauing his guests, taketh vp the dead body into his house to burie it. Amos 8. 10. 1. mac. 1. 41.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in heauinesse,

6 Remembring, that prophecie of * Amos, which had sayd, Your solemne feastes shall bee turned into mourning, and your ioyes into wayling,

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the Sunne, I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbors mocked me, and sayd, Doeth hee not feare to die for this cause, who * fled away, and yet loe, hee buryeth the dead againe?

Tobit is rebuked of his neighbours. Chap. 1. 19.

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face vncouered,

He is made blind for an example of patience to his posterity.

10 And I knew not that sparrowes were in the wall: and as mine eyes were open, the sparrowes cast downe warme dung into mine eyes, and a whitenesse came in mine eyes, and I went to the Physicians, but they helped me not. Moreouer, Achiacharus did nourish me, vntill I went into Elimais.

The wife of Tobit laboreth for her liuing.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens workes to doe.

12 And when she had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages and gaue a kid.

The innocencie of Tobit.

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to bleate, I said vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stollen? render it to the owners: * for it is not lawfull to eat any thing that is stollen.

Deut. 22. 1.

14 But she said, It was giuen for a gift more then the wages: but I did not beleeue, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blush because of her. Furthermore she said, * Where are thine almes, and thy righteousnesse? behold, they all now appeare in thee.

Iob 2. 9.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, and the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 17 The Angel Raphael sent.

THen I being sorowfull, did weepe, and in my sorow prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iust, and all thy workes and all thy wayes are mercy and truth, and thou iudgest truely and iustly for euer.

3 Remember mee, and looke on mee, neither punish mee according to my sinnes or mine ignorances, or my Fathers, which haue sinned before thee.

Deut. 28. 15, 37.

4 For they haue not obeyed thy commaundements: wherefore thou hast deliuered vs * for a spoyle, and vnto captiuity, and to death, and for a prouerb of a reproch to all them among whom we are dispersed, and now thou hast || many and iust causes,

||Or, thy iudgments are many and true.

5 To doe with mee according to my sinnes, and my Fathers, because wee haue not kept thy Commaundements, neither haue walked in trueth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with mee as seemeth best vnto thee, and commaund my spirit to be taken from mee, that I may be dissolued, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, and am very sorowfull: commaund therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and goe into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

Sarra is cheked of her Fathers maids.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a city of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers mayds,

8 Because shee had beene married to seuen husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not knowe, said they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seuen husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

||Or, when she beat them for their faults, they said,

9 Wherefore doest thou || beate vs for them? if they bee dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that wee may neuer see of thee either sonne or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorowfull, so that she thought to haue strangled her selfe. And she said, I am the only daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shal slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorow.

Sarra prayeth and taketh, that she may be delivered from shame.

11 Then she prayed toward the window, and sayd, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And now, O Lord, I set mine eyes and my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

The innocencie of Sarra. Her chastitie.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, neither hath hee any man child to bee his heire, neither any ‡ neere kinseman or childe borne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seuen husbands are now dead, and why should I liue? But if it please not thee that I should die, commaund to looke on mee, and to pitie mee, that I doe no more heare reproch.

‡ Greeke, neere brother.

The prayers of Tobit and Sarra are heard both at a time.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to bind Asmodeus the euil spirit, because she belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entred into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came down from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

IN that day Tobit remembred * the siluer which hee had deliuered to Gabael in Rages a citie of Media,

Chap. 1. 14.

2 And said with himselfe, I haue wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias, that I may admonish him before I die?

Tobits exhortation to his sonne, when he thought he should die.

3 And when he had called him, he sayd, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury me, and despise not thy mother, but * honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

The mother is to be reuerenced.

4 Remember my sonne, how many dangers she sustained when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when she dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

Exod. 20. 12. ecclus. 7. 27.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, and let not thy will bee set to sinne, or to transgresse the commandements of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of wrighteousnesse: for if thou deale truely, thy doings shall prosperously succeede to thee, and to all them which liue iustly.

God must be in our hearts.

Almes.

7 Giue * almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye bee enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a little, be not afraid to giue a little almes.

9 For

9 For thou layest vp a good store for thy selfe against the day of necessity, Eccles. 29. 13. 10 * Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darknesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which vse it.

Adultery. 1. Thes. 4. 3. 12 Beware of all * whoredome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets: Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember, my sonne, that they married wiues of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherite the land.

Pride. 13 Now therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcitie, and great pouerty: for ‖ fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

‖ Or, vnprofitablenesse.

Wages of an hired seruant. Leuit. 19. 13. deut. 24. 14, 15. Matt. 7. 12. Luke 6. 31. Luke 14. 13. 14 Let not the * wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary for thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conuersation.

The hungry. Matth. 6. 1. 15 * Doe that to no man which thou hatest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkennesse goe with thee in thy iourney.

16 * Giue of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be enuious, when thou giuest almes.

‖ Or, be liberal to the iust, euen to their death. 17 ‖ Powre out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

Counsell. 18 Aske counsel alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

God is to be blessed. 19 Blesse thy Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy wayes may be made straight & that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for euery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he wil: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commaundements: neither let them at any time be put out of thy mind.

Chap. 1. 14. 20 * Furthermore, I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabrias at Rages in Media:

Poverty with the feare of God. 21 And feare not my sonne, for asmuch as wee are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, & flee from all sinne, and do that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages. 4 Hee meeteth with the Angel Raphael which did conduct him.

Tobias sent by his father to Rages seeketh a companion, and meeteth with Raphael, whom he briageth to his father.

TObias then answered, and said, Father, I wil do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and said vnto him, Seeke thee a man, which may goe with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, May I goe with thee into the land of Media? and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I will goe with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tary for mee, till I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Goe and tary not: so he went in, and said to his father, Behold, I haue found one, which will goe with me. Then he said, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether hee be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobit said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe or family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Doest thou seeke a stock or family, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I would know brother, thy kinred and thy name.

12 Then he said, I am of the kinred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brethren.

‖ Or, thou commest happily. 13 Then Tobit said, ‖ Thou art welcome, brother: be not now angry with mee, because I haue enquired to know thy kinred and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I know Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for we went together to Jerusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, and the tenths of the fruits, and they were not deceiued with the errour of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tel me, what wages shal I giue thee? wilt thou a groat a day, and things necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreouer, if ye returne safe, I will adde some thing to the wages.

16 So they agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and go you in Gods name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father said, Goe thou with this man, & God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both, and departed, and the dog of the yong man with them.

Tobias goeth forth, the Angel keeping him company. Chap. 10. 4.

17 But * Anna his mother wept, and sayd to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne? is he not ye staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?

His mother weepeth.

18 Would to God wee had not layd money vpon money, but that it had beene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobit, Be not carefull, my sister: he shall returne in safety, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weeping.

CHAP. VI.

2 Tobias deliuered from the fish. 7 Raphael sheweth him certaine medicines. 10 Hee conducteth him toward Sarra.

And

AND as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tigris, and there abode.

2 And when the young man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and would haue deuoured him.

Tobias inuaded of a fish is deliuered by the Angel.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man tooke the fish, and drewe it to land.

4 To whome the Angel said, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.

5 So the young man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way til they came to Ecbatane.

6 ¶ Then the young man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a deuill or an euill spirit trouble any, wee must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shall bee no more vexed.

8 As for the gall, anoynt a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shalbe healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come neere to Rages,

10 The Angel said to the young man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: hee also hath one only daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that shee may be giuen thee for a wife.

Num. 27. 8. and 36. 8.

11 For to thee doth the * right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kinred, 12 And the maide is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I will speake to her Father, that we may make the mariage when wee are returned from Rages: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another, according to the Law of Moses: else he should deserue death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this mayde hath beene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the mariage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my Father, and I am afraid lest I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come in to her: wherefore I also feare lest I die, and bring my Fathers and my mothers life because of mee to the graue with sorrow: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Doest thou not remember the precepts which thy Father gaue thee, that thou shouldest marry a wife of thine owne kinred: wherefore heare me, O my brother: for she shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt go into the mariage chamber, thou shalt take of the hote coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish.

17 Which if the spirit doe smell, he will flee away, and neuer come again any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pitie on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and she shall go with thee: moreouer I suppose that she shall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

AND when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.

Raphael and Tobias come to Raguel.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brethren? to whom they said, that they were of the tribe of Nephtalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he said to them, Do ye know Tobit our kinsman? And they said, We know him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is both aliue, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my Father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, and wept,

7 And blessed him, and said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when hee had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorowfull, and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer, they receiued them with a ready mind, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meat on the table. Then said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this business may be dispatched.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, & Raguel said to Tobias, Eat, and drinke, and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldest marry my daughter: neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the trueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in mariage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her, neuertheless, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I will eat nothing here, vntill ye bring her hither, & betroth her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and she came to her Father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the * Lawe of Moyses, and lead her away to thy Father: and he blessed them, Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias. Num. 36. 6.

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as hee had bid her, she brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares,

18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth giue thee ioy for this thy sorow: be of good comfort my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euill spirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesseth the Lord.

Tobias followeth Raphaels counsell, as Chap. 6.7.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembred the words of Raphael, and toke coales for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the vttmost parts of Egypt, whom the Angel bound.

Or, vpmost.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias arose out of the bed & said, Sister arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pitie on vs.

Tobias prayer.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blesse thee, and all thy creatures.

Gen. 2. 7, 18, 22.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him* Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankinde: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therefore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a graue for him.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue,

10 Saying, Is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 He said to his wife Edna, Send one of the maydes, and let them see whether he bee aliue: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleepe, 14 And came forth, and tolde them that he was aliue.

Raguel praiseth God for Tobias.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure and holy praise: therefore let thy Saints praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made me ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praised, because thou hast had mercy on two that were the onely begotten children of their Fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fill the graue.

19 And he kept the wedding feast fourteene dayes.

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods towards the mariage of his daughter to Tobias.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an oth, that he should not depart before that the fourteene dayes of the mariage were expired.

21 And then he should take the halfe of his goods, and returne in safetie to his Father, and should haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias mariage.

THen Tobias called Raphael, and said vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and go to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shall not depart,

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very sory. Tobits care for his son.

5 So Raphael went out, and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him. The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding, And Tobias begate his wife with childe.

CHAP. X.

1 Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

NOw Tobit his Father counted euery day, and when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money? The father and mother are in heauinesse for Tobias tarying.

3 Therefore he was very sory.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing hee tarieth: and shee began to *bewaile him, and said, Chap. 5. 17.

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobit said, Holde thy peace, be not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But shee said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not, my sonne is dead: and she went out euery day, by the way which they went, neither did she eate meate on the day time, and did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias, vntill the fourteene dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworne, that hee should tary there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me go: for my father and my mother looke no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will send to thy father, & they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me goe to my Father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruaunts, and cattell, and money. Raguel giueth Tobias and his wife leaue to depart.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I die.

12 And hee said to his daughter, Honour thy Father and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents, that I may heare good report of thee: and he kissed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee my deere brother, and graunt that I may see thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord, Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not intreate her euill. Sarra is instructed by her parents.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his Father. 9 How he was receiued. 10 His father hath his sight restored, and praiseth the Lord.

After

AFter these things Tobias went his way, praising God that he had giuen him a prosperous iourney, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way till he drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest brother, how thou didst leaue thy Father.

3 Let vs haste before thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine hand the gall of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

The Angels counsell to Tobias.

5 Now Anna sate in the way looking for her sonne,

6 Whom when she saw comming, she said to his Father, Behold, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy Father shall receiue his sight.

8 Therefore annoynt his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobit also went forth toward the doore, and stumbled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And tooke hold of his father, and sprinckled of the gall on his Fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my Father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, hee rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke,

14 And he wept, and said, Blessed art thou O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged mee, and hast had pittie on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad, went in, and told his Father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to meet his daughter in law, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, marueiled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all, that God had had pittie on him. And when he came neere to Sarra his daughter in law, hee blessed her: saying, Thou art welcome daughter: God be blessed which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren, which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus and Nalbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

1 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasure that Raphael had done him, 5 The which he would recompense. 11. 15. Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

THen Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And he said vnto him, O father, it shall not grieue mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man sayde, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and said vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and goe away in safetie.

6 But hee tooke them both apart, and sayd vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which he hath done vnto you before all the that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his euident workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reueale the works of God: do that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes and righteousnesse. A little with righteousnesse is better then much with vnrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes, then to lay vp gold.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sin. Those which exercise almes and righteousnesse, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I sayd it was good to keepe close the secret of a king, but that it was honourable to reueale the works of God.

12 Now therefore when thou didst pray, and Sarra thy daughter in law, I did bring to memorie your prayer before the holy One: And when thou diddest bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieued to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to burie the dead, thy good deed was not hid from mee: but I was with thee.

He that will be acceptable to God, must be proued with tentation.

14 And now God hath sent me to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael, one of the seuen holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Maiestie.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But he said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praise God therefore.

18 For I came not on mine own pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19* All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision. Gen. 18. 8. and 19. 3. Iudg. 13. 16.

20 Now therefore giue God thankes: for I go vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done, in a booke.

21 And when they rose, they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull works of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

CHAP. XIII.

A thankesgiuing of Tobit, who exhorteth all to praise the Lord.

THen Tobit wrote a prayer of reioycing, and said. Blessed be God that liueth for euer, and blessed be his Kingdome.

2 * For he doeth scourge and hath pittie: hee leadeth to hell, and bringeth vp, neither is there any that can auoid his hand. Deut. 32. 39. 1. sam. 2. 6. wisd. 16. 13.

3 Confesse him before the Gentiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.

4 There declare his greatnesse, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God, and our Father for euer.

5 Hee hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and will haue mercie againe, and will gather vs out of all nations, among whom wee are scattered.

6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole mind, and deale vprightly before him, then will hee turne vnto you, and will not hide his face from you, but ye shall see what hee will doe with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of righteousnesse, and extoll the euerlasting King. I will confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and wil declare his power and greatnesse to a sinnefull nation. O ye sinners, turne and doe iustice before him: who can tell if he wil receiue you to mercy, and haue pittie on you?

7 I will extoll my God, and my soule shall praise the King of heauen, and shall reioyce in his greatnesse.

8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousnesse.

9 O Jerusalem the holy citie, he wil scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but he will haue pittie againe on the sonnes of righteous men.

10 Giue praise vnto the Lord duely, and praise the euerlasting King, that his Tabernacle may be builded in thee againe with ioy: and let him make ioyfull there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.

11 Many nations shall come from farre to the Name of the Lord God, with giftes in their hands, euen gifts to the King of heauen: all generations shall praise thee, and giue signes of ioy.

12 Cursed are all they which hate thee, but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.

13 Reioyce, and bee glad for the children of the iust: for they shalbe gathered, and shall blesse the Lord of the iust.

14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for they shall reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue been sorowfull for all thy scourges: for they shall reioyce for thee, when they shall see all thy glory, and shall reioyce for euer.

15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.

16 For Jerusalem shall be built vp with Saphires, and Emeraudes, and thy walles with precious stones, and thy towres, and thy bulwarkes with pure gold, 17 And the streets of Jerusalem shall be paued with Berall, and Carbuncle, and stones of ‖ Ophir. ‖ Or, Souphir.

18 And all her streets shall say ‖ Halleluiah, and they shall praise him, saying, Blessed be God which hath extolled ‖ it for euer. ‖ Or, praise ye the Lord. ‖ That is, Jerusalem.

CHAP. XIIII.

3 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 He prophecieth the destruction of Nineue, 7 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 14 Tobias age and death.

SO Tobit made an end of praying God.

2 And he was eight and fifty yeere olde, when hee lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yeere, and hee gaue almes, and continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was very aged, he called his sonne, and sire of his sonnes sonnes, and sayd to him, My sonne, take thy children (for beholde, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life.)

4 Goe into Media my sonne: for I surely beleeue those things which Jonas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall be destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather be in Media, and that our brethren shall be scattered in the earth from that good land, and Jerusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God in it shal be burned and shall be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pitty on them and bring them againe into the land where they shal build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, & build vp Jerusalem gloriously, and the house of God shalbe built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof. Ezra. 3. 8. and 6. 14.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truely, and shall bury their idoles.

7 So shall all nations praise the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, & all those which loue the Lord in truth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those alms which shew mercy to our brethren.

8 And now my sonne, depart out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Jonas spake, shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Law, and the Commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury mee honestly, and thy mother with mee: but tarry no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achiacharus that brought him vp, how out of light hee brought him into darkenesse, and how hee rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his reward: for hee went downe into darkenesse. Manasses gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousnesse doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, ‖ he gaue vp the ghost in the bed, being an hundreth and eight and fiftie yeere old, and he buried him honourably. ‖ Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buryed her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Ragu-guel his father in law.

13 Where he became old with honour, and he buried his father and mother in law honorably, and he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he died at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundreth and seuen and twentie yeere olde.

15 But before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nebuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death hee reioyced for Nineue.

¶ Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad, and ouercame him. 12 Hee threatneth them that would not helpe him.

IN the twelfth yeere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the dayes of Arpharad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane, the walles round about of hewen stone, three cubits broad, and fiue cubits long, and made the height of the wall seuenty cubits, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubits,

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it an hundreth cubits, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof euen gates that were lifted vp on high, seuenty cubites, and the breadth of them fortie cubites, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen)

5 Euen in those dayes, king Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arpharad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris, and Hydaspes, and the countrey of Arioch the King of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselues to the battell of the sonnes of Chelod.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to al that dwelt in the West, and to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galile, and the great field of Esdrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Jorden vnto Jerusalem, and to Betane, and Chellus, and Cades, and the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Ramesse, and all the land of Gesem, 10 Until one come to Tanis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, & sware by his throne and kingdome, that he would surely be auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, & that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Judea, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against king Arpharad in the seuenteenth yeere, and he preuailed in his battell: for he ouerthrew all the power of Arpharad, and al his horsemen, and all his charets.

14 And hee wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towers, and spoyled the streets thereof, and turned the beautie therof into shame.

15 He tooke also Arpharad in the mountains of Ragan, and smote him thorow with his darts, and destroyed him vtterly that day.

16 So hee returned afterward to Nineue, both hee, and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time, and banqueted, both he and his army, an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commaundeth presumptuously that all people should bee brought into subiection, 6 and to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olofernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

AND in the eightéenth yere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, that he should auenge himselfe on all the earth, as hee had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his Officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and set before them with his own mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commaundement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great king, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt goe against all the West countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I wil goe forth in my wrath against them: and wil couer the whole face of the earth with the feete of mine army, and I will giue them as a spoyle vnto them.

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleyes, and their riuers, and the flouds shall ouerflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captiuity to the vtmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take vp for me al their countrey: and if they yeeld vnto thee, thou shalt reserue them for me vntill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoyle them wheresoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, whatsoeuer I haue spoken, that will I doe by mine hand, 13 And take thou heed that thou transgresse not any of the commandements of thy lord, but accomplish them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and deferre not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Holofernes went foorth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernors, and captaines, and officers of the army of Assur,

15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commaunded him, vnto an hundred and twenty thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great army in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their prouision, 18 And vitaile for euery man of the army, and very much gold & siluer out of the kings house.

19 Then he went foorth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to couer all the face of the earth Westward, with their charets and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grashoppers, and like the grauell of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three dales iourney toward the countrey of Bectileth, and pitched from Bectileth neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footmen and horsmen, and charets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And hee destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoyled all the children of Rasses, and the children of Ismael, which were toward the wildernesse at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, and destroyed al the high cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbonai, vntil one come to the sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the South, and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoyled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheate haruest, and burnt vp all their fields, & destroyed their flocks and the heards: he robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their yong men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell vpon all the inhabitants of the Sea coast which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur and Ocina, and all that dwelt in Jamnan: and they that dwelt in Azotus and Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Holofernes. 8 Hee destroyed their gods, that Nebuchodonosor might onely bee worshipped.

SO they sent ambassadours to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, wee are the seruants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: wee lie downe before thee: vse vs as shall be good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheate, and our flockes and our heards, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, euen our cities & the inhabitants therof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Holofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then he came down toward the sea coast, both he and his army, and set garison in the hie cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey round about receiued them with crownes, and dances, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was inioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, and that all tongues and tribes should call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Esdraelon, neere vnto Judea, ouer against the great strait of Judea.

10 And he pitched betweene Geba, and a citie of the Scytians, and there hee taried a moneth, that he might assemble all the baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid and defended their countrey. 6 Ioacim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should fortifie themselues. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled themselues before him.

NOw the children of Israel that dwelt in Judea, heard all that Holofernes the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoyled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Jerusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled assembled in Judea, and the vessels and the altar of the house had beene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coasts of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethora, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And tooke all the tops of the high mountaines, & walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailes for the prouision of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 And Joacim the hie Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Bethulia and Betomestham, which is ouer against Esdraelon, toward the open countrey neere to Dothaim,

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Judea, and it was easie to let them that would come vp, because the passage was straite for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacim the high Priest had commanded them with the ancients of all the people of Israel which dwelt at Jerusalem.

9 Then cryed euery man of Israel to God with great feruency, and their soules with great affection,

10 Both they, and their wiues, and their children, and their cattell, and euery stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackecloth vpon their loynes.

11 Thus euery man & woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes vpon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar, 12 And cried vnto the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and vnto derision vnto the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Joacim the hie Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred vnto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackecloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayers, and the free gifts of the people,

15 And had ashes on their mitres, and cryed vnto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that hee would looke vpon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Oloferns of the manner of the Israelites.

THen was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the high hils, and had laid impediments in the champion countrey.

2 Wherewith hee was very angry, and called all the Princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.

3 And he sayd vnto them, Shew me, O yee sonnes of Chanaan, Who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what King or captaine is raysed among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?

5 ¶ Then * sayd Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I wil declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people that dwell in these mountaines, neere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. Chap.11.7,9 6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And * they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea. Gen.11.31.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fledde into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then * their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde, and siluer, and with very much cattell. Gen.12.1.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

11 * Therefore the king of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and brought them low with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues. Exod.1.8.

12 Then they cryed vnto their God, and hee smote all the lande of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the * Egyptians cast them out of their sight. Exod.12. 31,33.

13 And * God dryed the red sea in their presence, Exod.14.21.

14 And * brought them into mount Sina and Cades Barnea, and cast foorth all that dwelt in the wildernesse. Exod.19.1.

15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Esebon, and passing ouer Jordan, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they cast * foorth before them the Chanaanites, and the Pherezites, and the Jebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many dayes. Iosh.12.8.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them.

18 But * when they departed from the way which hee appoynted them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, * and were ledde captiues into a lande that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God Iudg.2.11. and 3.8. 2.King.25. 1,11.

was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

Exod 1.2,3. 19 But * now they are turned to their God, and are come vp from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and haue possessed Hierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord and gouernour, if there be any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall bee their ruine, and let vs goe vp, and we shall ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Holofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Moab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore go vp, O lord Holofernes, and they shalbe meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Holofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crie vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the counsel was ceased, Holofernes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, sayd vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, & of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast sayd that the people of Ierusalem
Chap. 5.5,21. is able to fight, * because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

3 He will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to sustaine the power of our horses.

4 For wee will tread them vnder feete with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fields shall bee filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall vtterly perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor lord of all the earth hath sayd, euen he hath sayd, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words, in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day, vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee passe thorow thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall cary thee into the mountaines, and they shall leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind that they shall not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Holofernes them concerning Achior, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middes of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie saw them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour, and went forth of the citie vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuily vnder the hill, and bound Achior, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stood about him, and loosed him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their citie, 15 Which were in those dayes Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, & Chabris the sonne of Gothoniel, and Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the citie, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achior in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the words of the counsell of Holofernes, and all the words that hee had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Holofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying, 19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride, and haue mercie on the baseneſſe of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, and prayſed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Holofernes doeth besiege Bethulia. 8 The counsell of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 25 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

THE next day Holofernes commaunded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remoue their camps against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streits of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousand and seuentie footemen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were were aboote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine neere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and they spread abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamon, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they saw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and said euery one to his neighbour, Now will they shut vp all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines, nor the valleys, nor the hils are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euery one tooke his weapons of warre, and burning fires in their towers, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the second day Holofernes brought forth all his horsemen in the sight of the children of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And viewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, and set garisons of men of warre ouer them, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chiefe of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, and all the captaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our captaine now heare a word, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel doe not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easie to come vp to the tops of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not against them in battell aray, and there shall not so much as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe still the water of the countrey that commeth forth at the foot of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shall thirst kil them, and they shall giue vp their citie: and wee and our people will goe vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are neere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the city.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children shall bee consumed with famine, and before the sword come against them, they shall bee ouerthrowen in the streetes where thy dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou render them an euill reward, because they rebelled and obeyed not thy person peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Holofernes and all his souldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them fiue thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, and they sent some of themselues toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is neere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Wochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the fielde, and couered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had compassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Assur remained about them, both their footemen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swouned, and their wiues and young men failed for thirst, and fell downe in the streetes of the citie, and by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men and women and children, and cried with a lowde voice, and said before all the Elders, 24 The * Lord iudge betweene vs and you: Exod. 5.21.

for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For now haue wee no helper: but God hath sold vs into their hands, that wee should bee throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole citie for a spoile to the people of Holofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoile vnto them, then to die for thirst: for wee will be his seruants, that wee may liue, and not see the death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to witnesse against you, the heauen and the earth, and our God and Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs according to our sinnes, and the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crie of all with one consent in the middes of the assembly, and they cryed vnto the Lord God with a lowde voyce.

30 Then said Ozias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fiue dayes, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercy toward vs: for he will not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these dayes passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he separated the people, euery one vnto their charge, and they went vnto the walles and towres of their citie, and sent their wiues and their children vnto their houses, and they were very low brought in the city.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life, and conuersation of Iudeth. 11 Shee rebuketh the faintnesse of the Gouernours. 12 Shee sheweth that they should not tempt God, but waite vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

Now

NOwe at that time Judeth heard thereof which was the daughter of Merari, the sonne of Or, the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeon, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salasadai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her husband, of her stocke and kinred, who died in the barley harueſt.

3 For as hee was diligent ouer them that bound sheaues in the field, the heate came vpon his head, and hee fell vpon his bed, and died in the city of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Judeth was in her house a widow three yeeres and foure moneths.

5 And shee made her a tent vpon her house and put on sackcloth on her loines, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And she fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, saue the day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feasts and solemne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautiful to behold: and her husband Manasses had left her gold and siluer, and men seruants, and maid seruants, and cattell, and possessions where she remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an euill report of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when shee heard the euill words of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Judeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had *sworne vnto them to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fiue dayes.)

*Chap.7.26, 31.

10 Then shee sent her mayd that had the gouernment of all things that shee had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the ancients of the city.

11 And they came vnto her, and shee said vnto them, Heare mee, O ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your words that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which ye made and pronounced betweene God and you, and haue promised to deliuer the city to the enemies, vnlesse within these dayes the Lord turne to help you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now ye seeke the Lord Almighty, but ye shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can ye perceiue the things that he thinketh: how then can you search out God that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe vs within these fiue dayes, he hath power to defend vs, when he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore binde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatned, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs wait for saluation of him, and call vpon him to helpe vs, and he will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor family, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene aforetime.

19 For *the which cause our fathers were giuen to the sword, and for a spoile, and had a great fall before our enemies.

*Iudg.2.11, and 4.1. and 6.1.

20 But we know none other God: therefore we trust that he wil not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when we shall be taken, shall Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuary shall bee spoiled, and hee will require the prophanation thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuity of the countrey, and the desolation of our inheritance will he turne vpon our heads among the Gentiles, whereseuer we shalbe in bondage, and wee shall be an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

Gen.34. 2,25.

23 For our seruitude shall not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, and the Sanctuary, and the House, and the Altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs euen as he did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to *Abraham, and how he tried Isaac, and all that hee did to *Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother.

*Gen.22.1. *Gen.28.7.

27 For he hath not tried vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs: but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy words.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisedome is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisedome: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, & compelled vs to doe vnto them as we haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an othe, which wee may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Judeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stand this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmaid: and within the dayes that yee haue promised to to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But enquire not you of mine acte: for I will not declare it vnto you, till the things bee finished that I doe.

35 Then said Ozias and the princes vnto her, Goe in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her selfe before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

THen Judeth fell vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, & put on the sackecloth wherwith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of the euening was offered in Jerusalem in the house of the Lord, Judeth cried with a lowde voyce, and sayd,

2 O Lord God of my father *Simeon, to whom thou gauest a sword to take vengeance of the strangers which opened ỳ womb of the maid and defiled her, and discouered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou hadst commanded that it should not so be,

Gen. 34. 2,25.

3 Yet they did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceiued and washed their beds with blood) and hast striken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray, and their daughters to bee captiues, and all their spoyles for a bootie to the children that thou louedst: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called vpon thee for ayde, O God, my God, heare mee also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall be after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present, and say, Behold, we are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknowen.

7 Beholde, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted themselues with horses and horsemen: they glory in the strength of their footemen, they trust in shield, speare, and bow, and sling, and doe not know that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the Altar.

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I haue conceiued.

Judg. 4 21. and 5. 26.

10 *Smite by the deceit of my lips, the seruant with the prince, and the prince with the seruant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

Judg. 7. 2. 2. chron. 14. 11. & 16. 8. and 20. 6.

11 *For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weake, and the protectour of them that are forsaken, and the sauiour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the Creatour of the waters, the king of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And graunt mee words and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterprise cruell things against thy Couenant, and against thine holy House, and against the toppe of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew euidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power & strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her selfe, and goeth foorth of the city. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Olofernes.

NOw after she had ceased to cry vnto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these words,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maid, and went downe into the house in the which shee abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes,

3 And putting away the sackecloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, shee washed her body with water, and anointed it with much ointment, and dressed the haire of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnesse, wherewith shee was clad, during the life of Manasses her husband.

4 And shee put slippers on her feet, and put on bracelets, and sleeues and rings, and earerings, and all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely, to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her maid a bottle of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with flowre, and with dry figs, and with fine bread, so she lapped vp all these things together, and layd them vpon her.

6 Thus they went foorth to the gate of the city of Bethulia, and found standing there Dzias, and the Ancients of the citie, Chabris and Charmis.

7 And when they saw her, that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marueiled greatly at her wonderfull beauty, and said vnto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Commaund the gates of the city to bee opened vnto mee, that I may goe foorth: to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to mee. So they commaunded the young men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And

10 And when they had done so, Judeth went out, she, and her maide with her, and the men of the citie looked after her, vntill shee was gone downe the mountaine, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Thus they went straight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her, 12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence commest thou? and whither goest thou? And shee sayd, I am a woman of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shall bee giuen you to bee consumed.

13 And I come before Holofernes the chiefe captaine of your army, to declare him true things, and I will shewe before him the way whereby he shall goe and winne all the mountaines without loosing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondred greatly at her beautie, and sayd vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord, now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, bee not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he will intreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her mayde, and brought her to the tent of Holofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro throwout the campe: for her comming was bruted among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for she stood without the tent of Holofernes, vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they maruelled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel, because of her, and euery one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Holofernes garde went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Holofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and Emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came foorth vnto the entry of his tent, and they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Judeth was come before him, and his seruants, they all maruelled at the beautie of her countenance, and she fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Holofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 and asketh the cause of her comming. 5 Shee deceiueth him by her faire wordes.

THen said Holofernes vnto her, Woman, bee of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwelleth in the mountaines, had not despised mee, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselues.

3 But now tell mee wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreate thee well, as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Judeth sayd vnto him, Receiue the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaid to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lye to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall bee made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fields, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisedome and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderfull knowledge, and in the feats of warre marueilous.

9 *Now as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy counsel, wee haue heard his words: for the men of Bethulia did take him, and he declared vnto them all that hee had spoken vnto thee. *Chap. 5. 5.

10 Therefore, O Lord and Gouernour, reiect not his word, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore lest my lord should be frustrate, and voyd of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is so oft times as they do that which is not beseeming,

12 (For because their vitailes faile, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Jerusalem before ẏ face of our God: the which things it is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Moreouer, they haue sent to Jerusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaide, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shal wonder, and whosoever shal heare it.

17 For thy seruant feareth God, and worshipeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that he may reuele vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes, 18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall bee none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will lead thee through the mids of Judea, vntill thou come before Jerusalem, and I will set thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as sheepe that haue no sheepheard, and a dogge shall not barke with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto me, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her words pleased Holofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueiled at her wisedome, and said, 21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beautie of face, and wisedom of words.

22 Likewise Holofernes said vnto her, God || hath done this, to find thee before the people, that strength might be in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy words: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall be my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, shalt be renowned throughout the whole earth.

|| Or, hath done well.

CHAP. XII.

2 Judeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 5 Shee maketh her request that she might go out by night to pray. 11 Holofernes consenteth her to come to the banquet.

THen he commaunded to bring her in where his treasures were laid, and bade that they should prepare of her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Judeth said, *I may not eate of them, least there should bee an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

*Ge. 43. 32. Exo. 8. Dan. 1. 11.

3 Then Holofernes said vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then said Judeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Holofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and arose at the morning watch,

6 And sent to Holofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thy handmaid may go forth vnto prayer.

7 Then Holofernes commaunded his garde that they should not slay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night vnto the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that hee would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So she returned and remained pure in her tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day Holofernes made a feast to his owne seruants only, and called none of them to the banket, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said he to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that he had, Goe and perswade this Hebrew woman which is with thee, that shee come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, she will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Holofernes, and came to her, and said, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to bee honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Judith vnto him, Who am I now, that I should gainesay my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I will doe speedily, and it shall be my ioy vnto the day of my death.

15 So she arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maid went, and spread forth her skinnes on the ground ouer against Holofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Now when Judith came and sate downe, Holofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and hee desired greatly her company: for he had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had seene her.

17 Then sayd Holofernes vnto her, Drinke now and be merry with vs.

18 So Judith sayd, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

19 Then she tooke and ate, and dranke before him the things that her maide had prepared 20 And Holofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then he had drunke at any time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Judeth prayeth for strength. 8 She smiteth off Holofernes necke. 10 Shee returneth to Bethulia and reioyceth her people.

NOw when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary because the feast had beene long.

2 And

2 And Judeth was left alone in the tent, and Holofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with *wine.

Eccles. 31, 20, 25.

3 ¶ Now Judeth had commaunded her maide to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her comming foorth as she did daily: for shee said, shee would goe foorth to her prayers, and shee spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went foorth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber neither little nor great: then Judeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine hands for the exaltation of Jerusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies that are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed, which was at Holofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence,

7 And approched to the bed, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and said, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 And she smote twice vpon his necke with all her might, and she tooke away his head from him, 9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillars, and anon after she went foorth, and gaue Holofernes head to her maide.

10 And she put it in her scrip of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and prassing through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ Then said Judeth a far off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shew his power yet in Jerusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voice, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ran altogether both small and great: for it was aboue their expectation, that she should come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about them twaine.

14 Then she said to them with a loud voice, Praise God, praise God: for he hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrippe, and shewed it, and said vnto them, Behold the head of Holofernes, the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, and behold the canopie, wherein hee did lie in his drunkennesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept mee in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with mee by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselues, and worshipped God, and said with one accord, Blessed be thou, O our GOD, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most hie God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God which hath created the heauens and the earth, who hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shal neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer:

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes. 10 Achior ioyneth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Israelites goe out against the Assyrians.

THen sayd Judeth vnto them, Heare mee also my brethren, and *take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your wals. 2. Mac. 15. 35.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the Sunne shall come foorth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the field, toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shall run to the tent of Holofernes, but shall not find him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coasts of Israel shall pursue them, and ouerthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call mee Achior the Ammonite that he may see, & know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when hee was come and saw the head of Holofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, he fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, hee fell at Judeths feet, and reuerenced her, and sayd, Blessed art thou in all the Tabernacle of Juda, and in all nations, which hearing thy name, shal be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Judeth declared vnto him in the mids of the people, all that shee had done from the day that she went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.

9 And when shee had left of speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noise of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleeued in God vnfainedly, nedly, and circumcised the forefkin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ Assoon as the morning arose, they hanged the head of Holofernes out at the wall, and euery man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of ỳ mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Holofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all his things, Waken our lord: for the slaues haue been bold to come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Judeth.

15 But because none answered, hee opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therfore he cried with a loud voice, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty crie, and rent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Judeth, where shee vsed to remaine, and found her not: then he leaped out to the people and cried, 18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrews hath brought shame vpon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Holofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled and there was a cry and a very great noyse throughout the campe.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Assur, and spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great booty, for the abounddance was very great.

8 Then Joacim the hie Priest, and the ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt at Jerusalem, came to consume the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Judeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Jerusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the Almightie Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoiled the campe the space of thirty dayes, and they gaue vnto Judeth Holofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and shee tooke it, and layd it on her mules, and made ready her charets and layd them thereon.

12 Then all the women in Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and shee tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with olines, & her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioacim the hie Priest commeth to Bethulia, to see Judeth, and to prayse God for her.

AND when they that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by euery way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountains round about Bethulia, were put to flight: then the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, & that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also they that came from Jerusalem, & from all the mountains: for men had told them what things were done in the camp of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad, and in Galile, chaled them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus, & to the coasts thereof.

CHAP. XVI.

Judeth praiseth God with a song. 19 Shee offereth to the Lord Olofernes stuffe. 23 Her continencie, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

THen Judeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loud voyce.

2 And Judeth sayd, Begin vnto my God with timbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbales: tune vnto him a Psalme: exalt his prayse, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the mids of his people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines forth of the North: hee came with thousands in his armie, whose multitude hath shut vp the riuers, and their horsemen haue couered the valleyes. Chap. 2. 21, 15.

5 Hee sayd that hee would burne vp my borders, and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a pray, and my virgins a spoyle.

6 But the Almightie Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the mightie did not fall by the yong men, neither did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the high Gyants inuade him, but

Judeth

Judeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beauty of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound up her haire in a coife, & tooke a linnen garment to deceiue him.

9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beauty tooke his mind prisoner, and the sawchin passed thorow his necke.

10 The Persians were astonished at her boldnesse, and the Medes were troubled with her hardinesse, 11 But mine afflicted reioiced, and my feeble ones shouted: then they feared, they lifted vp their voice, and turned backe.

12 The children of maids pierced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will sing vnto the Lord a song & praise, O Lord, thou art great & glorious, marueilous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken, and they were made: thou hast sent thy spirit, and hee made them vp: and there is none that can resist thy voyce. Gen.1.24. Psal.33.9.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters: the rocks melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all sacrifice is too little for a sweete sauour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Woe to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fire and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shall feele them and weepe for euer.

18 ¶ After, when they went vnto Jerusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and assoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judeth also offred all the stuffe of Holofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which she had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioiced in Jerusalem by the Sanctuary for the space of three moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this thus euery one returned to his own inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her own possession, and was for her time honourable in all the countrey.

22 And many desired her, but none had her company all the dayes of her life, after that Manasses her husband was dead, and was gathered to ‖ his people. ‖ Or, her people.

23 But shee increased more and more in honour, and waxed old in her husbands house, being an hundreth and fiue yeere old, and made her maide free: so she died in Bethulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manasses.

24 And * the house of Israel lamented her seuen dayes, and before she died, she did distribute her goods to all them that were neerest of kinred to Manasses her husband, and to them that were the neerest of her kinred. Gen.50.10.

25 And there was none that made the children of Israel any more afraid in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

Esther.

Certaine portions of the story of Esther, which are found in some Greeke and Latin translations: which follow the tenth Chapter.

THen Mardocheus said, God hath done these things.

5 For I remember a dreame, which I sawe concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A little fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, and as much water, this flood was Esther, whom the king married, and made Queene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroy the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saued: for the Lord hath saued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all these euils, & God hath wrought signes & great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, & another for al the Gentiles.

11 And these two lots came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, and iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shalbe vnto them in the moneth Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of the same moneth, with an assembly and ioy, and with gladnesse before God, according to the generations for euer among his people.

CHAP. XI.

IN the fourth yeere of the reigne of Ptolemeus and Cleopatra Dositheus, who said he was a Priest & Leuite, and Ptolemeus his sonne that brought the former letters of ‖ Phurai, which the sayd Lysimachus the sonne of Ptolemeus, which was at Jerusalem, interpreted, ‖ Or, lots.

2 In the second yeere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes, in the first day of the moneth Nisan, Mardocheus the sonne of Jairus, the sonne of Semei, the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Beniamin had a dreame.

3 A Iew dwelling in the citie of Susis, a noble man that bare office in the kings court.

4 Hee was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the king of Babylon brought from from Jerusalem with Jechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Behold, a noyse of a tempest with thunders & earthquakes, and vproze in the land.

6 Beholde two great Dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their crie was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkenesse and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amazed: and being ready to die, cried vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the litle wel grew into a great riuer, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light & the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted and deuoured the glorius.

12 Now when Mardocheus had seene this dreame, hee awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart vntill the night, what God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

AT the same time dwelt Mardocheus in the Kings Court with Bagathas and Thara, the Kings eunuches and keepers of the palace.

Esther 2. 21. and 6, 2. 2 * But when he heard their purpose, & their imaginations, hee perceiued that they went about to lay their hands vpon ỳ king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the King thereof.

2 Then caused the King to examine the two eunuches with torments, & when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to be put in the Chronicles: Mardocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the King commanded that Mardocheus should remaine in the Court, and for the aduertisment he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the King, went about to hurt Mardocheus and his people, because of the two eunuches of the King that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the leters of Artaxerxes against the Iewes. 8 The prayer of Mardocheus.

Ioseph. antiq. lib. 11. ca. 6. THe copie of the Letters was this. The great king Artaxerxes writeth these thinges to the Princes & gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

2 When I was made lorde ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway, and gentlenesse, to gouerne my subiects, and wholy to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my Kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely go thorow on euery side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellers howe these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisedome, and constant in good will, and shewed himselfe to be of sure fidelitie, which had the second place in the Kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commaundements of Kings, and so that this general Empire, that we haue begunne, cannot bee gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing nowe wee perceiue that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto euery man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our bonges, and goe about to stablish wicked matters, that our Kingdome should not come to good estate,

6 Therefore haue wee commaunded that all they that are appoynted in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second Father) shall all with their wiues and children bee destroyed and rooted out with the swoorde of their enemies without all mercie, and that none bee spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yeere,

7 That they which of old, and now also haue euer beene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him, 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King Almightie (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, whichart the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lorde, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory that I did this, and not bow downe to proude Aman.

13 For I would haue beene content with good will for the saluation of Israel to haue kissed the sole of his feete.

14 But I did it, because I would not prefer the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.

15 And therfore, O Lord God and King, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despise not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and bee mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorrow into ioy, that we may liue, O Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee

18 All Israel in like maner cried most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP XIIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

QVeen Esther also, being in danger of death reſorted vnto the Lord,

2 And layd away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of ſighing, and mourning. In the ſtead of precious oyntment, ſhee ſcattered aſhes and dung vpon her head: and ſhe humbled her body greatly with faſting, and all the places of her ioy filled ſhee with the haire that ſhe plucked off.

3 And ſhe prayed vnto the Lord God of Iſrael, ſaying, O my Lord, thou only art our king: help me deſolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth vp I haue heard in the kinred of my Father, that thou, O Lord, tookeſt Iſrael from among all people, and our Fathers from their predeceſſors for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou haſt performed that which thou didſt promiſe them.

6 Nowe Lorde, wee haue ſinned before thee: therefore haſt thou giuen vs into the handes of our enemies,

7 Becauſe wee worſhipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Neuertheleſſe, it ſatisfieth them not, that wee are in bitter captiuitie: but they haue ſtroken hands with their idoles,

9 That they will aboliſh the thing that thou with thy mouth haſt ordeined, and deſtroy thine inheritance, to ſhut vp the mouth of them that praiſe thee, and to quench the glory of the Temple, and of thine Altar,

10 And to open the monthes of the heathen, that they may praiſe the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleſhly King for euer.

11 O Lorde, giue not thy ſcepter vnto them that be nothing, leaſt they laugh vs to ſcorne in our miſerie: but turne their deniſe vpon themſelues, and make him an example, that hath begun the ſame againſt vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lorde, and ſhew thy ſelfe vnto vs in the time of our diſtreſſe, and ſtrengthen me, O king of gods, and Lorde of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent ſpeech in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemie, to deſtroy him, and all ſuch as conſent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am ſolitary, which haue no defence but only thee.

15 Thou knoweſt all things, O Lorde: thou knoweſt, that I hate the glory of the vnrighteous, & that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumciſed, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knoweſt my neceſſitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon my head, what time as I muſt ſhewe my ſelf, & that I abhorre it as a menſtruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my ſelfe,

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleaſure in the Kings feaſt, nor dronke the wine of the drinke offerings,

18 And that I thine handmaide haue no ioy ſince the day that I was brought hither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboue all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to goe in to the King and make interceſſion for her people, 9 And ſhe performeth his requeſt.

MArdocheus alſo bade Eſther to goe in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, ſayth hee, the dayes of thy low eſtate, howe, thou waſt nouriſhed vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hath giuen ſentence of death againſt vs.

3 Call thou therfore vpon the Lord, & ſpeake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when ſhee had ended her prayer, ſhe layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell,

5 And decked her ſelfe goodly, after that ſhee had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Sauiour of all things, & tooke two handmaids with her.

6 Vpon the one ſhee leaned her ſelfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her veſture.

8 The ſhine of her beautie made her face roſe coloured: and her face was cheerefull & amiable, but her heart was ſorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then ſhee went in thorow all the doores, and ſtood before the King, and the King ſate vpon his royall throne, & was clothed in his goodly aray, all glittering with gold & precious ſtones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lift vp his face that ſhone with maieſtie, and looked fiercely vpon her: the reſore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leaned herſelfe vpon the head of the mayde that went with her.

11 Neuertheles, God turned the kings minde that hee was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and tooke her in his armes, till ſhe came to herſelfe againe: and comforted her with louing words, and ſaid,

12 Eſther, what is the matter: I am thy brother, be of good there,

13 Thou ſhalt not die: for our commaundement toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come neere:

14 And ſo he held vp his golden ſcepter, and layd it vpon her necke, 15 And kiſſed her, and ſaid, Talke with me.

16 Then ſaid ſhee, I ſaw thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maieſtie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as ſhe was thus ſpeaking vnto him, ſhe fell downe againe for faintneſſe.

19 Then the King was troubled, and all his ſeruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee reuoketh thoſe which he firſt ſent forth.

The

Ioseph. antiq. 11. cap. 6.

THe great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India vnto Ethiopia, ouer an hundreth and seuen and twenty Prouinces, sendeth vnto the Princes & rulers that haue the charge of our affaires, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodnes of Princes and honour giuen vnto them, become very proud,

3 And endeauour not onely to hurt our subiects, but not content to liue in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that do them good,

4 And take not onely all thankefulnes away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be vnmindful of benefits, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that seeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And oftentimes many, which be set in office, and vnto whom their friendes causes are committed, by vaine inticements doe wrappe them in calamities, that cannot bee remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood,

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicity and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may bee proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such pestilences as are not worthie to beare rule.

8 Therfore we must take heed hereafter that wee may make the Kingdome peaceable for all men, what change soeuer shall come,

9 And discerne the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentlenes.

10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being indeed a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnesse, was receiued of vs, 11 And hath proued the friendship that wee beare toward all nations, so that he was called our Father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the King.

12 But he could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignity, but went about to depriue vs of the Kingdome, and of our life.

13 With manifold deceit also hath he desired to destroy Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our Kingdome, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when hee had taken them out of the way) to lay wait for vs, & by this meanes to translate the Kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But we find that the Iewes (which were accused of this most wicked mã that they might be destroyed) are no euill doers, but vse most iust lawes,

16 And that they be the children of the most high and Almighty and euerliuing God, by whome the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitors, in very good order.

17 Wherfore ye shall do well, if ye do not put in execution those letters that Aman the son of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that inuented them, hangeth at Susis before the gates with all his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath speedily rewarded him after his deserning.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And yee shall ayde them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar, they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day, wherein the chosen people should haue perished.

22 Moreouer, among other solemne dayes, ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse, 23 That both now and in time to come, this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and al such as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreyes that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely not bee inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beasts and foules for euer.

The Wisedome of Salomon.

CHAP. I.

1 How wee ought to search and enquire after God 2 Who bee those that finde him. 5 The holy Ghost. 8 11 We ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 12 Whereof death commeth. 15 Righteousnesse and vnrighteousnesse.

1. Kings. 3. 3. Isa. 56. 1.

LOue * righteousnesse, yee that bee Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

Deut. 4. 29. 2. chro. 15. 4.

2 * For he will be found of them that tempt him not, and appeareth vnto such as bee not vnfaithfull vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tryed, reproueth the vnwise.

4 Because wisdome cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the bodie that is subiect vnto sinne.

Iere. 4. 22.

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withdraweth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednesse commeth.

Gala. 5. 22.

6 For the spirit of wisedome * is louing, and will not absolue him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witnesse of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the spirit of the Lord filleth all the world: & the same that maintaineth all things hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therfore hee that speaketh vnrighteous things, cannot bee hid: neither shall the iudgement of reproch let him escape.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the vngodly, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the eare of iealouſie heareth all things, and the noyſe of the grudgings ſhall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, & refraine your tongue from ſlander: for there is no word ſo ſecret, that ſhall goe for nought, & the mouth that ſpeaketh lies, ſlayeth the ſoule.

12 Seeke not death in the errour of your life: Deut.4.23. * deſtroy not your ſelues through the workes of your owne hands.

13 * For God hath not made death, neither Ezek.18.23 and 33.11. hath he pleaſure in the deſtruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things, that they might haue their being: & the generations of the world are preſerued, & there is no poiſon of deſtruction in them, and the kingdome of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteouſnes is immortall, but vnrighteouſnes bringeth death.

a To wit, death. 16 And the vngodly call a it vnto them both with hands and wordes: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imagination and deſires of the wicked, and their counſell againſt the faithfull.

Iob.7.1. and 14.1. Mat.22.23. Luc.15.32. FOr the vngodly ſay, as they falſely imagine with themſelues, * Our life is ſhort and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouery, neither was any knowen that hath returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and we ſhall be hereafter, as though we had neuer beene: for the breath is a ſmoke in our noſtrils, and the wordes as a ſparke rayſed out of our heart.

3 Which being extinguiſhed, the body is turned into aſhes, and the ſpirit vaniſhed as the ſoft aire.

4 Our life ſhall paſſe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought, as the miſt that is driuen away with the beames of the ſunne, and caſt downe with the heat thereof. Our name alſo ſhall be forgotten in time: and no man ſhal haue our workes in remembrance.

1.Chr.29.15. chap.5.9. 5 * For our time is as a ſhadow that paſſeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is faſt ſealed, ſo that no man commeth againe.

Iſa.22.23. and 56.12. 1.cor.15.32. 6 * Come therefore, and let vs enioy the pleaſures that are preſent, and let vs cherefully vſe the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our ſelues with coſtly wine, and ointments, and let not the flowre of life paſſe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our ſelues with roſe buds afore they be withered,

9 Let vs all bee partakers of our wantonneſſe: let vs leaue ſome token of our pleaſure in euery place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

10 Let vs oppreſſe the poore that is righteous: let vs not ſpare the widow, nor reuerence the white haires of the aged, that haue liued many yeeres.

11 Let our ſtrength be the law of vnrighteouſneſſe: for the thing that is feeble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraud the righteous, for he is not for our profit, and he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending againſt the Law, and blameth vs as tranſgreſſours of diſcipline.

13 Hee maketh his boaſt to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth himſelfe the ſonne of the Lord.

14 He is made to * reprooue our thoughts. Iohn 7.7.

15 It grieueth vs alſo to looke * vpon him: ephes.13.5. Iſa.53.3. for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another faſhion.

16 He counteth vs as baſtards, and he withdraweth himſelf from our waies as from filthineſſe: hee commendeth greatly the latter end of the iuſt, and boaſteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs ſee then if his words be true: let vs proue what end he ſhall haue.

18 For if the righteous man be the * ſonne of God, he will help him, and deliuer him from the hands of his enemies. Pſal 22.8.9 matt.27.43.

19 Let vs * examine him with rebukes and tormentes, that we may know his meekenes, and proue his patience. Iere.11.19.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a ſhamefull death: for hee ſhalbe preſerued as hee himſelfe ſaith.

21 Such things doe they imagine, and goe aſtray: for their owne wickednes hath blinded them.

22 And they doe not vnderſtand the myſteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteouſneſſe, nor can diſcerne the honour of the ſoules that are faultleſſe.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the * image of his owne likeneſſe. Gene.1.27. and 2.7. and 5.1.

24 * Neuertheleſſe, through enuy of the deuil came death into the world: and they that holde of his ſide, proue it. eccl.17.1,3. Gen.3.1,2.

CHAP. III.

7 The reward of the faithfull. 11 Who are miſerable.

BUt the * ſoules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment ſhall touche them. Deut.33.3.

2 * In the ſight of the vnwiſe they appeared to die, and their end was thought grieuous, Chap.5.4.

3 And their departing from vs, deſtruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they ſuffer paine before men, yet is * their hope full of immortalitie. Rom.8.24. 2.cor.5.1. 1.pet.1.13.

5 They are puniſhed but in few things, yet in many things ſhall they bee well rewarded: * For God proueth them, and findeth them meet for himſelfe. Exod.16.4. deut.8.2.

6 He trieth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiueth them as a perfect fruit offering.

7 * And in the time of their viſion they ſhall ſhine, and runne thorow as the ſparkes among the ſtubble. Mat.13.43.

8 They * ſhall iudge the nations, and haue dominion ouer their people, and their Lord ſhal reigne for euer. Mat.19.28. 1.cor.6.2.

9 They that truſt in him ſhall vnderſtand the truth, and the faithfull ſhall remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercy is among his Saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 * But the vngodly ſhall bee puniſhed according to their imaginations: for they haue Mat.25.41.

neglected despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisdome and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is in vaine, and their labours are foolish, & their works vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndiscreet, and their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinfull bed: *she Isa.56.5. shall haue fruit in the visitation of the soules.

14 And the Eunuch, which with his handes hath not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shall bee giuen the speciall gift of faith, and an acceptable portion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is the fruit of good labours, and the root of wisedome shall neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shal not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.

17 And though they liue long, yet shall they be nothing regarded, and their last age shall be without honour.

18 If they die hastily, they haue no hope, neither comfort in the day of triall.

19 For horrible is the end of the wicked generation.

CHAP. IIII.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithfull.

BEtter is barrenesse with vertue: for the memorial thereof is immortall: for it is known with God and with men.

2 When it is present, men take example thereat, and if it goe away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battell and the vndefiled rewards.

3 But the multitude of the vngodly which abound in children is vnprofitable: and the bastard plants shall take no deepe roote, nor lay any fast foundation.

4 For though they bud forth in the branches Nat.7.19. for a time, *yet they shall bee shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and through the vehemencie of the wind they shall be rooted out.

5 For the vnperfect branches shall bee broken, and their fruit shalbe vnprofitable & sowre to eate, and meete for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shall be witnesse of the wickednesse against their parents when they be asked.

7 But though the righteous bee preuented with death, yet shall he be in rest.

8 For the honourable age is not that which is of long time, neither that which is measured by the number of yeeres.

9 But wisedome is the gray haire, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

Gen.5.24. heb.11.5. 10 *Hee pleased God and was beloued of him, so that whereas he liued among sinners, hee translated him.

11 Hee was taken away, lest wickednesse should alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12 For wickednesse by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, and the vnstedfastnes of concupiscence peruerteth the simple minde.

13 Though hee was come dead, yet fulfilled he much time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hasted he to take him away from wickednesse.

15 Yet the people see and vnderstand it not, and consider no such things in their hearts, how that grace and mercy is vpon his saints, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, condemneth the vngodly which are liuing: and the youth that is soone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they see the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hath deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hath preserued him in safetie.

18 They see him and despise him, but the Lord will laugh them to scorne.

19 So that they shall fall hereafter without honour, and shall haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without any voyce shall hee burst them, and cast them downe, & shake them from the foundations, so that they shall be vtterly wasted, and they shall be in sorrow, and their memorial shall perish.

20 So they being afraid, shal remember their sinnes, and their owne wickednesse shall come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

1 The constantnesse of the righteous before their persecutors. 14 The hope of the vnfaithfull is vaine. 15 The blessednesse of the Saints and godly.

THen shall the righteous stand in great boldnesse before the face of such as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When they see him, they shalbe vered with horrible feare, and shall be amazed for his wonderfull deliuerance,

3 And shall change their mindes, and sigh for griefe of minde, and say within themselues, This is he whom we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproch.

4 *We fooles thought his life madnesse, and Chap.3.2. his end without honour.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his portion is among the Saints!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the way of trueth, and the light of righteousnesse hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the way of wickednesse and destruction, and we haue gone through dangerous wayes: but wee haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath pride profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

9 All those things are *passed away like a sha- 1.Chron.29. dow, and as a poste that passeth by: 15. chap.2.5.

10 As a shippe that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot bee found, neither the path of it in the floods:

11 Or *as a birde that flieth thorow in the Prou. 30.12. aire, & no man can see any token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the aire through the vehemency of her going, and flieth on, shaking her wings, whereas afterward no token of her way can be found:

12 Or as when an arrow is shot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly commeth together againe, so that a man cannot know where it went thorow.

13 Euen so we, assoone as we were borne, we began to draw to our ende, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednesse.

Iob.8.9. psal. 2.4. & 143. 4 pro.10.25 & 11.7. sam. 2.10,11.

14 For* the hope of the vngodly is like the dust that is blowen away with the winde, and like a thinne fome that is scattered abroad with the storme, and as the smoke which is dispersed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shall liue for euer: their reward also is with the Lord, & the most High hath care of them.

16 Therefore shall they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautifull crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shall hee couer them, and with his arme shall he defend them.

17 He shall take his iealousie for armour, and shall arme the creatures to bee reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shall put on righteousnesse for a brest-plate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmet.

19 He will take holinesse for an inuincible shield.

20 Hee will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the vnwise.

21 Then shall the thunder bolts go straight out of the lightnings, and shall flie to the marke as out of the bent bow of the cloudes, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shal thicke haile be cast, and the water of the Sea shall be wroth against them, and the flods shall mightily ouerflow.

22 And a mighty wind shal stand vp against them, and like a storme shal scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shall bring all the earth to a wildernesse, & wickednes shal ouerthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Iudges, which are also exhorted to search wisedome.

HEare therefore, O yee Kings, and vnderstand: learne ye that be Iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

Rom.13.2.

3 For the* rule is giuen you of the Lord, and power by the most High, which will trie your workes, and search out your imaginations.

4 Because that ye being officers of his kingdom, haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the will of God,

5 Horribly and suddainly wil he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shall they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is most low, is worthy mercy, but the mighty shalbe mightily tormented.

Deut.10.17. 2. chro.19.7. iob.34.19. eccius.35.12, 16 actes 10. 34.rom.2.11 gal.2.6. ephe. 6.9 col.3.25 1.pet.1.17.

7 For he that is Lord ouer all, will spare no* person, neither shall he feare any greatnesse: for he hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

8 But for the mighty abideth the surer trial.

9 Unto you therefore, O tyrants, do I speake, that ye may learne wisedome, and not go amisse.

10 For they that keepe holinesse holily, shall bee holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11 Wherefore set your delight vpon my words and desire them, and ye shall be instructed.

12 Wisedome shineth and neuer fadeth away, and is easily seene of them that loue her, and found of such as seeke her.

13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shew her selfe vnto them.

14 Who so awaketh vnto her betimes, shall haue no great trauaile: for he shall finde her sitting at his dores.

15 To thinke vpon her then is perfect vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shall bee sone without care.

16 For shee goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth herselfe cheerefully vnto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in euery thought.

17 For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:

18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitie:

19 And immortalitie maketh vs neere vnto God.

20 Therefore the desire of wisedome leadeth to the kingdome.

21 If your delight bee then in thrones, and scepters, O Kings of the people, honour wisdome, that ye may reigne for euer.

22 Now I will tell you what wisedome is, and whence it commeth, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seeke her out from the beginning of her natiuitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the trueth.

23 Neither will I haue to doe with consuming enuie: for such a man shall not bee partaker of wisedome.

24 But the multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the world, and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25 Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall haue profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisedome ought to be preferred aboue all things.

I My selfe am also mortall and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2 And in my mothers wombe was I fashioned to be flesh in ten moneths: I was* brought together into blood of the seed of man, and by the pleasure that commeth with sleepe. Iob 10.10, 11.

3 And when I was borne, I receiued the common aire, and fell vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.

5 For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6 All* men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out. Iob.1 21. 1.tim.6.7.

7 Wherefore I prayed, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called, and the spirit of wisedome came vnto me.

8 I preferred her to scepters & thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9 *Neither did I compare precious stones vnto her: for all golde is but a little grauell in respect of her, and siluer shall bee counted Iob 28.15.

but

but clay before her.

10 I loued her aboue health and beauty, and purposed to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

1. King. 3. 13 matth. 6. 33. 11 All * good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches through her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisedome was the author thereof, and I knew not that shee was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned vnfainedly, and communicated without enuie, and I doe not hide her riches.

14 For shee is an infinite treasure vnto men, which who so vse, become partakers of the loue of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthily of the things that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisedome, and the directer of the wise.

16 For in his hand are both we & our words, and all wisedome, and the knowledge of the workes.

17 For he hath giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I know how the world was made, and the powers of the elements,

18 The beginning and the end, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, & the change of the seasons,

19 The course of they eere, the situation of the starres, 20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnesse of beasts, the power of the winds, and the imaginations of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.

21 And all things both secret and knowen do I know: for wisedome the worker of all things hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holy, the onely begotten, manifold, subtill, mooueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtfull, louing the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, doing good,

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellectuall, pure, and subtill spirits.

24 For wisedome is nimbler then all nimble things: she goeth through and attaineth to all things, because of her pureness.

25 For she is the breath of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.

Hebr. 1. 3. 26 For * shee is the brightnesse of the euerlasting light, the vndefiled mirrour of the Maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnesse.

27 And being one, she can doe all things, and remaining in her selfe, reneweth all, and according to the ages she entreth into the holy soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loueth none, if he dwel not with wisedome.

29 For she is more beautiful then the Sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.

30 For night commeth vpon it, but wickednesse cannot ouercome wisedome.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisedome.

SHee also reacheth from one ende to another mightily, and comely doeth shee order all things.

2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marrie her, such loue had I vnto her beauty.

3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.

4 For shee is the Schoolemistresse of the knowledge of God, and the chooser out of his workes.

5 If riches bee a possession to bee desired in this life, what is richer then wisdome, that worketh all things?

6 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then shee?

7 If a man loue righteousnesse, her labours are vertuous: for shee teacheth soberneſſe and prudence, righteousnesse and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

8 If a man desire great experience, shee can tell the things that are past, and discerne things to come: shee knoweth the subtilties of wordes and the solutions of darke sentences: shee foreseeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my company, knowing that shee would counsell mee good things, and comfort mee in cares and griefes.

10 For her sake shall I haue glory among the multitude, & honour among the Elders, though I be young.

11 I shall bee found of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall be marueilous in the sight of great men.

12 When I hold my tongue, they shall abide my leisure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands vpon their mouth.

13 Moreouer, by her I shall obtaine immortality, and leaue an euerlasting memoriall among them that come after me.

14 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued vnto me.

15 Horrible tyrants shalbe afraid when they heare me: among the multitude I shalbe counted good, and mighty in battell.

16 When I come home I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitternesse, and her fellowship hath no tedionsnesse, but mirth and ioy.

17 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to bee ioyned vnto wisedome is immortalitie, 18 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the workes of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudencie, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her vnto me.

19 For I was a wittie childe, and was of a good spirit.

20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled body.

21 Neuertheleſſe, when I perceiued that I could not enioy her, except God gaue her (and that was a point of wisedome also, to know whose gift it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I sayd,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtaine wisedome.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercie, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordeined man through thy wisedome, that hee should haue * dominion ouer the creatures which thou hast made, — Gen.1.1,28.

3 And gouerne the world according to equitie and righteousnesse, and execute iudgement with an vpright heart:

4 Giue me * that wisedome, which sitteth by thy throne, and put mee not out from among thy children. — 1.King.3.9.

5 For I * thy seruant, and sonne of thine handmaide, am a feeble person, and of a short time, and yet lesse in the vnderstanding of iudgement and the lawes. — Psal.116.16

6 And though a man bee neuer so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdome be not with him, he shalbe nothing regarded.

7 * Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters. — 1.Chro.28.5. 2.chron.1.9.

8 Thou hast commaunded mee to build a Temple vpon thine holy mount, and an altar in the citie wherein thou dwellest, a likenesse of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning,

9 And thy * wisdome with thee, which knoweth thy workes, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandements. — Prou.8.22. iohn 1.1,2, 3,10.

10 Send her out of thine holy heauens, and send her from the throne of thy Maiestie, that shee may bee with me, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For shee knoweth and vnderstandeth all things, and shee shall leade mee soberly in my workes, and preserue me by her glory.

12 So shall my workes bee acceptable, and then shall I gouerne thy people righteously, and be meete for my fathers throne.

13 For * what man is he that can know the counsell of God, or who can thinke what the will of God is? — Isa.40.13. rom.11.34. 1.cor.2,16.

14 For the thoughts of mortall men are fearefull, and our forecasts are vncertaine, 15 Because a corruptible body is heauie vnto the soule, & the earthly mansion keepeth downe the minde that is full of cares:

16 And hardly can wee discerne the things that are vpon earth, and with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things which are in heauen?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou giue him wisedome, and send thy holy Spirit from aboue?

18 For so the wayes of them which are vpon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant vnto thee, and are preserued through wisedome.

CHAP. X.

The deliuerance of the righteous, and the destruction of the enemies commeth through wisedome.

Shee preserued the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his offence,

2 And * gaue him power to rule all things. — Gen.2.20,

3 * But the vnrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his furie. — Gen.4.8.

4 For whose cause the * earth was ouerflowen, but wisedome preserued it againe, gouerning the iust man by a little wood. — Gen.7.21,

5 Moreouer, * when the nations were ioyned in their malicious confederacies, she knew the righteous, & preserued him faultlesse vnto God, and ‖ kept him sure, because she loued him tenderly as a sonne. — Gen.11.1, 31.and 12.1 ‖Or, kept him strong in his tender loue toward his sonne.

6 Shee preserued the righteous, * when the vngodly perished, when he fled from the fire that fell vpon the fiue cities. — Gen.19.16.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimony, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

8 For all such as regarded not wisedome, had not onely this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memoriall of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot be hid.

9 But wisedom deliuered them y serued her.

10 * When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his paines profitable. — Gen.28.5.

11 Against the couetousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12 She saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waite, and she gaue him the price in a mightie battell, that he might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

13 * When the righteous was solde, she forsooke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dungeon, — Gen.37.28. and 39.7. actes 7.10.

14 And failed him not in the bands, till she had brought him the scepter of the Realme, and power against those that oppressed him: & them that had accused him shee declared to bee liars, and gaue him perpetuall glory.

15 * She deliuered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them. — Exod.1.10. and 12.42.

16 She entred into the soule of the seruant of the Lord, and stood * by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings. — Exod.5.1.

17 She gaue the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a marueilous way: on the day time shee was a shadow vnto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 * She brought them through the red sea, and caried them through the great water. — Exod.14.21, 22.psal.78. 13.

19 But shee drowned their enemies, and brought them out of the bottome of the deepe.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoyles of the vngodly, * and prailed thy holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand, with one accord. — Exod.15.1.

21 For wisedome openeth the mouth of the dumbe, & maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of sinners. 21 The great power and mercie of God.

Sher prospered their workes in the hands of thine holy Prophet.

Exod.16.1. 2 *They went thorow the wildernesse that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

Exod.17.10, 11. 3 *They stood against their enemies, and were auenged on their aduersaries.

Num.20.11 4 *When they were thirsty, they called vpon thee, and water was giuen them out of the high rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their need.

6 For in stead of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the children, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnlooked for,

7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that Exod.7.20. time, *how thou hadst punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tried and chastised with mercy, they knew how the vngodly were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned the other as a righteous King, when thou didst examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whom afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the iust.

13 Because of the foolish deuices of their wickednesse wherewith they were deceiued, and chap.12.24. worshipped *serpents, that had not the vse of num.21.9 reason, and vile beastes, thou sendedst a multitude of vnreasonable beastes vpon them for a vengeance, that they might know, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

14 For vnto thine Almighty hand, that made Gen.1.1, heb.11.3. the world of *nought, it was not vnpossible to Levit.26.22 send among them a multitude of *Beares, or isa.8.16,17. fierce Lions, chap.16.1.

15 Or furious beasts newly created and vnknowen, which should breathe out blastes of fire, and cast out smoake as a tempest, or shoot horrible sparkles like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not only destroy them with hurting, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength and might, and who can vnderstand the power of thine arme?

19 For as the small thing that the ballance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dew that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercy vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as though thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they should amend.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, and hatest none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest haue created nothing that thou haddest hated.

22 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will? or how could any thing bee preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all, for they are thine, O Lord, which art the louer of soules.

CHAP. XII.

2 The mercie of God toward sinners. 14 The workes of God are vnreprooueable. 19 God giueth leasure to repent.

FOr thine incorruptible spirit is in all things.

2 Therefore thou chastnest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they haue offended, that leauing wickednesse, they may beleeue in thee, O Lord.

3 *As for those old inhabitants of the holy Deut.9.3. land, thou didst hate them. and 12.31.

4 For they committed abominable workes, and 18.9,12 as sorceries and wicked sacrifices,

5 And slaying their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where the raging priests shed abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chiefe murtherers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might be a meet dwelling for the children of God.

8 *Nuertheless, thou sparedst them also Exod.33.2. as men, and sendedst the forerunners of thine deut.2.22. hoste, euen hornets to destroy them by little and little.

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodly vnto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gauest them space to repent, knowing well that it was an vnrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought could neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearedst any man.

12 For who dare say, *What hast thou done? Rom.9.20. or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

13 For there is none other God but thou, *that 1.Pet.5.7. carest for all things, that thou mayest declare how that thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There

14 There dare neither king nor tyrant in thy sight, require accompts of them whom thou hast punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, *thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to bee punished. Iob 10.2,3.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousnes, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfit power, thou declarest thy power, and reprouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgest with equitie, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such works now hast thou taught thy people, that a man should be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death, with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednes,

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made couenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when wee iudge, wee should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for mercy.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue lined a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of children, that haue none vnderstanding. Chap 11.13. Rom.1.23.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment, that they should be in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not bee reformed by those scornefull rebukes, shall feele the worthy punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in those whom they counted godly, when they saw themselues punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God, whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 All things be vaine, except the knowledge of God. 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

SVrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, * and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the works, the workemaster. Rom.1.19

2 * But they thought the fire or the wind, or the swift ayre, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to bee gouernours of the world and gods. Deut.4.13. and 17.3.

3 Though they had such pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowen how much more excellent bee is that made them: for the first authour of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueile at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, how much bee that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creatour being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, and yet peraduenture doe erre.

7 For they * goe about by his works to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene. Rom.1.21.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discerne the world, why doe they not rather find out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the works of mens hands, gold, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or any vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 * Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meete for the worke, and pareth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessell profitable for the vse of life. Isa.44.13. iere.10.3.

12 And the things that are cut off from his worke, hee bestoweth to dresse his meate to fill himselfe.

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood, and full of knobs) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and coureth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fal: for he knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath need of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him that is weak, for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead, for life: he requireth him of helpe, that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe: and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, he requireth furtherance of him that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The detestation and abomination of images. 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Where of idolatrie proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatrie.

AGaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorow the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that carieth him.

2 For as for ‖ it, couetousnesse of money hath found it out, and the craftesman made it ‖ Or, the ship.

by by cunning.

3 But thy prouidence, O Father, gouerneth it: * for thou hast made a way, euen in the Sea, and a sure path among the waues, Exod. 14.22.

4 Declaring thereby that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheless, thou wouldest not that the workes of thy wisedome should bee vaine, and therefore doe men commit their lines to a small piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a ship, and are saued.

6 * For in the olde time also when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left seed of generation vnto the world. Gen. 6.4. and 7.10.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteousnesse commeth.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hands, * both it, and hee that made it: hee, because hee made it, yet being a corruptible thing, because it was called god. Psal. 115.8. Baruch 6.3.

9 * For the vngodly and his vngodlinesse are both alike hated of God: so truely the worke and he that made it, shall be punished together. Psal. 5.5.

10 Therefore shall there bee a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blocks vnto the soules of men, and a snare for the feet of the vnwise. Ier. 10.8. Habac. 2.18.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grieuously for his son that was taken away suddenly, hee made an image for him that was once dead, whom now he worshippeth as a god, and ordeined to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by processe of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commaundement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so far off, that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as though hee had beene present.

17 Againe, the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For hee peraduenture willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so through the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, & so tooke him now for a god, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiuing of mans life, when men, being in seruitude through calamitie and tyrannie, ascribed vnto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate vnto any.

21 Moreouer, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they liued in great warre of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either * they slew their owne children in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutenesse by strange rites, Deut. 18.10. Ier. 7.9. and 19.4.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or elle vexed him by adultery.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theft and deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulnesse, tumults, periury, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulnes, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disorder in mariage, adultery and vncleannesse.

26 For the worshipping of idoles, that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause, and the end of all euill.

27 For either they be mad when they be merrie, or prophesie lies, or liue vngodly, or elle lightly forsweare themselues.

28 For inasmuch as their trust is in the idols, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they iustly be punished, because they haue an euill opinion of God, addicting themselues vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniustly to deceiue, and despise holinesse.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP XV.

The voyce of the faithfull, praising the mercie of God, by whose grace they serue not idoles.

BUt thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercy.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but wee sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousnes, and to know thy power, is the root of immortalitie.

4 For neither hath the wicked inuention of men deceiued vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he coueteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue such wicked things, are worthy to haue such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The * potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth euery vessell with labour to our vse: but of the same clay hee maketh both the vessels that serue to cleane vses, and the contrary likewise: but whereto euery vessell serueth, the potter is the iudge. Rom. 9.21.

8 So by his wicked labour he maketh a vaine god of the same clay: euen hee, which a little afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a little while after goeth thither againe whence he was taken, * when he shall make account for the loane of his life. Luke 12.20.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour bour hee taketh, nor that his life is short, but hee striueth with the goldsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfeiteth the coppersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceiuable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and breathed in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euery side, though it be by euill meanes.

13 Now hee that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend aboue all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that hold them in subiection, are most vnwise, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noles to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, and their feet are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like to himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnrighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom hee worshippeth: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beastes also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst, if they bee compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beautie to bee desired in respect of other beasts, for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefits done vnto the faithfull.

THerefore by such things they are worthily punished and * tormented by the multitude beasts. Chap. 11. 13, 14 numb. 21.6.

2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast beene fauourable to thy people, and to satisfie their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen * quailes. Num. 11.31.

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed, & sent among them, might turne away their necessary desire, and that they, which had suffered penury for a space, should also taste a new taste.

4 For it was requisite that they which vsed tyrannie, should fall into extreme pouerty, and that to these onely it should be shewed, how their enemies were tormented.

5 * For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beastes came vpon them, & they were hurt with the stings of cruell serpents, Num. 21.6. 1. cor. 10.9.

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might be reformed, hauing a ‖ * signe of saluation to remember the commaundement of thy Law. ‖ The signe of the brasen serpent. Numb. 21.9.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he saw, but by thee, O Sauiour of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euill.

9 * For the biting of grashoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedy found for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such. Exod 8.14. and 10.4. rem. 9.7.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons could not ouercome thy children: for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, and were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulnesse, that they could not bee called backe by thy benefite.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe. Deut. 32.39. 1. sam. 2.6.

14 A man indeede by his wickednes may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can he call againe the soule that is taken away. tob. 13.2.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 * For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they could not auoyd, and were consumed with fire. Exod. 9.23.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fire might doe more then water, which quencheth all things: but the world is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so tame, that the beastes, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see, and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the mids of the water, aboue the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniust land.

20 * In the stead whereof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels foode, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meet for all tastes. Exod. 16.14. numb. 11.7. psal. 78.25. iohn 6.31.

21 For the sustenance declared thy sweetnes vnto thy children, which serued to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meet to that that euery man would.

22 Moreouer, the * snow & yce abode the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the haile, and sparckling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies. Exod. 9.23.

23 Againe, it forgat his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished:

26 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all fashions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need thereof, 26 That thy children whom thou louest, O Lord, might know, * that it is not the increase of fruits that feedeth men, but that it is thy word, Deut. 8.3. matt. 4.4.

word, which preserueth them that trust in thee.

27 For that which could not bee destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the sunne beames, melted, 28 That it might be knowen that we ought to prevent the sunne rising to giue thanks vnto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankfull shal melt as the winter yce, and flow away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgement of God against the wicked.

FOr thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expressed: therefore men doe erre, that will not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darknes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the roofe, did lie there to escape the euerlasting prouidence.

3 And while they thought to be hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnesse, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them troubled them, and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them only a sudden fire, very dreadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, ‖ which they could not see, they thought the things which they saw to bee worse.

‖ That is, the mighty vision.

7 * And the illusions of the Magicall arts were brought downe, and it was a most shameful reproch for the boasting of their knowledge: Exod. 7.12. and 8.7,19.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they dyed for feare, and sayd they saw not the ayre, which by no meanes can bee auoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruel things.

11 For feare is nothing else, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did indure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soule should betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus whosoeuer fell downe, hee was kept, and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, hee must suffer this necessitie, that he could not auoide:

17 (For with one chaine of darknesse were they all bound) whether it were an hissing wind or a sweete song of the birdes among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemency of hasty running water, 18 Or a great noyse of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that could not be seene, or the noise of cruell beasts, that roared, or the ‖ sound that answereth again in the hollow mountaines: these fearefull things made them to swoone.

‖ Or, Echo.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fel an heauy night and image of that darknesse that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselues more grieuous then darknesse.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The fiery pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuerance of the faithfull. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wildernesse. 21 Aaron stood betweene the liuing and the dead with his censer.

BVt thy saints had a very great *light, whose voyce because ‖ they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not suffered the like. Exod. 10 23. ‖ Or, the Egyptians.

2 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 * Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnknowen way, and madest the sunne that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney. Exod. 13.21. and 14 24. psal. 78.14. and 105 39.

4 But they were worthy to bee deprived of the light, and to bee kept in darkenesse, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the incorrupt light of the law should bee giuen to the world.

5 * Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was cast out, and preserued to reproue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them altogether in the mighty water. Exod. 1.16.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they, knowing to what oathes they had giuen credite, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed. Exod. 14,24, 25.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offered secretly, and made a law of righteousnes by one consent, that the Saints should receiue good & euill in like maner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noyse for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the king. Exod. 21.5. and 12.29.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in the twincking of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that could beleeue nothing, because

cauſe of the enchantments confeſſed this people to be the children of God, in the deſtruction of the firſt borne:

14 For while all things were in quiet ſilence, and the night was in the middes of her ſwift courſe,

15 Thine almighty word leapt downe from heauen out of thy royall throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was deſtroyed, 16 And brought thine vnfained commandement as a ſharpe ſword, and ſtood vp, and filled all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.

17 Then the ſight of the fearefull dreames vexed them ſuddenly, and fearefulnes came vpon them vnawares.

18 Then lay there one here, another there halfe dead, and ſhewed the cauſe of his death.

19 For the viſions that vexed them, ſhewed them theſe things afore: ſo that they were not ignorant, wherefore they periſhed.

20 Now tentation of death touched the righteous alſo, and* among the multitude in the wilderneſſe there was a plague, but the wrath endured not long. *Num.16.46.

21 For the blameleſſe man made haſte, and defended them, and tooke the weapons of his miniſtration, euen prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and ſet himſelfe againſt the wrath, & ſo brought the miſerie to an end, declaring that he was thy ſeruant.

22 For he ouercame not the multitude with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word hee ſubdued him that puniſhed, alledging the othes and couenant made vnto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, hee ſtood in the mids, and cut off the wrath, and parted it from coming to the liuing,

24 *For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the ſtones was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maieſtie on the diademe of his head. *Exod.28.6, 31.

25 Vnto theſe the deſtroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them, for it was ſufficient, that they had taſted the wrath.

CHAP. XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioy of the Hebrewes. 11 The meat that was giuen at the deſire of the people. 17 All the elements ſerue to the will of God.

AS for the vngodly, the wrath came vpon them without mercy vnto the end: for hee knew what ſhould come vnto them,

2 That they (when they had conſented to let them go, and had ſent them out with diligence) would repent and purſue them.

3 For while yet ſorow was before them and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they deuiſed another fooliſhneſſe, ſo that they perſecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had a caſt out afore with prayer.

a That is, the children of Iſrael whom they before had deſired and prayed to goe their way.

4 For the deſtinie whereof they were worthy, brought them to this end, and cauſed them to forget the things that had come to paſſe, that they might accompliſh the puniſhment, which remained, by torments.

5 Both that thy people might tric a marueilous paſſage, & that theſe might finde a ſtrange death.

6 For euery creature in his kinde was faſhioned anew, and ſerued in their owne offices enioyned them, that thy children might bee kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude ouerſhadowed their tents, and the drie earth appeared, where afore was water: ſo that in the red Sea there was a way without impediment, and the great deepe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, ſeeing thy wonderous marueiles.

9 For they ‖neyed like horſes, and leaped like lambes, praying thee, O Lord, which hadſt deliuered them. ‖Or, neyed.

10 For they were yet mindefull of thoſe things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth flies in ſtead of cattell, and how the riuer ſcrauled with the multitude of frogs in ſtead of fiſhes.

11 *But at the laſt they ſaw a new generation of birds, when they were intiſed with luſt, and deſired delicate meates. *Exod.16.13. num.11.31.

12 *For the quailes came forth of the ſea vnto them for comfort, but puniſhments came vpon the ‖ſinners not without ſignes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they ſuffered worthily according to their wickednelſe, becauſe they ſhewed a cruell hatred toward ſtrangers. *Chap.16.1. ‖Or, Egyptians.

13 For the one ſort would not receiue them when they were preſent, becauſe they knew them not: the other ſort brought the ſtrangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beſide all theſe things ſome would not ſuffer, that any regard ſhould be had of them: for they handled the ſtrangers deſpitefully.

15 Others that had receiued them with great banquetting, and admitted them to bee partakers of the ſame lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were ſtricken with blindneſſe, as in old time certaine were at the doores of the* righteous, ſo that euery one being compaſſed with darkneſſe, ſought the entrance of his dore. *Gen.19.11

17 Thus the elements agreed among themſelues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an inſtrument of muſicke, and the melodie ſtill remaineth, which may eaſily be perceiued by the ſight of the things that are come to paſſe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water, and the thing that did ſwimme, went vpon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary vnto his owne vertue, and the water forgate his owne kinde to quench.

20 Againe, the flames did not hurt the fleſh of the corruptible beaſts that walked therein, neither melted they that which ſeemed to bee b yce, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortall meat.

b He meaneth Man, looke Exod. 16.14,15. and numb. 11.7.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou haſt magnified and glorified thy people, and haſt not deſpiſed to aſſiſt them in euery time and place.

Apocryp

¶ The wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

¶ This argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter times after the people had been led away captiue, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdome among the Hebrewes, who did not only gather the graue sentences of wise men that had been before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdome. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, & called it Wisedome, intitling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking, by this title of Wisedome, to allure the Reader to read this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approoued of God, and certaine prayers and songs of the authour himselfe: moreouer, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisedome and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the wisedome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

WHereas many and great things haue been giuen vs by the Law and the Prophets, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be commended by the reason of doctrine and wisedome, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned themselues, but also may be able by the diligent study thereof to be profitable vnto strangers, both by speaking and writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Law and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something pertaining to learning and wisedome, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, and would giue themselues to these things, might profit much more in liuing according to the Law. Wherefore, I exhort you to receiue it louingly, and to reade it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though we seeme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such words as are hard to be expressed: for y things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselues then when they are translated into another tongue: and not only these things, but other things also, as the Law it selfe, and the Prophets, and other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder king Euergetes, and continued there, I found a copy ful of great learning, and I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and trauell to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching & study I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisedome commeth of God. 11 A praise of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by Wisedome.

ALl wisedome *commeth of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him] and is with him for euer. 1. King. 3. 9. and 4. 29. That which is marked with these two marks, [ ] is read in the Latine copies, and not in the Greeke.

2 Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of the raine, and the dayes of the world? [who can measure] the height of heauen, the breadth of the earth, and the depth?

3 Who can finde the wisedome [of God which hath bene before all things?]

4 Wisedome hath beene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerlasting.

5 [The word of God most high is the fountaine of wisedome, and the euerlasting Commandements are the entrance vnto her.]

6 *Vnto whom hath the roote of wisdome beene declared? or who hath knowen her wise counsels? Ecclus. 11. 34.

7 [Vnto whome hath the doctrine of wisedome bene discouered & shewed? and who hath vnderstood the manifold entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise, [euen the most high Creatour of all things, the Almighty, the King of power] and very terrible, which sitteth vpon his Throne.

9 He is the Lord that hath created her [thorow the holy Ghost:] he hath seene her, numbred her, [and measured her:]

10 Hee hath powred her out vpon all his workes, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and gladnesse, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a merry heart, and giueth gladnesse, and ioy, & long life.

13 Who so feareth the Lord, it shall goe well with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honourable wisedome, and vnto whom it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof.]

15 *The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisedome, and was made with the faithfull in the wombe: [she goeth with the chosen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithfull. *Psal. 111. 10. Prou. 9. 10. Iob. 28. 28.

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy knowledge.

17 Holinesse shall preserue, and iustifie the heart, and giueth mirth and gladnesse.

18 Who

18 Who so feareth the Lord shall prosper, and in the day of his end he shalbe blessed.]

19 She hath built her euerlasting foundations with men, & is giuen to be with their seed.

20 To feare God is the fulnesse of wisedome, and filleth men with her fruits.

21 She filleth her whole house with [all] things desireable, & the garners with the things that she bringeth forth, and both twaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisedome, and giueth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her, and numbred her.

‖ Or, wisedome. 23 ‖ She raineth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wisedome, and hath brought vnto honour them that possessed her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the rote of wisedome, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisedome is vnderstanding, and holy knowledge, but wisedome is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne, and when she is present, she driueth away anger:

27 For wicked anger cannot be iustified: for his ruine is in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 Hee will hide his wordes for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisedome.

30 In the treasures of wisedome, are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisedome, keepe the Commandements, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee, [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdome and discipline: he hath pleasure in faith and meekenesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 Bee not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Exalt not thy selfe, lest thou fall and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the mids of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousnesse, loue, vnderstanding and patience. 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impatient.

MY sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God [stand fast in righteousnesse and feare] prepare thy soule to tentation.

2 Settle thine heart, and be patient: [bow downe thine eare, & receiue the words of vnderstanding] and shrinke not away when thou art assailed. [but wait vpon God patiently]

3 Ioine thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou mayst be increased at the last end.

4 Whatsoeuer commeth vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

Wisd. 3. 6. prou. 17. 3. 5 * For as gold [and siluer are] tried in the fire: euen so are men acceptable in the fornace of aduersitie.

6 Beleeue in God, and hee will helpe thee: order thy way aright, and trust in him: [hold fast his feare, and grow old therein.]

7 Ye that feare the Lord, wait for his mercy: shrinke not away from him that ye fall not.

8 Ye that feare the Lord, beleeue him, and your reward shall not faile.

9 O yee that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the euerlasting ioy and mercy.

10 [We that feare the Lord, loue him, & your hearts shalbe lightened.]

11 Consider the old generations [of men, yee children,] and marke them wel: * was there euer any confounded that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whom did he euer despise, that called vpon him? Psal. 37. 25.

12 For God is gracious and mercifull, & forgiueth sinnes, and saueth in the time of trouble, [and is a defender for all them that seeke him in the trueth.]

13 Woe vnto them that haue a ‖ fearefull heart, [and to the wicked lips] and to the faint hands, and to the sinner that goeth two * maner of wayes. ‖ Or, double. 1. King. 18. 21.

14 Woe vnto him that is faint hearted: for he beleeueth not: therefore shall he not be defended.

15 Woe vnto you that haue lost patience, [and haue forsaken the right wayes, and are turned backe into froward wayes:] for what will ye doe when the Lord shall visit you?

16 They that feare the Lord, wil not disobey his word: and they that * loue him, wil keepe his wayes. Iohn 14. 23, 24.

17 They that feare the Lord, will seeke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shall be fulfilled with his Law.

18 They that feare the Lord, wil prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 [They that feare the Lord, keepe his Commandements, and willbe patient vntil he visite them, 20 Saying, if we doe not repent] we shall fal into the hands of the Lord, & not into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnesse is, so is his mercy.

CHAP. III.

1 To our father and mother ought wee to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to search out the secrets of God.

[THe children of wisedome are the Church of the righteous, and their offspring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shal be forgiuen him. [and he shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his daily desires.]

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when he maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 Hee that honoureth his father, shall haue a long long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

‖ Or, the blessing of man. 10 For the blessing of the Father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioice not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame, 12 Seeing that mans glory commeth by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 My sonne helpe thy father in his age, and grieue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreaty of thy Father shall not be forgotten, but it shal be a fortresse for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shal be founded for thee in righteousnes.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembred: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the yce in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 ¶ My sonne, performe thy doings with meekenesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

Phil. 2.3. 19 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

23 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his workes:] for it is not needfull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacitie of men.

25 The medling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubborne heart shall fare euil at the last: and he that loueth danger, shall perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shal not prosper: and he that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrowes: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The perswasion of the proude is without remedy, and his steps shal be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken roote in him, [and hee shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath vnderstanding shal perceiue secret things, and an attentiue care is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the workes of righteousnesse.]

2 Make not a hungry soule sorowful, neither vexe a man in his necessitie.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore. Tobit 4.7.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitternesse of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bow downe thy head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieue thee to bow downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt] and giue him a friendly answere.

9 ¶ Deliuer him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressor, and be not faint hearted ‖ when thou iudgest.

‖ Or, to defend him.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherles, and as an husband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the sonne of the most High: and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisedome exalteth the children, and receiueth them that seeke her, [and will goe before them in the way of righteousnesse.]

12 Hee that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great ioy.

13 Hee that keepeth her, shall inherite glory: for vnto whom shee entreth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shalbe the seruants of the holy One, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and he that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 Hee that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shal possesse her.

17 For first she will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto feare and dread, and torment him with her discipline vntill shee haue tried his soule, and haue prooued him by her iudgements.

18 Then wil shee returne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousnesse.]

19 But if he goe wrong, she will forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 [My sonne,] make much of time, and * eschew the thing that is euill.

Rom. 12. 9. 1. Thes. 5. 22.

21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

a To be ashamed to confesse thy God, thy faith, to testifie the truth, and to reproue sin, doth bring sinne vnto thee: the contrary shame bringeth worship.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou bee not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbeare not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may do good, neither hide thy wisedome when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisedome knowen, and learning by the words of the tongue, [and counsell, wisedome and learning by the talking of the wise, and stedfastnesse in the workes of righteousnesse.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of trueth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, and resist not the course of the riuer.

27 Submit not thy selfe vnto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mighty.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not hastie in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Be not as a lyon in thine owne house, neither beate thy seruants for thy fantasie, [nor oppresse them that are vnder thee.]

Act. 20. 35.

31 * Let not thine hand bee stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou shouldest giue.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to bee feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

TRust not vnto thy * riches, & say not, I haue enough for my life: [for it shall not helpe in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

Luke 12. 15, 19, 20. chap. 11. 18, 19. Prou. 10. 2. 11. 4, 7, 19. Zeph. 1. 18.

2 Followe not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [Howe haue I had strength?] or who will bring mee vnder for my workes? For God the auenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto mee? for the Almighty is a patient rewarder, but he will not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, be not without feare to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he will forgiue my manifold sinnes: for mercie and wrath come from him, and his indignation commeth downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lorde, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord breake forth, and in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not help thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with euery wind, and goe not into euery way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in the sure vnderstanding [and in the way & knowledge of the Lord] and haue but one maner of word, [and follow the word of peace and righteousnesse.

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest vnderstand it, and make a true answere with wisedome.]

12 * Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and giue a patient answere. Iam. 1. 19.

13 If thou haue vnderstanding, answere thy neighbour: if not, lay thine hande vpon thy mouth, [lest thou bee trapped in an vndiscrete worde, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man catcheth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a * talebearer, and lie not in waite with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thiefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backebiter shall be hated, enuied, and confounded.]

Leuit. 19. 16.

16 Do not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

2 It is the propertie of a sinner to be euill tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

BE not of a friend [thy neighbours] a enemie: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

a For that is against the rule of charity, which loueth all & hateth nothing but onely sinne.

2 Bee not proud in the deuice of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a b bull, b As a bull teareth in pieces a young tree with his hornes, so thou trusting in thine own wisedome, & standing in thine owne conceit, because of thy wit, thy power, or riches shouldest destroy thy selfe.

3 And eate vp thy leaues, and destroy thy fruit, & so thou be left as a drie tree [in the wildernesse.]

4 For a wicked soule destroieth him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorne of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweete talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a swéete tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Hold friendship with many, neuertheless haue but one counseller of a thousand.

7 If thou getteſt a friend, proone him first, and be not hastie to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, & will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enimity, & taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Againe, some * friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction hee continueth not.

Chap. 37. 5.

11 But in thy prosperity he will be as thou thy selfe, and will vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought low, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithfull friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth such a one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithfull friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [of golde and siluer] is not to bee compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

16 A faithfull friend is the medicine of life [and immortalitie,] & they that feare the Lord shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friendship aright, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisedome [which shall endure] till thine old age.

19 Goe to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good fruites: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke but thou shalt eate of her fruits right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is shee to the vnlearned! hee that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Vnto such one shee is as a fine touchstone, and he casteth her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisedome, but there bee but fewe that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, shee abideth vnto the appearing of God]

24 Giue eare, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell, 25 And put thy feete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and shee shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shalbe turned to thy ioy.

30 Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure foundation] and her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her bands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of ioy.

33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the mutitude of the elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.

Chap. 8. 9. 36 * Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seest a man of vnderstanding, get thee vnto him, and let thy foote weare the steps of his doores.

38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be || continually * occupied in his commaundements: so shall her establish thine heart, and giue thee wisedome at thine owne desire.

|| Or, earnestly, Psal. 1. 2, 3.

CHAP. VII.

2 Wee must forsake euill, and yet not iustifie our selues. 23 The behauiour of the wife towards hir husband, his friend, his children, his seruants, his Father and mother.

DOe no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnesse, lest that thou reape themselues folde.

4 Aske not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the King the seate of honour.

Iob. 9. 2. Psal. 143. 2. eccle. 7. 18. luke 18. 11. 5 * Iustifie not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] and boast not thy wisedome in the presence of the King.

6 Seeke not to be made a iudge, least thou bee not able to take away iniquitie, and least thou, fearing the person of the mightie, shouldest commit an offence against thine vprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a city and cast not thy selfe among the people.

Chap. 5. 5. 8 * Bind not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be vnpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most high God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

1. Sam. 2. 7. 11 Laugh no man to scorne in the heauinesse of his soule: for [God which seeth all things] is hee * that can bring downe, and set vp againe.

12 Sow not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Vse not to make any manner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

Mat. 6. 5, 7. 14 Make not many wordes when thou art among the elders, neither * repeat a thing in thy prayer.

Rom. 10. 11. 15 Hate not laborious * worke, neither the husbandry which the most High hath created.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy minde greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and wormes.

18 Giue not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ophir.

19 Depart not from a wife and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue gold.

Leuit. 19. 13 chap 33. 29. and 34. 23. 20 ¶ * Whereas thy seruant worketh truely, intreat him no euill, nor the hireling that boasteth himselfe wholy for thee.

21 Let thy seule loue a good seruant, and defraud him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a poore man.]

Deut. 25. 4. 22 * If thou haue cattell, looke well to them, and if they bee for thy profit, keepe them with thee.

Chap. 30. 11. 23 * If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and hold their necke from their youth.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodie, and shewe not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marry thy daughter, and so shalt thou performe a weightie matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the hatefull.

Chap. 3. 9. tobit. 4. 3. 27 * Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the sorowes of thy mother.

28 Remember that thou wast borne of them, and how canst thou recompense them the things that they haue done for thee?

29 ¶ Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and honour his ministers.

30 Loue him that made thee, with all thy strength, * and forsake not his seruants.

Deut. 12. 18, 19. Leuit. 2.3. num. 18. 15.

31 Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and honour the Priests, * and giue them their portion, as it is commanded thee, the first fruites, [and purifications] and sacrifices for sinne, and the offerings of the shoulders, and the sacrifices of sanctification, and the first fruites of the holy things.

32 Stretch thine hand vnto the poore, that thy ‖ blessing, [and reconciliation] may bee accomplished.

33 Liberalitie pleaseth all men liuing, and * from the dead restraine it not.

Tobit. 2.4,7. and 4.17.

34 * Let not them that weepe, bee without [comfort:] but mourne with such as mourne.

Rom. 12.15.

35 * Be not slow to visite the sicke: for that shall make thee to be beloued.

Mat. 25.36.

36 Whatsoeuer thou takest in hand, remember the end, and thou shalt neuer doe amisse.

CHAP. VIII.

We must take heede with whom we haue to doe.

STrine not with a mightie man, lest thou fall into his hands.

2 * Make not variance with a rich man, lest hee on the other side weigh downe they weight: * for gold [and siluer] hath destroyed many, and hath subuerted the hearts of Kings.

Mat. 5.25.

Chap. 31.6.

3 Striue not with a man that is ful of words, and lay no stickes vpon his fire.

4 Play not with a man that is vntaught, lest thy kindred be dishonoured.

5 * Despise not a man that turneth himselfe away from sinne, nor cast him not in the teeth withall, but remember that wee are all worthy blame.

Gal. 6.1.

Leuit. 19.32.

6 * Dishonour not a man in his old age: for they were as we which not are old.

7 Be not glad of the death of thine enemie, but remember that wee must die all, [and so enter into ioy.]

8 * Despise not the exhortation of the [Elders] that be wise, but acquaint thy selfe with their wise sentences: for of them thou shalt learne wisedome, [and the doctrine of vnderstanding,] and how to serue great men [without complaint.]

Chap. 6.35.

9 Goe not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their Fathers, and of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answere in the time of neede.

10 Kindle not the coales of sinners, [when thou rebukest them] least thou bee burnt in the fiery flames [of their sinnes.]

11 Rise not vp against him that doth wrong, that he lay not wait as a spie for thy mouth.

12 * Lend not to him that is mightier then thy selfe: for if thou lendest him, count it but lost.

Chap. 29.4.

13 Be not suertie aboue thy power: for if thou be suertie, thinke to pay it.

14 Goe not to law with the Iudge: for they will giue sentence according to his owne honour.

15 * Trauaile not by the way with him that is rash, lest he doe thee iniurie: for hee followeth his owne wilfulnesse, and so shalt thou perish through his folly.

Gen. 48.

16 * Striue not with him that is angry, and go not with him into the wildernesse: for blood is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no helpe he will ouerthrow thee.

Pro. 22.24.

17 Take no counsell at a foole: for he cannot keepe a thing close.

18 Doe no secret thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.

19 Open not thine heart vnto euery man, lest he bee vnthankefull vnto thee, [and put thee to reproofe.]

CHAP. IX.

Of iealousie. 12 An old friend is to be preferred before a new. 18 Righteous men should be bidden to thy table.

BE not ielous ouer the wife of thy bosome, nether teach her by thy meanes an euill lesson.

a Let her not haue rule ouer thee, for then will she be contrary vnto thee, take away thy heart & strength, and bring thee to confusion among thine enemies, as did Hevah to Adam, Delilah to Samson, and strange women to Salomon.

2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, least shee ouercome thy strength, [and so thou be confounded.]

3 Weete not an harlot, least thou fall into her snares.

4 Use not the company of a woman that is a singer, [and a dancer, neither heare her,] lest thou be taken by her craftinesse.

5 * Gaze not on a maid, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.

Gen. 6.1,2. and 34.2. Pro. 5.2.

6 * Cast not thy minde vpon harlots [in any maner of thing,] lest thou destroy [both thy selfe and] thy heritage.

Mat. 5.28.

7 Goe not about gazing in the streetes of the citie, neither wander thou in the secret places thereof.

8 * Turne away thine eye from a beautifull woman, and looke not vpon others beautie: for many * haue perished by the beautie of women: for through it loue is kindled as a fire.

Gen. 34.1,2 2. sam. 11.2. inder. 10.17, 19. and 13. 16, 20.

9 [Euery woman that is an harlot, shall be troden vnder foote as doung, of euery one that goeth by the way.

10 Many wondering at the beautie of a strange woman, haue beene cast out: for her words burne as a fire]

11 Sit not at all with another mans wife, [neither lie with her vpon the bed,] nor banket with her, lest thine heart incline vnto her, and so through thy desire fall into destruction.

12 ¶ Forsake not an olde friend: for the new shal not be like vnto him: a new friend is as new wine: when it is olde thou shalt drinke it with pleasure.

13 * Desire not the honour [and riches] of a sinner: for thou knowest not what shall bee his end.

Iudg. 9.3. 2. sam. 15.12

14 Delight not in the thing that the vngodly haue pleasure in, but remember that they shall not be found iust vnto their graue.

15 Keepe thee from the man that hath power to slay: so shalt thou not doubt the feare of death: and if thou come vnto him, make no fault, lest he take away thy life: remember that thou goest in the middes of snares, and that thou walkest vpon the towers of the citie.

Chap. 6.36, 38. and 8.8. and 37.12. Deut. 6.7. and 11.19.

16 Try thy neighbour as neere as thou canst, * and aske counsell of the wise.

17 * Let thy talke be with the wise, and all thy commu-communication in the Law of the most high.

18 Let iust men eat and drink with thee, and let thy reioycing be in the feare of the Lord.

19 In the hands of the craftsmen shall the workes be commended, and the wise prince of the people by his word, [and the word by the wisedome of the Elders.]

20 A man full of words, is dangerous in his City, and he that is rash in his talking, shall bee hated.

[Or, the workman is praised according to the worke.

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and Iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnesse are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praysed.

A Wise Iudge will instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the Iudge of the people is himselfe, so are his Officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the City is, such are all they that dwell therein.

3 *An vnwise King destroyeth his people, but where they that bee in authority are men of vnderstanding, there the City prospereth. 1. King. 12. 1.13, 14.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will set vp a profitable Ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the Scribes wil he lay his honor.

6 *Bee not angry for any wrong with thy neighbour, & do nothing by iniurious practises. Leu. 19. 17.

7 Pride is hateful before God and man, and by both doeth one commit iniquitie.

8 *Because of vnrighteous dealing, and wrongs, & riches gotten by deceit, the kingdom is translated from one people to another. Ier. 27. 6. dan. 4. 14.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proud, O earth and ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for such one would counsell his soule, and for his life euery one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyranny is of smal indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grieuous to the Phisician.]

11 The Phisician cutteth off the sore disease, and he that is to day a King, to morrow is dead.

12 Why is earth and ashes proud, seeing that when a man dieth, hee is the heire of Serpents, beasts and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fal away from God, & to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the original of sin, and he that hath it, shall powre out abominations, till at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the perswasions [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyeth them in the end.

15 The Lord hath * cast downe the thrones of the [proud] princes, and set vp the meeke in their stead. Luke 1. 52. and 14. 11. and 18. 14.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them. 1. sam. 2. 7, 8.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, and destroyeth them vnto the foundations of the earth: he causeth them to wither away and destroyeth them, and maketh their memorial to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroyeth the memorial of the proud, and leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in men, neither wrath in the generation of women.

20 There is a seede of man, which is an honourable seed: the honourable seed are they that feare the Lord: there is a seed of man which is without honour: the seed without honour, are they that transgresse the commandements of the Lord: it is a seed that remaineth, which feareth the Lord: and a faire plant that loue him: but they are a seede without honour, that despise the Law, and a detestable seed that breake the commandements.

21 Hee that is the chiefe among brethren, is honourable: so are they that feare the Lord in his sight.

22 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome falleth not, but the kingdome is lost by cruelty and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not meet to despise the powre man that hath vnderstanding, neither is it conuenient to magnifie the rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the Iudge, and the man of authoritie, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then hee that feareth the Lord.

26 * Vnto the seruant that is wise, shall they that are free, doe seruice: * he that hath knowledge will not grudge when hee is reformed, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.] Prou. 17. 2. 2. Sam. 12. 13.

27 Seeke not excuses when thou shouldest do thy worke, neither bee ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

28 * Better is hee that laboureth, and hath plenteousnes of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread. Prou. 12. 9, 11.

29 My sonne get thy selfe prayse by meeknes, and esteeme thy selfe as thou deseruest.

30 Who will count him iust that sinneth against himselfe? or honour him that dishonoreth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honoured for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the rich is had in reputation because of his goods.

32 Hee that is honourable in pouerty, how much more shall he be when hee is rich? and hee that is vnhonest being rich, how much more will he be so when hee is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought wee not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to bee brought into thine house.

WIsedome * lifteth vp the head of him that is low, and maketh him to sit among great men. Gen. 41. 40. dan. 6. 3.

2 Commend not a man for his beauty, neither despise a man in his vtter appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the foules: yet doeth her fruit passe in sweetnesse.

4 Bee not proud of clothing and rayment: * and exalt not thy selfe in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wonderfull [and glorious] secret, [and vnknowen] are his Acts 13, 21, 23.

8 * Giue no sentence before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Strine not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

10 My sonne, meddle not with many matters: * for if thou gaine much, thou shalt not bee blameless, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.

Mat. 19. 22. 1. tim. 6. 9.

11 * There is some man that laboureth and taketh paine, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth.

Prou. 10. 3.

12 Againe there is some that is slothfull, and * hath need of helpe: for hee wanteth strength, and hath great pouerty, yet the eye of the Lord looketh vpon him to good, and setteth him vp from his low estate.

Iob 42. 10.

13 And he lifteth vp his head: so that many men marueile at him, [and giue honour vnto God.]

14 * Prosperitie and aduersity, life and death, pouerty and riches come of the Lord.

Iob 1. 21. ezek. 28. 4.

15 Wisdome and knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Law are of the Lord: loue and good wozkes come of him.

16 Errour and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselues in euill, ware old in euill.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for ỳ godly, and his good will giueth prosperity for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is rich by his care and niggardship, and this is the portion of his wages, 19 In that he saith, * I haue gotten rest, and now will I eate continually of my goods, yet he considereth not that the time draweth neere, that he must leaue all these things vnto other men, and die himselfe.

Luke 12. 19.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy wozke vnto thine age.

21 Maruaile not at the wozks of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a pooze man rich.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godly, and he maketh his prosperity soone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profit and pleasure shall I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?

24 Againe, say not, I haue enough, and possesse many things, and what euil can come to me hereafter?

Chap. 18. 24.

25 * In thy good state remember aduersity, and in aduersity forget not prosperity.

26 For it is an easie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.

27 The aduersity of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his wozkes are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shalbe knowen by his children.

29 Bring not euery man into thine house: for the deceitfull haue many traines, [and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.]

30 As a partridge is taken vnder a basket, [and the hinde is taken in the snare,] so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spy watcheth for thy fall.

31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good vnto euil, and in things worthy praise he will finde some fault.

32 Of one little sparke is made a great fire, [and of one deceitfull man is blood increased:] for a sinfull man layeth wait for blood.

33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetuall shame.

34 Lodge a stranger and he will destroy thee with vnquietnesse, and driue thee from thine owne.

CHAP. XII.

2 Vnto whom we ought to do good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.

WHen thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefits.

2 * Doe good vnto the righteous, and thou shalt finde [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most high.

Galat. 6. 10. 1. tim. 5. 8.

3 Hee cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercy vpon them that repent.]

4 Giue vnto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.

5 Doe well vnto him that is lowly, but giue not vnto the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, lest he ouercome thee thereby: else thou shalt receiue twise as much euil for all the good that thou doest vnto him.

6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance vnto the vngodly, & keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.

7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.

8 A friend cannot be knowen in prosperity, neither can an enemy bee vnknowen in aduersitie.

9 When a man is in wealth, it grieueth his enemies, but in heauinesse and trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.

10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednes.

11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduise thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt bee to him, as hee that wipeth a glasse, & thou shalt know that all his rust hath not bene well wiped away.

12 Set him not by thee, lest he destroy thee, and stand in thy place.

13 Neither set him at thy right hand, least he seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember my wordes, and be pricked with my sayings.

14 * Binde not two sinnes together: for there shall not one be vnpunished.

Chap. 7. 8. and 21. 1.

15 Who

Int. 41. 6.

Deut. 7. 2.

15 Who will haue pitie on the charmer, that is stinged of the serpent? or of all such as come nere the beasts? so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, & wrappeth himselfe in his sinnes.

16 For a season will he bide with thee: but if thou stumble, he tarieth not.

Isa.41.6. 17 * An enemie is sweete in his lippes: he can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart hee imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be satisfied with blood.

18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though hee pretend to helpe thee, yet shall he vndermine thee: hee will shake his head, and clap his hands, & will make many words, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The company of the proud and of the rich are to bee eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like doe company with their like.

Deut.7.2. HE * that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proud, shalbe like vnto him.

2 Burthen not thy selfe aboue thy power, whilest thou liuest, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3 The rich dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreate: if the rich haue done wrong, hee must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shall straight wayes be threatned.

4 If thou be for his profit, he vseth thee: but if thou haue nothing, he will forsake thee.

5 If thou haue any thing, he will liue with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6 If hee haue neede of thee, he will defraud thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good words, and say, What wantest thou?

7 Thus will he shame thee in his meate, vntill hee hath supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterward when he seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8 [Submit thy selfe vnto God, and waite vpon his hand.]

9 Beware that thou be not deceiued in thine owne conceit, and brought downe by thy simplenesse: [be not too humble in thy wisedome.]

10 ¶ If thou be called of a mighty man, absent thy selfe: so shall he call thee the more oft.

11 Presse not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but goe not thou farre off, lest he forget thee.

12 Withdraw not thy selfe from his speach, but beleeue not his many words: for with much communication will he tempt thee, and laughingly will he grope thee.

13 He is vnmercifull, and keepeth not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, and take good heed: for thou walkest in perill of thine ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy sleepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluation.

16 ¶ Euery beast loueth his like, and euery man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh will resort to their like, and euery man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18 How can the wolfe agree with the lambe? no more can the vngodly with the righteous.

19 What fellowship hath ‖ hyena with a dog? and what peace is betweene the rich and the poore?

‖ Which is a wilde beast that counterfeiteth the voyce of men, and so entiseth the out of their houses, and deuoureth them.

20 As the wilde asse is the Lyons pray in the wildernesse, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21 As the proud hate humility, so doe the rich abhorre the poore.

22 If a rich man fall, his friends set him vp againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends driue him away.

23 If a rich man offend, he hath many helpers: hee speaketh proud words, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, and though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 When the rich man speaketh, euery man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee sayeth, they praise it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this? and if he doe amisse, they will destroy him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hath no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euil in the mouth of the vngodly.

26 The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euill.

27 A cheerefull countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to know the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing. 21 Happy is he that continueth in wisedome.

BLessed is the man, * that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not tormented with the sorrow of sinne. Chap.19.6, 16. Iam.3.2.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are not comely for a niggard, and what should an enuious man doe with money?

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that will make good cheere with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto himselfe, to whom will he be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one enuieth himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednesse.

7 And if hee doeth any good, he doeth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last he declareth his wickednesse.

8 The enuious man hath a wicked looke: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hath neuer enough of a portion, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A * wicked eye enuieth the bread, and there is scarcenesse vpon his table. Prou.27.20.

11 My sonne, do good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due offerings.

12 Remember that death tarieth not, and that the [a] couenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.

a That is, the day of death.

13 *Doe good vnto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine abilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him.

Chap.4.1. tob.4.7. luke 14.13.

14 Defraud not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of thy good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauailes vnto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take, and sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousnesse before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meate to finde.

17 *All flesh waxeth old as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death.

Isa.40.6. 1.per.1.24. iames 1.10.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some grow, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one commeth to an end, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 [Euery excellent worke shall be iustified, and he that worketh it, shall haue honour thereby.]

21 *Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisdome, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and hee that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding.

Psal.1.2.

22 Which considereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.

24 Hee shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.

25 He shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: hee shall pitch his tent besides her.

26 And hee shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall set his children vnder her couering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her he shall be couered from the heate, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

2 The goodnesse that followeth him which feareth God. 8 God reiecteth and casteth off the sinner. 11 God is not the authour of euill.

HE that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keepe it sure.

2 As an [honourable] mother shall shee meete him, and she, [a] as his wife married of a virgin, will receiue him.

a As a pure virgin newly married, doth friendly intreate her husband, so shall iustice pure and vndefiled gently entertaine her louers. Iohn 4.10.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shal she feede him, and giue him the *water of [wholesome] wisedome to drinke.

4 Hee shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not bee moued, and shall hold himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 She shall exalt him aboue his neighbours, and in the middes of the Congregation shall she open his mouth, [with the spirit of wisedome and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She shall cause him to inherite ioy, and the crowne of gladnesse, and an euerlasting name.

7 But foolish men will not take holde vpon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will meete her:] the sinners shall not see her.

8 For shee is farre from pride [and deceit,] and men that lie, cannot remember her: [but men of trueth shall haunt her, and shall prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praise is not seemely in the mouth of the sinner; for that is not sent of the Lord.

Chap.5.6.

10 But if prayse come of wisedome, [and bee plenteous in a faithfull mouth,] then the Lord will prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hath caused me to erre: for he hath no neede of the sinfull man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of error] and they that feare God, loue it not.

14 *He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsel [and gaue him his commandements and precepts.]

Gen.1.27.

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the commandements, and testifie thy good will.

16 Hee hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 *Before man is life and death, [good and euill:] what him liketh shall be giuen him.

Iere.21.8.

18 For the wisedome of the Lord is great, and he is mighty in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

19 *And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth all the works of man.

Psal.34.15, 16.heb.4.13.

20 Hee hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: [for hee desireth not a multitude of infidels, and vnprofitable children.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vnhappy and wicked children. 17 No man can hide himselfe from God. 24 An exhortation to the receiuing of instruction.

DEsire not the multitude of vnprofitable children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding shall the citie be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shalbe wasted incontinently.

5 Many such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 *In the congregation of the vngodly shall a fire be kindled, and among vnfaithfull people shall the wrath be set on fire.

Chap.21.9, 10.

7 *He spared not the old giants which were rebellious, trusting to their owne strength.

Gen.6.4.

8 *Neither spared hee whereas Lot dwelt, those whom he abhorred for their pride.

Gen.19.21, 25.

9 Hee had no pity vpon the people that were destroyed, and puffed vp in their sinnes.

10 *And so hee preserued the six hundreth thousand footemen, that were gathered in the hardnesse of their heart, in afflicting them and and pitying them, in smiting them and healing them, with mercy, and with chastisement.

11 Therefore if there bee one stiffenecked among the people, it is marueile if he escape vnpunished: for mercy and wrath are with him: hee is mighty to forgiue, and to powre out displeasure.

12 *As his mercy is great, so is his punishment also: hee iudgeth a man according to his workes. Chap.5.6.

13 The vngodly shall not escape with his spoile, and the patience of the godly shall not be delayed.

14 He will giue place to all good deedes, and euery one shall finde according to his workes, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharao, that hee should not know him, and that his workes should be knowen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercy is knowen to all creatures: he hath separated his light from the darknesse with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I will hide my selfe from the Lord: for who will thinke vpon me from aboue? I shall not be knowen in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule among such an infinite number of creatures?

18 Behold, the heauen, and the *heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shall bee mooued when he shall visit. *1.Pet.3.10. 1.king.8.27. 2.chro.6.18.

19 All the world which is created and made by his will, the mountaines also and the foundations of the earth shall shake for feare, when the Lord loketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstand worthily, [but hee vnderstandeth euery heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme that no man can see? for the most part of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare the workes of his righteousnesse? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is far off, and the trying out of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, will consider these things: but an vnwise and erronious man casteth his minde vpon foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto mee, and learne knowledge, and marke my wordes with thine heart.

25 I will declare thee weighty doctrine, and I will instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hath set his workes in good order from the beginning, and part of them hath hee sundred from the other when hee first made them.

27 He hath garnished his workes for euer, and their beginning so long as they shall endure, they are not hungry nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindereth another, neither was any of them disobedient vnto his words.

29 After this the Lord loked vpon the earth, and filled it with his good things.

30 With all maner of liuing beasts hath hee couered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

6 And he filled them with knowledge of vnderstanding, and shewed them good and euill.

7 Hee set his eyes vpon their hearts, declaring vnto them his noble workes,

8 And gaue them occasion to reioyce perpetually in his miracles, that they should prudently declare his workes, and that the elect should praise his holy Name together.

9 Beside this, he gaue them knowledge, and gaue them the Law of life for an heritage, that they might now know that they were [a] mortall.

10 Hee made an euerlasting couenant with them, and shewed them his iudgements.

13 Their wayes are euer before him, and are not hid from his eyes.

14 Euery man from his youth is giuen to euill, and their stonie hearts cannot become [b] flesh.

b That is, soft & gentle, for the holy Ghost to write his lawes in.

15 Hee appointed a ruler ouer euery people, when he diuided the nations of the whole earth,

16 *And he did chuse Israel as a peculiar people to himselfe, whom he nourisheth with discipline as his first borne, and giueth him most louing light, and doeth not forsake him. *Deut.4.20. and 10.15.

17 All their workes are as the Sunne before him, and his eyes are continually vpon their wayes.

18 None of their vnrighteousnesse is hidde from him, but all their sinnes are before the Lord.

19 And as he is mercifull and knoweth his worke, he doth not leaue them nor forsake them, but spareth them.

Iere.3.12. 23 *Returne then vnto the Lord, and forsake thy sinnes: make thy prayer before his face, and take away the offence.

24 Turne againe vnto the most High: for he will bring thee from darknesse vnto wholesome light: forsake thine vnrighteousnesse, and hate greatly all abomination.

25 [Know the righteousnes and iudgements of God: stand in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God, and go in the parts of the holy world with such as be living and confesse God.]

27 [Abide not thou in the errour of the vngodly, but praise the Lord before death.]

28 Thankefulnesse perisheth from the dead, as though hee were not: but the liuing, and hee that is sound of heart praiseth the Lord, [and reioyceth in his mercy.]

29 How great is the louing kindnesse of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto such as turne vnto him in holines!

30 For all things cannot bee in men, because the sonne of man is not immortall, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednesse.]

31 What is more cleare then the Sunne? yet shall it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euill, [shall be reprowed.]

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marueilous works of God. 6. 7 The miserie and wretchednesse of man. 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 21 The performing of vowes.

Gen.1.1. HEe that liueth for euer, *made all things together, the Lord who onely is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious King for euer.]

2 He ordereth the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and diuideth the holy things from the prophane.

3 To whom hath he giuen power to expresse his workes? who will seeke out the ground of his noble actes?

4 Who shall declare the power of his greatnesse? or who will take vpon him to tell out his mercy?

5 As for the wonderous workes of the Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing bee put vnto them, neither may the ground of them bee found out.

6 But when a man hath done his best, hee must begin againe, and when he thinketh to come to an end, hee must goe againe to his labour.

Psal.90.10. 8 *If the number of a mans dayes be an hundreth yeeres, it is much: and no man hath certaine knowledge of his death.

12 The mercy that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercy of the Lord is vpon all flesh: hee chasteneth, and nurtureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepheard his flocke.

13 He hath mercy on them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

20 Humble thy selfe before thou be sicke, and whiles thou mayest yet sinne, shew thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, and deferre not vnto death to be reformed: [for the reward of God endureth for euer.]

CHAP. XIX.

2 Wine and whoredome bring men to ponertie. 6 In thy words vse discretion. 22 The difference of the wisedome of God and man. 27 Whereby thou mayst know what is in man.

A Laboring man that is giuen to drunkennes, shall not be rich: and hee that contemneth small things, shall fall by little and little.

Gen.19.33. 1.King.11. 1,3,4. 2 *Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of vnderstanding to reproofe.]

3 And hee that companieth adulterers, shall become impudent: rottennesse and wormes shall haue him to heritage, and hee that is too bolde, shall be taken away, and bee made a publike example.

Iesh.22.11, 12. 4 *Hee that is hasty to giue credit, is light minded, and hee that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Who so reioyceth in wickednes, shalbe punished: [he that hateth to bee reformed, his life shalbe shortened, and he that abhorreth babling of wordes, quencheth wickednesse:] but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 Hee that refraineth his tongue, may line with a troublesome man, & hee that hateth babling, shall haue lesse euill.

7 Rehearse not to another that which is told vnto thee: so thou shalt not be hindered.

8 Declare not other mens maners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the sinne appertaine not vnto thee, reueale it not.

9 For he will hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when hee findeth opportunitie, he will hate thee.

Chap.22.22. and 27.17. 10 *If thou hast heard a word [against thy neighbour,] let it die with thee, and be sure it wil not burst thee.

11 A foole trauaileth when he hath heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrow that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a word in a fooles heart.

Ecclus.19.17. matth.18.15 13 *Reprooue a friend, lest he doe euill, and if he haue done it, that he doe it no more.

14 Reprooue a friend, that he may keepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that he say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a slaunder is raised: and giue no credence to euery word.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not Iames 3.2. with his will: *and who is he that hath not offended in his tongue?

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, and being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the most High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisedome obteineth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandements of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receiue the fruit of immortality.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wisdome, and the performing of the Law is perfect wisedome, and the knowledge of his almighty power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I will not doe as it pleaseth thee, though afterward he doe it, he shall displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednes is not wisdome, neither is there prudence whereas the counsell of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is voyde of wisedome.

23 Hee that hath small vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisedome, and transgresseth the Law of the most High.

24 There is a certaine subtilty that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: and there is that wresteth the open and manifest Law: yet there is that is wise, and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some, that being about wicked purposes, doe bow downe themselues, & are sad, whose inward parts burne altogether with deceit: he loketh downe with his face, and faineth himselfe deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he will be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And though he be so weake, that he can do thee no harme, yet when he may find opportunitie, he will doe euill.

27 ¶ A man may be knowen by his look, and one that hath vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 *A mans garment, & his excessiue laughter, and going, declare what person he is. Caap.21.20, 23.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction and repentance. 6 To speake and keepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thiefe and the murtherer. 28 Gifts blinde the eyes of the wise.

THere is some rebuke that is not comely: againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is much better to reproue, then to beare euill will, and he that acknowledgeth his fault, shalbe preserued from hurt.

3 As *when a gelded man through lust Chap.30.20. would defile a mayd, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.

4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reproued, to shew repentance! for so shalt thou escape wilfull sinne.

5 Some man keepeth silence, and is found wise, and some by much babbling becommeth hatefull.

6 Some man holdeth his tongue, because he hath not to answere: and some keepeth silence, waiting a conuenient *time. Eccles.3.7.

7 *A wise man will hold his tongue, til he see Chap.32.4. opportunity: but a trifler and a foole wil regard no time.

8 He that vseth many words, shalbe abhorred, and he that taketh authority to himselfe, shall be hated.

9 Some man hath oft times prosperitie in wicked things, & sometime a thing that is found bringeth losse.

10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose reward is double.

11 Some

11 Some man humbleth himselfe for glories sake, and some by humblenesse lifteth vp the head.

12 Some man buyeth much for a little price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.

13 *A wise man with his wordes maketh himselfe to be loued, but the mery tales of fooles shall be powred out. Chap.6.5.

14 The gift receiued of a foole, shall doe thee no good, neither yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for hee looketh to receiue many things for one, he giueth little, and he vpbraideth much: he openeth his mouth like a towne cryer: to day he lendeth, to morrow asketh hee againe, and such one is to be hated of God and man.

15 The foole sayth, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good deedes: and they that eate my bread speake euill of me.

16 How oft, and of how many shall hee bee laughed to scorne? for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: and it is all one as though he had it not.

17 The fall on a pauement is very sudden: so shall the fall of the wicked come hastily.

18 A man without grace is as a foolish tale, which is oft told by the mouth of the ignorant.

19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it commeth out of a fooles mouth: for hee speaketh not in due season.

20 Some man sinneth not because of pouertie: and yet is not grieued when he is alone.

21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regard of persons loseth it.

22 Some man promiseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for nought.

23 *A lie is a wicked shame in a man: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise. Chap.25.2.

24 A theefe is better then a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall haue destruction to heritage.

25 The conditions of liars are vnhonest, and their shame is euer with them.

26 A wise man shall bring himselfe to honor with his words, and hee that hath vnderstanding, shall please great men.

27 *He that tilleth his land, shal increase his heape: [he that worketh righteousnes, shalbe exalted,] and he that pleaseth great men, shal haue pardon of his iniquity. Pro.12.11. and 28.19.

28 *Rewards and gifts blind the eyes of the wise, and make them dumbe, that they cannot reprooue faults. Exod.23.8. deut.16.19.

29 Wisedome that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded vp, what profit is in them both?

30 Better is hee that keepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisedome.

31 The necessary patience of him that followeth the Lord, is better then hee that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

2 Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reprooued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? doe so no more, *but pray for the foresinnes [that they may be forgiuen thee.] Chap.5.5. psal.41.4. luke 15.21.

2 Flee from sinne as from a serpent: for if thou commest too neere it, it will bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slay the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.

4 Strife and iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proud shalbe desolate.

5 *The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, commeth vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently. Exod.3.9. and 22.23.

6 Who so hateth to bee reformed, is in the way of sinners: but hee that feareth the Lord, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen a farre off: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buildeth his house with other mens money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 *The congregation of the wicked is like tow wrapped together: their ende is a flame of fire to destroy them. Chap.16.6.

10 The way of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hell, [darknesse and paines.]

11 He that keepeth the Law of the Lord, ‖ ruleth his owne affections thereby: & the increase of wisedome is the end of the feare of God. ‖ Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof.

12 He that is not wise, wil not suffer himselfe to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternesse.

13 The knowledge of the wise shall abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsell is like a pure fountaine of life.

14 *The inner parts of a foole are like a broken vessel: he can keepe no knowledge whiles he liueth. Chap.33.5.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise word, he will commend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he wil disallow it, and cast it behind his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelinesse in the talke of a wise man.

17 They enquire at the mouth of the wise man in the Congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisdome vnto a foole, and the knowledge of the vnwise is as words without order.

19 Doctrine vnto fooles is as fetters on the feet, and like manicles vpon the right hand.

20 *A foole lifteth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wise man doth scarce smile secretly. Chap.19.27, 28.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewel of gold, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans foot is soone in his [neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to looke in.

23 A foole will peepe in at the doore into the house: but he that is well nourtured, will stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish man to hearken at the doore: for he that is wise, will be grieued with such dishonour.

25 The lips of talkers will be telling such things as pertaine not vnto them, but the words of such as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the ballance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When

27 When the vngodly curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

Chap.28.13. 28 * A backbiter defileth his owne soule, and is hated where soeuer hee is: [but hee that keepeth his tongue, and is discreete, shall come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake much to a foole. 16 A good conscience feareth not.

A Slothfull man is like a [a] filthy stone, which euery man mocketh at for his shame.

a b. That is, like as the idle stone gathereth mosse and filth, so doth the slothfull both sicknes of body and corruption of minde. And as euery man doth auoid the filthinesse of dounge, and shaketh it off: so doth he auoid the company of idle loiterers, lest he be accounted like vnto them.

2 A slothfull man is to bee compared to the [b] dung of oxen, and euery one that taketh it vp, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nurtured sonne is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but shee that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauinesse.

5 Shee that is bolde, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, [and is not inferiour to the vngodly] but they both shall despise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisedome knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a potsharde together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepeth from a sound sleep.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue herewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proud, with hautinesse and foolishnesse they defile the nobilitie of their kinred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisedome, is as a man which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

Chap.38.16. 11 * Weepe for the dead, for he hath lost the light: so weepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death.

12 Seuen dayes do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

Chap.12.12. 13 Talke not much with a foole, and go not to him that hath no vnderstanding, * beware of him lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou be defiled when he shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorrow by his foolishnesse.

14 What is heauier then lead? and what other name should a foole haue?

Prou.27.3. 15 * Sand and salt, and a lumpe of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodly man.]

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot be loosed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsell, shall feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discreete wisedome, is as a faire plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 As reeds that are set vp on high, cannot abide the winde, so the fearefull heart with foolish imagination can endure no feare.

19 He that hurteth the eye, bringeth foorth teares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and hee that vpbraideth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou drewest a sword at thy friend, yet despaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may bee a reconciliation, so that vpbrayding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets, or a traiterous wound do not let: for by these things euery friend will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouertie, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperity. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest be heire with him in his heritage: for pouertie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to bee had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euill words [rebukes and threatning] goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe me harme: whosoeuer heareth it, shal beware of him.

26 Who shall set * a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisedome vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not? Psal. 141.3.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of othes, blasphemy and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kinds of sins. 23 Many sinnes proceed of adulterie. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, father and gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsell, and let me not fall by ‖ them.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisedome in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, neither let ‖ their faults passe? [Or, my lips

3 Least mine ignorances increase, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and least I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer mee, whose hope is farre from thy mercie. ‖ That is, of the tongue and lips.

4 O Lord, father and God of my life, [leaue me not in their imaginations] neither giue me a proud looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stout minde.

5 Take from me vaine hope, and concupiscense, and retaine him in obedience that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 ¶ Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake trueth: who so keepeth it, shall not perish through his lips, [nor bee hurt by wicked workes.]

8 The sinner shalbe taken by his owne lips: for the euill speaker and the proud doe offend by them.

9 * Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: [for in it there are many falles,] neither take vp for a custome the naming of the holy One: Exod.20.7. chap.27.15. mat.5.33,34.

[for

[for thou shalt not bee vnpunished for such things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, cannot bee without some skarre, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not bee faultlesse.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shall be filled with wickednes, and the plague shal neuer goe from his house: whence hee shall offend, his fault shall be vpon him, and if he knowledge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if hee sweare in vaine, hee shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such, and are not wrapped in sinne.

‖Or, inordinate swearing.

13 Vse not thy mouth to ‖ignorant rashnesse: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶ Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou be forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou hadst not beene borne, and curse the day of thy nativitie.

2. Sam. 16. 7

15 * The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words, will neuer bee reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a minde hote as fire that cannot bee quenched, til it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 (All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leaue off till he perish)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, * Who seeth mee? I am compassed about with darkenesse: the walles couer me: no bodie seeth mee: whome neede I to feare? the most High will not remember my sinnes.

Isa 29. 15.

19 Such a man onely feareth the eies of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the most secret parts.

20 Hee knew all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, he looketh vpon them all.

Leuit. 20. 10 deut. 22. 22.

21 * The same man shall bee punished in the streetes of the citie, [and shall bee chased like a yong horse foale:] and when hee thinketh not vpon it, he shall be taken: [thus shall hee be put to shame of euery man, because he would not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.]

22 And thus shall it goe also with euery wife that leaueth her husband, & getteth inheritance by another.

Exod. 20. 14.

23 * For first, shee hath disobeyed the Law of the most High, and secondly she hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly shee hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 She shall bee brought out into the Congregation, and examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring foorth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall know that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heede vnto the commaundements of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A prayse of wisedome proceeding foorth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her workes and place where shee resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

WIsedom shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and reioyce in the mids of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most high shall shee open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the midst of her people shal she be exalted, and wonder at in the holy assembly.

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be praised, and shall say.]

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most High, [first borne before all creatures.

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] & couered the earth as cloud.

7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloud.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compasse of heauen, and haue walked in the bottom of the depth.

Prou. 8. 23. Exod. 13. 3. Psal. 132. 8.

9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and low.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the creatour of all things gaue mee a commandement, and he that made mee appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

12 *He created mee from the beginning, and before the world, and I shal neuer faile: *In the holy habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I stablished in Sion.

13 * In the welbeloued citie he gaue me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, and as a Cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree ‖ about the bankes, & as a rose plant in Iericho, as a faire oliue tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinamon, and as a bagge of spices: I haue a sweet odour as ỳ best myrrhe as galbanum, and onix, and sweet storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the ª Terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 *As the vine haue I brought forth [fruit] of sweet sauour, and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and of

ª Terebinth is a hard tree spread abroad with longboughs whereout runneth the gumme called a pure turpentine, which cleanseth the stomacke of putrified humours, and purifieth the eares: so the wisedome of God declared in his Scriptures, spreadeth abroad her manifold branches of knowledge and vnderstanding, to purge the inward eares and corruption of the soule.

Iohn 15. 1.

of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope, I giue eternall things to all my children to whom God hath commanded.

21 [In me is all grace of life and trueth: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]

22 Come vnto me all yee that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my fruits.

Psal.19.10, 11. 23 * For the remembrance of me is sweeter then honie, and mine inheritance [sweeter] then the honie combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euermore.]

24 They that eate mee, shall haue the more hunger, and they that drinke me, shall thirst the more.

25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shal not come to confusion, and they that worke by me, shal not offend: [they that make me to be knowen, shall haue euerlasting life.]

26 All these things are the booke [of life] and the couenant of the most high God, [and the knowledge of the trueth,] * and the Law that Moses [in the precepts of righteousnesse] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertaining vnto Israel.]

Deut.20.1. and 24.1. and 29.9.

27 Be not wearie to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that hee may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord Almighty is but one God, and beside him there is none other Sauiour.

28 [Out of Dauid his seruant he ordeined to raise vp a most mighty King that should sit in the throne of honour for euermore.]

29 Hee filleth all things with his wisedome, as * Physon, and as Tygris in the time of the new fruits.

Gen.2.11.

30 He maketh the vnderstanding to abound like Euphrates, and as * Jorden in the time of the harueit.

Iosh.3.15.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerflowеth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfectly: no more shall the last seeke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsell is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisedome [haue cast out floods] I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradise as a water conduit.

35 I sayd, I will water my faire garden, and will water my pleasant ground: and loe, my ditch became a flood, and my flood became a Sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I will pearce thorow all the lower parts of the earth: I will looke vpon all such as be asleepe, and lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I will yet powre out doctrine, as prophesie, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

Ecclus. 33.16. 39 * Behold that I haue not laboured for my selfe onely, but for all them that seeke wisedome.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which hee hateth. 7 Of nine things that bee not to be suspected. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

Gen.13.2,5. Sam.12.10. THese things reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God and men: * the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and a wife that agree together.

2 ¶ Three sorts of men my soule hateth, and I vtterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an old adulterer that doteth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 ¶ O how pleasant a thing it is when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the Elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisedome vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men is to haue much experience, and the feare of GOD is their glory.

7 ¶ There bee nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioy of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 ¶ Well is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued such as are vnworthy of him.

Chap.14.1. and 19.16. Iames 3.2.

9 Well is him that findeth prudencie, and hee that speaketh in the eares of them that will heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wisedom! yet is there none aboue him that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clearenesse.

12 [Blessed is the man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and fayth is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [¶ The greatest heauinesse is the heauinesse of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assault, saue the assault of them that hate, or any vengeance saue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an ‖ enemie.

‖ Or, woman.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lyon and a dragon, then to keepe house with a wicked wife.

Prou. 21.19.

19 The wickednesse of a woman changeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as ‖ a sacke.

‖ Or, a beare.

20 Her husband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her hee sigheth sore or he bee ware.

21 All wickednesse is but little to the wickednesse of a woman: let the portion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climing vp of a sandy way is to the feete of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

Chap.42.12. 2. Sam. 11.2. and 13.2.

24 If a woman nourish her husband, shee is angry and impudent, and full of reproch.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sory heart, an heauie wil countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feeble knees, and cannot comfort her husband in heauinesse.

Gen.3.6. 1.tim.2.14. 26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and through her we all die.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a little,] neither giue a wicked woman liberty to go out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [she shal confound thee in the sight of thine enemies,] Cut her off then from thy flesh: a Giue her, and forsake her.

a To wit, the bill of diuorcement.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the iealous and drunken woman. 29 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which moueth wrath.

BLessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeares shall be double.

2 An honest woman reioyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeares of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous woman is a good portion, which shall bee giuen for a gift to such as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, and they shal at all times haue a cheerefull countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: treason in a citie, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heauier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is iealous ouer another: and shee that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euill wife is as a yoke of oxen that drawe diuers wayes: hee that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman, and such as cannot bee tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot couer her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may bee knowen in the pride of her eyes, and eye lids.

Chap.42.11. 10 ¶ * If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, lest she abuse her selfe through ouermuch liberty.

11 Take heede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye, and marueile not if she trespasse against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shall she open her mouth, & drinke of euery next water: by euery hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiuer against euery arrow.

13 The grace of a wife reioiceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman, and of a good heart, is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the Sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beauty of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleere light is vpon the holy candlesticke, so is the beauty of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire feete with a constant mind.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that bee layd vpon a strong rocke, so are the commaundements of God in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 My sonne, keepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession through all thy fields, sowe it with thine own seed, trusting in thy nobility.

22 So thy stocke that shal liue after thee, shal growe, trusting in the great liberality of their nobility.

23 An harlot is compared to a sow: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is giuen as a reward to a wicked man: but a godly woman is giuen to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dog: but shee that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoreth her husband, shal be iudged wise of all: but she that despiteth him, shalbe blazed for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman, & a babbler, let her be sought out to driue away the enemies: the mind of euery man that liueth with such, shall be conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two things that grieue mine heart, and the third maketh me angry: a man of warre that suffereth pouerty: and men of vnderstanding that are not set by: & when one departeth from righteousnes vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the sword.

30 [There be two things which mee thinkes to bee hard and perillous] a merchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The vnconstantnesse of a foole. 16 The secrets of friends are not to bee vttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euill, which turneth vpon himselfe.

BEcause of pouertie haue many sinned: and * hee that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside. Prou.23.4. 1.tim.6.9.

2 As a naile in the wal sticketh fast betweene the ioynts of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betweene the selling, and the buying.

3 If hee hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone bee ouerthrowen.

4 As when one sifteth, the filthinesse remaineth in the sieue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessell: *so doeth [temptation] try mens thoughts. Prou.27.21.

6 * The fruit declareth if the tree haue beene trimmed: so the worde [declareth] what man hath in his heart. Matth.7.17

7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the triall of men.

8 ¶ If

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousnesse, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for euer: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt find stedfastenesse.]

9 The birds resort vnto their like: so doeth the trueth turne vnto them that are practised in her.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisedome: as for a foole, he changeth as the Moone.

12 If thou be among the vndiscreet, obserue the time, but haunt still the assembly of them that are wise.

13 The talking of fooles is grieuous, & their sport is the pleasure of sinne.

Iud.13.9,10 14 * The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and so strine with such, stoppeth the eares.

15 The strife of the proude is bloodshedding, and their scoldings are grieuous to heare.

Chap.19.10. and 22.22. 16 * Who so discouereth secrets, loseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will.

17 Loue thy friend, and be faithful vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroieth his enemie, so doest thou destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letteth a birde goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for he is too farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds, they may bee bound vp againe: and an euill word may be reconciled, but who so bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

Prou.10.10. 22 * He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euil: and he that knoweth him, will let him alone.

23 When thou art present, he will speake sweetly, and praise thy words: but at the last hee will turne his tale, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euil as such one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on high, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

Psal.7.15. Prou.26.27. eccles.10.8. 26 Who so * diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way, shal stumble thereon,] and he that layeth a snare for another, shall be taken in it himselfe.

27 He that worketh euill, shall be wrapped in euill, and shal not know from whence they come vnto him.

28 Mockerie and reproch followe the proud, and vengeance lurcketh for them as a lion.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous shall bee taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despite and anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgiue the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

HE * that seeketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his sinnes. Deut.32.35. Rom.12.19.

2 † Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also when thou prayest. † Man ought not to seeke vengeance.

3 Should a man beare hatred against man, and * desire forgiuenesse of the Lord? Mat.6.14.

4 He will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: & will hee aske forgiuenesse of his owne sinnes?

5 If he that is but flesh, nourish hatred, [and aske pardon of God,] who will intreate for his sinnes?

6 Remember the end, and let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but persuere in the commandements.

7 Remember the commandements: so shalt thou not bee rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the Couenant of the most High, and forgiue his ignorance.

8 * Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife. Chap.8.1.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 * As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is hee inflamed. Prou.26.21

11 An hastie brawling kindleth a fire, and an hastie fighting sheddeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witnesse, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth.

13 † * Abhorre the slanderer and double tongued: for such haue destroyed many that were at peace. † The tongue.

14 The * double tongue hath disquited many, & driuen them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, & ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and beene the decay of mighty nations.] Chap.21.28. a That is, the tongue which saith, and vnsaith, or speaketh one thing, & thinketh another. Or, the tongue which speaketh neither out of the new or old Testament, but of their own braine.

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and commeth not in the anger therof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neither hath beene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brasse.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shal not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shall they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shall fall therein:

and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall vpon them as a lion, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, & make dores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy siluer and golde, and weigh thy wordes in a Balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it and so fall before him that lieth in wait, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, and doe almes. 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

† Of well doing. Deut. 15.7,8. mat. 5.42. luke 6.35.

HEe that will shewe mercie, † lendeth to his neighbour: and hee that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandments.

2 *Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt finde the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieued them that had helped them.

5 Till they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbors good they humble their voice: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the time, and giue a careles answere, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, & reckoneth the other as a thing found: else he deceiueth him of his money, and maketh him an enemie without cause: he payeth him with cursing and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deed.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to be defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and deferre not mercy from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandements sake, and turne him not away, because of his pouertie.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

Dan 4.24. mat. 6.20. luke 11.41, and 12.33. Acts 10.4. 1. tim. 6.18, 19.

11 *Bestow the treasure after the commandement of the most High, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12 ‖ Lay vp thine *almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

‖ Or, giue thine almes secretly.

13 [A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and pay euery man his reward vpon his head.]

Tob. 4.8,9, 10,11.

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

† Of suretiship.

15 An honest man is † suretie for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath layd his life for thee.

17 The a wicked deuiseth the good deede of his suretie.

a As he is a foole that is suretie for euery man: so is he vngodly that in no wise will be suretie for any man.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and hee that is of an vnthankefull minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, he will forsake him.]

20 Suretiship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remooued them as the waues of the sea: mighty men hath it driuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandements of the Lorde, shall fall into suretiship: and he that medleth much with other mens businesse, is intangled in controuersies.

22 ¶ Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 *The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame. Chap. 36.26, † Sober liuing.

24 † The poore mans life in his owne lodge, is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it little or much, holde thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou darest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feede vnthankefull men, and after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying, 28 Come, thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feede me of that thou hast readie.

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother commeth to be lodged, and I haue need of mine house.

30 These things are heauy to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpbraiding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of health. 17 Death is better then a sorrowfull life. 22 Of the ioy and sorow of the heart.

HEe that loueth his sonne, *causeth him oft to feele the rod, that hee may haue ioy of him in the ende. Prou. 13.24. and 23.13.

2 Hee that chastiseth his sonne, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 Hee that *teacheth his sonne, grieueth the enemie, and before his friends he shall reioyce of him. Deut. 6.7.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one behind him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had ioy in him, and was not sorie in his death, [neither was he ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his wounds, and his heart is grieued at euery cry.

8 An vntamed horse will be stubborne, and a wanton child will be wilfull.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, hee shall make thee afraide: and if thou play with him, he shall bring thee to heauinesse.

10 Laugh not with him, least thou be sorie with him, and last thou gnash thy teeth in the ende.

11 *Giue him no libertie in his youth, and winke not at his folly. Chap. 7.23.

12 Bow

12 Bow downe his necke whilst he is young, and beate him on the sides while he is a childe, lest he ware stubborne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy childe, and be diligent therein, lest his shame grieue thee.

† The praise of health. 14 ¶ † Better is the poore being whole and strong, then a rich man that is afflicted in his body.

15 Health and strength is aboue all gold, and a whole body aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sound body, and no ioy aboue the ioy of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [or long rest] then continuall sickenesse.

a Like as meat that is set vpon the graues of dead men is vnprofitable for that they eat it not: euen so knowledge in him that openeth not his mouth to vtter it, is vnprofitable, Chap. 41.14. Chap. 20. 3. Prou. 12. 25. and 15. 13. and 17. 22.

18 a The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as messes of meate set vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an Idole? for hee can neither eate, nor smell: so is hee that is persecuted of the Lord, [and heareth the reward of iniquitie.]

20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like * a gelded man, that lyeth with a virgine and sighеth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde to heauinesse, and vexe not thy selfe in thine owne counsell.

22 The ioy of the heart is the life of man, and a mans gladnesse is the prolonging of his dayes.

23 Lone thine owne soule, and comfort thine heart: driue sorrowe farre from thee: for sorrowe hath slaine many, and there is no profite therein.

24 Enuie and wrath shorten the life, and carefulnesse bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart will haue consideration of his meate and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

1 Of couetousnesse. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a rich man without a fault. 12 We ought to flee drunkennesse and follow soberneſſe.

† Couetousnesse. 1. Tim. 6. 9, 10. WAlking † after * riches, pineth away the body, and the care thereof driueth away sleepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the sleepe, as a great sickenesse breaketh the sleepe.

3 The rich hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The poore laboureth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth off, he is still poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shall not be iustified, and hee that followeth corruption, shall haue enough thereof.

Chap. 8. 2. 6 * Many are destroyed by the reason of gold, and haue found their destruction before them.

7 It is as a stumbling blocke vnto them that sacrifice vnto it, and euery foole is taken therewith.

Luke 6. 24. 8 Blessed is the * rich which is found without blemish, and hath not gone after golde, [nor hoped in money and treasures.]

9 Who is hee, and wee will commend him? for wonderfull things hath hee done among his people.

10 Who hath beene tried thereby, and found perfect? let him bee an example of glory, who might offend, and hath not offended, or doe euill, and hath not done it.

11 Therefore shall his goods bee stablished, and the congregation shall declare his almes.

† Temperancie. 12 If thou sit at a costly table, † open not thy mouth wide vpon it, and say not, Behold much meate.

13 Remember that an euill eye is a shrew: and what thing created is worse then a wicked eye? for it weepeth for euery cause.

14 Stretch not thine hand whereſoeuer it looketh, and thrust it not with it into the dish.

15 Consider by thy selfe him that is by thee, and marke euery thing.

16 Eate modestly that which is set before thee, and deuoure not lest thou be hated.

17 Leaue thou off first for nurtures sake, and be not vnsatiable, lest thou offend.

18 When thou sittest among many, reach not thine hand out first of all.

Chap. 37. 29. 19 * How little is sufficient for a man well taught? and thereby he belcheth not in his chamber, [nor feeleth any paine.]

20 A wholesome sleepe commeth of a temperate belly: hee riseth vp in the morning, and is well at ease in himselfe: but paine in watching, and cholericke diseases, and pangs of the belly, are with an vnsatiable man.

21 If thou hast beene forced to eate, arise, goe foorth, a vomite, and then take thy rest: [so thou shalt bring no sickenesse vnto thy body.]

a This counsel only concerning the health of the body, is here alledged, rather for a remedie to helpe digestion vnto a weake stomacke, then for an instruction to tolerate intemperancie: for sinfetting is forbidden vs Luke 21. 34. Prou. 22. 9.

22 My sonne, heare me, and despise me not, and at the last thou shalt finde as I haue tolde thee: in all thy workes be quicke, so shall there no sickenesse come vnto thee.

† Liberality. Iudith 13. 2, 8. Psal. 104. 15 Prou. 31. 4, 5, 6, 7. 23 * Who so is † liberall in his meat, men shall bleſſe him: and the testimony of his honestly shall be beleeued.

24 But against him that is a niggard of his meate, the whole citie shall murmure: the testimonies of his niggardnesse shalbe sure.

25 Shewe not thy valiantnesse in wine: for * wine hath destroyed many.

26 The fornace proueth the edge in the tempering: so doeth wine the hearts of the proud by drunkennesse.

27 * Wine soberly drunken, is profitable for the life of man: what is his life that is ouercome with wine?

28 Wine was made [from the beginning] to make men glad, [and not for drunkennes.] Wine measurably drunke and in time, bringeth gladnesse and cheerefulnesse of the minde.

29 But wine drunken with excesse, maketh bitternesse of mind with brawlings & scoldings.

30 Drunkennesse increaseth the courage of a foole, till he offend: it diminisheth his strength and maketh wounds.

Chap. 20. 1. 31 * Rebuke not thy neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: giue him no despitefull words, and presse not vpon him with contrary words.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duety, sit downe, that thou mayest be mercie with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good behauiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it becommeth thee, but with sound iudgement, and hinder not musike.

4 Powre not out words, where there is no audience, * and shew not foorth wisedome out of time.

Eccles. 3. 7. chap. 20. 7.

5 The consent of musicians at a banquet, is as a signet of carbuncle set in gold.

6 And as the signet of an Emerauld well trimmed with gold, so is the melodie of musicke in a pleasant banquet.

7 [Giue eare, and be still, and for thy good behauiour thou shalt be loued.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if neede be, and yet scarsely when thou art twise asked.

9 Comprehend much in fewe words: [in many things be as one that is ignorant:] bee as one that vnderstandeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

Iob. 32. 6.

10 If thou be among * great men, compare not thy selfe vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, bable not much.

11 Before the thunder goeth lightening, and before a shamefast man goeth fauour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last, but get thee home without delay.

13 And there take thy pastime, and doe what thou wilt, so that thou do none euill, or vse proud words.

14 But aboue all things giue thankes vnto him that hath made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lord, will receiue his doctrine, and they that rise earely, shall finde fauour.

16 Hee that seeketh the Lawe, shall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will bee offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shall finde that which is righteous, and shall kindle iustice as a light.

18 An vngodly man will not be reformed, but findeth out excuses accoording to his will.

19 A man of vnderstanding disposeth not counsell: but a lewd and proud man is not touched with feare, euen when he hath done rashly.

20 [My sonne] doe nothing without aduisement: so shall it not repent thee after the deede.

21 Go not in the way where thou mayest fall, nor where thou mayest stumble among the stones, neither trust thou in the way that is plaine.

22 And beware of thine owne children, [and take heede of them, that bee thine owne household.]

23 In euery good worke, bee of a faithfull heart: for this is the keeping of the commaundements.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answere of the wise. 12 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the land of the potter. 23 Of euill seruants.

† The feare of God.

THere shall no euill come vnto him that † feareth the Lord: but when he is in tentation, he will deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Law: but hee that is an hypocrite therein, is as a shippe in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding, walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithfull vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answere, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answere.

5 The heart of the * foolish is like a cart wheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltree.

Chap. 21. 16.

6 As a wild horse neyeth vnder euery one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scornefull friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seeing that the light of the dayes of the yeere come of the sunne?

8 The Knowledge of the Lord hath parted them asunder, and he hath by them disposed the times and solemne feasts.

9 Some of them hath hee chosen and sanctified, and some of them hath hee put among the dayes to number.

10 And all men are of the * ground, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hath diuided them by great knowledge, & made their wayes diuers.

Gen. 1. 27. and 2. 7.

11 Some of them hath he blessed and exalted, and some of them hath he sanctified, and appropriate to himselfe: but some of them hath hee cursed, and brought them low, and put them out of their estate.

12 * As the clay is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their Creator, so that he may reward them as liketh him best.

Isai. 45. 9. rom. 9. 20, 21

13 Against euill is good, and against death is life: so is the godly against the sinner, and the vngodly against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the most high thou mayest see that there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my winpresse, like a grape gatherer.

16 * Behold, how I haue not laboured onely for my selfe, but for all them that seeke knowledge.

Chap. 24. 39.

17 Heare me, O yee great men of the people, and hearken with your eares, yee rulers of the congregation.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friend, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intreat for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breath, [a] giue not thy selfe ouer to any person.

[a] That is, let no man vse thee as his seruant when thou hast cõmitted all thy goods into his hands.

20 For better it is that thy children should pray vnto thee, then that thou shouldest looke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes be excellent, that thine honour be neuer stained,

22 At the time when thou shalt end thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine in heritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whip, and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correction and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt shalt finde rest: but if thou let him goe idle, hee shall seeke libertie.

25 The yoke and the whip bow downe the hard necke: so tame thine euill seruant with the whips and correction.

26 Send him to labour, that he goe not idle: for idlenesse bringeth much euill.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, † put on more heauie fetters.

†How slaues were ordered in olde time.

28 But be not excessiue toward any, and without discretion doe nothing.

29 *If thou haue a faithful seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, entreat him as thy brother: for thou hast need of him, as of thy selfe. If thou entreat him euill, and he run away, wilt thou seeke him? Chap.7.20.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 18 The offerings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the needy. 27 God doeth not allow the works of an vnfaithfull man.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, † and dreames make fooles to haue wings. †Dreames.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the winde.

3 Euen so is it with ỳ appearing of dreames, as the likenesse of a face is before another face.

4 Who can bee cleansed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a lyar?

5 Soothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming, is but vanity, and a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Whereas such visions come not of the most High to trie thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceiued many, and they haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The law shall bee fulfilled without lies, and wisedom is sufficient to a faithful mouth: [what knowledge hath he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisedome.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth, is full of craft.

11 When I wandred to and fro, I saw many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shall liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

†The feare of the Lord.

14 Who so † feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth he his trust? who is his strength?

Psal.33.18. Psal.91.1,2.

16 *For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them that loue him: he is their * mighty protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heate, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He setteth vp the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giueth health, life, and blessing.

Prou 21,27.

18 He that * giueth an offering of vnrighteous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the gift of the vnrighteous pleaseth not him.

19 [But the Lord is theirs onely, that patyently abide him in the way of trueth and righteousnesse.]

20 The most High doth not allow the † offerings of the wicked, * neither is hee pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice. †The offerings of the wicked and their prayer.

21 Who so bringeth an offring of the goods of ỳ poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes. *Prou.15.8.

22 The bread of the needfull is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbors liuing, slayeth him, * and he that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodshedder. Deut.24.14, 15.chap.7.

24 When one buildeth † another breaketh downe, what profit haue they then but labour? 20.

25 When one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voice will the Lord heare?

26 *He that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what auaileth his washing? Numb.19. 11.12.

27 *So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe, who will heare his prayer? or what doeth his fasting helpe him? 2.Pet.2.20, 21,22.

CHAP. XXXV.

1 Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherles, and of the widow, and him that humbleth himselfe.

WHo so keepeth the Lawe, * bringeth offerings enow: he that holdeth fast ỳ commandements, † offereth an offering of saluation. 1.Sam.15. 22.iere.7.3, 5,6,7.

2 Hee that is thankefull to them that haue well deserued, offereth fine flowre: * and he that giueth almes, sacrificeth praise. †True sacrifice. Philip.4.18.

3 To depart from euill is a thankefull thing to the Lord, and to forsake vnrighteousnesse, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 *Thou shalt not appeare emptie before the Lord. Exod.23.15 and 34.20. deut. 16.16.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandement.

6 *The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweet before the most High. Gen.4.4,5.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer be forgotten.

8 Giue the Lord his honour with a good and liberall eye, and diminish not the first fruits of thine hands.

9 *In all thy gifts shew a ioyfull countenance, and dedicate thy tithes with gladnesse. 2.Cor.9.7.

10 Giue vnto the most High, according as he hath enriched thee, * and looke what thine hand is able, giue with a cheerefull eye. Tob.4.8. Leu.22.21, 22.deut.15.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and will giue thee seuen times as much. 21. Deut.10.17.

12 *Diminish nothing of thine offering: for he will not receiue it, and abstaine from wrongfull sacrifices: for the Lord is the Judge and regardeth no * mans person. 2.chron.19.7 iob 34.19. wisd.6.7.act. 10.34.rom. 2.11.gal.2.6 ephe.6.9 col. 3.25.1 pet. 1.17.

13 Hee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 Hee despiseth not the desire of the fatherlesse nor the widow, when she powreth out her prayer.

15 Doth not the teares runne downe the widowes cheekes? and her crie is against him that caused them: [for from her cheekes doe they goe vp vnto heauen, and the Lord which heareth them, doeth accept them.]

16 He that serueth the Lord shall be accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the clouds.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth through the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come neere, and will not depart till the most Hie haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almighty will tary long from them, till he hath smitten in sunder the loines of the vnmercifull, and auenged himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, & broken the scepter of the vnrighteous, till he giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their deuises, till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercy.

19 Oh, how faire a thing is mercy in the time of anguish and trouble! It is like a cloud of raine that commeth in the time of a drought.

CHAP. XXXVI.

1 A prayer to God in the person of all faithfull men, against those that persecute his Church. 22 The praise of a good woman.

HAue mercy vpon vs, O Lord God of all things, and behold vs, & [shew vs the light of thy mercies,]

2 And send thy feare † among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may know that there is no God but thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes.]

† Against the wicked.

3 Lift vp thine * hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

Iere. 10. 25.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may know thee, as wee know thee: for there is none other God but only thou, O Lord.

6 Renew the signes, and change the wonders, shew the glory of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shew forth thy wonderous actes.

7 Raise vp thine indignation, and powre out wrath: take away the aduersary, and smite the enemie.

8 Make the time short: remember thine oth, that thy wonderous workes may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fire consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppresse the people.

10 Smite in sunder the heads of the princes that bee our enemies, and say, There is none other but we.

11 † Gather all the tribes of Jacob together, [that they may know that there is none other God but onely thou, and that they may shew thy wonderous workes] and inherit thou them as from the beginning.

† A prayer for the godly.

12 O Lord, haue mercy vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, and vpon Israel, * whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne.

Exod. 4. 22.

13 Oh, be mercifull vnto Jerusalem the citie of thy Sanctuary, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glory.

15 Giue witnesse vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, & raise vp the prophesies that haue bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Reward them that wait for thee, that thy Prophets may bee found faithfull.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants, according to the * blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [and guide thou vs in the way of righteousnesse] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may know that thou art the Lord the eternall God.

Num. 6. 23.

18 The belly deuoureth all meates, yet is one meat better then another.

19 As the throat tasteth venison, so doeth a wise minde discerne false words.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beauty of a woman cheareth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenes, meeknesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 Hee that hath † gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begun to get a possession: shee is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

† The praise of a good woman.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoyled: and he that hath no wife, wandreth to and fro, mourning.

26 Who will trust a thiefe that is alway readie, and wandereth from towne to towne? and likewise him, that hath no rest, and lodgeth whersoeuer the night taketh him.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellers. 12 To keepe his companie that feareth God.

EVery friend saith, † I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name.

† Of friendship.

2 Remaineth not there heauines vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemie?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung vp to couer the earth with deceit?

4 * There is some companion which in prosperitie reioyceth with his friend: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

Chap. 6. 10.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and taketh vp the buckler against the enemie.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke † no counsell at him of whom thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

† Of whom we should take counsel.

8 * Euery counseller praiseth his own counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

Chap. 8. 19. and 9. 16.

9 Beware of the counseller, and be aduised afore || whereto thou wilt vse him: for hee will counsell for himselfe, lest he cast the lot vpon thee,

|| Or, what need he hath.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsell for religion of him that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hath no iustice,] nor of a woman touching her her of whom thee is ielous, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a merchant concerning exchange, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankefulnesse, nor of the vnmercifull touching kindnesse, [nor of an vnhoneſt man of honestie] nor of the slouthfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for much businesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commandements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sory for thee when thou stumblest.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometimes more accustomed to shew more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an high tower.

15 And aboue all this pray to the most High, that he will direct thy way in trueth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterprise, and counsell before euery action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of ỹ heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath euermore the gouernment ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is wittie, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all ‖ foode, ‖ Or, wisedome.

20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisedome.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruites of vnderstanding are faithfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisedome faile not.

23 A wise man shall bee plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obtaine credite among his people, and his name shall be perpetuall.

26 My sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, and see what is euil for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

† Of temperance. Chap. 31. 19, 20.

28 Bee not † greedie in all delights, and bee not too hastie vpon all meates.

29 * For excesse of meates bringeth sicknesse, and glutton commeth into cholericke diseases.

‖ Or, taketh heede.

30 By surfet haue many perished: but he that ‖ dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable. 16 To bury the dead. 24 The wisedome of him that is learned.

† Of Physicians and Physicke.

HOnour the † Physician with that honor that is due vnto him, because of necessity: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most High commeth healing, and hee shall receiue gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physician lifteth vp his head, and in the sight of great men hee shall be in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 * Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might know the vertue thereof: Exod. 15. 25.

6 So hee hath giuen men knowledge, that hee might bee glorified in his woonderous workes.

7 With such doeth he heale men, and taketh away their paines.

8 Of such doth the Apothecary make a confection, & yet he cannot finish his owne workes: for of the Lord commeth prosperity and wealth ouer all the earth,

9 My sonne, faile not in thy sickenesse, but * pray vnto the Lord, and hee will make thee whole. Isa. 38. 2, 5.

10 Leaue off from sinne, & order thine hands aright, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednesse.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine floure for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the † first giuer.

† God beholdeth first his benefits, and we must render a portion thereof, to such vses as he appointeth.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast neede of him.

13 The houre may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lord, that hee would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their physicke for the prolonging of life.

15 He that sinneth before his Maker, let him fall into the hands of the Physician.

16 My sonne, * powre forth teares ouer the dead, † and begin to mourne, as if thou haddest suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his ‖ appointment, and neglect not his buriall. Chap. 22. 11. † Of mourning. ‖ Or, the custome.

17 Make a grieuous lamentation, and be earnest in mourning, and vse lamentation, as hee is worthy, and that a day or two, lest thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heauinesse.

18 * For of heauinesse commeth death, & the heauinesse of the heart breaketh the strength. Pro. 15. 13. and 17. 22.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauinesse to heart: driue it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good, but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shal be likewise, vnto me yesterday, and vnto thee to day.

23 * Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him. 2. Sam. 13. 20.

24 ¶ The wisedome of a learned man commeth by vsing well his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisedome.

25 How can hee get wisedome that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the goade, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the breede of bullockes?

26 Hee giueth his minde to make furrowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euery carpenter, and workemaster that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and graue seales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselues to counterfeit imagerie, and watch to perfourme the worke.

28 The Smith in like maner abideth by his anuil, and doth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapor of the fire drieth his flesh, and he must fight with the heate of the fornace: the noise of the hammer is euer in his eares, & his eyes looke still vpon the thing that he maketh: hee setteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore hee watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: hee turneth the wheele about with his feete: hee is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he tempereth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with leade, and his diligence is to cleanse the ouen.

31 All these hope in their handes, and euery one bestoweth his wisedome in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsel of the people, neither are they hie in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not meete for hard matters.

34 But they maintaine the state of the world, and their delire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euen good things are euill.

HE onely that applieth his minde to the Law of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the ‖ wisedome of all the ancient, and exercileth himselfe in the prophesies.

‖ Or, true wisedome.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mystery of graue sentences, and exercileth himselfe in darke parables.

4 He shall serue among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile through strange countreyes: for he hath tryed the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that he may powre out wise sentences, and giue thankes vnto the Lord in his prayer.

‖ Or, the Lord.

7 ‖ He shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 He shall shew forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his memory shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shal continue from generation to generation.

10 * The congregation shal declare his wisdome, and shew it. Chap.44.15.

11 Though he be dead, he shall leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue still, he shall get the same.

12 Yet will I speake of moe things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto me, yee holy children, and bring forth fruite as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field,

14 And giue ye a sweete smell as ‖ incense, and bring forth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell, and sing a song of prayse: bleste the Lord in all his workes. ‖ Or, Libanus.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shew forth his prayse with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and yee shall say after this manner, 16 * All the works of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season. Gen.1.31. mar.7.37.

19 And none may say, What is this, wherefore is that? for at time conuenient, they shall all be sought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he will saue.

19 The works of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man neede not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shal run ouer as the streame, and moysten the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into saltnesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 * The principall things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing. Chap.29.23.

27 All these things are for good to the godly: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigor lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shew forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 * Fire, and haile, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance. Chap.40.9, 10.

30 The teeth of wilde beasts, & the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sword execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandements: and when neede is, they shal be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouerpasse the commandement.

34 So that a man neede not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthy praise.

35 And therefore praise the Lord with whole heart and mouth, and bless the Name of the Lord.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogatiue of the feare of God.

† The miseries of mans life. GReat † trauell is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they go out of their mothers wombe till the day that they returne to the mother of all things,

2 Namely, their thoughts, & feare of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death,

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blue silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linnen.

5 Wrath and enuie, trouble and vnquietnes, and feare of death, and rigour, and strife, and in the time of rest, the sleepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watchtowre in the day: he is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, and marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Such things come vnto all flesh, both man and beast, but seuen fold to the vngodly.

Chap.39.29, 30. 9 Moreouer, * death, and blood, and strife, and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the * flood also.

Genes.7.11. Gen.3.19. chap.41.10. Eccles.1.7. 11 *All things that are of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters shall returne into the sea.

† Faithfulnesse. 12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnesse shall be put away: but † faithfulnesse shall endure for euer.

13 The substance of the vngodly shall be dried vp like a riuer, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, hee reioyceth: but all the transgressors shall come to nought.

15 The children of the vngodly shall not obtaine many branches: for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the high rocks.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soeuer it be or water banke, it shall be pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 ¶ Friendlinesse is as a most plentiful garden of pleasure, and mercy endureth for euer.

Phil.4.12. 1.tim.5.6. 18 *To labour and to be content with that a man hath, is a sweete life: but he that findeth a treasure, is aboue them both.

19 Children, and the building of the city maketh a perpetuall name: but an honest woman is counted aboue them both.

20 Wine and musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisedome is aboue them both.

21 The pipe and the Psalterion make a sweet noyse: but a pleasant tongue is aboue them both.

22 Thine eye desireth fauour and beauty: but a greene seed time rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunity: but aboue them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall deliuer more then them both.

25 Gold and siluer fasten the feet: but counsell is esteemed aboue them both.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the mind: but the feare of the Lord is aboue them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautiful as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, leade not a beggars life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to bee counted for a life: for hee tormenteth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nurtured will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweet in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to giue heede vnto wisedome. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

† Of death. O † Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hath nothing to vexe him, and that hath prosperity in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meate!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the needfull, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and hath lost patience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death, remember them that haue beene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High? whether it be ten, or an hundreth, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe companie with the vngodly.

6 The inheritance of vngodly children shall perish, and their posterity shall haue a perpetuall shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Woe be vnto you, O yee vngodly, which haue forsaken the Law of the most High God: for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shall be borne to cursing: if ye die, the curse shalbe your portion.

10 * All that is of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: Chap.40.13.

againe: so the vngodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the vngodly shall be put out.

12 Haue regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee aboue a thousand treasures of gold.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbred: but a † good name endureth for euer.

† A good name.

14 My children, keepe wisedome in peace: Chap.20.29. * for wisedome that is hid, and a treasure that is not seene, what profit is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishnesse, is better then a man that hideth his wisedome.

16 Therfore beare reuerence vnto my words: † Of shamefastnesse. for it is not good in all things to bee † ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Bee ashamed of whoredome before father and mother, be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authority:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vnrighteousnesse before a companion and friend,

19 And of theft before the place where thou dwellest, and before the trueth of God and his Couenant, and to leane with thine elbowes vpon the || bread, or to be reproued for giuing or taking, || Or, table.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to looke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portion or a gift, or to be euill minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to sollicite any mans maid, or to stand by her bed, or to reproche thy friendes with words, 23 Or to vpbraid when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

2 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

† In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

OF these things be not thou † ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Law of the most High and his Couenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the caule of thy companion, & of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sel merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to breake an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are:

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To teach the vnlearned, and the vnwise, and the aged, that contend against the young: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

|| Or, a secret watch to the father.

9 ¶ The daughter || maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulnesse that bee hath for her, taketh away his sleepe in the youth, lest shee should passe the flower of her age: and when shee hath an husband, lest shee should be hated

10 In her virginitie, lest she should be defiled, or gotten with child in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, lest she misbehaue her selfe: and when thee is married, lest she continue vnfruitfull.

11 * If thy daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her straitly, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a common talke in the city, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame. Chap.26.10.

12 *Behold not euery bodies beautie, and companie not among women. Chap 25.23.

13 For as the moth commeth out of garments: * so doeth wickednes of the woman. Gen.3.5.

14 The wickednesse of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15 ¶ I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seene: by the word of the Lord are his works.

16 The Sunne that shineth, looketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not ỳ Lord appointed that his saints should declare all his wonderous workes, which the Almighty Lord hath stablished to confirme all things by in his Maiesty?

18 Hee seeketh out the depth, and the heart, and hee knoweth their practises: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

20 *No thought may escape him, neither may any word be hid from him. Iob.41.4. Isa.29.15.

21 He hath garnished the excellent works of his wisedome, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can hee be minished: hee hath no need of any counseller.

22 Oh, how delectable are all his works, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They liue all and endure for euer: and whensoeuer need is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one || commendeth the goodnesse of the other, and who can be satisfied with beholding Gods glory? || Or, stableth.

CHAP XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

THis high ornament † the cleare firmament, the beauty of the heauen so glorious to behold, † The wonderful works of God.

2 The Sunne also, a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out, the worke of the most High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the heat thereof?

4 The Sunne burneth the mountaines three times more then he that keepeth a fornace with continuall heat: it casteth out the fiery vapours, and with the shining beames blindeth the eyes. Psal.96.4.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement he causeth it to runne hastily.

Gen.1.16. 6 *The moone also hath hee made to appeare according to her season, that it should be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the world.

Exod.12.2. 7 *The feasts are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto the end.

8 The moneth is called after the name thereof, and groweth wonderously in her changing.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauen are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commandement of the Holy one they continue in their order, & faile not in their watch.

Gen.9.13, 14. 11 ¶ *Looke vpon the rainebow, and praise him that made it: very beautifull is it in the brightnesse thereof.

Isa.40.12. 12 *It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Through his commandement hee maketh the snowe to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the foules.

15 In his power hath hee strengthened the cloudes, and broken the hailestones.

16 The mountains leape at the sight of him: the South wind bloweth according to his will.

17 The sound of his thunder beateth the earth: so doth the storme of the North, the whirlewind also, as birds that flie, scattereth the snow, and the falling downe thereof is as the grashoppers that light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenesse thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 Hee also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frozen, it sticketh on the tops of pales.

20 When the colde North wind bloweth, and yce is frozen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as with a brestplate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, and burneth the wildernesse, and destroyeth that that is grene, like fire.

22 The remedy of all these is when a cloude commeth hastily, and when a dew commeth vpon the heate, it refresheth it.

23 ¶ By his word he stilleth the winde: by his counsell he appeaseth the deepe, and planteth Ilands therein.

24 They that saile ouer the Sea, tell of the perils thereof, and when wee heare it with our eares, we marualle thereat.

25 For there bee strange, and wonderous workes, diuers maner of beasts, and the creation of Whales.

26 Through him are all things directed to a good end, and are established by his word.

27 And when we haue spoken much, we can not attaine vnto them: but this is the summe of all, That he is all.

28 What power haue wee to prayse him? for he is aboue all his workes.

Psal.96.4. 29 The Lord is terrible, and very *great, and marueilous is his power.

30 Prayse the Lord, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet doeth he farre exceede: exalt him with all your power, and be not wearie, yet can ye not attaine vnto it.

31 *Who hath seene him, that he might tell vs? and who can magnifie him as he is? Iohn 1.18. psal.106.2.

32 For there are hid yet greater things then these be, and we haue seen but a few of his workes.

33 For the Lord hath made all things, and giuen wisedome to such as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

LEt vs now commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2 The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowmed for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared prophesies.

4 *They gouerned the people by counsel, and by the knowledge of learning meete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences. Exod.18.25

5 They inuented the melody of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were rich and mighty in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall bee spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memoriall, *and are perished as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them. Gen.7,22,

10 But these former were merciful men, whose righteousnes hath not bene forgotten.

11 For whose prosperity a good inheritance is reserued, and their seed is contained in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is contained in the couenant, and their posterity after them.

13 Their seed shal remaine for euer, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 *The people speake of their wisedom, and the congregation talke of their praise. Chap.39.10.

16 †Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore was he translated for an ensample of repentance to the generations. †Enoch. Gen.5.24. hebr.11.5.

17 †Noe was found perfect, and in the time of wrath hee had a reward: therefore was hee left as a remnant vnto the earth, when the flood came. †Noe. Gen.6.9. and 7.1. heb.11.7.

Gen.28.14. †Ioseph. 24 And hee brought out of him a † mercifull man, which found fauour in the sight of all flesh.

CHAP. XLV.

The praise of Moses, Aaron, and Phinees.

†Moses. Exod.11.3. actes 7.22. AND † Moyses the * beloued of God and men, brought he forth, whose remembrance is blessed.

2 He made him like to the glorious Saints, and magnified him by the feare of his enemies.

3 By his wordes hee caused the wonders to cease, and hee made him * glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commandements for his people, and shewed him his glory.

Exod.6,7,8, 9.chapters. Num.12.3. 4 * He sanctified him with faithfulnesse, and meekenesse, and chose him out of all men.

5 Hee caused him to heare his voyce, and brought him into the darke cloud, * and there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the Law of life and knowledge, that hee might teach Jacob the couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

Exod.19.7. †Aaron. Exod.4.28. 6 He exalted † Aaron an holy man like vnto him, euen his * brother of the tribe of Leui.

7 An euerlasting couenant made hee with him, and gaue him the Priesthood among the people, and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 Hee put perfection vpon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

Exod.28.35. 9 Hee compassed him about with belles of golde, and with many belles round about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noyse in the Sanctuary, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people,

10 And with an holy garment, with gold also, and blue silke, and purple, and diuers kindes of workes, and with a breastlap of iudgement, and with the † signes of trueth,

† Vrim and Thummim. 11 And with worke of scarlet cunningly wrought and with precious stones grauen like seales, and set in gold by goldsmiths worke for a memorial, with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel, 12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the miter, bearing the forme and marke of holinesse, an ornament of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to looke vpon.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed, euery day twise continually.

15 Moses filled [a] his hands, * and anoynted him with holy oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, and to his seede so long as the heauens should remaine, that hee should minister before him, and also to execute the office of the Priesthood, and bless his people in his name.

16 Before all men liuing the Lord chose him that hee should present offerings before him, and a sweete sauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

Deut.17.10. and 21.5. 17 * Hee gaue him also his commandements and authoritie according to the Lawes appointed, that he should teach Jacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Law.

Num.16.1,2 18 * Strangers stood vp against him, and enuied him in the wildernesse, euen the men that tooke Dathans and Abirams part, and the company of Core in furie and rage.

19 This the Lord saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathfull indignation were they consumed: hee did wonders vpon them and consumed them with the fiery flame.

Num.17.8. 20 * But hee made Aaron more honourable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first fruites of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eate of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him & to his seed.

Deut.12.12. and 18.1. 22 * Els had he none heritage in the land of his people, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

†Phinees. Nu.25.12, 13. 1.mac. 2.54. 23 The third in glory is † * Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because hee had zeale in the feare of the Lord, & stood vp with good courage of heart when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that hee should bee the chiefe of the Sanctuary and of his people, and that hee and his posteritie should haue the dignity of the Priesthood for euer.

25 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdome should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Juda: so the heritage of Aaron should bee to the onely sonne of his sonne, and to his seede. God giue vs wisedome in our heart to iudge his people in righteousnesse, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for their posterity.

1.Sam.7.9, 10,11. 16 *He called vpon the Lord Almighty, when his enemies preased vpon him on euery side, when he offered the sucking lambe.
17 And the Lord thundred from heauen, and made his voice to be heard with a great noise.
18 So he discomfited the princes of the Tyrians, and all the rulers of the Philistims.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were restored, and the brasse was about in measure as the a sea.

a Which Salomon made, 1.king.7.23.

4 Hee tooke care for his people, that they should not fall, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honourable was his conuersation among the people, and when hee came out of the house couered with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning starre in the mids of a cloud, and as the moone when it is full,

7 And as the Sun shining vpon the Temple of the most High, and as the raincbowe that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as the flower of the roses in the spring of the yeere, and as lillies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessell of massie gold set with all maner of pretious stones,

10 And as a faire oline tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth vp to the clouds.

11 When hee put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beauty, hee went vp to the holy altar, and made the garment of holines honourable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Priests hands, he himselfe stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory, & the oblations of the Lord in their hands, before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that hee might accomplish his ministery vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almighty, 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, & powred of the blood of the grape, and he powred at the foote of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the most high King of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, and made a great noyse to be heard, for a remembrance before the most high.

17 Then all the people together hasted, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty and most High.

18 The singers also sang with their voices, so that the sound was great, and the melody sweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most high, with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the children of Israel, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise all ye vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his mercie,

23 That he would giue vs ioy fulnes of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercie with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two manner of people that my heart abhorreth, and the third is no people:

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Sirach, the sonne of Eleazarus of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of vnderstanding and knowledge in this booke, and hath powred out the wisedome of his heart.

28 Blessed is he that exerciseth himselfe therein: and he that layeth vp these in his heart shall be wise.

29 For if he do these things, he shall be strong in all things: for he setteth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisedome to the godly. The Lord be praised for euermore. So be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

I Will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God my Sauour: I will giue thankes vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserued my body from destruction, & from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had,

4 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the mids of the fire that I burned not,

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from false accusation to the King, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [My soule shall praise the Lorde vnto death:] for my soule drew neere vnto death: my life was neere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuerest such as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the ‖ enemies.

‖ Or, nations.

9 Then lifted I vp my praier from the earth, and prayed for deliuerance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord, the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the proud, without helpe.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and will sing praise with thankesgiuing: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauedst me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill time: therefore will I giue thanks, and praise thee, and blesse the name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroad, abroad, I desired wisedome openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farre countries, & she was as a grape that wareth ripe out of the flower.
15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foot walked in the right way, & from my youth vp sought I after her.
16 I bowed some what downe mine eare, and receiued her, and gate me much wisedome:
17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory vnto him, that giueth me wisedome.
18 For I am aduised to do thereafter: I will be zealous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.
19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine hands on high, and considered the ignorances thereof.
20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I found her in pureneſſe: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.
21 My bowels are troubeld in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.
22 The Lord hath giuen me a tongue for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.
23 Draw neere vnto mee, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.
24 Wherefore are yee slowe? and what say you of these things? seeing your soules are very thirstie?
25 I opened my mouth and sayd, * Buy her for you without money. Isa 55.1.
26 Bow downe your necke vnder the yoke, and your soule shall receiue instruction: shee is ready that ye may find her.
27 Beholde with your eyes, * howe that I haue had but little labour, and haue gotten vnto me much rest. Chap.6.18.
28 Get learning with a great summe of money: for by her ye shall possesse much gold.
29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercy of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.
30 Doe your duety betimes, and he will giue you a reward at his time.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuity of Babylon which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. 10 The Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

AND these are the words of the booke, which Baruch the son of Nerias, the son of Maasias the son of Sedecias, the sonne of ‖ Asadias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon, ‖ Or, Sedeias.
2 In the fift yeere, and in the seuenth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans tooke Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.
3 And Baruch did reade the words of his booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Joacim king of Juda might heare, & all the people that were come to heare the booke.
4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the riuer ‖ Sud.
‖ Or, Sodi.
5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.
6 They made a collection also of money, according to euery mans power.
7 And sent it to Jerusalem vnto Joacim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom Priest, and vnto the other priests, & to all the people, which were with him at Jerusalem.
8 When hee had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Juda, the tenth day of the moneth ‖ Sivan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Josias king of Juda had made,
‖ Or, Siban.
9 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had ledde away Iechonias from Jerusalem, and his Princes and his Nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caryed them to Babylon.
10 And they said, Behold, wee haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buy burnt offerings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a ‖ meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God,
‖ Or, Manna for Minhah which was the euening and morning sacrifice.
11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen,
Deut.28.5
12 And that God would giue vs strength and lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long doe them seruice, and finde fauour in their sight.
13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God, (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and to this day the furie of the Lord, and his wrath is not turned from vs)
Chap.1.15.
14 And reade this booke (which wee haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast dayes, and at time conuenient.
15 Thus shall yee say, * To the Lord our God belongeth righteousneſſe, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Jerusalem,
Chap.2.6.
16 And to our Kings and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers,
Dan.9.15.
17 Because we haue * sinned before the Lord our God.
Dan.9.5.
18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that hee gaue vs openly.
19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bin disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and wee haue beene negligent to heare his voyce.

20 Where-

Dan. 28. 15. 20 * Wherefore these plagues are come vpon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his seruant at the time that hee brought our Fathers out of the land of Egypt to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and hony, as appeareth this day.

21 Neuertheleſſe, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whom he sent vnto vs.

22 But euery one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his owne heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP II.

1 The Iewes confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Iewes desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 He promiseth that he will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and euerlasting Testament.

THerefore the Lord our God hath performed his word, which he pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that gouerned Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Princes, and against the men of Israel and Juda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Jerusalem, according to things, that were written in the law of Moyses, Deut. 28. 53. 3 That some among vs should * eat the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his own daughter.

4 Moreouer, he hath deliuered them to be in subiection to all the Kingdoms that are round about vs, to be as a reproch & desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath, and not aboue, because wee haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voice.

Chap. 1. 15. 6 * To the Lord our God appertaineth righteouſneſſe, but vnto vs and to our Fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue wee not prayed before the Lord that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lorde hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voice, to walke in the commandements of the Lorde that he hath giuen vnto vs.

Dan. 9. 15. 11 * And now, O Lorde God of Israel, that hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an high arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly, we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for wee are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, & giue vs fauour in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, & that thy Name is called vpon Israel, and vpon their posterity.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: incline thine eare, O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, & behold: for the dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lorde, neither ‖ prayse nor righteouſneſſe. Deut. 26. 15. Isa. 63. 15. Psal. 6. 5, 6. and 115. 17.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatneſſe of sinne, and hee that goeth crookedly, and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee prayse and righteouſneſſe, O Lord. 18. Isa. 38. 18, 19. ‖ Or, glory, nor praise of righteouſneſſe.

19 For we do not require mercie in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteouſnes of our Fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy ‖ seruants the Prophets, saying, 21 * Thus sayth the Lord, Bow downe your shoulders, & serue the King of Babylon: so shal ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your Fathers. ‖ Or, by the hand of thy seruants. Iere. 27. 7.

22 But if yee will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I will cause to ceale in the cities of Juda, and in Jerusalem, I will cause to ceale the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, and the land shall bee desolate of inhabitants.

24 But wee would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakeſt by thy seruants the Prophetes, namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our Fathers should be caryed out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the cold of the night, and are dead in great misery with famine, and with the sword, and in bandishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Juda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie,

28 As thou spakeſt by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou didſt commaund him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

29 * If yee will not obey my voyce, then shall this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations where I will scatter them. Leuit. 26. 14. deut. 28. 15.

30 For I know that they will not heare me: for it is a stiffnecked people: but in the lande of their captiuitie they shall remember themselues, 31 And know that I am the Lord their God: then wil I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shall heare, and prayse mee in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shall they turne them from their hard backes, and from their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their Fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I will bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their Fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

35 And I will make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I will bee their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer begun for their deliuerance. 9 Hee praiseth wisedom vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Onely God was the finder of wisedome. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Heare, O Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art mercifull, and haue pity vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, and we vtterly perish.

4 O Lord Almightie, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our Fathers, but think vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thee O Lord, will wee praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we should call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuity: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednesse of our Fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to bee a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our Fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou mayst learne wisedome.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxed old in a strange countrey, 11 And art defiled with the dead, and art counted with them, that goe downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisedome:

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisedome, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest knowe also from whence commeth long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the Princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the foules of the heauen, that hoarded vp siluer and golde, wherein men trust and made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coined siluer, and were so carefull of their worke, and whose inuention had none end,

19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steads,

20 When they were young, they sawe the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceiued the paths therof, neither haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not beene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it beene seene in Theman, 23 Nor the Agarines that sought after wisedome vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Merran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisedome haue knowen the way of wisedome, neither doe they thincke vpon the pathes thereof.

24 O Israel howe great is the house of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end, it is high, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from the beginning: that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lorde chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisedome, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and hee hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is hee which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beasts.

33 When hee sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when hee calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Heere we be: and so with cheerefulnesse they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Lawe, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

THis is the booke of the commaundements of God, and the Lawe that endureth for euer: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnes before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel wee are blessed: for the thinges that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Bee of good comfort, O my people, which art the memoriall of Israel.

6 Ye are sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils, and not to God.

8 Ye haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, and ye haue grieued Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When she sawe the wrath comming vpon you from God, she said, Hearken, ye that dwel about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauinesse.

10 I see the captiuitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the euerlasting will bring vpon them.

11 With ioye did I nourish them, but I must leaue them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widow, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not know his righteousnesse, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousnesse.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the euerlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For he hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language, 16 Which neither reuerence the aged, nor pitie the young: these haue caried away the deare beloued of the widowes, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Goe your way, O children, goe your way, for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put off the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I will call vpon the euerlasting.

21 Bee of good comfort, O children: cry vnto God, and he wil deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluation thorow the euerlasting, and ioy is come vpon mee from the holy One, because of the mercy which shall quickely come vnto you from our euerlasting Sauiour.

23 For I sent you away with weeping and mourning: but with ioy and perpetual gladnes will God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shall they also see shortly their saluation from God, which shall come vnto you with great glory and brightnes from the Euerlasting.

25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemie hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt treade vpon his necke.

26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and we are led away as a flock that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as it came into your minde to goe astray from your God: so endeuour your selues tenne times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For hee that hath brought these plagues vpon you, will bring you euerlasting ioy againe, with your saluation.

30 Take a good heart, O Hierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children serue: miserable is shee that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall she be sory for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shal come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of diuels for a great season.

36 O Ierusalem looke toward the East, and behold the ioy that commeth vnto thee from thy God.

37 Loe, thy sonnes (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the word of the holy One vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Ierusalem is mooued vnto gladnesse for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

PVt off thy mourning clothes, O Hierusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour that commeth vnto thee from God for euermore.

2 Put on the garment of righteousnesse, that commeth from GOD, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glory of the Euerlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightnesse to euery countrey vnder the heauen.

4 And God will name thee by this name for euer, The peace of righteousnesse, and the the glory of the worship of God.

5 Arise, O Jerusalem, and stand vp on hie, and looke about thee towards the East, and beholde thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the word of the holy One, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee one foot, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them againe vnto thee, exalted in glory, as children of the Kingdome.

7 For God hath determined to bring downe euery high mountaine, and the long enduring rocks, and to fil the valleies, to make the ground plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweete smelling trees shall ouershadow Israel at the commaundement of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with ioy in the light of his maiestie, with the mercy and righteousnesse that commeth of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT Jeremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie them of the thing that was commanded him of God.

In this chapter are the makers and mainteiners of images mightily confuted.

BEcause of the sinnes, that ye haue committed against God, ye shal be led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remayne there many yeeres, and a long season, euen seuen generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

a That is, seuentie yeeres.

3 *Now shall yee see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of gold, and of wood, borne vpon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare:

*Isa. 44. 8, 9, 10, & 45. 5, 7. Psal. 115. 4. Wisd. 13. 10.

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when yee see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them.

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lorde, wee must worship thee.

6 For mine Angel shalbe with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselues are gilted, and layde ouer with siluer; yet are they but lies, and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a mayd that loueth to be decked,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priestes themselues conuey away the golde and siluer from their gods, and bestow it vpon themselues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood, with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preserued from rust and wormes,

12 Though they haue couered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine Judge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offend him.

14 An other hath a dagger or weapon in his right hand: yet is he not able to defend himselfe from the battell, nor from theeues: so then it is euident that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessell that a man vseth, is nothing worth when it is broken, 16 Such are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feete of those that come in.

17 And as the gates are shut in round about vpon him that hath offended the king: or as one that should be led to be put to death, so the Priests keepe their temples with doores, & with lockes, and with barres, least their gods should be spoyled by robbers.

Or, couets.

18 They light vp candles before them: yea more then for themselues, whereof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the posts of the temple.

19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eate them and their clothes, they feele it not.

Or, brasse.

20 Their faces are blacke through the smoke that is in the Temple.

21 The owles, swallowes & birdes flie vpon their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this ye may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Notwithstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautifull, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherein is no breath, are bought for a most high price.

Isa. 46. 7.

25 *They are borne vpon mens shoulders, because they haue no feet, whereby they declare vnto men, that they bee nothing worth, yea, and they that worship them are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise vp againe of themselues, neither if one set them vpright, can they moue of themselues, neither if they be bowed downe can they make themselues straight: but they set gifts before them as vnto dead men.

Psal. 115. 4. Wisd. 13. 10.

27 As for the things that are offered vnto them, their Priests sell them and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same: but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed, touch their sacrifices: by these things yet may know that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence commeth it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring gifts to the gods of siluer, and gold, and wood.

30 And their Priests sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shauen, and being bare headed, 31 They roare and cry before their gods, as men do at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The Priests also take away of their garments, and cloth their wiues and children.

33 Whether it bee euill that one doeth vnto them or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set vp a king, nor put him downe.

34 In like maner they can neither giue riches nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them, and keepe it not, they will not require it.

35 They

35 They can saue no man from death, neither deliuer the weake from the mightie.

36 They cannot restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe any man at his neede.

37 They can shew no mercy to the widdowe, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, gold, and siluer, are as stones that bee hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall bee confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke or say, that they are gods?

40 Moreouer, the Caldeans themselues dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that he would make him to speake, as though hee had any feeling: yet they that vnderstand these things, cannot leaue them: for they also haue no sense.

42 Furthermore, the women, girded with or, braine. coards, sit in the streets, and burne straw.

43 And if one of them be drawen away, and lie with any such as come by, shee casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shee was not so worthily reputed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whatsoeuer is done among them, is lies: how may it then be thought or said, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmithes make them, neither bee they any other thing, but euen what the workeman will make them.

46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there commeth any warre, or plague vpon them, the Priestes imagine with themselues, where they may hide themselues with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselues from warre, nor from plagues?

Psal. 115.4. & 135.15. 50 For *seeing they be but of wood, and of siluer and gold, men shall know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shalbe manifest to all nations and kings, that they be no gods, but the workes of mens hands, & that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Whereby it may be knowen, that they are no gods.

52 They can set vp no king in the land, nor giue raine vnto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crowes betweene the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a fire vpon the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, and of gold, the Priests will escape and saue themselues, but they burne as the balkes therein.

55 They cannot withstand any king or enemies: how can it then bee thought or saide that they be gods?

56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can neither defend themselues from theeues nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their gold and siluer, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet they cannot helpe themselues.

58 Therefore it is better to be a king, and so to shew his power, or else a profitable vessell in an house, whereby hee that oweth it might haue profit, then such false gods: or to bee a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as bee therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the Sunne, and the Moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary vses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: and the wind bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commaundeth the cloudes to goe about the whole world, they doe as they are bidden.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hils and woods, it doth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in forme nor power.

63 Wherefore men should not thinke, nor say that they bee gods, seeing they can neither giue sentence in iudgement, nor doe men good.

64 Forsomuch now as yee are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse kings.

66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the Moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe themselues good.

68 So ye may bee certified that by no maner of meanes they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scarecrow in a garden of cucumbers, keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood and of siluer and of gold:

70 And likewise their gods of wood, and gold, and siluer, are like to a white thorne in an orchard, that euery bird sitteth vpon, and as a dead body that is cast in the darke.

71 By the purple also and brightnesse which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they themselues shall be consumed at the last, and they shall bee a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iust man, that hath none idoles: for he shall be farre from reproofe.

¶ The ſong of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel, after this place, They fell downe bound into the mids of the hote fiery fornace.

25 The praier of Azarias. 46 The crueltie of the king. 48 The flame deuoureth the Caldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The three children praiſe the Lord, and prouoke all creatures to the ſame.

24 AND they walked in the middes of the flame, praiſing God, and magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias ſtood vp and prayed on this manner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, ſayd, 26 Bleſſed bee thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthy to be praiſed and honoured for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou haſt done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certaine.

28 In all the things that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and vpon Jeruſalem, the holy citie of our fathers, thou haſt executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie haſt thou brought all theſe things vpon vs because of our ſinnes.

29 For wee haue ſinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we treſpaſſed, 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou haſt commaunded vs, that we might proſper.

31 Wherefore in all that thou haſt brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou haſt done to vs, thou haſt done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and moſt hateful traitours, and to an vnrighteous king, and the moſt wicked in all the world.

33 And now wee may not open our mouthes: wee are become a ſhame and reproofe vnto thy ſeruants, and to them that worſhip thee.

34 Yet for thy Names ſake we beſeech thee, giue vs not vp for euer, neither breake thy Couenant, 35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams ſake, and for thy ſeruant Iſaacs ſake, and for thy holy Iſraels ſake.

36 To whom thou haſt ſpoken and promiſed, that thou wouldeſt multiply their ſeed as the ſtarres of heauen, and as the ſand, that is vpon the ſea ſhore.

37 For wee, O Lord, are become leſſe then any nation, and be kept vnder this day in all the world, becauſe of our ſinnes:

38 So that now we haue neither prince, nor Prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor ſacrifice, nor oblation, nor incenſe, nor place to offer the firſt fruits before thee, that wee might finde mercy.

39 Neuertheleſſe, in a contrite heart, and an humble ſpirit let vs be receiued.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullockes, and as in ten thouſand of fat lambs, ſo let our offering bee in thy ſight this day, that it may pleaſe thee: for there is no confuſion vnto them, that put their truſt in thee.

41 And now we folow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and ſeeke thy face.

42 Put vs not to ſhame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindneſſe, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs alſo by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord, 44 That all they that doe thy ſeruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their ſtrength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou onely art the Lord God, & glorious ouer the whole world.

46 ¶ Now the kings ſeruants that had caſt them in, ceaſed not to make the ouen hote with [a] naphtha, and with pitch, and with towe, and with fagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the fornace, fourtie and nine cubits.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt thoſe Chaldeans, that it found by the fornace.

49 And the Angel of ỳ Lord went down into the fornace with them that were with Azarias, and ſmote the flame of the fire out of the fornace, 50 And made in the mids of ỳ fornace like a moiſt hiſſing wind, ſo that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieued nor troubled them.

51 Then theſe three (as out of one mouth) praiſed, and glorified, and bleſſed God in the fornace, ſaying, 52 Bleſſed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praiſed, and exalted aboue all things for euer, and bleſſed bee thy glorious and holy Name, and praiſed aboue all things, and magnified for euer.

53 Bleſſed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and praiſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

54 Bleſſed be thou that beholdeſt the depths, and ſitteſt vpon the Cherubims, and praiſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

55 Bleſſed be thou in the glorious throne of thy kingdome, and praiſed aboue all things, and exalted for euer.

56 Bleſſed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praiſed aboue all things, and glorified for euer.

57 All yee workes of the Lord, bleſſe yee the Lord: praiſe him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

58 O heauens, bleſſe ye the Lord: praiſe him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer. Pſal. 148. 4

87 O Saints and humble of heart, bleſſe ye the Lord: prayſe him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer.

88 O Ananias, Azarias, and Miſael, bleſſe ye the Lord: prayſe him, and exalt him aboue all things for euer: for hee hath deliuered vs from the hell, and ſaued vs from the hand of death, and deliuered vs out of the middes of the fornace, and burning flame: euen out of the mids of the fire hath he deliuered vs.

89 Confeſſe vnto the Lord, that he is gracious: for his mercy endureth for euer.

90 All yee that worſhip the Lord, bleſſe the God of gods: prayſe him, and acknowledge him: for his mercie endureth worlde without ende.

‖Or, Soſanna. The hiſtorie of ‖ Sufanna, which ſome ioyne to the end of Daniel, and make it the thirteenth Chapter.

8 The two gouernours are taken with the loue of Sufanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They ſollicite her to wickednesſe. 23 Shee chuſeth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accuſed. 45 Daniel doeth deliuer her. 62 The gouernours are put to death.

THere dwelt a man in Babylon called Ioacim,

2 And hee tooke a wife, whoſe name was Sufanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother alſo were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moſes.

4 Now Ioacim was a great rich man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his houſe, and to him reſorted the Iewes, becauſe he was more honourable then all others.

5 The ſame yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Iudges, ſuch as the Lord ſpeaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, and from the ancient Iudges, which ſeemed to rule the people.

6 Theſe haunted Ioacims houſe, and all ſuch as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Sufanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders ſaw her that ſhe went in dayly and walked, ſo that their luſt was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their minde, a To wit, and caſt downe their eyes, that they ſhould from God. not ſee heauen, nor remember iuſt iudgements.

10 And albeit they were both wounded with her loue, yet durst not one shew another his griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to see her.

13 And the one said to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is dinner time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might finde her alone.

15 Now when they had spyed out a conuenient time, that shee went in, as her manner was, with two maydes onely, and thought to wash her selfe in the garden, (for it was an hote season)

16 And there was no body there, saue the two Elders that had hid themselues, and watched for her:

17 Shee sayd to her maydes, Bring me oyle and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

18 And they did as shee bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselues at a backe doore, to fet the thing that shee had commanded them: but they saw not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maydes were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp and ranne vnto her, saying, 20 Behold, the garden dores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, wee will beare witnesse against thee, that a young man was with thee, and therefore thou didst send away thy maydes from thee.

22 Then Susanna sighed, and said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto me: and if I doe it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not doe it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 With that Susanna cryed with a loude voice, and the two Elders cryed out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 ¶ So when the seruants of the house heard the cry in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore, to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Susanna.

28 On the morrow after, came the people to Joacim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of mischieuous imagination against Susanna to put her to death, 29 And said before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Helcias Joacims wife. And immediatly they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kinred.

31 Now Susanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commaunded to vncouer her face, (for she was couered) that they might be satisfied with her beautie.

33 Therefore they that were about her, and all that knew her, wept.

34 Then the two elders stood vp in the middest of the people, and laid their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept, and looked vp toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders sayd, As wee walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maydes, whom she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a young man, which there was hid, came vnto her and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickednesse, ran vnto them, and we saw them as they were together.

39 But wee could not hold him: for he was stronger then we, and opened the doore and leaped out.

40 Now when wee had taken this woman, we asked her what young man this was, but she would not tell vs: of these things are we witnesses.

41 Then the assembly beleeued them, as those that were the Elders and iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cryed out with a loude voyce, and said, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witnesse against mee, and behold, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 ¶ Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Lord rayled vp the holy spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel, 46 Who cryed with a loude voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and sayd, What meane these words, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the middes of them, and sayd, Are yee such fooles, O Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witnesse against her.

50 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders sayd vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I wil examine them.

52 So when they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them, and sayd vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy sins which thou hast committed afore time, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie goe free, albeit the Lord saith, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay. *Exod. 23. 7.

54 Now then, if thou hast seene her, tell me, Vnder what tree sawest thou them companying nying together? Who answered, Under a lentisk tree.

55 Then sayd Daniel, Verely thou hast lyed against thine owne || head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two. ||Or, life.

56 So hee put him aside, and commaunded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Juda, beautie hath deceiued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Juda would not abide your wickednes.

58 Now therefore tell mee, vnder what tree didest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Under a || pyine tree. ||Or, turtle tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lied against thine head, for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 ¶ With that all the whole assembly cried with a lowd voyce, and praised God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witnesse by their owne mouth.)

62 *And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saued the same day. *Deut. 19. 19. Prou. 19. 5.

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was layd with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his stead.

¶ The historie of Beland the Dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Ephesine.

NOw when King Astyages was laid with his fathers, Cyrus the Persian receiued [illegible] kingdoms.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured aboue all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idole called Bel, and there were spent vpon him him euery day twelue a great measures of fine floure, and fourteene sheep, and sixe great b pots of wine.

a Called Artaba, where of euery one conteined somewhat more then nine gallons, which make in al an hundreth and eight gallons at the least.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went dayly to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with hands, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuing God? Seest thou not how much hee eateth and drinketh euery day?

b Called Metreta, and euery one of these measures conteined about ten gallons, which in all make threescore.

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O king, be not deceiued: for this is but clay within, & brasse without, and did neuer eat any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his priests, and said vnto them, If ye tel me not who this is that eateth vp these expences, ye shall die:

9 But if ye can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the king, Let it be according to thy word.

6 (Now the priests of Bel were threescore and ten, besides their wiues and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels priests said, Behold, we will goe out, and set thou the meate there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet.

12 And to morrow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, wee will suffer death, or else Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themselues sure enough: for vnder the table they had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commaunded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed throughout all the temple, in the presence of the King alone: then they went out, and shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet, and so departed.

15 Now in the night came the priestes with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to doe) and did eat and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the King arose and Daniel with him.

17 And the King said, Daniel, are the seales whole? Who answered, Yea, O King, they bee whole.

18 And assoone as hee had opened the doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voyce, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then laughed Daniel, and held the King that he should not goe in, and said, Behold now the pauement, and marke well whose footsteps are these.

20 And the King said, I see the footsteps of men, women, and children: therefore the King was angry, 21 And tooke the priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 There-

22 Therfore the king slew them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.

23 ¶ Moreouer in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King sayd vnto Daniel, Sayest thou that this is of brasse also? loe, hee liueth, and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say that hee is no liuing God: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel vnto the King, I will worship the Lord my God: for hee is the liuing God.

26 But giue mee leaue, O King, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the King said, I giue thee leaue.

27 Then Daniel tooke pitch, and fatte, and haire, and did seethe them together, and made lumpes thereof: this he put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel sayd, Behold whom yee worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The King is become a Iew: for hee hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the priests to death.

29 So they came to the King, and sayd, Deliuer vs Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Now when the King sawe, that they preassed sore vpon him, and that necessitie constrained him, hee deliuered Daniel vnto them:

31 Who cast him into the Lions den, where he was sixe dayes.

32 In the denne there were seuen Lions, and they had giuen them euery day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuoure Daniel.

33 ¶ Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made pottage, and broken bread into a bowle, & was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord sayd vnto Abbacuc, Goe, carry the meate that thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the Lyons denne.

35 And Abbacuc sayd, Lord, I neuer saw Babylon, neither doe I know where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, & bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mighty wind set him in Babylon vpon the denne.

37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then sayd Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon mee, and thou neuer failest them that seeke thee and loue thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his own place againe immediatly.

40 Vpon the seuenth day the King went to bewaile Daniel, and when hee came to the den, he looked in, and behold, Daniel sate in the midst of the Lions.

41 Then cried the King with a loud voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the den, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction, into the denne, and they were deuoured in a moment before his face.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the king of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 50 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

AFter that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went forth of ỳ land of Chettim, and [a] slew Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him as he had before in Grecia,

2 He tooke great warres in hand, and wan strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went hee through to the endes of the world, and tooke spoyles of many nations, in so much that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hautie.

4 [b] Now when hee had gathered a mighty strong host,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations, and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then hee called for the chiefe of his seruants, which had beene brought vp with him of children, and parted his kingdom among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 [c] And his seruants reigned euery one in his roume.

10 And they all caused themselues to be crowned after his death, & so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednes increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked rot, euen Antiochus || Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundreth and seuen and thirtieth yeere of the kingdome of the Greekes.

12 [d] In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which entised many, saying, Let vs goe and make a couenant with the the heathen that are round about vs: for since wee departed from them, we haue had much sorrow.

13 So this deuise pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready and went to the King, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

e The wicked fall head long into mischiefe.

15 e Then set they vp a place of exercise at Jerusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen, f By drawing the skin ouer the part that was circumcised, as Cels. 7. chap. 25 Epiph. libde pondenibus & mensuris.

16 And made themselues f vncircumcised, and forsooke the holy Couenant, and ioyned themselues to the heathen, and were solde to doe mischiefe.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therefore hee entred into Egypt with a mighty company, with Charets, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie, g The second battell with the Carthaginenses.

19 g And mooued warre against Ptolemeus, King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wan many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundreth, fourtie and three yeere,

22 And went vp toward Israel and Jerusalem with a mightie people,

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and tooke away the golden Altar, and the Candlesticke for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the Table of the Shewbread, and the powring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden balens, and the vaile, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the siluer and golde, and the precious iewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee found, and when hee had taken away all, hee departed into his owne land, 25 After he had murthered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery bridegrome tooke him to mourning, and she that sate in the marriage chamber was in heauinesse.

29 The land also was mooued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Jacob was couered with confusion.

h The battell of Macedonia.

30 h After two yeeres the king sent his chiefe taskemaster into the cities of Juda, which came to Jerusalem with a great multitude, 31 Who spake peaceable words vnto them in deceit, and they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, and smote it with a great plague, & destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when he had spoyled the citie, he set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children tooke they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the city of Dauid with a great & thicke wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Moreouer they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselues therein.

37 And they stored it with weapons and vitailes, and gathered the spoyle of Jerusalem, and laid it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare, and were in ambushment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shedde innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuarie, and defiled the Sanctuary, 40 Insomuch that the citizens of Jerusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom she had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderneſſe: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproch, and her honor brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorrow.

43 Also the king wrote vnto all his kingdom, that all the people should be as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes. Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 6. and 7.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idols, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the king sent letters by the messengers vnto Jerusalem, and to the cities of Juda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the countrey, 47 And that they should forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the ‖ offerings in the Sanctuary, ‖ Or, drinke offerings.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbaths and the feasts,

49 And pollute the Sanctuary and the holy men,

50 And to set vp altars and groues, and chappels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts,

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleannesse, and pollute themselues, that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances, 52 And that whosoeuer would not doe according to the commandement of the king, should suffer death.

53 In like manner wrote hee thorowout all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And he commanded the cities of Juda to doe sacrifice, citie by citie.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euil in the land,

56 And

56 And they drone the Israelites into secret places, euen wheresoeuer they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Casleu, in the hundreth and fine and fourtieth yeere, they set vp the abomination of desolation vpon the altar, and they builded altars throwout the cities of Juda on euery side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streets they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Law, which they found, they [i] burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

[i] It is a manifest note of the enemies of God, to burne the bookes of the Law, Hist. eccles. lib. 8. cap. 2.

60 Whosoeuer had a booke of the Testament found by him, or whosoeuer consented vnto the Law, the kings commandement was, that they should put him to death by their authoritie.

61 And they executed these things euery moneth vpon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the fine and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commandement they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised.

64 And they hanged vp the children at their neckes, and they spoyled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselues, that they would not eate vncleane things, 66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to bee defiled with those meates: so because they would not breake the holy couenant, they were put to death.

67 And this || tyrannie was very sore vpon the people of Israel.

|| Or, rage.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy citie. 19 They refuse to doe sacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the law of God. 33 They are slaine, and will not fight againe because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying, commandeth his sonnes to sticke by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 7.

IN those dayes stood vp Mattathias the priest, the sonne of Joannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Joarib of Jerusalem, and dwelt in Modin.

2 And hee had fine sonnes, Joanan called Gaddis,

3 Simeon called Thassi,

4 Judas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called || Abaron, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphus.

|| Or, Anaran.

6 Now he saw the blasphemies, which were committed in Juda and Jerusalem:

7 And he sayd, Woe is me: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy citie, and thus to sit still? it is deliuered into the hands of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuary is in the handes of strangers: their Temple is as a man that hath no renowme.

9 Her glorious vessels are caried away into captiuitie: her infants are slaine in the streetes, and her young men are fallen by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it that hath not some possession in her kingdome, or hath not gotten of her spoyles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmayde.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary, and our beautie, and honour is desolate, and the Gentiles haue defiled it.

13 What helpeth it vs then to liue any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned very sore.

15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin, to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the commissioners of the king, and said vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honourable man, and great in this citie, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfill the Kings commandement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Juda, and such as remaine at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and thy family bee in the Kings fauour: and thou and thy children shall be enriched with siluer and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and said with a loud voyce, Though all nations that are vnder the kings dominion, obey him, and fall away euery man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements, 20 [a] Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren walke in the couenant of our fathers.

a The father promiseth for his children, that they shall serue God: so doeth Ioshua for his household, Iosh. 24. 15.

21 God be mercifull vnto vs, that we forsake not the law and the ordinances.

22 Wee will not hearken vnto the Kings words to transgresse our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these words, there came one of the Jewes, in the sight of all, to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, he was so [b] inflamed with zeale, that his reines shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the law: therefore hee ranne vnto him, and killed him by the altar:

b It is a griefe to the godly to see the people offend.

25 And at the same time hee slew the kings commissioner, that compelled him to doe sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus bare he a zeale to the Law of God, * doing as Phinees did vnto Zambri the sonne of Salom.

Num. 25. 7.

27 ¶ Then cried Mattathias with a lowde voyce in the citie, saying, Whosoeuer is zealous of the Law, and will stand by the couenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So he and his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the city.

29 Then many that || sought after iustice and iudgement,

|| Or, that liued iustly & vprightly.

30 Went downe into the wildernes to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wiues and their cattel: for the afflictions increased sore vpon them.

31 ¶ Now when it was told vnto the kings seruants, seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the Kings commandement, and were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernesse,

32 Then they pursued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, they camped against them and set the battell in aray against them on the Sabbath-day, 33 And sayd vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and do according to the commandement of the King, and ye shall liue.

34 But they answered, We will not goe forth, neither will we doe the kings commaundement, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gaue them the battel.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, or stopped the priue places, 37 But said, We will die all in our innocencie: the heauen and earth shall testifie for vs, that yee destroy vs wrongfully.

38 Thus they gaue them the battel vpon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wiues & their children to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends vnderstood this, they mourned for them greatly,

40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, and for our Lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy vs out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoeuer shall come to make battell with vs vpon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that wee die not all, as our brethren that were murthered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assembly of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as are well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned themselues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the vngodly in their anger, but the rest fled vnto the heathen and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proude men: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Lawe out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gaue not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drewe neere, that Mattathias should die, he sayd vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, bee ye zealous of the Law, and giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall yee receiue great honour and an euerlasting name.

52 Was not Abraham found faithful in tentation, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnesse? Gen.22.9. 10.rem.4.3.

53 *Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandement, and was made the Lord of Egypt. Gen.41.40.

54 *Phinehes our father, because he was zealous and feruent, obtained the couenant of the euerlasting Priesthood. Num.25.13. ecclus.45. 23,24.

55 *Iesus for fulfilling the word, was made the gouernour of Israel. Ioso.1.2.

56 *Caleb, because he bare witnes before the congregation, receiued the heritage of the land. Num. 14.6, 7. ioso.14.

57 *Dauid, because of his mercie, obtained the throne of the kingdom for euermore. 1.Sam 13. 2.Sam 2.4.

58 *Elias, because he was zealous and feruent in the Lawe, was taken vp euen vnto heauen. 2.King 2.11.

59 *Ananias, Azarias, and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame. Dan.3.16, 17,18,26.

60 *Daniel, because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the Lions. Dan.6.22.

61 And thus ye may consider throughout all ages, that whosoeuer put their trust in him, shal not want strength.

62 *Feare not yee then the words of a sinfull man: for his glory is but doung and wormes. Mat.10.26, 28,31.isa. 40.6,7.& 51.7,8. Iam.1.10.

63 To day is he set vp, and to morrow he shal *not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpole perisheth.

64 Wherefore my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selues men for the Lawe: for by it shall you obteine glory. 1.pet.1.24. ecclus.14.17.

65 And beholde, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: giue eare vnto him alway: he shall be a father vnto you.

66 And Iudas Maccabeus hath bene mightie and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him be your captaine, and fight you the battel for the people.

67 Thus shal ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Lawe, and shall auenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandement of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laid with his fathers,

70 And died in the hundreth, fortie and first yeere, and his sonnes buryed him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas is made ruler ouer the Iewes, 11 He killeth Apollonius and Seron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Iudas toward God. 55 Iudas determineth to fight against Lysias, whom Antiochus had made captaine ouer his hoste.

THen Iudas his sonne called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that held with his father, and fought with courage the battell of Israel.

3 So he gate his people great honour: he put on a brest plate as a gyant, and armed himselfe, and set the battell in aray, & defended the campe with his sword.

4 In his acts he was like a Lyon, and as a Lions whelpe roaring after the praye.

5 For he pursued the wicked, & sought them out, and burnt vp those that vexed his people.

6 So

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquity were put to trouble: and saluation prospered in his hand.

7 And hee grieued diuers Kings, but Iacob reioyced by his actes, and his memoriall is blessed for euer.

8 Hee went also thorow the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, & turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was hee renowned vnto the endes of the earth, and hee assembled together those that were ready to perish.

10 ¶ But a Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

a Who was gouernour of Syria, Ioseph. Antiq. 12. chap. 9.

11 Which when Iudas perceiued, hee went foorth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fled.

12 So Iudas tooke their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius sword, and fought with it al his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Seron a prince of the army of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre, 14 He said, I wil get me a name, and will be glorious in the Realme: For I wil go fight with Iudas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.

15 So he made him ready to go vp, and there went with him a mighty hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when he came neere to the going vp of Beth-horon, Iudas went foorth to meet him with a small company.

17 But when they sawe the armie comming against them, they sayd to Iudas, How are we able being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the handes of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victorie of the battel standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength commeth from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruell and proude multitude to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs, 21 But we do fight for our liues, and for our Lawes.

22 And God himselfe wil destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his host destroyed before him.

24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Beth-horon vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundreth men of them, & the residue fled into the land of the Philistims.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about, 26 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles could tell of the warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these tidings, he was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, and gathered all the power of his Realme, a very strong armie, 28 And opened his treasure, and gaue his hoste a yeres wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yeere for all occasions.

29 Neuertheless, when hee saw that the money of his treasures failed, and that the tributes in the countrey were small, because of the dissension, and plagues that hee had brought vpon the land, in taking away the Lawes which had bene of old time,

30 He feared least he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that he had giuen with a liberal hand afore: for in liberalitie he farre passed the other Kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreyes, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man, and of the Kings blood to ouersee the kings businesse, from the riuer of Euphrates, vnto the borders of Egypt, 33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreouer, he gaue him halfe of his hoste and Elephants, and gaue him the charge of all that he would haue done,

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy and roote out the power of Israel and the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place, 36 And to set strangers for to inhabite al their quarters, and part their land among them.

37 And the king tooke the half of the host that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall citie, in the yere an hundreth fourtie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, and went thorow the hie countreys.

Deut. 20. 5. & 24. 5.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolomeus the sonne of Dorimenus, and Nicanor, & Gorgias, mighty men and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them fortie thousand footmen, and seuen thousand horsemen, to goe into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power and came & pitched by † Emmaus in the plaine countrey.

† Emmaus

41 Now when the merchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much siluer and gold, and seruants, and came into the campe to buy the children of Israel for slaues, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations ioyned with them.

Ioseph. lib. 12. chap. 10.

42 ¶ Nowe when Iudas and his brethren sawe that trouble encreased, and that the hoste drewe neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby he had commanded to destroy the people, and vtterly abolish them, 43 They sayd one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.

44 Then the congregation were soone ready gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wildernesse. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the

Sanctuary

Sanctuary was troden downe, and the ſtrangers kept the fortreſſe, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirth of Jacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceaſed.

46 So they gathered themſelues together, and came to Maſpha before Jeruſalem: for in Maſpha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Iſrael.

47 And they faſted that day, and put ſackcloth vpon them, and caſt aſhes vpon their heads and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the law, wherein the heathen ſought to paint the likeneſſe of their idoles, 49 And brought the Prieſts garments, and the firſt fruits, and the tithes, and ſet there the Nazarites, which accompliſhed their dayes.

50 And they cried with a loud voyce toward heauen, ſaying, What ſhall we doe with theſe? and whither ſhall we cary them away?

51 For thy Sanctuary is troden downe and defiled, and thy Prieſtes are in heauineſſe, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come againſt vs, to deſtroy vs: thou knoweſt what things they imagine againſt vs.

53 How can we ſtand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loud voice.

55 And after this Judas ordained captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thouſands, and captaines ouer hundreths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they commanded them that builded houſes, or married wiues, or planted vineyards or were fearefull, that they ſhould returne euery one to his owne houſe, * according to the Law.

Deut. 20. 5. & 24. 5.

57 So the hoſt remoued, and pitched vpon the Southſide of Emmaus.

58 And Judas ſaid, Arme your ſelues and be valiant men, & be ready againſt the morning to fight with theſe nations, which are gathered together againſt vs, to deſtroy vs and our Sanctuarie.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battel, then to ſee the calamities of our people and of our Sanctuary.

60 Neuertheleſſe, as the will of God is in heauen, ſo be it.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Iudas goeth againſt Gorgias which lieth in waite. 14 He putteth Gorgias and his hoſte to flight. 28 Lyſias inuadeth Iudea, 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple, and dedicateth the altar.

Then toke Gorgias fiue thouſand foote men, and a thouſand of the beſt horſemen, and departed out of the campe by night, Eccleſ. 46. 12 & cap. 50.

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to ſlay them ſuddenly: and the men of the fortreſſe were his guides.

3 Now when Judas heard it, he remoued, and they that were valiant men, to ſmite the Kings armies which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was diſperſed from the campe.

5 In the meane ſeaſon came Gorgias by night into Judas campe: and when he found no man there hee ſought them in the mountaines; for ſayd he, they flee from vs.

6 But aſſoone as it was day, Judas ſhewed himſelfe in the fielde with three thouſand men, which had neither harneſſe nor ſwordes to their minds.

7 And they ſaw that the armies of the heathen were ſtrong and well armed, and their horſemen about them, and that theſe were expert men of warre.

8 Then ſaid Judas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afraid of their aſſault.

9 Remember how our fathers were deliuered * in the red Sea, when Pharaoh purſued them with an armie. Exod. 14. 9. & 29.

10 Therefore now let vs cry vnto heauen, and the Lord will haue mercie vpon vs, and remember the couenant of our fathers, and will deſtroy this hoſt before our face this day:

11 So ſhall all the heathen know, that there is one, which deliuereth and ſaueth Iſrael.

12 Then the ſtrangers lift vp their eyes, and ſaw them comming againſt them, 13 And they went out of their tents into the battel, and they that were with Judas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathen were diſcomfited, and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmoſt of them fel by the ſword, and they purſued them vnto ‖ Gazeron, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Jamnia, ſo that there were ſlaine of them about three thouſand men. ‖ Or, Aſſaremoth.

16 So Judas turned againe with his hoſte, from purſuing them, 17 And ſaid vnto them, Be not greedy of the ſpoiles: for there is a battell before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but ſtand ye now faſt againſt your enemies, and ouercome them: then may ye ſafely take the ſpoyles.

19 As Judas was ſpeaking theſe words, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias ſaw that his were fled, and that Judas ſouldiers burnt the tents: (for the ſmoake that was ſeene, declared what was done.)

21 When they ſaw theſe things, they were ſore afraid, and when they ſaw alſo that Judas and his hoſte were in the field ready to ſet themſelues in aray, 22 They fled euery one into the land of ſtrangers.

23 So Judas turned againe to ſpoile the tents, where he gate much gold and ſiluer, and precious ſtones, and purple of the ſea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and ſung Pſalmes and prayſed toward the heauen: for hee is gracious, and his mercy endureth for euer.

25 And ſo Iſrael had a great victory in that day.

26 ¶ Now all the ſtrangers that eſcaped, came, and tolde Lyſias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard theſe things was ſore afraid & diſcouraged, becauſe ſuch things came not vpon Iſrael as he would, neither ſuch things as the king had commanded him, came to paſſe.

28 Therefore the next yeere following, gathered Lyſias threeſcore thouſand choſen foote men, men, and fiue thousand horsemen to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into ‖ Idumea, and pitched their tents at ‖ Beth-sura, where Judas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw that mighty armie, hee prayed, and said, Blessed be thou, O Sauiour of Israel, * which didst destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy seruant Dauid, * and gauest the hoste of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan, the sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut vp this army in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them bee confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and consume their boldnesse and strength, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shall all they that know thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slain of Lysias hoste, fiue thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Then Lysias, seeing his army put to flight, and the manlinesse of Judas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, & gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his army, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Judea.

36 Then said Judas & his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe vp, to cleanse, and to repaire the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuary laid waste, and the altar defiled, & the doores burnt vp, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads, 40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with the trumpets, and cried toward heauen.

41 Then Judas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those which were in the castle, till he had cleansed the Sanctuary.

42 So he chose Priests that were vndefiled, such as delighted in the law,

43 And they cleansed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vncleane place, 44 And consulted what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar.

46 And layed vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a prophet, to shew what should be done with them.

47 So they tooke whole stones according to the Law, and builded a newe altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuary, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holy vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlestick, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lamps which were vpon the candlesticke, that they burne in the Temple.

51 They set also the shew bread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, and finished all the workes that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the fiue and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Chasleu, in the hundreth and eight and fortieth yeere they arose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offred sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day, was it made new with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praising toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight dayes, offering burnt offerings with gladnesse, and offered sacrifices of deliuerance and praise, 57 And decked the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold and shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hanged doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Judas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel ordeined that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the fiue and twntieth day of the moneth Chasleu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time builded they vp mount Sion with hie walles and strong towres round about, least the Gentiles should come and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keep it, and fortified Beth-sura to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Judas vanquished the heathen that goe about to destroy Israel, and is holpen of his brethren Simon and Jonathan. 50 He ouerthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorow it.

NOw when the nations round about heard, that the altar was builded, and the Sanctuary renewed as afore, they were sore grieued. Ioseph. lib. 13. cap. 13.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Jacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Judas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at ‖ Arabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and he smote them with a great plague, and brought them to straits, and tooke their spoiles. ‖ Or, Arabathane.

4 He thought also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which was a snare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the high way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towres, and besieged beſieged them, and deſtroyed them vtterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward, went hee againſt the children of Ammon, where hee found a mighty power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So hee had many battels with them, but they were deſtroyed before him, and ſo hee diſcomfited them,

8 And tooke Gazer, with the townes thereof, and ſo turned againe into Judea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together againſt the Iſraelites that were in their quarters, to ſlay them: but they fled to the caſtle of Dathema,

10 And ſent letters to Judas, and to his brethren, ſaying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered againſt vs, to deſtroy vs.

11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortreſſe, whereunto wee are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoſte.

12 Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are ſlaine.

13 And all our brethren that were at Tubin, are ſlain, and they haue taken away their wiues and their children, and their goods, & deſtroyed there almoſt a thouſand men.

14 While theſe letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other meſſengers from Galile, with their clothes rent, which told the ſame tidings, 15 And ſayd that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered againſt them to deſtroy them.

16 When Judas and the people heard theſe words, a great Congregation came together, to conſult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they beſieged.

17 Then ſaid Judas to Simon his brother, Chuſe thee out men, and go and deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Jonathan will goe into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So hee left Joſephus the ſonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to bee captaines of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoſte in Judea.

19 And commanded them, ſaying, Take the ouerſight of this people, and make no warre againſt the heathen, vntill we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen three thouſand men, to goe into Galile, and to Judas eight thouſand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were diſcomfited by him.

22 And hee purſued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: and there were ſlaine of the heathen almoſt three thouſand men: ſo hee tooke their ſpoyles.

23 Thus they reſcued them that were in Galile and in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, & brought them into Judea with great ioy.

24 ¶ Judas Maccabeus alſo and his brother Jonathan went ouer Jorden, & trauailed three dayes iourney in the wilderneſſe,

25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, & told them euery thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,

26 And how that many of them were beſieged in Boſora, and Boſor, in Alemis, ‖ Chaſbon, Maged and Carnaim (all theſe cities are ſtrong and great) ‖ Or, Caſphor

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morrow they are appointed to bring their hoſte vnto theſe fortes, and to take them, and to deſtroy them all in one day.

28 So Judas & his hoſte turned in all haſte by the way of the wilderneſſe toward Boſora, and wanne the citie, and ſlew all the males with the edge of the ſword, and tooke all their ſpoyle, and ſet fire vpon the citie.

29 And in the night he remoued from thence and went toward the fortreſſe.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and inſtruments of warre, to take the fort, and had aſſaulted them.

31 When Judas ſaw that the battell was begun, and that the cry of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great ſound, 32 Then he ſaid vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So he went forth behind them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the hoſte of Timotheus knew, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, and hee ſmote them with a great ſlaughter, ſo that there was killed of them the ſame day, almoſt eight thouſand men, 35 ¶ Then departed Judas vnto Maſpha, and laid ſiege vnto it, and wanne it, and ſlew all the males thereof, and ſpoyled it, and ſet fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chaſbon, Maged, and Boſor, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After theſe things gathered Timotheus another hoſte, and he camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Judas had ſent to eſpie the hoſte, & they brought him word againe, ſaying, All the heathen y be round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoſte is very great,

39 And he hath hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come & fight againſt thee. So Judas went to meete them.

40 Then Timotheus ſaid vnto the captains of his hoſte, When Judas and his hoſte come neare the flood, if he paſſe ouer firſt vnto vs, wee ſhall not be able to withſtand him: for he will be too ſtrong for vs.

41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, wee will goe ouer vnto him, and ſhall preuaile againſt him.

42 Now when Judas came nere to the flood, he cauſed the gouernours of y people to remain by the flood, & commanded them, ſaying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let euery man come to the battell.

43 So he went firſt ouer toward them, and all the people after him: & all the heathen were diſcomfited before him, & caſt away their weapons, and fled into the temple that was at Carnaim.

44 Which city Judas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Judas.

45 ¶ Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad from the least vnto the most, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great city by the way, and strongly defenced: they could not passe neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must goe thorow it.

47 But they that were in the city, shut themselues in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Judas sent vnto the with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thorow your land, that wee may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely goe thorow on foot: but they would not open vnto him.

49 Wherefore Judas commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the host, that euery man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valiant men set vpon it, & assaulted the city all that day, and all that night, and the city was giuen ouer into his hands:

51 Who slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoyle thereof, & went thorow the city ouer them that were slaine.

52 Then went they ouer Jorden into the great plaine before Bethsan.

53 And Judas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorow, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went vp with ioy and gladnes vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings because there was none of them slaine but came home againe in safety.

55 ¶ Now whiles Judas & Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais, 56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had atchieued, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their host a commandement and went toward Jamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the city to fight against them.

60 And Joseph & Azarias were put to flight, & pursued vnto the borders of Judea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great ouerthrow among the people of Israel, 61 Because they were not obedient vnto Judas and his brethren, but thought to do some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose handes deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, whersoeuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Judas foorth with his brethren, & fought against the children of Esau in the land toward the South, where he wanne Hebron, and the townes thereof, and he destroyed the castle thereof, & burnt the towers thereof rounds about. Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 11 & 12.

66 Then remooued he to goe into the land of the ‖ strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priestes of the city slaine in the battel, which would shew their valiantnesse, and went foorth to battel without counsell: and when Judas came to Azotus in the strangers land, he brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoyles of the cities, & came againe into the land of Juda. ‖ Or, Philistims.

CHAP. VI.

1 Antiochus willing to take the citie of Elimais, is driuen away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickes, and dieth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made King. 34 The maner to prouoke elephants to fight. 43 Eleazarus valiant act. 48 The siege of Sion.

NOw when King Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countrey, he heard that Elimais in the countrey of Perlia, was a city greatly renowmed for riches, siluer, and gold, Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 13.

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, whereas were couerings of gold, coate armours, and harnesse, which Alexander King of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the city, and to spoyle it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rose vp against him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heauinesse, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Perlia, that the armies that went against the land of Judea, were driuen away,

6 And that Lysias, which went foorth first with a great power, was driuen away of the Jewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoyles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which he had set vp vpon the altar at Jerusalem, & fenced the Sanctuary with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-sura his city.

8 So when the King had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therefore he layd him downe vpon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorow, because it was not come to passe as he had thought.

9 And there continued he many dayes: for his griefe was euer more and more, so that he saw that he must needs die.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, and said vnto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come, and into what floods of misery am I fallen now, whereas afore time I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power?

12 And now doe I remember the euils that

I

I haue done at Ieruſalem: for I toke all the veſſels of gold and ſiluer that were in it, and ſent to deſtroy the inhabitants of Juda without cauſe.

13 I know that theſe troubles are come vpon mee for the ſame cauſe, and behold, I muſt die with great ſorrow in a ſtrange land.

14 Then called hee for Philip one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his Realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that hee ſhould inſtruct his ſonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, till hee might reigne himſelfe.

16 So King Antiochus died there in the hundreth fourty and ninth yeere.

17 ¶ When Lyſias knew that the King was dead, hee ordeined Antiochus his ſonne (whom hee had brought vp) to reigne in his Fathers ſtead, and called him Eupator. Ioſeph. Ant. 12. cap. 14.

18 Now they that were in the caſtle at Ieruſalem, kept in the Iſraelites round about the Sanctuary, and ſought alwayes their hurt, and the ſtrengthening of the heathen.

19 Therfore Judas thought to deſtroy them, and called all the people together to beſiege them.

20 So they came together, and beſieged them in the hundreth and fifty yeere, and made inſtruments to ſhoot, and other engines of warre.

21 But certaine of them that were beſieged, gate forth, (vnto whom ſome vngodly men of Iſrael ioyned themſelues.)

22 And they went vnto the King, ſaying, How long wilt thou ceaſe from executing iudgement, and auenge our brethren?

23 Wee haue beene ready to ſerue thy father, and to goe forward in thoſe things, that hee appointed, and to obey his commandements.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from vs for this cauſe, and whereſoeuer they found any of vs, they ſlew them, and ſpoiled our inheritance.

25 And they haue not onely layd hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And behold, this day are they beſieging the caſtle at Ieruſalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuary, and Beth-ſura.

27 And if thou doeſt not preuent them quickly, they will doe greater things then theſe, and thou ſhalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the King heard this, hee was very angry, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horſemen.

29 And bands that were hired, came vnto him from the Kings, that were confederate, and from the Iles of the ſea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundreth thouſand footmen, and twenty thouſand horſemen, and two and thirty Elephants exerciſed in battell.

31 Theſe came through Idumea, and drew neere to Beth-ſura, and beſieged it a long ſeaſon, and made engines of warre: but they came out and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Judas from the caſtle, and remooued the hoſte toward Beth-zacarias, ouer againſt the Kings campe.

33 So the King aroſe very early, and brought the armie and his power toward the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie ſet themſelues in aray to battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephants for to fight, they ſhewed them the blood of grapes and mulberies.

35 And they ſet the beaſtes according to the ranges: ſo that by euery elephant there ſtood a thouſand men armed with coates of male and helmets of braſſe vpon their heads, and vnto euery beaſt were ordeined fiue hundreth horſemen of the beſt,

36 Which were ready at all times whereſoeuer the beaſt was: and whitherſoeuer the beaſt went, they went alſo, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were ſtrong towres of wood that couered euery beaſt, which were faſtened thereon with inſtruments, and vpon euery one was two & thirty men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They ſet alſo the remnant of the horſemen vpon both the ſides in two wings of the hoſte, to ſtirre them vp and to keepe them in the valleyes.

39 And when the ſunne ſhone vpon the golden ſhields, the mountaines glittered therwith, and gaue light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the kings armie was ſpread vpon the high mountaines, and part beneath: ſo they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyſe of the multitude, & the marching of the companie and the ratling of the harneſſe, were aſtonied: for the armie was very great and mighty.

42 Then Judas and his hoſte entred into the battell, and they ſlew ſixe hundreth men of the kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar the ſonne of ‖ Aba-ron, ſaw one of the Elephants armed with royall harneſſe, and was more excellent then all the other beaſts, he thought that the king ſhould be vpon him. ‖ Or, Sauran

44 Wherefore he iopарded himſelfe to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetuall name, 45 And ranne boldly vnto him through the middes of the hoſte, ſlaying on the right hand and on the left, ſo that they departed away on both ſides.

46 So went hee to the Elephants feete, and gate him vnder him, [a] and ſlew him, then fell the Elephant downe vpon him, and there he died

47 But the other, ſeeing the power of the king, and the fiercenеſſe of his armie, departed from them.

[a] This example is not to be followed, becauſe it is contrary to the cõmandement.

48 ¶ And the kings armie went vp to meet them toward Ieruſalem, and the king pitched his tents in Judea toward mount Sion.

49 Moreouer the king toke truce with them that were in Beth-ſura: but when they came out of the citie, becauſe they had no victuals there, and were ſhut vp therein, and the land had reſted,

50 The king toke Beth-ſura, and ſet there a gariſon to keepe it, 51 And beſieged the Sanctuary many daies, and made inſtruments to ſhoote, and other engines of warre, and inſtruments to caſt fire and ſtones, and pieces to caſt darts and ſlings.

52 ‖ They alſo made engines againſt their engines, and fought a long ſeaſon. ‖ Or, the Iewes.

53 But in the garners there were no vitailes, for it was the ſeuenth yeere, and then they that were in Judea, and were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store, 54 So that in the Sanctuary were few men left: for the famine came so vpon them, that they were scattered euery man to his owne place.

55 ¶ Now when Lysias heard that Philip, (whome Antiochus the King, whiles hee liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media and the Kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of things, 57 Hee and his hasted, & were stirred forward by them in the castle to goe & tell the King, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, Wee decrease dayly, and our victuals are but small: and the place that wee lay siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend vpon vs.

58 Now therefore let vs ‖ agree with these men, and take truce with them, & with all their nation,

‖Or, giue hands.

59 And graunt them to liue after their Law, as they did afore: for they bee grieued, and doe all these things, because wee haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the Princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the King & the Princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpon this out of the fortresse.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when hee saw that the place was well defenced, hee brake his othe that hee had made, & commanded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed hee in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia, where hee found Philip hauing dominion of the citie: so he fought against him, and tooke the city by force.

CHAP VII.

1 Demetrius reigned after hee had killed Antiochus and Lysias. 5 He troubleth the children of Israel through the counsell of certaine wicked persons. 37 The prayer of the Priests against Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his prayer.

Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 5.

IN the hundreth and one and fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men vnto a citie of the Sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when hee came into the possession of his fathers kingdome, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lysias, and brought them vnto him.

3 But when it was told him, he said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome, 5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodly men of Israel whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue been the high Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the king saying, Iudas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore send now some man, whome thou trustest, that he may goe and see all the destruction, which he hath done vnto vs and to the Kings land, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the king chose Bacchides a freind of his, which was a great man in the Realme, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull vnto the king, and sent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom he made high Priest, and commanded him to be auenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste vnto the land of Juda, and sent messengers to Judas & his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleeued not their saying: for they saw that they were come with a great host.

12 Then a company of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reasonable points.

13 And the ‖ Asideans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

‖Or, Hasidims.

14 For, sayd they, He that is a Priest of the seed of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore he will not hurt vs.

15 Then he spake vnto them peaceably, and sware vnto them, and sayd, We will doe you no harme, neither your friends:

16 And they beleeued him: but hee tooke of them threescore men, and slew them in one day, according to the words that were written,

17 *They haue cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Jerusalem, & there was no man that would bury them.

*Psal. 79. 2.

18 So there came a feare and trembling among all the people: for they sayd, There is neither trueth nor righteousnesse in them: for they haue broken the appointment and othe that they made.

19 Then Bacchides remooued from Jerusalem, and pitched his tent at ‖ Beth-zecha, where he sent foorth & tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people, whom he slew and cast into the great pit.

‖Or, Bethseth, or, Bezeth.

20 Then committed hee the countrey vnto Alcimus, and left men of war with him to help him: so Bacchides went vnto the king.

21 Thus Alcimus strone for the Priesthood.

22 And all such as troubled the people, resorted vnto him: in so much that they obteined the land of Juda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Now when Judas saw all the mischiefe that Alcimus & his companie had done among the Israelites more then the heathen, 24 He went foorth round about all the borders of Judea, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroad in the countrey.

25 But when Alcimus saw that Judas and his people had gotten the vpper hand, and knew that he was not able to abide them, hee went againe to the king, and accused them of wicked things.

26 Then the King sent Nicanor one of his chiefe Princes, which hated Israel deadly, and commanded him that he should destroy the people.

Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 16.

27 ¶ So Nicanor came to Jerusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Judas and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying, 28 Let there be no warre betweene mee and you, I will come with fewe men, to see how yee doe, friendly.

29 So

29 So he came vnto Judas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Judas.

30 Neuertheless, it was told Judas that hee came vnto him vnder deceit: therefore he feared him, and would see his face no more.

31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counsell was bewrayed, he went out to fight against Judas, beside || Carphalama,

|| Or, Caphar-salama.

32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors host about fiue thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of Dauid.

33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priests with the elders of the people went forth of the Sanctuary to salute him peaceably, and to shew him the burnt offering that was offered for the king.

34 But hee laughed at them, and mocked them, and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Judas and his host bee not deliuered now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in safety, I will burne vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.

36 Then the Priests came in, and stood before the Altar in the Temple, weeping, and saying,

37 Forsomuch as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this * house, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it should be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people,

Isa. 56. 5, 7.

38 Bee auenged of this man and his host, and let them bee slaine by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue.

39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Jerusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, and there an host met him out of Syria.

40 And Judas pitched in || Adasa, with three thousand men, where Judas prayed, saying,

|| Or, Adarsa.

2. Kin. 19. 35. tob. 1. 18. ecclu. 48. 12. Isa. 37. 36. 2. mac. 8. 19.

41 O Lord, * because the messengers of King Sennacherib blasphemed thee, thine angel went forth, and slew an hundred fourescore and fiue thousand of them.

42 So destroy thou this host before vs to day, that all other may know that hee hath spoken wickedly against thy sanctuary, and punish him according to his malice.

43 So the armies ioyned together in battel, the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors host was discomfited, & he himselfe was first slaine in the battell.

44 Now when his armie saw that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons, and fled.

45 But they pursued after them a dayes iourney from Adasa vnto Gasera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.

46 So they came forth of all the townes of Judea round about, and rushed vpon them, and threw them from one to another, so that they all fell by the sword, and there was not one of them left.

47 Then they tooke the spoyles, and the pray, and smote off Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he held vp so proudly, and brought it with them, and hanged them vp afore Jerusalem.

48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnesse.

49 And they ordeined to keepe yerely that day on the thirteenth day of the moneth Adar.

50 Thus the land of Judah was in rest a little while.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas, considering the power and policie of the Romanes, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutuall friendship sent to the Iewes.

IUdas heard also the fame of the Romanes, that they were mighty and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were required of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them, Ioseph. Ant. 12. cap. 18.

2 And that they were men of great power, and they tolde him of their battels, and their worthy actes which they did among the || Galatians whom they had conquered, and made to pay tribute,

|| Or, Frenchmen.

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and gold,

4 And that by their counsel and gentle behauiour they were rulers in euery place, though the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited and giuen great ouerthrowes to the Kings that came against them, from the vttermost part of the earth, & that others gaue them tribute euery yeere,

5 How they had also discomfited by battell Philip and Perses kings of the || Macedonians and others that arose against them, & how they ouercame them,

|| Or, Citims.

6 And how great Antiochus King of Asia, that came against them in battell, hauing an hundreth and twenty Elephants, with horsemen and charets, and a very great army, was discomfited by them,

7 And how they tooke him aliue, and ordeined him, with such as should reigne after him, to pay a great tribute, and to giue hostages, and a seperate portion,

8 Euen the countrey of India, and Media, and Lydia, and of his best countreyes, which they tooke of him, and gaue them to King Eumenes.

9 Againe, when it was told them that the Grecians were comming to destroy them,

10 They sent against them a captaine, which gaue them battel, & slew many of them, and took many prisoners with their wiues and children, and spoyled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holds, and subdued them to be their bondmen vnto this day.

11 Moreouer, how they destroyed & brought into subiection other kingdomes and yles, whosoeuer had withstood them:

12 But that they kept amitie with their own friends, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that they conquered kingdomes, both farre and neere, insomuch that whosoeuer heard of their renowne was afraid of them.

13 For whom they would helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whom they would they put downe: thus were they in most high authoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, neither was clothed in purple, to bee magnified thereby,

15 But that they had ordeined themselues a Counsell, wherein three hundred and twentie men consulted daily, and prouided for the common affayres, to gouerne them well, 16 And that they committed their gouernement to one man euery yeere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whom euery man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enuy among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Eupolemus the son of John, the sonne of Accus, and Jason the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome, to make friendship and mutuall fellowship with them,

18 That they may take from them the yoke (for they saw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great iourney, and came into the ‖ Senate where they spake, and said,

‖ Or, Councell.

20 Judas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the Epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse, and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the peace and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea and by land for euer, and the sword and enemie be from them.

24 If there come first any war vpon the Romanes, or any of their friends throughout all their dominion, 25 The people of the Iewes shall help them, as the time shall bee appointed with all their heart.

‖ Or, the Romanes.

26 Also ‖ they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but ‖ they shall keepe their couenants without taking any thing of them.

‖ Or, the Iewes

27 Likewise also, if warre come first against the nation of the Iewes, the Romans shal helpe them with a good will, according as the time shalbe appointed them.

28 Neither shall wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor ships, as it pleaseth the Romans, who will keepe these couenants without deceit.

29 According to these Articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these points the one part, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde or take away, shalbe ratified.

31 And as touching the euil that Demetrius hath done vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thine heauy yoke vpon our friends, and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

1 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius sendeth his army against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Ionathan is put in the stead of his brother. 47 The battell betweene Ionathan and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palsie, and dieth. 68 He commeth vpon Ionathan by the counsell of certaine wicked persons, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Ionathan with Bacchides.

IN the meane season, when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor and his hoste had giuen the battell, hee sent Bacchides and Alcimus againe into Judea, and his chiefe ‖ strength with them.

Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 18.

‖ Or, the right horne.

2 So they went forth by the way that is toward Galgala, and pitched their tents before Masaloth, which is in Arbelis, and wan it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundred fiftie and two yeere, they layde their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they rayled their campe, and came to Berea with twenty thousand foot men, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Judas had pitched his tent at ‖ Eleazar, and three thousand chosen men with him.

‖ Or, Laisa.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the army was great, they were sore afrayd, and many conueyed themselues out of the hoste, so that there abode no more of them but eight hundred men.

7 When Judas saw that his host failed him, and that he must needes fight, he was sore troubled in mind that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Neuertheless, hee said vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and goe vp against our enemies, if peraduenture wee may be able to fight with them.

9 But they would haue stayed him, saying, Wee are not able: let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall wee fight against them that are so few?

10 Then Judas said, [a] God forbid, that wee should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time bee come, let vs die manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

a He that was wont to pray and ouercome, is ouercome when he trusteth in his strength, and omitteth prayer.

11 Then the hoste remoued out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threw with slings, & the archers marched in the foreward, and they that fought in the foreward were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drew nere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They of Judas side blew the trumpets also, and the earth shook at the noyse of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his army was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardy men, 15 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing, saw that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Judas behind, and them that were with him, hard at the heeles.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Judas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Simon tooke Judas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying, 21 How is the valiant man fallen, which deliuered Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Judas, both the battels & the valiant acts that hee did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 1. and 3.

23 ¶ Now after the death of Judas, wicked men came vp in all the coasts of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselues to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer themselues with them.

25 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friends together, and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and ‖ against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs,

‖ Or, against the enemies of our nation.

30 Therefore this day we chuse thee that thou mayest be our prince and captaine in his place to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, he sought for to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother perceiuing that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with all their company, and pitched their tents by the water poole of Asphar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, hee came ouer Jorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 (Now had Jonathan sent his brother Iohn a captaine of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they would keepe their baggage which was much.

‖ Or, Iambri.

36 But the children of ‖ Ambri came out of Medaba, and tooke John, and all that hee had, and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great mariage, and brought the bride from ‖ Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest Princes of Canaan.

‖ Or, Nadabath.

38 Therefore they remembred John their brother, and went vp and hid themselues vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friendes and his brethren met them with tymbrels and instruments of musicke, and many weapons.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush rose vp against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they tooke all their spoyles.

41 Thus the mariage was turned to mourning, and the noise of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Jorden.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Jorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his company, Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies: for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battel is before vs, and behind vs, and the water of Jorden on this side & that side, and the marise and forest, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore cry now vnto heauen, that yee may bee deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but hee turned aside from him and reculed.

48 Then Jonathan and they that were with him leapt into Jorden, and swimmed ouer vnto the further banke: but the other would not passe through Jorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Jerusalem, and built vp the strong cities in Juda, as the castle of Jericho, and Emmaus, and Bethoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, ‖ Pharathoni, and ‖ Tepho, with hie walles, with gates, and with barres, ‖ Or, Pharathon. ‖ Or, Thopo.

51 And set garisons in them, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the citie Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castle, and set a garison in them with prouision of victuals.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castle at Jerusalem to be kept.

54 ¶ Afterward in the hundreth fiftie and three yeere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commanded that the walles of the inner court of the Sanctuary should be destroyed, and he pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterprises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palsie, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus dyed Alcimus with great torment at the same time.

57 And when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, hee turned againe to the king, and so the lande of Juda was in rest two yeeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsel, saying, Behold, Jonathan and his company dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and hee will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Judea, to take Jonathan, and those that were with him: but they could not, for their counsell was knowen vnto them.

‖Or, Ionathan 61 And a they toke fifty men of the countrey, which were the chiefe workers of this wickednesse, and slew them.

62 ¶ Then Jonathan & Simon with their ‖Or, Bethbessen. company departed vnto ‖ Beth-basin, which is in the wildernesse, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Bacchides knew this, hee gathered all his hoste, and sent worde to them that were of Judea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Beth-basin, and fought against it a long season, & made instruments of warre.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the citie, and went foorth into the countrey, and came with a certaine number.

‖Or, Odares. 66 And slew ‖ Odomeras and his brethren, and the children of Phasiron in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the city, & burnt vp the instruments of warre, 68 And fought against Bacchides, and discomfited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsell and iourney was in vaine.

b Wicked counsell falleth on the counsellers. 69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, b that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, and slew many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, hee sent ambassadours vnto him, to entreate of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, & did according to his desire, and made an othe, that hee would neuer doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee restored vnto him the prisoners that hee had taken aforetime out of the land of Juda, and so returned and went into his owne land, neither did hee come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Ionathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slaine. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus and Alexander.

Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 2. 3. IN the hundreth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes and tooke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, hee gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Jonathan, with louing words, as though hee would preferre him.

4 For he said, We will first make peace with him, before he ioyne with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he will remember all the euill that we haue done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so hee gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commaunded the hostages that were in the castle, to bee deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therefore they were sore afraid, because they heard that the King had giuen him license to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castle, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Jerusalem, and began to build and repaire the city.

11 And he commanded the workmen to build the walles, and the mount Sion round about with hewen stone to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castles which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euery man left his place, & went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certaine which had forsaken the Law and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble acts, which hee and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had endured, 16 He sayd, Might wee finde such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Upon this hee wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him with these words, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 Wee haue heard of thee that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordaine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nation, and to be called the Kings friend: (and hee sent him a purple robe, and a ‖ crowne of golde,) that thou mayst ‖ consider what is for our profit, and keepe friendship toward vs. ‖Or, mitre. ‖Or, take our part.

21 So in the seuenth moneth of the hundreth and threescore yeere, vpon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment and gathered an hoste, and prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 3. marueilous sory, and sayd, 23 What haue we done that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Jewes for his strength?

24 Yet wil I write and exhort them, and promise them dignities and rewards that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon hee wrote vnto them these words, KING DEMETRIVS vnto the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioyned with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and keepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And wil release you of many charges, and giue you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sakes all the Jewes from tributes, and free you from the customes customes of salt, and the crown taxes, and from the third part of the seed.

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the trees which is mine owne duety, I so release them, that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Juda, or of the three gouernments, which are added thereunto, as of Samaria and of Galile, [a] from this day forth for euermore.

a And of the countrey beyond Iorden, as Iosephus writeth.

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall bee holy and free from the tenths and tributes.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Jerusalem, and giue it vnto the hie Priest, that he may set in it such men, as he shal chuse to keepe it.

33 Moreouer I freely deliuer euery one of the Jewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Juda throughout all my realme, and euery one of them shalbe free from tributes, yea, euen their cattell.

34 And all the feasts, and Sabbaths, and new moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedome and liberty for all the Jewes in my realme.

35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to vexe any of them in any maner of cause.

36 Also thirty thousand of the Jewes shall be written vp in the Kings hoste, and haue their wages payed them as appertaineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of them shall be ordeined certaine to keepe the Kings strong holds.

37 And some of them shall bee set ouer the Kings most secret affaires, and their gouernors and their princes shalbe of themselues, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the King hath commanded in the land of Juda.

38 And the three gouernments that are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria, shall be ioyned vnto Judea, and they shall be as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the high Priest.

39 And I giue Ptolemais and the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy things.

40 Moreouer, I will giue euery yeere fifteene thousand sickles of siluer of the Kings reuenues, out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the works of the Temple.

42 And besides this, the fiue thousand sickles of siluer which they receiued yeerely of the accompt appointed for the entertainment of the Sanctuary, these yeeres passed, euen these things shall be released, because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whosoeuer they be that flee vnto the Temple at Jerusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indebted to the king for any maner of thing, they shall be pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the works of the Sanctuary, expences shalbe giuen of the kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the holds in Judea may build vp, shall also the costs be giuen out of the kings reuenues.

46 ¶ But when Jonathan and the people heard these words, they gaue no credite vnto them, neither receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednesse that he had done in Israel, and how sore he had vexed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had intreated of true peace with them, and so were confederate with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great hoste, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battel: but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him and preuailed against them.

50 So that sore battell continued till the Sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 ¶ Then Alexander sent Ambassadours vnto Ptolemeus the king of Egypt, with these words, saying, Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 6.

52 For so much as I am come againe to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, & haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioy my countrey,

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, and I sit in the throne of his kingdome, 54 Let vs now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewards, and vnto her things according to thy dignity.

55 Then Ptolemeus the king gaue answere, saying, Happy be the day wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of their kingdome.

56 Now therefore will I fulfill thy writing: but meet me at Ptolemais, that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemeus went out of Egypt, with his daughter Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemais in the hundreth threescore and two yeere, 58 Where king Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glory, as the maner of kings is.

59 ¶ Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come and meet him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemais, and there he met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of siluer and gold, and to their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine pestilent fellowes of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple, and so they did: and the king appointed him to sit by him, 63 And said vnto his Princes, Goe with him into the mids of the citie, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any maner of cause.

64 So when his accusers saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that hee was clothed in purple, they fled all away.

65 And the king preferred him to honour, and wrote wrote him among his chiefe friends, and made him a duke and partaker of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladnesse.

67 ¶ In the hundreth threescore and five yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Creta into his fathers land.

68 Whereof when king Alexander heard, he was very sory, and returned vnto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Coelosyria, who gathered a great host, and camped in Jamnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the high Priest, saying, 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why doest thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then, if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field, and there let vs try the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 Aske and learne who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your foot is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chased in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an host of horsemen and footmen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moued in his mind: wherfore he chose ten thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And hee pitched his tents at Joppe: but they shut him out of the city: for Apollonius garison was in Joppe.

76 Then they fought against it: and they that were in the citty, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wan Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tooke three thousand horsemen, with a great host of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came immediatly into the plaine field, because he had so many horsmen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere band.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behind them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behind him, and though they had compassed in his host, and shot darts at the people from the morning to the euening, 81 Yet the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their horses were weary.

82 Then brought Simon forth his host, and set them against the band: but the horses were weary, and he discomfited them, and they fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field, 83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there saue themselues.

84 But Jonathan set fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, and tooke their spoiles, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon, with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the host from thence, and camped by Askalon, where the men of the city came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this went Jonathan and his host againe to Jerusalem with great spoiles.

88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he began to doe Jonathan more honour, 89 And sent him a collar of gold, as the vse is to bee giuen vnto such as are of the kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The dissention betweene Ptolemeus and Alexander his sonne in law. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemeus. 22 Sion is besieged of Jonathan. 42 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie againe. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the King of Egypt gathered a great host, like the sand that lieth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdome of Alexander, and to ioyne it with his owne Realme. Iosephi Ant. 13. cap. 7.

2 Vpon this he went into Syria with friendly words, and was let into the cities, and men came forth to meete him: for king Alexander had commanded them to meet him, because hee was his father in law.

3 Now when hee entred into the citie of Ptolemais, he left bands and garisons in euery city.

4 And when he came neere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that he had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where hee should passe,

5 And they told the King what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him euill will: but the king held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the king with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the king vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So king Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander, 9 ¶ And sent ambassadours vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betweene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander, as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And he tooke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly knowen.

13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:

15 But

15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, and Ptolemeus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.

17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it vnto Ptolemeus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemeus died, and they that were in the holds, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundred threescore and seuen yere.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege vnto the castle which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which hated their owne people) vnto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediatly came vnto Ptolemais, and wrote vnto Jonathan, that he should lay no more siege vnto it, but that he should meet him, and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.

23 Neuertheless, when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: hee chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priestes, and put himselfe in danger, 24 And tooke with him siluer and gold, and apparell, and diuers presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and found fauour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation had made complaints vpon him,

26 Yet the king intreated him as his predecessors had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends, 27 And confirmed him in the hie Priesthood with all the honorable things that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the king þ he would make Judea free with the three gouernements and the countrey of Samaria, and Ionathan promised him three hundreth talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gaue Jonathan writing of the same, conteining these words.

30 KING DEMETRIVS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes sendeth greeting.

31 Wee send you heere a copie of the letter, which we did write vnto our cousin Lasthenes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius vnto Lasthenes his father sendeth greeting.

33 For the faithfulnesse that our friends the nation of the Jewes keepe vnto vs, and for their good will toward vs, we are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Judea, with the three gouernments, Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Judea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that appertaineth to all them that sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concerning the payments which the King tooke yerely afore time, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things pertaining vnto vs of the tenths and tributes which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salt, and crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge them of all from henceforth.

36 And nothing hereof shalbe reckoned from this time forth and for euer.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copy of these things, and deliuer it vnto Jonathan, that it may be set vp vpon the holy Mount in an open place.

38 After this, when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his host, euery man to his own place, except certaine bands of strangers, whom he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders part afore, which when hee saw that all the hoste murmured against Demetrius, he went to ‖ Simalcue the Arabian, that brought vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander, [Or, Emalcuel.

40 And lay fore vpon him, to deliuer him this young Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers stead: he told him also what great euill Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent vnto king Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castle at Jerusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they fought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent vnto Jonathan, saying, I wil not only doe these things for thee and thy nation, but if opportunity serue, I will honor thee and thy nation.

43 Now therefore thou shalt doe mee a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to help me: for all mine army is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the king: wherefore the king was very glad at their comming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the city, euen an hundred and twenty thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the city, and would haue slaine the king.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the city, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him all together, and went abroad thorow the city, 48 And slew the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire vpon the city, and tooke many spoiles in that day, and deliuered the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Iewes had gotten the vpper hand of the city, and that they themselues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the king, saying,

50 ‖ Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the city. [Or, giue vs the right hand.

51 So they cast away their weapons, & made peace, and the Iewes were greatly honoured before the King, and before all that were in his realme, and they came again to Jerusalem with great pray.

52 Then king Demetrius sate in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Neuertheles, he dissembled in all that euer he he spake, and withdrew himself from Jonathan, neither did he reward him according to þ benefits which he had done for him, but troubled him very sore.

54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then there gathered vnto him al the men of warre whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled, and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon toke the || beasts, and wan Antiochia. ||Or, Elephants.

57 And young Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, saying, I appoint thee to be þ chiefe priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernements that thou mayest be a friend of þ Kings.

58 Upon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, & gaue him leaue to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, and to haue a collar of golde.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth, and passed thorow the cities beyond the flood, & all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to help him: so he came vnto Ascalon, and they of the citie receiued him honorably.

61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore hee layde siege vnto it, & burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoyled them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and toke of the sons of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Jerusalem, and went thorow the countrey vnto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey, 64 Hee came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shut it vp.

66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he granted them, & afterward put them out from thence, and toke the city, and set a garison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his host came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.

68 And behold, the hostes of the || strangers met him in the plaine, & had layd ambushments for him in the mountaines. ||Or, heathen.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Jonathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of ||Absalomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphi the Captaines of the hoste. ||Or, Abessalomus.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled saw this, they turned againe vnto him, and helped him to follow after all vnto their tents at Cades, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about three thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Jerusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan sendeth ambassadours to Rome, 2 and to the people of Sparta, to renew their couenant of friendship. 24 Jonathan putteth to flight the Princes of Demetrius. 40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by deceit.

JOnathan now seeing that the time was meete for him, chose certaine men, & sent them vnto Rome, to establish & renew the friendship with them.

2 He sent letters also vnto the || Spartians, and to other places for the same purpose. ||Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 8.

3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Jonathan the high Priest and the nation of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of loue, as in times past. ||Or, Lacedæmonians.

4 So the Romanes gaue them free passports, that men should leade them home into the land of Juda peaceably.

5 ¶ AND THIS is the copy of the letters that Jonathan wrote vnto the Spartians, 6 Jonathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priests, and the rest of people of the Iewes, send greeting vnto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest from || Arius, which then reigned among you, that you would be our brethren, as the copy hereunder written specifieth. Ioseph. Ant. 12. chap. 5. ||Or, Darius.

8 And Onias intreated the ambassador honourably, and receiued the letters: wherin there was mention made of the bond of loue & friendship.

9 But as for vs, we need no such writings: for wee haue the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Neuertheless, we thought it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest wee should be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherfore we remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meet and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we haue bene inuironed with great troubles and warres, so that the kings round about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet would we not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and wee are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius the son of Antiochus, and Antipater the son of Jason, and sent them vnto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 We commaunded them also to goe vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And

18 And now ye shall doe vs a pleasure to giue vs an answere of these things.

19 ¶ And this was the copy of the Letters, which Arius the king of Sparta sent vnto Onias.

20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the high Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, yee shall doe well to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.

23 As for vs wee haue written vnto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue wee commanded to bee shewed vnto you.

24 ¶ Now when Ionathan heard that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater host then afore, 25 Hee went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for hee gaue them not space to come into his owne countrey.

26 And hee sent spies vnto their tents, which came againe and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.

27 Wherefore, when the Sunne was gone downe, Ionathan commaunded his men to watch, and to be in armes readie to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the host.

28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was readie with his men to the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Neuertheless Ionathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Ionathan followed vpon them, but he could not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Ionathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Zabedei, and slew them, and tooke their spoile.

32 Hee proceeded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went thorow all the countrey.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Ascalon, and to the next holds, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

34 For hee heard that they would deliuer the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore he set a garison there to keepe it.

35 ¶ After this came Ionathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to build vp the strong holds in Iudea, 36 And to make the walles of Ierusalem higher, and to make a great mount betwixt the castle and the citie, for to separate it from the citie that it might bee alone, and that men should neither buy, nor sell in it.

37 So they came together to build vp the city: for part of the wall vpon the brooke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

38 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and barres.

39 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to be crowned when hee had slaine the king Antiochus.

40 But he was afraid that Ionathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Ionathan, & to kill him: so he departed and came vnto Bethsan.

41 Then went Ionathan forth against him to the battell with fourtie thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Ionathan came with so great an host, hee durst not lay hand vpon him,

43 But receiued him honourably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewards, and commaunded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him, as to himselfe,

44 And sayd vnto Ionathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take such trauaile, seeing there is no warre betweene vs?

45 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certaine men to waite vpon thee, and come thou with mee to Ptolemais: For I will giue it thee, with the other strong holds, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the common affaires: so will I returne, and depart: for this is the cause of my comming.

46 Ionathan beleeued him, and did as hee sayd, and sent away his host, which went into the land of Iuda, 47 And retained but three thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galilee, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 Now as soone as Ionathan entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and tooke him, & slew all them with the sword, that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an host of footemen and horsemen into Galilee, and into the great plaine to destroy all Ionathans company.

50 But when they knew that Ionathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed vpon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Ionathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, Now haue they no captaine, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Ionathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon, taking his children and money for the redemption of Ionathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possesseth the towre of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

NOw when Symon heard that Tryphon gathered a great host to come into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 9.

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, hee came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortation, saying, Yee know

Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 9.

know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house haue done for the Law, and the Sanctuary, and the battels, and troubles that we haue seene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will auenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our wiues and our children: for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy vs of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindled,

8 So that they cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Thou shalt be our captaine in stead of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we will doe it.

10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making hast to finish the walles of Jerusalem, and fortified it round about.

11 Then sent he Jonathan the sonne of Absalomus with a great host vnto Joppe, which drone them out that were therein, and remained there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also remooued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the land of Juda, and Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

13 And Simon pitched his tents at ‖ Addis vpon the open plaine. ‖ Or, Adam.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood vp in stead of his brother Jonathan, and that he would fight against him, he sent messengers vnto him, saying,

15 Whereas we haue kept Jonathan thy brother, it is for money that hee is owing in ỳ kings accompt concerning the businesse that he had in hand.

16 Wherefore send now an hundreth talents of siluer, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten foorth hee will not turne from vs, and we will send him againe.

17 Neuertheless Simon knew that hee dissembled in his wordes, yet commaunded hee the money and children to bee deliuered vnto him, lest he should be in greater hatred of the people of Israel:

18 Who might haue sayd, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So hee sent the children and an hundreth talents: but hee dissembled and would not let Jonathan goe.

20 ¶ Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but whersoeuer they went, thither went Simon and his host.

21 Now they that were in the castle sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that hee should make haste to come by the wilderneſſe, and to send them vittailes.

22 So Tryphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not, because of the snow: but hee remoued and went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came neere to Baskama, hee slew Jonathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his owne land.

25 Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Modin his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation, and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto of hewen stone behind and before,

28 And set vp seuen pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren, 29 And set great pillars round about them, and set armes vpon the pillars for a perpetuall memory, and carued shippes beside the armes, that they might bee seene of men sayling in the Sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.

31 ¶ Now as Tryphon went foorth with the young King Antiochus, he slew him traiterously, Ioseph. Ant. 13. chap. 10.

32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe King of Asia, & brought a great plague vpon the land.

33 Simon also built vp the castles of Judea, and compassed them about with high towres, and great walles, euen with towres, and gates, and barres, and layd vp vittailes in the strong holds.

34 Moreouer, Simon chose certaine men and sent them to king Demetrius, that he would discharge the land: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the king answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner, 36 DEMETRIVS the King vnto Simon the hie Priest and the friend of Kings, and to the Elders, and to the nation of the Iewes, sendeth greeting. ‖ Or, Gaza.

37 The golden crowne, and ‖ paccions stone that yee sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers to release you of the things wherein we made you free. ‖ Or, collar, or bandricke: in Greeke Baiten, or baten.

38 So the things that we haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holds which yee haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 Also we forgiue the ouersights, and faults committed vnto this day: and the crowne tare that yee ought vs, and whereas was any other tribute in Jerusalem, it shall be now no tribute.

40 And they that are meete among you to bee written with our men, let them bee written vp, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken from Israel in the hundreth and seuenty yeere.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters and publike instruments, IN THE FIRST yeere of Simon, the high and chiefe Priest, gouernour and Prince of the Iewes.

43 In those dayes Simon camped against Gaza, and besieged it round about, where hee set vp an engine of warre, and approached neere the citie, and beat a tower and tooke it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was a great trouble in the city.

45 In so much that the people of the citie, rent their clothes, and climed vp vpon the walles with with their wiues, and children, and cried with a loud voyce, beseeching Simon to grant them peace, saying, 46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednesse, but according to thy mercie.

47 Then Simon pitied them, & would fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and clensed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred therunto with Psalmes and thankesgiuing.

48 So when he had cast all the filthinesse out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now, when they in the castle at Jerusalem were kept, that they could not come forth nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death,

50 In so much that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he granted them, and put them out from thence, and cleansed the castle from filthinesse.

51 And vpon the three and twenty day of the second moneth, in the hundreth seuenty and one yeere they entred into it with thanksgiuing, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with violes, & with Psalmes, and songs, because the great enemie of Israel was ouercome.

52 And he ordained that the same day should be kept euery yeere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was besides the castle, where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that John his sonne was now a man, he made him captaine of all the hosts, and caused him to dwell in ‖ Gazaris.

‖ Or, Gaza.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius is ouercome of Arsaces. 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnesse in Israel 18 The couenant of friendship with the Romans, and with the people of Sparta is renewed.

IN the hundreth seuentie and two yeere, gathered king Demetrius his hoste, and departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

2 But when Arsaces the king of Persia and Media heard that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him aliue.

3 So hee went and ouercame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Arsaces which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he sought the wealth of his nation: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to do him worship alway.

5 Simon also wan the citie of Joppe to his great honour, to be an hauen towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 He gathered vp many of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castle, which he cleansed from filthinesse, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that euery man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her fruits, and the trees gaue their fruit.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the Common wealth, and the yong men were honourably clothed and armed.

10 He prouided vitailes for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious fame was renowmed vnto the end of the world.

11 He made peace thorowout the land, and Israel had perfit mirth and ioy.

12 For euery man sate vnder his vine, and the fig trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the kings were ouercome.

14 He helped all those that were in aduersity among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and he tooke away the vngodly and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuary, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romans heard, and the Spartians had knowledge that Jonathan was dead, they were very sory.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made high Priest in his stead, and how he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it,

18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renew the friendship and bond of loue, which they had made with Judas and Jonathan his brethren, 19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent.

20 THE SENATORS and city of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priestes, and to the residue of the people of the Jewes their brethren send greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glory and honour, we were glad of their comming, 22 And haue registred their ambassage in the publike records in this maner, NVMENIVS the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Jason, the Jewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should be registred in the publike records, that it might bee for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta, and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people vnderstood, they sayd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue stablished Israel, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentieth day of the moneth ‖ Elul, ‖ August. in the hundreth seuenty and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the hie Priest,

28 In

28 In Saramel in the great congregation of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nation, and of the elders of the countrey, we would signifie vnto you, that many battels haue been fought in our countrey, 29 Wherin Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Iarib) and his brethren put themselues in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and Law might be maintained, and did their nation great honour.

30 For Ionathan gathered his nation together, and became their high Priest, and is laide with his people.

31 After that would their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuary.

32 Then Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gaue them wages.

33 Yea fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Bethsura that lieth vpon the borders of Iudea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.

34 And he fortified Ioppe, which lieth vpon the sea, and ‖ Gazara that bordereth vpon Azotus (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, & furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof.

35 Now when the people saw the faithfulnesse of Simon, and to what glory he thought to bring his nation vnto, they made him their gouernour and the chiefe Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the vprightnesse and fidelitie that hee had kept to his nation and that sought by all meanes to exalt his people.

36 For in his time they prospered wel by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the city of Dauid at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuary, and did great hurt vnto religion.

37 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land and citie, and raised vp the walles of Ierusalem.

38 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his hie Priesthood for these causes, 39 And made him one of his friends, & gaue him great honour.

40 For it was reported that the Romanes called the Iewes their friends and confederats, and that they honourably receiued Simons ambassadours,

41 And that the Priests and Iewes consented that Simon should be their Prince and high Priest perpetually, till God raised vp the true Prophet,

42 And that he should be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuary, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the Countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the fortresses, and that should make prouision for the holy things,

43 And that he should be obeied of euery man, and that all the writings in the countrey should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and weare gold,

44 And that it should not bee lawfull for any of the people, or Priests to breake any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the countrey without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a collar of gold:

45 And if any did contrary to these things, or breake any of them, he should be punished.

46 So it pleased all the people to agree that it should be done to Simon according vnto these words.

47 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captaine, and the Prince of the Iewes and of the Priests, and to be the chiefe of all.

48 And they commaunded to set vp this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuary in an open place, 49 And that a copy of the same should be laid vp in the treasurie, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a couenant of friendship with Simon. 11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romans write letters vnto kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes. 27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his couenant.

MOreouer, King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the yles of the sea, vnto Simon the priest and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Concerning these words, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Iewes, sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certaine pestilent men haue vsurped the kingdome of our Fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared ships of warre,

4 That I may goe through the countrey, and bee auenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted many cities in the realme.

5 Now therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the Kings my progenitors haue discharged thee, and all the payments, whereof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Ierusalem and the Sanctuary be free, and that all the weapons that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepest in thine hands, shall bee thine,

8 And all that is due vnto the King, and all that shall bee due vnto the King, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when wee haue obtained our kingdome, we will giue thee and thy nation, and the temple great honour, so that your honour shall be knowen thorow the world.

10 ¶ In the hundreth, seuenty and foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bands came together vnto him, so that few were left with Tryphon. Ioseph. Ant. 13. cap. 11.

11 So the king Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Dora, which lieth by the sea side.

12 For hee saw that troubles were toward him,

‖ Or, Gaza, or Gazaris.

him, and that the army had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dora with an hundreth and twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the citie about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the city by lande, and by sea, insomuch that they suffered no man to go in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, and his company from Rome, having letters written vnto the kings and countreys, wherein were contained these words, 16 LVCIVS the Consul of Rome vnto king Ptolomeus sendeth greeting.

17 The ambassadours of the Iewes are come vnto vs as our friends and confederates from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Iewes, to renew friendship, and the bond of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shield of gold weighing a thousand pound.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the kings and countries, that they should not go aboue to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their country, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there be any pestilent felowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, And to Attalus, And to Arathes, and to Arsaces.

23 And to all the countreys, as Sampsames, and to them of Sparta, and to ‖ Delus, and to Mindus, & to Sycion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Coos, and to Side, and to Cortina, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copy of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second time euer ready to take it, and made diuers engines of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither go in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer and golde, and much furniture.

27 Nevertheless, he would not receiue them, but brake all the couenant, which hee had made with him afore, and withdrewe himselfe from him.

28 And sent vnto him, Athenobius one of his friends, to commune with him, saying, Yee withhold Joppe, and Gazara, with the castle that is at Jerusalem, the citie of my Realme.

29 Whose borders yee haue destroyed & done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernment of many places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Judea.

31 Or else giue me for them fiue hundreth talents of siluer, and for the harme that yee haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fiue hundreth talents: if not, we will come and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Jerusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the cupbord of gold and siluer plate, and so great preparation, he was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and sayde vnto him, We haue neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which appertaineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, we recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And whereas thou ‖ requirest Joppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and thorow our countrey, yet will wee giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word, 36 But turned againe angry vnto the King, and told him all these words, and the dignitie of Simon with all that he had seene: and the king was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship vnto Dorhotias.

38 Then the king made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bands of footmen and horsemen, 39 And commanded him to remoue the hoste toward Judea, and to builde vp Cedron, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the King pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Jamnia, and began to vexe the people, and to inuade Judea, and to take the people prisoners, & to slay them.

41 And he built vp Cedron, where he set horsemen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the wayes of Judea, as the King had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banket. 25 Iohn killeth them that lie in wait for his life.

Then came John vp from Gazara, and tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Judas and John, and said vnto them, I and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, and we haue deliuered Israel often times.

3 But I am now olde, and yee by Gods mercy are of a sufficient age: be yee therefore in stead of me and my brother, & goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So he chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebeus and rested at Modin.

5 In the morning they arose, and went into the plaine field: and behold, a mighty great hoste came against them both of footemen, and horsemen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And John ranged his armie ouer against him, and when hee sawe that the people was afraide to goe ouer the riuer, hee went ouer first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed thorowe after him.

7 Then he diuided his men, and set the horsemen in the mids of the footmen.

8 For their enemies horsemen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets Cendebeus fled with his hoste: whereof many were slaine, and the remnant gat them to the fortresse.

9 Then was Judas Johns brother wounded: but John followed after them, till he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they fled vnto the towers, that were in the fields of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fire: thus were there slaine two thousand men of them, so he returned peaceably into the land of Juda.

11 ¶ Now in the field of Jericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 (For he had married the daughter of the hie Priest)

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his minde, and thought to rule the lande, & thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thorowe the cities of the countrey, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Jericho with Mattathias, and Judas his sonnes in the hundreth, seuentie and seuen yeere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a litle hold called Dochus, which he had built, where he made them a great banket, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon & his sonnes had made good cheere, Ptolomeus stood vp with his men and tooke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banket house, and slew him with his two sonnes and certaine of his seruants.

17 Whereby he committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolomeus these things and sent to the king, that he might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take John, & sent letters vnto the captaines to come to him, and hee would giue them siluer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Jerusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ran before, and told John in Gazara, that his father, & his brother were slaine, and that Ptolomeus had send to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and layd hands on them that were come to slay him, and slew them: for he knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of John, both of his warres, and of his noble acts (wherein he behaued himselfe manfully) of ỳ building of wals which he made, and other of his deeds, 24 Beholde, they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thankes for the death of Antiochus. 19. Of the fire that was hid in the pit. 24. The prayer of Neemias.

THE brethren the Jewes which be at Jerusalem, & they that are in the countrey of Judea, vnto the brethren the Jewes that are thorowout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.

2 God be gracious vnto you, and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob his faithfull seruants,

3 And giue you all an heart to worship him, and to doe his will with a whole heart and with a willing minde,

4 And open your hearts in his Lawe & commandements, and send you peace,

5 And heare your prayers, and bee reconciled with you, & neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned in the hundreth threescore and ninth yeere, we Jewes wrote vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto vs in those yeeres, after that Jason and his company departed out of the holy lande and kingdome,

8 And burnt the porch, & shed innocent blood. Then wee prayed vnto the Lord, & were heard: we offered sacrifice and fine floure, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe yee the dayes of the feast of the tabernacles in the moneth Chasleu.

10 ¶ In the hundreth, fourescore and eight yeere, the people that was at Jerusalem, & in Judea, and the counsell, and Judas, vnto Aristobulus king Ptolomeus master, which is of the stocke of the anointed Priests, and to the Jewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Inasmuch as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, wee thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the King.

12 For he brought them into Persia by heaps that fought against the holy citie.

13 For albeit the captaine and the armie that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the Temple of Nanea, by the deceit of Nanea Priests.

14 For Antiochus as though he would dwell with her, came thither, hee and his friends with him to receiue money vnder the title of a dowry.

15 But when the priests of Nanea had laid it forth, and he was entred with a small company within the temple, they shut the temple, when Antiochus was come in.

16 And by opening a priuy doore of the vaut, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpo the captaine and his, and hauing bruised them in pieces they cut off their heads, and threw them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in al things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.

18 Whereas wee are now purposed to keepe the a That is to say, a shining fire: it is also called Nephi, or Nephtar, which is a cleansing.

the purification of the temple vpon the fiue and twentie day of the moneth Chaſleu, we thought it neceſſary to certifie you thereof, that yee alſo might keepe the feaſt of the Tabernacles, and of the fire which was giuen vs when Neemias offered ſacrifice, after that hee had built the Temple and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were ledde away vnto Perſia, the Prieſts, which ſought the honour of God, tooke the * fire of the altar priuily, and hid it in a hollow pit, which was drie in the bottome, and therein they kept it, ſo that the place was vnknowen vnto euery man. Leuit. 6. 13. & 10. 2. & 16. 12.

20 Now after many yeeres when it pleaſed God that Neemias ſhould bee ſent from the king of Perſia, hee ſent of the poſteritie of thoſe Prieſts, which had hid it, to fetch the fire, and as they tolde vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commaunded hee them to drawe it vp, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the ſacrifices were brought, Neemias commaunded the Prieſts to ſprinkle the wood, and the things layd thereupon, with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the Sunne ſhone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, ſo that euery man marueiled.

23 Now the Prieſts, and all prayed, while the ſacrifice was conſuming: Jonathan began: and the other anſwered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this manner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art fearefull and ſtrong, and righteous, and mercifull, and the onely and gracious King,

25 Onely liberall, onely iuſt and Almightie and euerlaſting, thou that deliuereſt Iſrael from all trouble, and haſt choſen the fathers and ſanctified them, 26 Receiue the ſacrifice for thy whole people of Iſrael, and preſerue thine owne portion, and ſanctifie it.

27 Gather thoſe together, that are ſcattered from vs: deliuer them that ſerue among the heathen: looke vpon them that are deſpiſed, and abhorred, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Puniſh them that oppreſſe vs, and with pride doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place, * as Moyſes hath ſpoken. Deut. 30. 5.

30 And the Prieſts ſang Pſalmes thereunto.

31 Now when the ſacrifice was conſumed, Neemias commaunded the great ſtones to bee ſprinkled with the reſidue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was conſumed by the light, that ſhined from the altar.

33 ¶ So when this matter was knowen, it was told the King of Perſia, that in the place where the Prieſts, which were led away, had hid fire, there appeared water, wherewith Neemias and his company had purified the ſacrifices.

34 The king tryed out the thing, and cloſed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king fauoured, hee gaue and beſtowed many gifts.

36 And Neemias called the ſame place † Eph-thar, which is to ſay, purification: but many men call it Nephthar.

† That is to ſay, a ſhining fire alſo called Nephi, or Nephthar, which is a cleanſing.

CHAP. II.

4 How Ieremie hid the Tabernacle, the Arke and the Altar in the hill. 23 Of the fine bookes of Iaſon conteined in one.

IT is found alſo in the writings of Jeremias the Prophet, that he commanded them which were carted away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commanded them that were led into captiuitie,

2 * Giuing them a lawe, that they ſhould not forget the commandements of the Lord, and that they ſhould not erre in their mindes, when they ſaw images of golde and ſiluer, with their ornaments. Baruch 6.

3 Theſe and ſuch other things commaunded he them, and exhorted them that they ſhould not let the law goe out of their hearts.

4 It is written alſo, how the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Arke, & follow him: and when hee came vp into the mountaine where Moyſes went vp, * and ſaw the heritage of God, Deut. 34. 1.

5 Jeremias went forth, and found an hollow caue, wherein hee layd the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the altar of incenſe, and ſo ſtopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of thoſe that followed him, to marke the place: but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Jeremias perceiued, hee reproued them, ſaying, As for that place, it ſhall bee vnknowen, vntill the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercy bee ſhewed.

8 Then ſhall the Lorde ſhewe them theſe things, and the maieſty of the Lord ſhall appeare and the cloud alſo, as it was ſhewed vnder Moyſes, and as * when Salomon deſired, that the place might be honourably ſanctified. 1. King. 8. 14, 23, 30. 2. chro 6. 21.

9 For it is manifeſt that hee, being a wiſe man, offered the * ſacrifice of dedication, and conſecration of the Temple. 1. Kin 8 62, 65. 2. chron. 7. 4, 5.

10 * And as when Moyſes prayed vnto the Lord, the fire came downe from heauen, and conſumed the ſacrifice: ſo when Salomon prayed, * the fire came downe from heauen, and conſumed the burnt offering. Leuit. 9. 24. and 10. 16. 2. Chron. 7. 1.

11 And Moyſes ſayd, becauſe the ſinne offering was not eaten, therefore it is conſumed.

12 So Salomon kept thoſe eight dayes.

13 Theſe things alſo are declared in the writings and regiſters of ‖ Neemias, and how hee made a library, and how hee gathered the actes of the Kings, and the Prophets, and the actes of Dauid, and the epiſtles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts. ‖ Some reade Ieremie.

14 Euen ſo Judas alſo gathered all things that came to paſſe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if yee haue neede thereof, ſend ſome to fetch them vnto you.

16 Whereas wee then are about to celebrate the purification, wee haue written vnto you, and ye ſhall doe well, if ye keepe the ſame dayes.

17 Wee hope alſo that the God which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all, and the kingdome, and the Prieſthood, hood and the Sanctuary,

Deut. 30.5. 18 *As he promised in the Law, will shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabeus and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedication of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne, 21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stood for the Iewes religion: (for though they were but few, yet they ran through whole countreyes, and pursued the barbarous armies.

22 And repayred the Temple that was renowmed throughout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie.)

23 Wee will assay to abridge in one volume those things that Iason the Cyrenian hath declared in fiue bookes.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficultie that they haue that would bee occupied in the rehearsall of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 Wee haue endeuoured, that they that would read, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and that whosoeuer read them, might haue profit.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweat and watching.

27 Like as hee that maketh a feast, & seeketh other mens commoditie hath no small labour: so wee also for many mens sakes are very well content to vndertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the authour the exact diligence of euery particular, wee will labour to goe forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as hee that will builde a newe house, must prouide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the plat, or goeth about to paint it, seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a story to enter deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in euery part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to vse few words, & to auoyd those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then will we begin the story, adding thus much to our former words, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in wordes before the storie, and to be short in the story.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the honour done to the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon vttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away. 26 Hee is striken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

WHat time as the holy city was inhabited with all peace, and when the lawes were very well kept, because of the godlinesse of Onias the high Priest, and hatred of wickednesse,

2 It came to passe that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 In so much that Seleucus King of Asia, of his owne rents, bare all the costs belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Beniamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning the iniquity committed in the citie. (Or, the state & promise.)

5 And when he could not ouercome Onias, hee gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas which then was gouernour of Coelosyria, and Phenice,

6 And told him that the treasurie in Ierusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into the kings hands.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the King, and had shewed him of the money, as it was told him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commaundement, to bring him the foresayd money.

8 Immediatly Heliodorus tooke his iourney as though he would visite the cities of Coelosyria and Phenice, but in effect to fulfill the kings purpose.

9 So when hee came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the citie, he declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his comming, and asked if these things were so indeed.

10 Then the hie Priest told him that there were such things layd vp by the widowes and fatherlesse, 11 And that a certaine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundreth talents of siluer, and two hundreth of gold.

12 And that it were altogether impossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holinesse of the place and Temple, which is honoured throughout the whole world for holinesse and integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commandement giuen him, sayd that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasurie.

14 So he appointed a day, & went in to take order for these things: then there was no small griefe throughout the whole city.

15 For the Priests fell down before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they should safely preserued for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the hie Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorow of his mind.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorow he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the common prayer, because the place was like to come vnto contempt.

19 And

a In working some trechery or sorcery against him.

19 And the women, girt with sackecloth vnder their brests, filled the streets, and the virgins that were kept in, ranne some to the gates, and some to the walles, and others looked out at the windowes.

20 And all held vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the hie Priest being in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lord, that he would keepe safe & sure the things which were laid vp for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheless, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as he & his souldiers were now there present by the treasurie, he that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly barbed, and he ran fiercely and smote at Heliodorus with his fore feet, and it seemed that he that sate vpon the horse, had harnesse of gold.

26 Moreouer, there appeared two yong men, notable in strength, excellent in beautie, & comely in apparel, which stood by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many sore stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darkenesse: but they that were with him, tooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great company, and many souldiers into the sayd treasury, was borne out: for he could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did know the power of God manifestly, but hee was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they prayed the Lord that had honored his owne place: for the Temple which a litle afore was full of feare and trouble, when the Almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightway certaine of Heliodorus friends, prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most High to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the High Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some [a] euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

a In working some treachery or sorcery against him.

33 Now when the high Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias the high Priest great thankes: for, for his sake hath the Lord graunted thee thy life:

34 And seeing that thou hast beene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offred vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him which had granted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified hee vnto euery man of the great workes of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who were meet to bee sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he sayd, 38 If thou hast any enemy, or traytour, send him thither, & thou shalt receiue him well scourged, if hee escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For hee that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and hee beateth and destroyeth them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasurie.

CHAP IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias. 7 Iason obtaineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the King, 27 and was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slaine traitrously by Andronicus.

This Simon now, of whom wee spake afore, being a bewayter of the money, and of his owne naturall countrey, reported euill of Onias, as though hee had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had beene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was hee bold to call him a traitour, that was so beneficial to the city, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so far, that through one that belonged to Simon, murders were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as he that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 Hee went to the king not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common wealth both priuatly and publikely.

6 For hee saw it was not possible, except the King tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leaue off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull meanes to be high Priest.

8 For he came vnto the king, and promised him three hundreth and threescore talents of siluer, and of another rent fourescore talents.

9 Besides this hee promised him an hundred and fiftie, if hee might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they would || name them of Ierusalem, Antiochians,

|| Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Ierusalem among them.

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and he had gotten the superioritie, he began immediatly to draw his kinsme to the customes of the Gentiles,

11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn the father of Eupolemus, which was sent Ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friendes and confederates: he put downe their lawes and policies, and brought vp new statutes, and contrary to the law.

|| Or, huskins, in token of wantonnesse as the Gentiles did.

12 For he presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare || hats.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the maners of the Gentiles, and they tooke vp the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickednesse of Jason, not the hie Priest, but the vngodly person, 14 So that the Priestes were now no more dilgent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to bee partakers of the wicked expenses at the play, [a] after the casting of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to bee their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 ¶ Now when the ‖ games that were vsed euery fift yeere, were played at Tyrus, the King being present, 19 This wicked Jason sent from Jerusalem men to loke vpon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundreth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caryed them, desired they might not bee bestowed on the sacrifice, (because it was not comely) but to bee bestowed for other expences.

20 So hee that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of gallies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of king Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceiued that he was euil affectioned toward his affaires, hee sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Joppe, and so came to Jerusalem, 22 Where he was honourably receiued of Jason, & of the city, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Three yeere afterward Jason sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires, wherof he had giuen him a memoriall.

24 But hee, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood vnto himselfe: for he gaue three hundreth talents of siluer more then Jason.

25 So he gate the kings ‖ letters patents, albeit he had nothing in himselfe worthy of the hie Priesthood, but bare the stomacke of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 Then Jason which had deceiued his own brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that hee had promised vnto the king, he toke none order for it, albeit Sostrates the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the King.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his stead in the Priesthood, & Sostratus left Crates which was gouernour of the [b] Cyprians.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giuen to the kings concubine called Antiochis.

31 Then came the king in al haste to appease the businesse, leauing Andronicus a man of authoritie to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a conuenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gaue certaine of them to Andronicus: and some he sold at Tyrus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Onias knew of a surety, he reproued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Onias: so when hee came to Onias, hee counselled him craftily, giuing him his right hand with an oath: (howbeit hee suspected him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so hee slew him incontinently without any regard of righteousnesse.

35 For the which cause not onely the Jewes, but many other nations also were grieued, and took it heauily, for the vnrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Jewes that were in the citie, and certain of the Greekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorie in his mind, and hee had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee toke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commaunded him to be led throughout the city, and in the same place where hee had committed the wickednes against Onias, he was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment as hee had deserued.

39 ¶ Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked deeds in the city through the counsell of Menelaus, and the bruite was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for hee had caried out now much vessels of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to vse vnlawfull power, a certaine tyrant being their Captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they vnderstood the purpose of Lysimachus, some gate stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfulles of dust which lay by, vpon Lysimachus men, and those that inuaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked church-robber himselfe they killed besides the treasury.

43 For these causes an occasion was layde against a This game was to try strength by casting a stone that had a hole in the mids, or a piece of mettall.

‖ Or, Olympian sportes, which were games kept euery fift yere.

b That is, of them that measured the corne.

againſt Menelaus.

44 And when the King came to Tyrus, three men ſent from the Senate pleaded the cauſe before him.

45 But Menelaus being now convinced, promiſed to Ptolemeus the ſonne of Dorimenes much money, if he would perſwade the king.

46 So Ptolemeus went to the King into a court, whereas he was to cole himſelfe, and turned the Kings minde.

47 Inſomuch that hee diſcharged Menelaus from the accuſation (notwithſtanding hee was the cauſe of all miſchiefe) and condemned thoſe poore men to death, which if they had told their cauſe, yea, before the Scythians, they ſhould haue bene heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they ſoone puniſhed vniuſtly, which followed vpon the matter for the city, and for the people, and for the holy veſſels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickedneſſe, and miniſtred all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And ſo through the couetouſneſſe of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authoritie, increaſing in malice, and declared himſelfe a great traitor to the citizens.

2 Of the ſignes and tokens ſeene in Ieruſalem. 6 Of the ende and wickedneſſe of Iaſon. 11 The purſuit of Antiochus againſt the Iewes. 15 The ſpoyling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wilderneſſe.

ABout the ſame time Antiochus vndertooke his ſecond voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there ſeene throughout all the citie of Ieruſalem fortie dayes long, horſemen running in the ayre, with robes of golde, and as bands of ſpearemen,

3 And as troupes of horſemen ſet in aray, encountring and courſing one againſt another with ſhaking of ſhields and multitude of darts, and drawing of ſwords and ſhooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour ſeene, and harneſſe of all ſorts.

4 Wherefore euery man prayed, that thoſe token might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a falſe rumour, as though Antiochus had beene dead, Iaſon tooke at the leaſt a thouſand men, and came ſuddenly vpon the city, and they that were vpon the walles, being put backe, and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the caſtle, but Iaſon ſlew his owne citizens without mercy, not conſidering, that to haue the aduantage againſt his kinſemen is greateſt diſaduantage, but thought that hee had gotten the victorie of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the ſuperioritie, but at the laſt receiued ſhame for the reward of his treaſon, and went againe like a vagabond into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this end of his wicked conuerſation, that he was ‖ accuſed before Areta the king of the Arabians, and fled from city to city, being purſued of euery man, and hated as a forſaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemie of his countrey and citizens, and was driuen into Egypt.

‖ Or, ſent vp.

9 Thus he that had chaſed many out of their owne countrey, periſhed as a baniſhed man, after that hee was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten ſuccour by reaſon of kinred.

10 And he that had caſt many out vnburied, was throwen out himſelfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers ſepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when theſe things that were done, were declared to the king, hee thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the city by violence.

12 Hee commaunded his men of warre alſo, that they ſhould kill and not ſpare ſuch as they met, and to ſlay ſuch as went into their houſes.

13 Thus was there a ſlaughter of yong men, and olde men, and a deſtruction of men and women and children, and virgins and infants were murthered:

14 So that within three dayes were ſlaine fourefcore thouſand, and fourtie thouſand taken priſoners, and there were as many ſolde as were ſlaine.

15 Yet was hee not content with this, but durſt goe into the moſt holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the lawes, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide, 16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy veſſels, which other kings had giuen for the garniſhing, glory, and honour of that place, and handled them with his wicked hands.

17 So hautie in his minde was Antiochus, that he conſidered not that God was not a little wroth for the ſinnes of them that dwelt in the city, for the which ſuch contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not been wrapped in many ſinnes, he, aſſoone as he had come, had ſuddenly been puniſhed, and put backe from his preſumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king ſent to view the treaſury.

19 But God hath not choſen the nation for the places ſake, but the place for the nations ſake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward ſhall it be partaker of the benefits of the Lord, and as it is now forſaken in the wrath of the Almighty, ſo when the great Lord ſhall be reconciled, it ſhall be ſet vp in great worſhip againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteene hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gate him to Antiochia in all haſte, thinking in his pride to make men paſſe vpon the drie land, and to walke vpon the ſea: ſuch an high minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to vexe the people: at Ieruſalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in maners more cruell then he that ſet him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more grieuous to the citizens then the other, and was deſpitefull againſt the Iewes his citizens.

24 Hee ſent alſo Apollonius a cruell prince, with an armie of two and twentie thouſand, whom he commanded to ſlay thoſe that were toward mans age, and to ſell the women, and the yonger ſort.

25 So when he came to Ieruſalem, he fained peace, and kept him still vntill the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, hee commaunded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so hee slew all them that were gone forth to the shew, and running thorow the citie with his men armed, hee murthered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wildernes, and lined there in the mountains with his company among the beasts, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, lest they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Law of God. 4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grieuous paine of Eleazarus.

NOt long after this, sent the king an old man of ‖ Athens, for to compell the Iewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God,

‖ Or, Antiochia.

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the Temple of Iupiter Olympius, & that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter that keepeth hospitality.

3 This wicked gouernement was sore and grieuous vnto the people.

4 For the temple was full of dissolution, and gluttony of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbaths, nor to obserue their ancient feastes, nor plainely to confesse himselfe to be a Iew.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grieuously compelled perforce euery moneth to banquet, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of Iuie.

8 Moreouer, through the counsell of Ptolemeus, there went out a commaundement vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like customs, and ‖ banketting should be kept.

‖ Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

9 And who so would not conforme themselues to the manners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man haue seene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women brought forth that had circumcised their sonnes, whom when they had led round about the city (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were run together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discouered vnto Philip, & were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honourable day they were afraid to helpe themselues.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which reade this booke, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great gentlenesse, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom hee punisheth when they are come to the fulnesse of their sinnes.

15 But thus hee dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped vp to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withdraweth his mercy from vs: and though he punish with aduersity, yet doeth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning vnto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall Scribes, an aged man, and of a well fauoured countenance was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But hee deliring rather to die gloriously then to liue with hatred, offred himselfe willingly to the torment and spit it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banket, for that olde friendship of the man, tooke him aside priuily, and prayed him that hee would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to vse, and as hee would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the king, euen the flesh of the sacrifice,

22 That in so doing hee might bee deliuered from death, and that for the old friendship that was among them, he would receiue this fauour.

23 But hee began to consider discreetely, and as became his age, and the excellency of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haires, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conuersation from his childhood, but chiefly the holy Law made and giuen by God: therefore he answered consequently, & willed them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becommeth not our age, sayd he, to dissemble, whereby many young persons might thinke that Eleazar being foure score yeeres old and ten, were now gone to ‖ another religion,

‖ Or, to another maner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a little time of a transitory life) they might bee deceiued by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered from the torments of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shew my selfe such as mine age requireth, 28 And so will leaue a notable example for such as be young to die willingly, and couragiously, for the honourable and holy lawes. And when he had sayd these words, immediatly hee went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of ẏ words that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as he was ready to giue the ghost because of the strokes, hee sighed and sayd, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue beene deliuered from death, I am scourged, and suffer these these sore paines of my body: but in my mind I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euen now after this manner ended he his life, leauing his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorial of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seuen brethren, and of their mother.

IT came to passe also that seuen brethren, with their mother, were taken to bee compelled by the king against the Lawe to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them which spake first, sayd thus, What seekest thou? and what wouldest thou know of vs? wee are ready to die rather then to transgresse the lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the king angry, and commanded to heate pannes and cauldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first to bee cut out, and to flay him, and to cut off the vtmost parts of his body in the sight of his other brethren and his mother.

5 Now when hee was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be brought aliue to the fire, and to frie him in the panne: and while the smoake for a long time smoked out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this maner:

6 The Lord God doeth regard vs, & in deed
Deut. 32. 36. taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses * declared in the song wherein hee testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with the haire ouer his head, they asked him if hee would eate, or he were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But hee answered in his owne language, and sayd, No. Wherefore hee was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when hee was at the last breath, hee sayd, Thou murtherer takest this present life from vs, but the King of the world will raise vs vp, which die for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 After him was the third had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, he put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly, 11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Insomuch that the King and they which were with him, marueiled at the young mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when hee was now ready to die, hee sayd thus, It is better that wee should change this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope from God, that we may bee raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fift also and tormented him,

16 Who looked vpon the King, and saide, Thou hast power among men, and though thou bee a mortall man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how hee will torment thee and thy seed.

18 After him also they brought the first, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakest to fight against God, that thou shalt bee vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, and worthy of honourable memorie: for when she saw her seuen sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted euery one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage, and wisedome, stirred vp her womanly affections with a manly stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I can not tell how yee came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercy giue you breath, and life againe, as yee now regard not your owne selues, for his lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the iniurious words, while the youngest was yet aliue, he did exhort him not onely with words, but sware also vnto him by an othe that he would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the lawes of his fathers, and that he would take him as a friend, and giue him offices.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that shee would counsell the young man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many words, she promised him that she would counsell her sonne.

27 So shee turned her vnto him, laughing the cruell tyrant to scorne, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon mee, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeeres, and nourished thee, and took care for thee vnto this age, and brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shewe thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercy with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these words, the yong man said, Whom waite ye for? I will not obey the kings commandement: but I will obey the commandement of the Law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.

31 And

31 And thou that imaginest all mischiefe against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For wee suffer these things because of our sinnes.

33 But though the liuing Lord be angry with vs a little while for our chastening and correction, yet will he bee reconciled with his owne seruants.

34 But thou, O man without religion and most wicked of all men, lift not thy selfe vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncertain hope, and liftest thine hands against the seruaunts of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 My brethren that haue suffered a little paine, are now vnder the diuine Couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pride.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he will soone be mercifull vnto our nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that hee is the onely God, 38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 Then the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grieuously that he was mocked.

40 So he also died holily, and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be enough spoken concerning the banquets, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Iudas gathereth together his hoste. 9 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 16 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is ouercome. 27 The Iewes giue thankes, after they haue put their enemies to flight, diuiding part of the spoyles vnto the fatherlesse and vnto the widowes. 30 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

THen Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinsfolkes and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion: and assembled fiue thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euery man, and haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,

3 And that he would haue compassion vpon the citie that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voyce of the blood, that cried vnto him,

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his Name, and that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercy.

6 Therefore he came at vnawares, and burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee vsed the nights to make such assaults, insomuch that the bruit of his manlinesse was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip saw that this man increased by little and little, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice to helpe him in the kings businesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twenty thousand men, to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the king of two thousand talents, which the Romanes should haue, to bee taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediatly he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell fourescore and ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors comming, he told them that were with him, of the comming of the army.

13 Now were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousnes of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other sold all that they had left, and besought the Lord together to deliuer them from that wicked Nicanor, which had sold them or euer he came neere them.

15 And though he would not doe it for their sakes: yet for the Couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious Name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about fiue thousand, exhorting them not to bee afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Seeing before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniustly done to the holy place, and the cruelty done to the citie by derision, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, said he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God, which at a beck can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreouer, hee admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundreth and fourescore and fiue thousand vnder * Sennacherib, 20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon against the Galatians, how they came in all to the battell ‖ eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were astonished, the eight thousand slew an hundred and twenty thousand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefits.

21 Thus when he had made them bold with these wordes, and ready to die for the Lawes and and the countrey, he diuided his army into foure parts,

22 And made his owne brethren captains ouer the armie, to wit, Simon, and Joseph, & Jonathan, giuing ech one fiftéene hundreth men.

23 And when Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the foreward, ioyned with Nicanor.

24 And because the Almightie helped them, they slew aboue nine thousand men, & woumded and maymed the most part of Nicanors hoste, and so put all to flight, 25 And took the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them farre: but lacking time, they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, & therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoiled the enemies, & kept the Sabboth, giuing thanks and praysing the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercy.

Num. 31. 27. 1 Sam. 30. 24

28 And after the Sabbath, *they distributed the spoyles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and deuided the residue among themselues and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they besought the mercifull Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fel vpon Timotheus & Bacchides, and slew aboue twenty thousand, and wan high & strong holds, and diuided great spoyles, and gaue an equal portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreouer, they gathered their weapons together, and layd them vp diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoyles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victory in their Countrey, they burnt Callisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: so he receiued a reward meete for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Nicanor, which had brought a thousand Merchants to buy the Iewes, 35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whom he thought as nothing, insomuch that he put off his glorious rayment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his hoste.

36 Thus hee that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by meanes of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a ‖defender, and for this cause none could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

‖Or, God their defender.

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to spoyle Persepolis, is put to flight. 5 As hee persecuteth the Iewes, hee is stricken of the Lord. 13 The fained repentance of Antiochus. 28 He dieth miserably.

AT the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour, out of the Countrey of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persepolis, & went about to rob the Temple, and to subdue the city, the people ranne in a rage to defend themselues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and returned with shame.

3 Now when hee came to Ecbatane, he vnderstood the things that had come vnto Nicanor and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, hee thought to impute to the Iewes their faule, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charetman to driue continually, and to dispatch the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had said thus in his pride, I wil make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty, and God of Israel smote him with an incurable and inuisible plague: for assone as he had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels that was remediesse, came vpon him, and sore torments of the inner parts,

6 And that most iustly: for hee had tormented other mens bowels with diuers and strange torments.

7 Howbeit hee would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commaunded to haste the iourney: but it came to passe that hee fell downe from the charet that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his body were bruised with the great fall.

8 And thus he that a little afore thought he might commaund the floods of the Sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the ballance, was now cast on the ground, and carried in an horselitter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

9 *So that the wormes came out of the bodie of this wicked man in abundance: & whiles hee was aliue, his flesh fell off for paine and torment: and all his armie was grieued at his ‖ smell. Acts 12. 23. ‖Or, ystemnesse.

10 Thus no man could beare because of his stinke, him that a little afore thought hee might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leaue off his great pride and selfe will when hee was plagued, and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his pain which increased euery moment.

12 And when he himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, he sayd these words, It is meete to bee subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lorde, who would now haue no mercy on him, 14 And said thus, that he would set at liberty the holy city vnto the which he made haste to destroy it and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whome hee had iudged not worthy to bee buried, but would haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the fowles & wilde beasts) hee would make them all like the citizens of Athens.

16 And wheras he had spoyled the holy Temple afore, he would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne rents beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that he would also become a Iew himselfe, and goe thorow all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this his pains would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder written, conteining the forme of a supplication.

19 ¶ THE KING, and prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens, wisheth much ioy, and health and prosperity.

20 If ye and your children fare well, and if all things go after your mind, I giue great thanks vnto God, hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lye sicke, yet I am mindfull of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the countrey of Perlia, & fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safety of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickenesse.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the high countreyes, he appointed who should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that any tydings were brought that were grieuous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Againe, when I ponder how that the gouernours, that are borderers & neighbours vnto my kingdome, waite for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordained that my sonne Antiochus shalbe king, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the high prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore, I pray you, and require you to remember the benefits that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull to me and to my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will bee gentle and louing vnto you according to my minde.

28 ¶ Thus the murtherer & blasphemer suffered most grieuously, and as hee had intreated other men, so hee died a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought vp with him, carryed away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 10 The actes of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus inuadeth Iudea, with whom Iudas ioyneth battell. 29 Fiue men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

MAccabeus now and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, wan the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, & chappels that the heathen had builded in the open places,

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned stones, and tooke fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and incense two yeeres, and fixe moneths after, and set forth the lampes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lord, that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they sinned any more against him, that he himselfe would chasten them with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous, and barbarous nation.

5 Now vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, euen the fiue and twentieth day of the same moneth which is ‖ Chasleu.

‖ Or, November.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembring, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles, when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and faire branches & palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordeined also by a common statute and decree, that euery yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nations of the Iewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 ¶ Now wil we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdome, hee made one Lysias, which had bene captaine of the hoste in Phenice and Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the Realme

12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Iewes for the wrong that had beene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause, hee was accused of his friendes before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poysoned himselfe, and died.

14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, hee entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Iewes.

15 Moreouer, the Idumeans that held the strong holdes which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were driuen from Ierusalem, tooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Maccabeus, made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holds of the Idumeans, 17 And assaulted them sore, that they wanne the places, and slew all that fought against them on the wall, & killed all that they met with, and slew no lesse then twenty thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castles, hauing all manner of things conuenient to sustaine the siege.

19 Maccabeus left Simon, and Joseph, and Zaccheus also, and those that were with them, which were enow to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessary.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with couetousnes, were entreated for money (through certaine of those that were in the castle) and tooke seuentie thousand [a] drachmes and let some of them escape.

[a] A drachme is the eight part of an ounce, which is about three pence.

21 But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, hee called the gouernours of the people together, and accused those men, that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew them when they were conuict of treason, and immediatly wanne the two castles:

23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that he tooke in hand, he slew in the two castles moe then twenty thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sorts, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia, to winne Jewrie by strength.

25 But when he drew nere, Maccabeus and they that were with him, turned to pray vnto God, and sprinkled earth vpon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth, 26 And fell downe at the foote of the altar, and besought the Lord to be mercifull to them, and to be an enemie to their enemies, and to bee an aduersary to their aduersaries, * as the Law declareth.

Exod. 23.20 deut. 20.4.

27 So after the prayer they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came nere to the enemies, they tooke hæd to themselues.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperity, and noble victory, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell wared strong, there appeared vnto the enemies from heauen fiue comely men vpon horses with bridles of gold, and two of them led the Iewes,

30 And tooke Maccabeus betwixt them, and couered him on euery side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts & lightenings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindnesse, and beaten downe and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twentie thousand and fiue hundred, and fiue hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled vnto Gazara, which was called a very strong hold, wherein Chereas was captaine.

33 But Maccabeus and his company layd siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

35 Neuertheless, vpon the ‖ fifth day in the morning, twentie young men of Maccabeus company, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came vnto the wall, and with bold stomacks, smote downe those that they met.

‖ Or, the fiue and twentieth day.

36 Others also that climbed vp vpon the engines of warre against them that were within, set fire vpon the towers, and burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fires that they had made, and others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and tooke the city.

37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, and Chereas his brother with Apollophanes.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with Psalmes and thankesgiuing, which had done so great things for Israel, and giuen them the victory.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to ouercome the Iewes. 8 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 16 The letter of Lysias vnto the Iewes. 23 The letter of king Antiochus vnto Lysias. 27 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 34 A letter of the Romanes to the Iewes.

VEry shortly after this, Lysias the kings steward, and a kinsman of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tooke sore displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Iewes, thinking to make the city an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple would he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priests office euery yeere.

4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his fourescore Elephants,

5 Hee came into Judea, and drew nere to Beth-sura, which was a castle of defence, fiue [a] furlongs from Jerusalem, and laid sore siege vnto it.

[a] Whereof eight make a mile.

6 But when Maccabeus and his company knew that hee besieged the holds, they and all the people made prayers with weeping & teares before the Lord, that he would send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.

7 And Maccabeus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would ieopard themselues together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a courageous mind.

8 And as they were there besides Jerusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harnesse of gold.

9 Then they praised the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, insomuch that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruel beasts, and to breake downe walls of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, hauing an helper from heauen: for the Lord was mercifull vnto them.

11 And running vpon their enemies like lyons, they slew eleuen thousand footmen, and sixteene hundreth horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, & Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully, fully, and so escaped.

13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding, considering what losse he had had, and knowing that the Hebrewes could not be ouercome because the Almighty God helped them, sent vnto them,

14 And promised that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, and perswade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requests, hauing respect in all things to the common wealth, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Iewes, the king granted it.

16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes from Lysias containing these words, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greeting, 17 John and ‖ Abeſſalom, which were sent from you, deliuered me the things that you demand by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things soeuer were meete to be reported to the king himselfe, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if yee behaue your selues as friends toward his affaires, hereafter also I wil endeuour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I haue giuen commandement to these men, and to those whom I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.

21 Fare ye well, the hundred and eight and fortie yeere, the foure and twentieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.

22 ¶ Now the kings letter conteined these words, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greeting.

23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, liue quietly, that euery man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We vnderstand also that the Iewes would not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to liue after their owne lawes.

25 Wherefore our minde is, that this nation shall be in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.

26 Thou shalt doe well therefore to send vnto them, and graunt them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and cheerefully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the kings letter vnto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes sendeth greeting.

28 If ye fare well, we haue our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, and to apply your own businesse.

30 Wherefore, those that will depart, we giue them free liberty, vnto the thirtie day of the moneth of ‖ Panthicus, 31 That the Iewes may vse their owne maner of liuing and lawes, like as afore, and none of them by any manner of wayes to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundreth and eight and fortie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romanes also sent a letter containing these words, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus ‖ Manilius ambassadours of the Romanes, vnto the people of the Iewes send greeting.

35 The things that Lysias the Kings kinsman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shall repose vnto the king, send hither some with speed, when yee haue considered the matter diligently, that wee may consult thereupon, as shall be best for you: for we must goe vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste, and send some men, that we may know your mind.

38 Farewell: this hundreth and eight and fortie yeere, the fifteenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

2 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked deede of them of Ioppe against the Iewes. 6 Iudas is auenged of them. 9 Hee setteth fire in the hauen of Iamnia. 10 The pursuit of the Iewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken and let goe vnhurt. 32 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

WHen these couenants were made, Lysias went vnto the king, and the Iewes tilled their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Genneus, and Hieronymus, and also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, would not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wiues and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none euill will.

4 And so by the common aduice of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspected nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deepe, they drowned no lesse then two hundred of them.

5 Now when Iudas knewe of this cruelty shewed against his nation, he commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, hee went forth against the murtherers of his brethren, and set fire in the hauen by night, and burnt the shippes, and those that fled thence, he slew.

7 ¶ And when the citie was shut vp, hee departed as though hee would come againe, and rout out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 But when he perceiued that the Iamnites were minded to doe in like manner vnto the Iewes which dwelt among them, 9 He came vpon the Iamnites by night, and set fire in the hauen with the naule, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundred and fortie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney toward Timotheus, about fiue thousand men of foote

and

and fiue hundreth horſemen of the Arabians ſet vpon him.

11 So the battell was ſharpe, but it proſpered with Iudas through the helpe of God: the Nomades of Arabia being ouercome, beſought Iudas to make peace with them, and promiſed to giue him certaine ‖ cattell, and to helpe him in other things.

a So called becauſe they were ſhepheards.

‖ Or, paſtures.

12 And Iudas thinking that they ſhould in deede bee profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they ſhooke hands, and ſo they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas alſo aſſaulted a citie called Caſpis, which was ſtrong by reaſon of a bridge, and fenced round about with walles, and had diuers kinds of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within it, put ſuch truſt in the ſtrength of the walles, and in ſtore of victuals, that they were the ſlacker in their doings, reuiling them that were with Iudas, and reproching them: yea, they blaſphemed and ſpake ſuch words as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus ſouldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any ‖ inſtruments, or engines of warre, did * caſt downe the walles of Iericho, in the time of Ieſus) gaue a fierce aſſault againſt the walles,

‖ Or, battell rammes.

* Ioſh. 6. 20.

16 And tooke the city by the will of God, and made an exceeding great ſlaughter, inſomuch that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, ſeemed to flow with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, ſeuen hundreth and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes, that are called Tubieni.

18 But they found not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garriſon in a very ſtrong hold.

19 But Doſitheus & Soſipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth, and ſlew thoſe that Timotheus had left in the fortreſſe, more then ten thouſand men.

20 And Maccabeus prepared, & ranged his army by bands, and went courageouſly againſt Timotheus, which had with him an hundreth and twenty thouſand men of foot, and two thouſand and fiue hundred horſemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he ſent the women and children, and the other baggage afore, vnto a fortreſſe called Carnion (for it was hard to beſiege, and vneaſie to come vnto, becauſe of the ſtraits on all ſides)

22 But when Iudas firſt band came in ſight, the enemies were ſmitten with feare, and a trembling was among them through the preſence of him that ſeeth all things, inſomuch that they fleeing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne ſwords.

23 But Iudas was very earneſt in purſuing, and ſlew thoſe wicked men: yea, he ſlew thirtie thouſand men of them.

24 Timotheus alſo himſelfe fell into the hands of Doſitheus and Soſipater, whom hee beſought with much craft to let him go with his life, becauſe he had many of the Iewes parents, and the brethren of ſome of them, which, if they put him to death, ſhould be deſpiled.

25 So when he had aſſured them with many words, and promiſed that he would reſtore them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus toward Carnion, and Artagation, and ſlew fiue and twentie thouſand perſons.

27 And after that hee had chaſed away and ſlaine them, Iudas remoued the hoſte toward Ephron a ſtrong citie, wherein was Lyſias and a great multitude of all nations, and the ſtrong young men kept the walles, defending them mightily: there was alſo great preparation of engins of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the ſtrength of the enemies, they wanne the citie, and ſlewe fiue and twentie thouſand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Scythopolis, which lieth fiue hundreth furlongs from Ieruſalem.

30 But when the Iewes that dwelt there, teſtified that the ‖ Scythopolitans deale louingly with them, and intreated them kindly in the time of their aduerſitie,

‖ Or, Scythians.

31 They gaue them thankes, deſiring them to be friendly ſtill vnto them, and ſo they came to Ieruſalem, as the feaſt of the weekes approched.

32 ¶ And after the feaſt called Pentecoſt, they went forth againſt Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea:

33 Who came out with three thouſand men of foote, and foure hundreth horſemen.

34 And when they ioyned together, a fewe of the Iewes were ſlaine, 35 And Doſitheus one of the Baccenors, which was on horſeback and a mightie man, tooke Gorgias, and layd holde of his garment, and drew him by force, becauſe hee would haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an horſeman of Thracia fell vpon him, and ſmote off his ſhoulder, ſo that Gorgias fled into ‖ Marila.

‖ Or, Moreſa or, Mareſa.

36 And when they that were ‖ with Eſerin, had fought long, and were weary, Iudas called vpon the Lord, that hee would ſhew himſelfe to bee their helper, and Captaine of the field.

| Or, with Gorgias.

37 And then he began in his owne language, and ſung Pſalmes with a loude voyce, inſomuch that ſtraightwayes hee made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoſte, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the ſeuenth day came, they cleanſed themſelues (as the cuſtome was) and kept the Sabbath in the ſame place.

39 And vpon the day following, as neceſſitie required, Iudas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were ſlaine, and to bury them with their kinſemen in their fathers graues.

40 Now vnder the coates of euery one that was ſlaine, they found iewels that had bene conſecrate to the idoles of the * Iamnites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. Then euery man ſaw that this was the cauſe wherefore they were ſlaine.

* Deut. 7. 25. ioſh. 7. 1, 11, 12.

41 And ſo euery man gaue thankes vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

42 And

42 And they gaue themselues to prayer, and beſought him, that they ſhould not vtterly be deſtroyed for the fault committed. Beſides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to keepe themſelues from ſinne, foraſmuch as they ſaw before their eyes the things which came to paſſe by the ſinne of theſe that were ſlaine, 43 And hauing made a gathering throughout the company, ſent to Ieruſalem about two thouſand drachmes of ſiluer, to offer a ſinne offering, doing very well and honeſtly, that hee thought of the reſurrection.

44 For if he had not hoped that they which were ſlaine, ſhould riſe againe, it had bene ſuperfluous and vaine, to [a] pray for the dead.

a From this verſe to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, ſo that no good ſenſe, much leſſe certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby. Alſo it is euident that this place was not written by the holy Ghoſt, both becauſe it diſſenteth from the reſt of the holy Scriptures, and alſo the authour of this booke acknowledging his owne infirmitie, deſireth pardon, if he haue not attained to that hee ſhould. And it ſeemeth that this Iaſon the Cyrenian, out of whom he tooke this abridgement, is Ioſeph Bengorion, who hath written in Ebrew fiue bookes of theſe matters, & intreating this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead, Lib. 3. cap. 19. For it is contrary to the cuſtome of the Iewes euen to this day to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had ſo done, yet this particular example is not ſufficient to eſtabliſh a doctrine, no more then Zipporahs was to proue that women might miniſter the Sacraments, Exod 4. 25. or the example of Razis, that one might kill himſelfe, whom this authour ſo much commendeth: Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The comming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight againſt Eupator, mooueth his ſouldiers vnto prayer. 15 He killeth fourteene thouſand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundreth fourty and nine yeere, it was tolde Iudas that Antiochus Eupator was comming with a great power into Iudea,

2 And Lyſias the ſteward and ruler of his affaires with him, hauing both in their armie an hundreth and ten thouſand men of foote of the Grecians, and fiue thouſand horſemen, and two and twentie Elephants, and three hundreth charets ſet with hookes.

3 Menelaus alſo ioyned himſelfe with them, and with great deceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the ſafegard of the countrey, but becauſe he thought to haue beene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of kings moued Antiochus minde againſt this wicked man, and Lyſias enformed the king, that this man was the cauſe of all miſchiefe, ſo that the King commaunded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death as the maner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a tower of fiftie cubits high, full of aſhes, and it had an inſtrument that turned round, and on euery ſide it robled downe into the aſhes:

6 And there whoſoeuer was condemned of ſacriledge, or of any other grieuous crime, was caſt of all men to the death.

7 And ſo it came to paſſe that this wicked man ſhould die ſuch a death, and it was a moſt iuſt thing that Menelaus ſhould want buriall.

8 For becauſe he had committed many ſinnes by the altar, whoſe fire and aſhes were holy: hee himſelfe alſo died in the aſhes.

9 ¶ Now the king raged in his minde, and came to ſhew himſelfe more cruel vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, hee commanded the people to call vpo the Lord night & day, that if euer he had holpen them, hee would now helpe them, when they ſhould be put from their Law, from their countrey, and from the holy Temple:

11 And that hee would not ſuffer the people which a little before began to recouer, to be ſubdued vnto the blaſphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and beſought the Lord for mercie with weeping and faſting, and falling downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themſelues ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders, tooke counſel to goe foorth, afore the king brought his hoſte into Iudea, and ſhould take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, hee exhorted his ſouldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their countrey, and the common wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And ſo giuing his ſouldiers for a watchword, The victorie of God, hee picked out the manlieſt yong men, and went by night into the kings campe, and ſlew of the hoſte foureteene thouſand men, and the greateſt Elephant with all that ſate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went proſperouſly with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, becauſe the protection of the Lorde did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the King had taſted the manlineſſe of the Iewes, he went about to take the holds by pollicie, 19 And marched toward Beth ſura, which was a ſtrong holde of the Iewes: but hee was chaſed away, hurt, and loſt of his men.

20 For Iudas had ſent vnto them that were in it, ſuch things as were neceſſary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoſte, diſcloſed the ſecrets to the enemies: therefore he was ſought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in priſon.

22 After this, did the King commune with them that were in Beth ſura, and ſtooke truce with them, departed and ioyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

[b] Or, gaue and tooke the right hand.

23 But when hee vnderſtood, that Philip (whom hee had left to be ouerſeer of his buſineſſe at Antiochia) did rebell againſt him, hee was aſtoniſhed, ſo that hee yeelded himſelfe to the Iewes, and made them an oth to doe all things that were right, and was appeaſed toward them, and offered ſacrifice and adorned the Temple, and ſhewed great gentleneſſe to the place, 24 And embraced Maccabeus, & made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerrenians.

25 Neuertheleſſe,

25 Neuertheleſſe, when he came to Ptolemais, the people of the City were not content with this agreement: and becauſe they were grieued, they would that he ſhould breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lyſias vp into the iudgement ſeat, and excuſed the fact as well as he could, and perſwaded them, and pacified them, and made them wel affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings iourney, and his returne.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Demetrius moued by Alcimus ſendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compact with the Iewes, 29 Which hee yet breaketh thorow the motion of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Razis to be taken, who ſlayeth himſelfe.

AFter three yeeres was Judas informed that Demetrius the ſonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and nauy by the hauen of Tripolis,

2 When he had won the countrey, and ſlaine Antiochus, and his Leutenant Lyſias.

3 Now Alcimus, which had been the High Prieſt, and wilfully defiled himſelfe in the time that all things were confounded, ſeeing that by no meanes hee could ſaue himſelfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 He came to king Demetrius in the hundreth fifty and one yeere, preſenting vnto him a crowne of gold, and a palme, and of the boughes which were vſed ſolemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunity, and occaſion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counſell, and aſked him what deuiſes or counſils the Iewes leaned vnto.

6 To the which hee anſwered, The Iewes that be called Aſideans, whoſe captaine is Judas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make inſurrections, and will not let the Realme bee in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Prieſthood) am now come hither,

8 Partly becauſe I was well affectioned vnto the Kings affaires, and ſecondly becauſe I ſought the profit of mine owne citizens: for all our people, thorow their raſhneſſe, are not a little troubled.

9 Wherefore, O King, ſeeing thou knoweſt all theſe things, make prouiſion for the countrey, and our Nation which is abuſed, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Judas liueth, it is not poſſible that the matter ſhould be well.

11 When he had ſpoken theſe words, other friends alſo hauing euill will at Judas, ſet Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor the ruler of the Elephants, and made him captaine ouer Judea, 13 And ſent him forth, commanding him to ſlay Judas, and to ſcatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus hie prieſt of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Judea from Judas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thinking the harme & calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, & the gathering together of the heathen, they ſprinkled themſelues with earth, and prayed vnto him which had appointed himſelfe a people for euer, and did alwayes defend his own portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remoued ſtraigtwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Deſſau, 17 Where Simon Judas brother had ioyned battell with Nicanor, and was ſomewhat aſtoniſhed through the ſudden ſilence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheleſſe Nicanor hearing the manlineſſe of them that were with Judas, and the bolde ſtomackes that they had for their countrey, durſt not proue the matter with bloodſhedding.

19 Wherefore he ſent Poſſidonius, ‖ Theodoſius, and ‖ Matthias before to make peace. ‖ Or, Theodotus.

20 So when they had taken long aduiſement thereupon, and the captaine ſhewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and conſented to the couenants. ‖ Or, Mattathias.

21 And they appointed a day when they ſhould particularly come together: ſo when the day was come, they ſet for euery man his ſtole.

22 Neuertheleſſe Judas commaunded certaine men of armes to waite in conuenient places: leaſt there ſhould ſuddenly ariſe any euill through the enemies: and ſo they communed together of the things whereupon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Jeruſalem, did none hurt, but ſent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee ‖ loued Judas, and fauoured him in his heart. ‖ Or, had Iudas before his eyes.

25 He prayed him alſo to take a wife, and to beget children: ſo he married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betweene them, and vnderſtanding the couenants that were made, came to Demetrius and told him, that Nicanor had taken ſtrange matters in hand, and ordained Judas a traitour to the Realme, to be his ſucceſſour.

27 Then the King was diſpleaſed, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Nicanor, ſaying, that hee was very angry for the couenants, commanding him that he ſhould ſend Maccabeus in all haſte priſoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When theſe things came vnto Nicanor, he was aſtoniſhed and ſore grieued, that he ſhould breake the things wherein they had agreed, ſeeing that that man had committed no wickedneſſe.

29 But becauſe it was not commodious to him to withſtand the King, he ſought craftily to accompliſh it.

30 Notwithſtanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor beganne to bee rough vnto him, and that hee intreated him more rudely then he was wont, he perceiued that ſuch rigour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a few of his men, and withdrew himſelfe from Nicanor.

31 But the other perceiuing that hee was preuented by Maccabeus worthy policy, came into the great and holy Temple and commanded the Priests, which were offering their vsuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they sware that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought, 33 Hee stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this maner, If yee will not deliuer mee Iudas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the Altar, and will erect a notable temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these words hee departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their Nation, saying in this maner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast need of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stoppe all the mouthes of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a louer of the City, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man aforetimes when the Iewes were minded to keepe themselues vndefiled and pure, being accused to be of the Religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life with all constancie for the Religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that hee bare to the Iewes, sent about fiue hundreth men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, & commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that hee was ready to be taken on euery side, he * fell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as hee missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betweene the doores, he ran boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude

44 Which conueyed themselues lightly away, and gaue place, so that hee fell vpon his belly.

44 Nevertheless while there was yet breath in him, being kindled in his minde, hee rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet he ranne thorow the mids of the people,

46 And gate him to the toppe of an hie rocke: so when his blood was vtterly gone, hee tooke out his owne bowels with both his handes, and threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life and Spirit, that hee would restore them againe vnto him, and thus he died.

* a As this priuate example ought not to be followed of the godly, because it is contrary to the word of God, although the author seeme here to approue it: so that place as touching prayer. Chap. 12. 44. though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proue a doctrine, because it is onely a particular example.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blasphemy of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vision, encourageth them. 21 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head and hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giuen to the foules. 39 The author excuseth himselfe.

NOw when Nicanor knew that Iudas & his company were in the countrey of Samaria, hee thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheless the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, said, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demaunded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they said, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenth day to be kept,

5 Then hee said, And I am mighty vpon earth to command them for to arme themselues, and to performe the Kings businesse. Notwithstanding, he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, purposed to set vp a memoriall of the victory obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfect hope that the Lord would helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to bee afraid at the comming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust now also that they should haue the victorie by the Almightie.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the Law, and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing,

10 And stirred vp their hearts, and shewed them also the deceitfulnes of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus hee armed euery one of them, not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholesome words and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthy to bee beleeued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his vision, He thought that he saw Onias, (which had beene the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a child) holding vp his hands toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14 And Onias spake and said, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy Citie, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Ieremias held out his right hand, & gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold: and as he gaue it, he spake thus, 16 Take this holy sword a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the aduersaries.

17 And so being comforted by the words of Iudas, which were very sweete and able to stirre them

17 And ſo being comforted by the wordes of Judas which were very ſweet and able to ſtirre them vp to valiantnes & to encourage the hearts of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but couragiouſly to ſet vpon them, and manfully to aſſaile them, and to try the matter hand to hand. becauſe the citie and the Sanctuarie and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wiues and children, and brethren, and kinſefolkes, they ſet leſſe by their danger: but their greateſt and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Againe they that were in the citie, were carefull for the armie that was abroad.

20 Now whiles they all waited for the tryall of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the hoſte was ſet in aray, & the ‖ beaſts were ſeparated into conuenient places, and the horſemen were placed in the wings:

‖Or, Elephants.

21 Maccabeus conſidering the comming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesſe of the beaſts, held vp his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looketh vpon them, knowing that the victorie commeth not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victorie to them that are worthy, as ſeemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer he ſayd after this maner, O Lord,* thou that didſt ſend thine Angel in the time of Ezekias king of Judea, who in the hoſte of Sennacherib, ſlewe an hundreth fourefcore and fiue thouſand,

* 2. King. 19. 35. Iſa. 37. 36. Iob. 1. 18. eccluſ. 48. 21.

23 Send now alſo thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them, 24 And let them be diſcomfited by ỳ ſtrength of thine arme, which come againſt thine holy people to blaſpheme. Thus with theſe wordes he made an end.

25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drew neere with trumpets and ſhoutings for ioy.

26 But Judas and his companie praying and calling vpon God, encountred with the enemies.

27 So that with their handes they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and ſlew no leſſe then fiue and thirtie thouſand men: for through the preſence of God they were wonderfully comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with ioy, they vnderſtood that Nicanor himſelfe was ſlaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great ſhout and a crie, praiſing the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas which was euer the chiefe defender of the citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towardes them of his nation, commanded to ſmite off Nicanors head, with his hand and ſhoulder, and to bring it to Jeruſalem.

31 And when he came there, he called all them of his nation, and ſet the Prieſts by the altar, and ſent for them of the caſtle, 32 And ſhewed them wicked Nicanors head, and the head of that blaſphemer, which hee had holden vp againſt the holy Temple of the Almightie, with proud brags.

33 Yee cauſed the tongue alſo of wicked Nicanor to be cut in little pieces, and to be caſt vnto the foules, and that the rewards of his madneſſe ſhould be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euery man prayſed toward the heauen the glorious Lord, ſaying, Bleſſed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 Yee hanged alſo Nicanors head vpon the high caſtle, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And ſo they eſtabliſhed altogether by a common decree that they would in no caſe ſuffer this day without keeping it holy:

37 And that the feaſt ſhould be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syrians language, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in poſſeſſion. And heere will I alſo make an end.

39 If I haue done well, and as the ſtorie required, it is the thing that I deſired: but if I haue ſpoken ſlenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleaſant and delighteth the taſte: ſo the ſetting out of the matter delighteth the eares of them that reade the ſtorie. And heere ſhall be the end.

Cum Priuilegio,

The ſumme of the whole Scripture of the Bookes of the Old and New Teſtament.

GOD.

THE bookes of the olde Teſtament doe teach vs, that the ſame God, whom Adam, Noe, Abraham, Iſaac, Iacob, Dauid, and the other fathers did worſhip, is * the onely true God, and that hee the ſame is Almighty and [a] euerlaſting: who of his meere goodneſſe hath created by his Word [b] heauen and earth, and all that is in them: From whom all things doe come: without whom there is nothing at all: And that he is [c] iuſt and mercifull: who alſo [d] worketh all in all, [e] after his owne will: [f] To whom it is not lawfull to ſay, Wherefore doth he thus Creation of man.

MOreouer, theſe Bookes teach vs, that this very God Almighty, after he created all things, ſhope alſo Adam the firſt man, [g] to the image and ſpirituall ſimilitude of himſelfe, and that he did conſtitute him Lord ouer all things that he had created in earth. Which Adam by the enuie and fraude of the deuill, tranſgreſſing the precept of his Creator, [h] by this his ſinne brought in ſuch and ſo great ſinne into the worlde, that we which be ſprong from him by the fleſh, [i] bee in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made ſubiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke and tyranny of the deuill.

Jonathan Sanderson his Booke God Giue him Grace ouer it to reade Loake and beleeue that is Chriſt promiſed.

FVrthermore, we are taught by theſe excellent bookes, that God promiſed to [k] Adam, [l] Abraham, [m] Iſaac, [n] Iacob, [o] Dauid, and to other Fathers of the olde time, that he would ſende that bleſſed ſeede, his ſonne Ieſus Chriſt our Sauiour, which ſhould deliuer all thoſe from ſinne, and from the [p] tyrannie of the deuill which by a liuely and working faith ſhould beleeue this promiſe, and put their truſt in Ieſus Chriſt, hoping that of him and by him, they ſhould obtaine this deliuerance.

The Lawe.

ALſo they giue vs to vnderſtand, that in the meane ſeaſon, while thoſe Fathers the Iſraelites looked for the ſaluation, and deliuerance promiſed (for that the nature of man is ſuch, ſo proud and to corrupt, that thoſe would not willingly acknowledge themſelues to bee ſinners, which had neede of the Sauiour promiſed) God the Creator gaue by Moſes his [q] Lawe written in two Tables of ſtone: that by it, ſinne & the malice of mans heart being [r] knowen, men might more vehemently thirſt for the [s] comming of Ieſus Chriſt, who ſhould redeeme and deliuer them from ſinne: which thing, neither the Lawe, nor yet the ſacrifices and oblations of the Law did [t] performe. For they were ſhadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Chriſt: by which oblation all [u] ſinne ſhould be blotted out, and quite put away.

Chriſt God our Sauiour came.

BY the bookes of the new Teſtament we be taught, that Chriſt ſo afore promiſed (* which is God aboue all things moſt bleſſed for euer) euen he, I ſay, was ſhadowed in the bookes of the olde Teſtament, and in ſacrifices figured, that hee was [a] ſent at the laſt from the Father, the ſelfe ſame time which the Father did conſtitute within himſelfe: I ſay, [b] at that time when all wickednes abounded in the world, then hee was ſent: And this Ieſus our Sauiour being borne in the fleſh, [c] ſuffered death, and roſe againe from the dead. Which actes of his were not done by him in reſpect of the [d] good workes of any man (for we were all ſinners) but that this God our Father ſhould [e] appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant [f] riches of his grace which he promiſed, and that [g] through his mercie hee might bring vs to ſaluation.

Alambe. Aſacrifice. Peace. Adoption.

Whereupon it is euidently ſhewed in the [h] Newe Teſtament, that Ieſus Chriſt, being the true [i] Lambe, the true [k] ſacrifice of the worlde, [l] putting away the ſinnes of men, came into this worlde to purchaſe grace and [m] peace for vs with the Father, [n] waſhing vs from our ſinnes in his owne blood, and [o] ſhould deliuer vs from the bondage of the deuill, whom by ſinne we did ſerue: And ſo we ſhould be [p] adopted by him to be the ſonnes of God, made [q] heires with him of that moſt excellent and euerlaſting kingdome.

The holy Ghoſt. Faith.

Now that we ſhould acknowledge this ſingular and excellent benefit of God towards vs, almighty God [r] giueth vs his holy Spirit: the [s] fruit and effect of which, is faith in God, and in his Chriſt. For without the holy Ghoſt, by which we are inſtructed and [t] ſealed, neither can we beleeue that God the Father ſent Meſſias, nor yet that Ieſus is Chriſt: For [u] no man (ſaith Paul) can ſay that Ieſus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghoſt. The [x] ſame Spirit witneſſeth to our ſpirit, that we are the children of God, [y] and powreth into our bowels that Charitie which Paul deſcribeth to the Corinthians. Furthermore, that holy Spirit doth giue vs hope, which is a ſure looking for eternall life, whereof he himſelfe is the certaine [z] token and pledge. Alſo he giueth vs other * ſpirituall gifts, of the which Paul writeth to the Galatians. Therfore the benefit of faith is not yet to be deſpiſed or litle to be ſet by. For by the means of this truſt & [a] faith in Chriſt, which [b] worketh by charity, & ſhewethit ſelfe foorth by the works of charity, [c] ouing man thereto, we are [c] iuſtified and ſanctified: that is to ſay, God and the Father of our Lord

Ieſus Chriſt (which is made our [d] Father alſo by him, being our [e] brother) doeth accompt vs to be iuſt and holy through his grace, and through the merite of his Sonne Ieſus Chriſt, not imputing our ſinnes to vs, ſo farre foorth, that we ſhould ſuffer the paines of hell for them.

Finally, Chriſt himſelfe came into the world, to the intent that we through him being ſanctified and cleanſed from our ſinnes, following his will in good workes, ſhould deny the things pertaining to the flesh, and freely [h] ſerue him in righteouſneſſe and holineſſe all the dayes of our life: and that [i] by good workes (which God hath prepared for vs to walke in) we ſhould [k] ſhew our ſelues to be called to his grace, and gift of faith: which good workes who ſo hath not, doeth ſhew himſelfe not to haue ſuch a faith in Chriſt as is required in vs.

Good works.

To Chriſt muſt we come, and [l] follow him with a cheerefull minde, that he may teach vs: For hee is [m] our maſter, [n] lowly and humble of heart: he is to vs an [o] example, whereby we muſt learne the rule to liue well.

Chriſt our Maſter and teacher.

Moreouer, he is our [p] Biſhop, & our [q] high Prieſt, which did himſelfe offer vp for vs his own blood, being the onely [r] mediatour betweene God and men: Who now ſitteth at the right hand of God the Father, being made our [ſ] Aduocate, making prayer and interceſſion for vs: who doubtleſſe ſhall obteine for vs [t] whatſoeuer we ſhall deſire, either of him, or elſe of his Father in his Name, if ſo be that we thus deſiring, ſhall beleeue that he will ſo do: for thus hath he promiſed. Therefore let vs not doubt, if we ſinne at any time, to come with [u] repentance (to the which he doeth inuite and ſtirre vs at the very beginning of his preaching) and with ſure truſt to the [x] throne of his grace, with this beliefe, that we ſhall obteine mercy. For therefore [y] he came into the world, that he might ſaue ſinners by his grace.

Biſhop. Mediatour. Aduocate.

THis is verily Chriſt Ieſus, which ſhall come at a [z] certaine time appointed by his Father, and ſhall ſit in great maieſtie to [a] iudge all men, and to render to euery man [b] the workes of his body according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill: And he ſhall ſay to them which ſhall be on the right ſide, which in this world did looke for the good things to come (that is to ſay, life euerlaſting:) [c] Come yee bleſſed of my Father, enioy the kingdome that hath bene prepared for you from the beginning of the world: but to them which ſhalbe on the left ſide, he ſhall ſay, Depart from me ye curſed into euerlaſting fire prepared for the deuil and his angels. And then [d] ſhall the end bee, when Chriſt hauing vterly vanquiſhed all maner of enemies, ſhall deliuer vp the kingdome to God the Father.

Iudgement.

Eternall life.

Eternall fire.

TO the intent that wee mought vnderſtand theſe things, the [e] ſacred Bookes of the Bible were deliuered to vs by the goodneſſe of God through his holy Spirit, with the preaching of that doctrine which is conteined in them, and with his Sacraments, by which the trueth of his doctrine is ſealed vp to vs: that we [f] mought vnderſtand, I ſay, and beleeue that there is one onely true God, and one Sauiour Ieſus Chriſt, whom (as he had promiſed) hee hath ſent: [g] and that wee beleeuing, mought haue in his Name life euerlaſting.

To what intent the Scriptures were written.

BEſides this [h] foundation, no man can lay any other in the Church of Chriſt: and vpon this foundation the Church doeth ſtand ſure and ſtedfaſt. And Paul willeth him to bee [i] accurſed which ſhall preach any other faith and ſaluation, then by IESVS CHRIST, yea, though hee were an Angel from heauen.

Chriſt the onely foundation.

For [k] of him, through him, and for him, are all things: To whom with the Father and the holy Ghoſt be all honour and glory, world without end, Amen.

Certaine

¶ Certaine questions and answeres touching the doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods word and Sacraments.

Question.

WHy doe men so much vary in matters of religion?

Answere.

Because all haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither doe all beleeue the Gospel of Christ.

Question.

What is the reason thereof?

Answere.

Because they onely beleeue the Gospel and doctrine of Christ, which are ordeined vnto eternall life.

Question.

Are not all ordeined vnto eternall life?

Answere.

Some are vessels of wrath ordained vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercie prepared to glory.

Question.

How standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto damnation?

Answere.

Very well: because all men haue in themselues sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercie of God is wonderfull in that he vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinfull race, and to bring them to the knowledge of the trueth.

Question.

If Gods ordinance and determination must of necessitie take effect, then what need any man to care? for he that liueth well, must needes be damned, if he be thereunto ordained: and he that liueth ill must needs be saued, if he be thereunto appointed.

Answere.

Not so: for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwayes be without care to doe well, or that the reprobate should haue any will thereunto. For to haue either good will or good worke, is a testimonie of the Spirit of God which is giuen to the Elect onely, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that, being graft in Christ they grow in holinesse to that glory, whereunto they are appointed. Neither are they so vaine as once to thinke that they may doe as they list themselues, because they are predestinate vnto saluacion: but rather they endeuour to walke in such good workes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained them vnto, and prepared for them to be occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay and assurance, and to his glory.

Question.

But how shall I know my selfe to be one of those whom God hath ordained to life eternall?

Answere.

By the motions of spirituall life, which belongeth onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceiued, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sense and motions thereof.

Question.

What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answere.

I meane remorse of conscience, ioyned with the lothing of sinne, and loue of righteousnes: the hand of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distresse, and raised vp to confidence in God by the worke of his Spirit: a thankefull remembrance of Gods benefits receiued, and the vsing of all aduersities as occasion of amendment sent from God.

Question.

Cannot such perish as at some time or other feele these motions within themselues?

Answere.

It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changeable, so hee repenteth not of the gifts and graces of his adoption: neither doeth hee cast off those whom he hath once receiued?

Question.

Why then should we pray by the example of Dauid, that he cast vs not from his face, and that hee take not his holy Spirit from vs?

Answere.

In so praying we make protestation of the weakenesse of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not we haue courage to aske, if wee were not assured that God will giue according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.

Doe the children of God feele the motions aforesaid alwayes alike?

Answere.

No truely: for God sometime to proue his, seemeth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh ouermatcheth the spirit, whereof ariseth trouble of conscience for the time:

yet the ſpirit of adoption is neuer taken from them, that haue once receiued it: elſe might they periſh. But as in many diſeaſes of the body, the powers of bodily life are letted: ſo in ſome aſſaults theſe motions of ſpirituall life are not perceiued, becauſe they lie hidden in our manifold infirmities, as the fire couered with aſhes. Yet as after ſickeneſſe commeth health, & after cloudes the Sunne ſhineth cleare: ſo the powers of ſpirituall life will more or leſſe be felt and perceiued in the children of God.

Queſtion.

What if I neuer feele theſe motions in my ſelfe, ſhall I deſpaire and thinke my ſelfe a caſtaway?

Anſwere.

God forbid: for God calleth his at what time hee ſeeth good: and the inſtruments whereby he vſually calleth, haue not the like effect at all times, yet it is not good to neglect the meanes whereby God hath determined to worke the ſaluation of his. For as ware is not melted without heate, nor clay hardened but by meanes thereof: ſo God vſeth meanes both to draw thoſe vnto himſelfe, whom he hath appointed vnto ſaluation, and alſo to bewray the wickednеſſe of them whom he iuſtly condemneth.

Queſtion.

By what meanes vſeth God to draw men to himſelfe that they may be ſaued?

Anſwere.

By the preaching of his word, and the miniſtring of his Sacraments thereunto annexed.

Queſtion.

What meane you by the word of God?

Anſwere.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophets and Apoſtles which they receiued of the ſpirit of God, and haue left written in that booke which we commonly call the Old and New Teſtament.

Queſtion.

How may I be aſſured that it is the word of God, which that Booke conteineth?

Anſwere.

By the maieſty of God appearing in that plaine and ſimple doctrine: by the puritie, vprightneſſe, and holineſſe thereof: by the certaintie of euery thing therein affirmed: by the ſucceſſe of all things according to it: by perpetuall conſent which is to be ſeene in euery part thereof: by the excellencie of the matters vttered: But eſpecially by the teſtimony of Gods Spirit, whereby it was written, who moueth the hearts of thoſe in whom it reſteth, to conſent vnto the word, and reuerently to embrace it.

Queſtion.

How doth this word of God ſerue to draw men vnto him?

Anſwere.

When it is ſo preached and heard, that men may vnderſtand and learne what God teacheth: accept and receiue thankefully that which is thereby giuen, promiſed and aſſured: and be moued with deſire and diligence to doe that which it commandeth.

Queſtion.

Doe the Sacraments alſo ſerue to this ende?

Anſwere.

Yea verily: that by ſight, taſte and feeling, as well as by hearing we might be inſtructed, aſſured, and brought to obedience.

Queſtion.

How doeth our Baptiſme ſerue hereunto?

Anſwere.

It teacheth vs to put on Chriſt, that with his righteouſneſſe our ſinnefulneſſe may be hidden: it aſſureth vs that wee are ſo graft into Chriſt, that all our ſinnes by him are waſhed away: it chargeth vs to die to ſinne, to continue in the profeſſion of Chriſt, and to loue each other.

Queſtion.

Hath the Lords Supper alſo this vſe?

Anſwere.

Yea doubtleſſe: for it teacheth, that the body and blood of Chriſt crucified, is the only food of the new borne children of God: it aſſureth that Chriſt is wholly theirs to giue and to continue life ſpirituall and heauenly to body and ſoule, to nouriſh, ſtrengthen, refreſh, and to make cheerefull the hearts of the elect: it requireth thankefull remembrance of the death of Chriſt, vnitie among thoſe that doe profeſſe him, with a free confeſſion of his trueth.

Queſtion.

Why is not this vſe of the Sacraments commonly knowen?

Anſwere.

Becauſe they are abuſed for forme, for faſhion, for cuſtome and company, without regard vnto the word, whereunto they are ſo annexed, that they ought not vpon any neceſſity by any perſon be ſeuered from it, which teacheth the right vſe of euery thing.

Queſtion.

I perceiue that nothing is more neceſſarie then the word of God: therefore I pray you ſhew me how I may attaine to ſome knowledge and profite thereby.

Anſwere.

By diligent hearing of ſuch as preach it, by continuall and orderly exercile of reading and praying.

Queſtion.

What orderly exercile thinke you moſt conuenient to be vſed herein?

Anſwere.

Answere.

That as euery day twice at the least, wee must commonly receiue foode to the nourishment of this corporall life: so no day bee let passe without some reading, in such sort that occasion thereby may bee taken to speake againe vnto God by prayer, as he in his word speaketh vnto vs, so that at the least two Chapters would be orderly and aduisedly read euery day, all other businesse, impediments and lets set apart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done: what thinke you else requisite?

Answere.

That some speciall places of Scripture be so be committed to memory, that the minde may euer be furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which end I note these Scriptures vnto you, wherunto you may ioine other at your owne choice: Psalmes 139.37,50. Esay 53. Iohn 17. Rom. 8. 1. Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are hard, and not easie to vnderstand.

Answere.

Discourage not your selfe herewith: for God maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seeke him: and that hardnesse that you finde, serueth to moue you to the more diligence, and to make inquiry of such as haue knowledge when any doubt ariseth. That which you perceiue not at one time, God shall reueale at another: So that you shall haue your growing in grace, knowledge and godlines, to Gods glory and your owne comfort in Christ, whose Name for euer bee praised, Amen.

¶ The

The holy a Gospel of Iesus Christ b according to Matthew.

a This word signifieth good tidings, and is taken here for the story which conteineth the ioyfull message of the comming of the Sonne of God promised from the beginning.

b That is, written and taught by Matthew.

THE ARGVMENT.

IN this history written by Matthew, Marke, Luke, and Iohn, the Spirit of God so governed their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect & purpose they so coïent, as though the whole had beene composed by any one of them. And though in style & maner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one writeth more largely that which the other doeth abridge: neuertheleſſe in matter and argument, they all tend to one end: which is to publiſh to the world the fauour of God toward mankinde through Christ Iesus, whom the Father hath giuen as a pledge of his mercy and loue. And for this cause they entitle their story, Gospel, which signifieth good tidings, forasmuch as God hath performed indeed that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admoniſhed to forsake the world, and the vanities therof, and with moſt affectionate hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offered vnto vs: for there is no ioy nor conſolation, no peace nor quietneſſe, no felicitie nor ſaluation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very ſubſtance of this Gospel, and in whom all the promiſes are, Yea, and Amen. And therefore vnder this word is conteined the whole new Teſtament: but commonly we vſe this name for the hiſtorie, which the foure Euangeliſts write, containing Christ comming in the fleſh, his death and reſurrection, which is the perfect ſumme of our ſaluation. Matthew, Marke, and Luke are more copious in deſcribing his life and death: but Iohn more laboureth to ſet forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and alſo the vertue of his death and reſurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to know that Christ was borne, dead, and riſen againe, ſhould nothing profit vs. The which thing notwithſtanding that ſ three firſt touch partly, as hee alſo ſometime intermedleth the hiſtoricall narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a moſt learned interpreter writeth, they deſcribe as it were, the body, and Iohn ſetteth before our eyes the ſoule. Wherfore the ſame aptly teameth the Goſpel writte by Iohn, the key which openeth the doore to the vnderſtanding of the others: for whoſoeuer doeth know the office, vertue, and power of Christ, ſhall reade that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the Redeemer of the world with moſt profit. Now as concerning the writers of this hiſtory, it is euident that Matthew was a Publicane or cuſtome gatherer, & was thence choſen of Christ to be an Apoſtle. Marke is thought to haue been Peters diſciple, and to haue planted the firſt Church at Alexandria, where he died the eight yere of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a Phyſician of Antiochia, and became Pauls diſciple, and fellow in all his trauailes: he liued foureſcore and foure yeres, and was buried at Conſtantinople. Iohn was that Apoſtle whom the Lord loued, the ſonne of Zebedeus, and brother of Iames: he died threeſcore yeere after Christ, and was buried neere to the citie of Epheſus.

c This is the rehearſall of the progenie, whereof Ieſus Christ is ſprung according to the fleſh.

d So called for that he came of the ſtocke of Dauid.

e These two are firſt rehearſed, becauſe Christ was eſpecially promiſed to come of them and their ſeede, and therefore Christ commonly was called the ſonne of Dauid, becauſe the promiſe was more euidently confirmed vnto him. Gene. 21.2. Gene. 25.24. Gene. 29.35. Gene. 38.27.

15 And Eliud begat Eleazar. And Eleazar begate Matthan. And Matthan begate Jacob.

16 And Jacob begate Joseph, the husband of Mary, [f] of whom was borne Jesus, that is called [l] Christ.

17 So all the generations from Abraham to Dauid, are fourteene generations: [g] from Dauid vntill they were caried away into Babylon, fourteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon, vntill Christ, fourteene generations.

18 ¶ Now the birth of Jesus Christ was thus: When as his mother Mary was * betrothed to Joseph, [m] before they came together, she was found [n] with childe of the holy Ghost.

19 Then Joseph her husband being a [o] iust man, and not willing to * make her a publique example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a [p] dreame, saying, Joseph thou [q] sonne of Dauid, feare not to take Mary for thy wife: for that which is conceiued in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And she shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt * call his Name [r] Jesus: for he shal *saue his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying, 23 * Behold, a Virgine shalbe with child, and shall beare a sonne, and ‖ they shall call his Name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, [s] God with vs.

24 ¶ Then Joseph being rayſed from sleepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and tooke his wife.

25 But knew her not, till shee had brought forth her [t] first borne sonne, and he called his Name IESVS.

[f] Chron. 3.17, 19 Ezra. 3.2. and 5.2.
[l] Albeit the Iewes number their kinred by the malekind, yet this linage of Mary is comprehended vnder the same, because she was maried to a man of her owne stocke and Tribe.
1 Who is the true King, Priest, and Prophet anoint.d of God to accomplish the office of the redeemer.
Luke 1.27.
[m] Before he tooke her home to him.
[n] As the Angel afterward declared to Joseph.
[o] Vpright and fearing God, and therefore suspecting that she had committed fornication, before she was betrothed, would neither retaine her, which by the Law should be maried to an other, neither by accusing her put her to shame for her fact.
Deut. 24.1.
[p] This dreame is witnessed by the holy Ghost, and is a kinde of reuelation, Num. 12.6.
[q] This name putteth him in remembrance of Gods promise to Dauid. Luke 1.31.

[s] God is ioyned with vs by the meanes of Iesus Christ, who is both God and man.
[t] Christ is heare called the first borne, because she had neuer any before, and not in respect of any shee had after. Neither yet doeth this word (till) import alwayes a time following: wherein the contrary may be affirmed, as our Sauiour, saying that he will be present with his disciples till the ende of the world, meaneth not, that after this world hee will not be with them.

CHAP. II.

1 The time and place of Christs birth. 11 The wise men offer their presents. 14 Christ fleeth into Egypt. 16 The young children are slaine. 23 Ioseph turneth into Galilee.

Luke 2.6.
[a] For there is another Beth-lehem in the tribe of Zebulun.

VVHen * Jesus then was borne at Beth-lehem in [a] Judea, in the dayes of Herode the King, behold, there came [b] wise men from the east to Jerusalem,

2 Saying, Where is the King of the Iewes that is borne? for wee haue seene [c] starre in the East, and are come [d] to worship him.

3 When king Herode heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the chiefe Priests and Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 [e] And they sayd vnto him, At Beth-lehem in Judea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 * And thou Beth-lehem in the land of Juda, art not the least among the princes of Juda: for out of thee shal come the gouernor that shall feed my people Israel.

7 Then Herode [f] priuily called the wise men, & diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-lehem, saying, Go and search diligently for the babe: and when yee haue found him, bring mee word againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and loe, the [g] starre which they had seen in the East, went before them, till it came, and stood ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioy, 11 And went into the house, and ‖ found the babe with Mary his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their Treasures, and presented vnto him gifts, euen [h] gold, and incense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they should [i] not go againe to Herode, they returned into their country another way.

13 ¶ After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Joseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there till I bring thee word: for Herode will seeke the babe to destroy him.

14 So he arose, and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt,

15 And was there vnto the death of Herode, [k] that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lorde by the * Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

16 ¶ [l] Then Herode, seeing that hee was mocked of the Wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth lehem, and in all the coastes thereof, from two yeere olde and vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wise men.

17 Then was that fulfilled which was

[b] Wise men, or Magi, in the Persians & Chaldeans tongue, signifie Philolophers, Priests or Astronomers & are here the first fruits of the Gentiles that come to worship Christ.
[c] An extraordinary signe to set forth that Kings honour whom the world did not esteeme.
[d] Which was a declaration of that reuerence which the Gentiles should beare vnto Christ.
[e] They could well tell of Christ in generall: but when they should professe his Name, and giue him his due honour, they waxe cold and shrinke backe.
Mica. 5.2.
Iohn. 7.42.
[f] An euill conscience is a burning fire.
[g] The starre vanished away before, to the intent they should tary at Ierusalem, and there inquire of the thing to the confusion of the Iewes.
‖ Or, saw.
[h] The Persians maner was not to salute Kings without a present, and therefore they brought of that which was most precious in their countrey, whereof euery one of them offered.
[i] Promise ought not to be kept where Gods honour and preaching of his trueth is hindered: or else it ought not to be broken.
[k] That which was prefigured by the deliuerance of the Israelites out of Egypt, which were Christs Church and his body, is now verified, and accomplished in the head Christ. Hose 11.1.
[l] Within a certaine time after.

spoken spoken by the Prophet Jeremias, saying,

18 * In [m] Rama was a voyce heard, mourning, and weeping, and great lamentation: Rachel weeping for her children, and would not bee comforted, because they [n] were not.

19 And when Herod was dead, beholde, an Angel of the Lord appeareth in a dreame to Joseph in Egypt, 20 Saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and goe into the land of Israel: for they are [o] dead which sought the babes life.

21 Then hee arose vp, and tooke the babe and his mother, and came into the land of Israel.

22 But when hee heard that Archelaus did reigne in Judea in stead of his father Herod, hee was afrayde to goe thither: || yet after hee was warned of God in a dreame, hee turned aside into the parts of Galile,

23 And went and dwelt in a citie called Nazareth, that it might bee fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, which was, that he should be called || a [p] Nazarite.

Jer. 31, 15.

m Herod renewed the sorow which the Benjamites had suffered long before: yet for al his cruelty hee could not bring to passe that Christ should not reigne.

n That is, they were killed and dead.

o Thus the faithful may see how God hath infinite meanes to preserue them from the rage of tyrants.

|| Or, therefore.

p Which is holy and consecrated to God: alluding vnto those that were Nazarites in the old Law, which were a figure of that holines which should be manifest in Christ, as was Samson, Ioseph, &c.

CHAP. III.

1 The office, doctrine and life of Iohn. 7 The Pharises are reproued. 8 The fruits of repentance. 13 Christ is baptized in Iorden, 17 and authorised by God his Father.

Mar. 1.4 luke 3.3

IN [a] those dayes, Iohn the Baptist came and preached in the [b] wildernesse of Judea,

2 And sayd, || Repent: for the [c] kingdome of heauen is at hand.

3 For this is he of whom it is spoken by the Prophet Esayas, saying, * The voyce of him that cryeth in the wildernesse, is, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his pathes straight.

4 * And this Iohn had his [d] garment of camels haire, and a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: his meat was also || [e] locusts and wild hony.

5 * Then went out to him Jerusalem & all Judea, and all the region round about Iordan,

6 And they were baptized of him in Iordan, [f] confessing their sinnes.

7 Now when hee saw many of the Pharises and of the Sadducees come to his baptisme, he sayd vnto them, * O || generations of vipers, who hath forewarned you to flee from the anger to come?

8 Bring forth therefore [g] fruits worthy amendement of life, a In the 15. yere of the reigne of Tiberius, after Christ had long time remained in Nazaret, and was now about 30. yeere olde, Luke 3.1, 23.

b So called in respect of the plain countrey and fertile valleys, & not because it was not inhabited.

|| Or, be sorie for your faults past, and amend.

c Which is, that God will reigne ouer vs, gather vs vnto him, pardon our sinnes, and adopt vs by the preaching of the Gospel.

Esa. 40.3, marke 1.3. luke 3.4. iohn 1.23. Marke 1.6.

d Wouen with haire, as grosse haire-cloth.

|| Or, grashoppers.

e Such meates as nature brought foorth without mans labour or diligence: reade Leuit. 11.22. Marke 1.5. luke 3.7.

f Acknowledging their faults: for there is no repentance without confession. Chap. 12.34.

|| Or, broods.

g He menaceth those venimous & malicious Pharises with the iudgement of God, except they shew before men such works as are agreeable to the profession of the godly, whom Isai calleth the fruits of righteousnesse, Chap. 61.3.

9 And thinke not to say with your selues, * We haue Abraham to our father: for I say vnto you, that God is able of these stones to raise vp children vnto Abraham.

10 And now also is the [h] axe put to the root of the trees: * therefore euery tree which bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen down and cast into the fire.

11 * Indeed I baptize you with water to amendement of life, but he that commeth after me, is mightier then I, whose shoes I am not worthy to beare: he will baptize you with the holy Ghost, and with [i] fire.

12 Which hath his [k] fanne in his hand, and will make cleane his floore, and gather his wheate into his garner, but will burne vp the chaffe with vnquenchable fire.

13 ¶ * Then came Jesus from Galile to Iordan vnto Iohn, to be baptized of him.

30 Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better is it for thee that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

4 But when Jesus saw their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke ye euill things [c] in your hearts?

5 For whether is it [d] easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that ye may know that the Son of man hath authoritie in earth to forgiue sinnes, (then saide hee vnto the sicke of the palsie,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

13 But goe [f] yee, and learne what this is, * I [g] will haue mercie, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the * sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ * Then came the disciples of John to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

3 Christ excuseth his disciples which pluck the eares of corne. 10 He healeth the dried hand, 22 helpeth possessed that was blind and dumbe. 31 Blasphemy. 34 The generation of vipers. 35 Of good workes. 36 Of idle wordes. 38 Hee rebuketh the vnfaithfull that would needs haue tokens, 49 And sheweth who is his brother, sister and mother.

AT * that time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his disciples were an hungred, and began to pluck the eares of corne, and to eat.

2 And when the Pharises saw it, they sayd vnto him, Behold, thy disciples doe that which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.

3 But hee sayd vnto them, * [a] haue ye not read what Dauid did when hee was an hungred, and they that were with him?

4 How he entred into the house of God, and ate the Shew bread, which was not lawfull for him to eate, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the * Priests?

5 Or haue ye not read in the Law, how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priestes in the Temple * [b] breake the Sabbath, and are blamelesse?

6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knew what this is, * I will haue mercy and not sacrifice, yee would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the Sonne of man is [c] Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

9 * And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue.

10 And beholde, there was a man which had his hande dryed vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? That they might accuse him.

11 And hee sayd vnto them, What man shall there bee among you, that shall haue a sheepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, will hee not take it and lift it out?

12 How much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then sayd hee to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 Then the Pharises went out, and consulted against him how they might destroy him.

15 But when Iesus knew it, he departed thence, and great multitudes followed him, and he healed them all,

16 And charged them that they should not make him knowen,

17 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by Esaias the Prophet, saying,

18 * Behold my seruant whome I haue chosen, my beloued in whome my soule delighteth: I will put my Spirit on him, and hee shall shew [d] iudgement to the Gentiles.

19 He shal not [e] striue nor cry, neither shal any man heare his voyce in the streets.

20 A [f] bruised reede shall he not breake, and smoaking flaxe shall hee not quench, till hee bring forth Iudgement [g] vnto victorie.

21 And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 ¶ * Then was brought to him one possessed with a deuill, both blind [h] dumbe, and he healed him, so that he which was blind and dumbe, both spake and saw.

23 And all the people were amazed, and sayd, Is not this the Sonne of Dauid?

24 But when the Pharises heard it, they said, * This man casteth the deuils no otherwise out, but through Beelzebub the prince of deuils.

25 But Iesus knew their thoughts, and sayd to them, Euery kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be ‖ brought to nought: and euery citie or house diuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, he is diuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome indure?

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the wayes side, and the foules came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stony ground, where they had not much earth, & anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

15 † For this peoples heart is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes haue they winked, lest they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and should vnderstand with their hearts, and should returne, that I might heale them.

16 But blessed are your eyes, for they ‖ see: and your eares, for they heare.

17 * For verily I say vnto you, that many Prophets and righteous men haue desired to see those things which yee see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them.

18 ¶ * Heare ye therefore the parable of the sower.

19 Whensoeuer a man heareth the word of the kingdome, and vnderstandeth it not, the euill one commeth, and catcheth away that which was sowen in his heart: and this is he which ‖ hath receiued the seede by the way side.

20 And hee that receiued seede in the stonie ground, is hee which heareth the word, and incontinently with ioy receiueth it.

21 Yet hath hee no root in himselfe, and dureth but a season: for as soone as tribulation or persecution commeth because of the word, by and by he is offended.

22 And he that receiueth the seed among thornes, is he, that heareth the word: but the care of this world, and the deceitfulnesse of riches choke the word, and he is made vnfruitfull.

23 But he that receiueth the seede in the good ground, is he that heareth the word, and vnderstandeth it, which also beareth fruit, and bringeth forth, some an hundreth fold, some sixty fold, and some thirty fold.

24 ¶ Another parable put he forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a man which sowed good seede in his field.

25 [h] But while men slept, there came his enemie, and sowed tares among the wheate, and went his way.

26 And when the blade was sprung vp, and brought foorth fruit, then appeared the tares also.

27 Then came the seruants of the householder, and said vnto him, Master, sowedst not thou good seed in thy field? from whence then hath it tares?

28 And hee sayd to them, The enuious man hath done this. Then the seruants said vnto him, Wilt thou then that we goe, and gather them vp?

29 But he said, Nay, lest while yee goe about to gather the tares, ye plucke vp also with them the wheat.

30 [i] Let both grow together vntill the haruest, and in time of haruest I will say to the reapers, Gather yee first the tares, and binde them in sheaues to burne them: but gather the wheate into my barne.

31 ¶ * Another parable he put forth vnto them, saying, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto a graine of mustard seede, which a man taketh and soweth in his field: Marke 4.30, Luke 13.19.

32 Which in deed is the [k] least of all seeds: but when it is growen it is the greatest among herbes, and it is a tree, so that the birds of heauen come and build in the branches thereof.

33 ¶ * Another parable spake he to them, The kingdome of heauen is like vnto leauen, which a woman taketh and hideth in three peckes of meale, [l] till all bee leauened.

34 ¶ * All these things spake Jesus vnto the multitude in parables, and without parables spake he not vnto them, 35 That it might be fulfilled, which was spoken by the Prophet, saying, * I will open my mouth in [m] parables, and will vtter the things which haue been kept secret from the foundation of the world.

36 Then sent Jesus the multitude away, and went into the house. And his disciples came vnto him, saying, Declare vnto vs the parable of the tares of the field.

37 Then answered he, and said to them, He that soweth the good seede, is the Sonne of man,

38 And the field is the worlde, and the good seede, they are the children of the kingdome, and the tares are the children of the wicked,

39 And the enemie that soweth them, is the deuill, * and the haruest is the end of the world, and the reapers be the Angels. Ioel 3.13. Reuel. 14.15.

40 As then the tares are gathered and burned in the fire: so shall it be in the end of this world.

42 And shall cast them into a fornace of fire. There shall be wayling and gnashing of teeth.

CHAP. XV.

3 Christ excuseth his disciples, and rebuketh the Scribes and Pharises, for transgressing Gods Commandement by their owne traditions. 13 The plant that shall bee rooted out. 18 What things defile a man. 22 Hee deliuereth the woman of Chananees daughter. 26 The bread of the children. 30 Hee healeth the sicke, 36 And feedeth foure thousand men, besides women and children.

THen came to Jesus the Scribes and Pharises, which were of Jerusalem, saying,

2 *Why doe thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders? for they [a] wash not their hands when they eat ‖ bread.

3 But he answered and said vnto them, Why doe ye also transgresse the commandement of God by your tradition?

4 * For God hath commaunded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: * and hee that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, Whosoeuer shall say to father or mother, [b] By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profit, 9 Though hee honour not his father, or his mother, shall be free: thus haue yee made the commandement of God of no authority by your tradition.

7 O hypocrites, Esaias prophesied well of you, saying,

8 * This people draweth neere vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth mee with the lippes, but their heart is farre off from mee.

9 But [c] in vaine they worship mee, teaching for doctrines mens precepts.

10 * Then he called the multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, Heare and vnderstand.

11 That which goeth into the mouth, defileth not the man, but that which commeth out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and said vnto him, Perceiuest thou not that the Pharises are offended in hearing this saying?

13 But he answered and said, * [d] Euery plant which mine heauenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted vp.

14 [e] Let them alone: they be the * blinde leaders of the blind: and if the blind leade the blind, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 ¶ * Then answered Peter, and said to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then said Jesus, Are ye yet without vnderstanding?

17 Perceiue ye not yet, that whatsoeuer entreth into the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart * come euill [f] thoughts, murthers, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, slanders.

20 These are the things which defile the man: but to eat with vnwashen hands, defileth not the man.

21 * And Jesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And behold, a woman a Canaanite came out of the same coasts, and cryed, saying vnto him, Haue mercie on mee, O Lord, the sonne of Dauid: my daughter is miserably vexed with a deuill.

23 But hee answered her not a worde. Then came to him his disciples, [g] & besought him, saying, [g] Send her away, for she crieth after vs.

24 But he answered, and said, I am not sent, but vnto the * lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

25 Yet thee came, and worshipped him, saying, Lord helpe me.

26 And he answered, and said, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to [h] whelpes.

27 But thee said, Trueth, Lord: yet in deed the whelps eate of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Jesus answered, and said vnto her, O woman, great is thy [i] faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ So Jesus * went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galile, and went vp into a mountaine and sate downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, * hauing with them halte, blinde, dumbe, maimed, and many other, and cast them downe at Jesus feete, and hee healed them, 31 Insomuch that the multitude wondered, to see the dumbe speake, the maimed whole, the halt to goe, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 * Then Jesus called his disciples vnto him, and said, [k] I haue compassion on this multitude, because they haue continued with me already three dayes, and haue nothing to eate: and I will not let them depart fasting, lest they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples sayde vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wildernesse, as should suffice so great a multitude?

34 And Jesus sayde vnto them, How many loaues haue yee? and they sayde, Seuen, and a fewe little fishes.

35 Then he commaunded the multitude to sit downe on the ground.

36 And tooke the seuen loaues, and the fishes, and gaue thanks, and brake them, and gaue to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

THen * came the [a] Phariſes and Sadducees, and did [b] tempt him, deſiring him to ſhew them a ſigne from heauen.

2 But he anſwered, and ſaid vnto them, When it is euening, ye ſay, Faire weather: for the ſkie is red.

3 And in the morning ye ſay, To day ſhal be a tempeſt: for the ſkie is red and louring. O hypocrites, can ye diſcerne the face of the ſkie, and can yee not diſcerne the [c] ſignes of the times?

4 * The wicked generation, and adulterous ſeeketh a ſigne, and there ſhall no ſigne bee giuen it, but the [d] ſigne of the Prophet * Ionas: ſo he left them and departed.

5 ¶ And when his diſciples were come to the other ſide, they had * forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Ieſus ſaide vnto them, Take heede and beware of the leauen of the Phariſes and Sadducees.

7 And they ‖ thought in themſelues, ſaying, It is, becauſe wee haue brought no bread.

8 But Ieſus [e] knowing it, ſayd vnto them, O yee of little faith, why thinke you thus in your ſelues, becauſe yee haue brought no bread?

9 Doe yee not yet perceiue, neither remember the fiue loaues, when there were * fiue thouſand men, and how many baſkets toke ye vp?

11 Why perceiue yee not, that I ſaid not vnto you concerning bread, that ye ſhould beware of the leauen of the Phariſes and Sadducees?

12 Then vnderſtood they that hee had not ſaid, that they ſhould beware of the leauen of bread, but of the [f] doctrine of the Phariſes, and Sadducees.

13 ¶ * Now when Ieſus came into the coaſts of Cefarea Philippi, he aſked his diſciples, ſaying, Whom do men ſay that I the Sonne of man am?

14 And they ſaid, Some ſay, John Baptiſt: and ſome, Elias: and others, Jeremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He ſaid vnto them, But whom ſay ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter anſwered, and ſaid, * Thou art the Chriſt the Sonne of the liuing God.

17 And Ieſus anſwered, and ſaid to him, Bleſſed art thou, Simon the ſonne of Jonas: for [g] fleſh and blood hath not reuealed it vnto thee, but my Father which is in heauen.

18 And I ſay alſo vnto thee, that thou art * Peter, and vpon [h] this rocke will I build my Church: and the [i] gates of hell ſhall not ouercome it.

19 [k] And I * will giue vnto thee the keyes of the kingdome of heauen, and whatſoeuer thou ſhalt [l] binde vpon earth, ſhall bee bound in heauen: and whatſoeuer thou ſhalt ‖ loſe on earth ſhall be looſed in heauen.

20 Then he charged his diſciples, that they ſhould [m] tell no man that he was Ieſus the Chriſt.

21 ¶ [n] From that time forth Ieſus began to ſhew vnto his diſciples, that he muſt go vnto Ieruſalem, and ſuffer many things of the Elders, and of the high Prieſts and Scribes, and be ſlaine, and riſe againe the third day.

22 Then Peter tooke him aſide, and began to rebuke him, ſaying, Maiſter, pitie thy ſelfe: this ſhall not be vnto thee.

23 Then he turned backe, and ſaid vnto Peter, Get thee behinde me, [o] Satan: thou art an offence vnto me, becauſe thou vnderſtandeſt not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 Ieſus then ſaid vnto his Diſciples, * If any man will follow mee, let him forſake himſelfe, and take vp his croſſe and follow me.

25 For * whoſoeuer will [p] ſaue his life, ſhal loſe it: and whoſoeuer ſhall loſe his life for my ſake, ſhall finde it.

26 * For what ſhal it profit a man, though he ſhould win the whole world, if he loſe his owne ſoule? or what ſhall a man giue for recompenſe of his ſoule?

27 For the Sonne of man ſhall come in the glory of his Father with his Angels, and * then ſhall hee giue to euery man according to his deedes.

2 And was [a] transfigured before them: and his face did shine as the Sunne, and his clothes were as white as the light.

3 And behold, there appeared [b] vnto them Moses and Elias talking with him.

4 Then answered Peter, and said to Jesus, Master, it is [c] good for vs to be here: if thou wilt, let vs make here three Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

5 While hee yet spake, beholde, a bright cloud shadowed them: and beholde, there came a voice out of the cloud, saying, [d] This is my beloued Sonne, [e] in whom I am well pleased: [f] heare him.

6 And when [g] disciples heard that, they [h] fell on their faces, and were sore afraid.

7 Then Jesus came and touched them, and said, Arise, and be not afraid.

8 And when they lifted vp their eyes, they saw no man saue Jesus onely.

9 ¶ And as they came downe from the mountaine, Jesus charged them, saying, Shew the vision to no man, [i] vntil the Son of man rise againe from the dead.

10 [k] And his disciples asked him, saying, Why then say the Scribes that [l] Elias must first come?

11 And Jesus answered, and said vnto them, Certainely Elias must first come, and restore all things.

12 But I say vnto you, That Elias is come already, and they knew him not, but haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would: likewise shall also the Sonne of man suffer of them.

13 Then the disciples perceiued that hee spake vnto them of Iohn Baptist.

14 ¶ [m] And when they were come to the multitude, there came to him a certaine man and kneeled down to him,

15 And said, Master, haue pitie on my sonne: for he is lunatike, and is sore vexed: for oft times he falleth into the fire, and oft times into the water.

16 And I brought him to thy disciples, and they could not heale him.

17 Then Jesus answered, and said, [n] O generation faithlesse and crooked, how long now shal I be with you? how long now shal I suffer you? bring him hither to me.

18 And Jesus rebuked the deuill, and he went out of him, and the childe was healed at that houre.

19 Then came [o] disciples to Jesus apart, and said, Why could not we cast him out?

20 And Jesus said vnto them, Because of your vnbeliefe: for [p] verely I say vnto you, if ye haue faith as much as is a graine of mustard seed, ye shall say vnto this mountaine, [q] Remoue hence to yonder place, and it shall remoone: and nothing shall be vnpossible vnto you.

21 Howbeit, this kind goeth not out, but by [r] prayer and fasting.

22 ¶ And as [s] they abode [t] in Galile, Jesus said vnto them, The Sonne of man shal be deliuered into the hands of men, 23 And they shall kill him, but the third day shall he rise againe: and they were very sory.

24 ¶ And when they were come to Capernaum, they that receiued [u] poll money, came to Peter, and said, Doth not your Master pay tribute?

25 He said, Yes. And when he was come into the house, Jesus preuented him, saying, What thinkest thou Simon? Of whom do the Kings of the earth take tribute, or polle money? of their children, or of strangers?

26 Peter sayd vnto him, Of strangers. Then said Jesus vnto him, Then are the children free.

27 Neuertheless, lest we should [x] offend them, goe to the sea, and cast in an angle, and take the first fish that commeth vp, and when thou hast opened his mouth, thou shalt finde a [y] piece of twenty pence: that take, and giue it vnto them for me and thee.

28 But when the ſeruant was departed, he found one of his fellowes, which ought him an hundred o pence, and hee laid hands on him, and tooke him by the throat, ſaying, Pay me that thou oweſt.

29 Then his fellow fell down at his feet, and beſought him, ſaying, Appeale thine anger toward me, and I will pay thee all.

30 Yet he would not, but went and caſt him into priſon, till he ſhould pay the debt.

31 And when his other fellowes ſaw what was done, they were very ſory, and came, and declared vnto their maſter all that was done.

32 Then his maſter called him, and ſaid to him, O euill ſeruant, I forgaue thee all that debt, becauſe thou prayedſt me.

CHAP. XX.

1 Christ teacheth by a similitude, that God is debter to no man, and how he alway calleth men to his labour. 18 He admonisheth them of his passion. 20 Hee teacheth his to flee ambition. 28 Christ payeth our ransome. 30 He giueth two blind men their sight.

FOr the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine housholder, which went out at the dawning of the day to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And he agreed with the labourers for a penie a day, and sent them into his vineyard.

3 And hee went out about the b thirde houre, and saw other standing idle in the market place,

4 And said vnto them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right I will giue you: and they went their way.

5 Againe hee went out about the sixt and ninth houre, and did likewise.

6 And hee went about the eleuenth houre, and found other standing idle, and said vnto them, Why stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They said vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. He said vnto them, Go ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the Master of the vineyard said vnto his steward, Call the labourers in, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleuenth houre, came and receiued euery man a penie.

10 And when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued euery man a penie.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house, 12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them equall vnto vs, which haue borne the burthen, and heat of the day.

13 And he answered one of them, saying, ‖ Friend, I doe thee no wrong: diddest thou not agree with me for a penie?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and goe thy way: I will giue vnto this last as much as to thee.

15 Is it not lawfull for me to doe as I will with mine owne? Is thine eye c euill because I am good?

Luke 14.16. reuel.19.9.

2 The kingdom of heauen is like vnto a certaine King which maried his sonne,

3 And [a] sent foorth his seruants to call them that were bidden to the wedding, but they would not come.

a Christ reprocheth the Iewes of their ingratitude and obstinate malice, in that they reiected the grace of God which was so plentifully offred vnto them.

4 Againe he sent foorth other seruants, saying, Tell them which were bidden, Behold, I haue prepared my dinner: mine oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready: come vnto the mariage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

6 And the remnant tooke his seruants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

b God punisheth extremely such ingratitude.

7 But when the King heard it, hee was wroth, and sent forth his warriers, and [b] destroyed those murtherers, and burnt vp their city.

c The ingratitude of them which are bid, cannot cause Gods liberality & his holy meats to perish, which he hath prepared for his.

8 Then said he to his seruants, Truely the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden were not worthy.

9 Goe yee therefore out into the high wayes, and as many as ye finde, bid them to the mariage.

d In the Church the hypocrites are mixed with the godly.

10 So [c] those seruants went out into the hie wayes, and gathered together all that euer they found, both [d] good and bad: so the wedding was furnished with ghests.

e He had not a pure affection and vpright conscience, which proceeded of faith.

11 Then the King came in, to see the ghests, and saw there a man which had not on a [e] wedding garment.

12 And he sayd vnto him, Friend, how f camest thou in hither, & hast not on a wedding garment? and he was speechlesse.

13 Then sayd the King to the seruants, Binde him hand and foot: take him away, and cast him into vtter darknes: *there shal be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 *For many are called, but few chosen.

15 ¶ Then went the Pharises and took counsel how they might tangle him in talk.

16 And they sent vnto him their disciples with the h Herodians, saying, Master, wee know that thou art true, & teachest the way of God truly, neither carest for any man: for thou considerest not the i person of men.

17 Tell vs therefore, How thinkest thou? Is it lawfull to giue tribute vnto Cesar, or not?

18 But Iesus perceiued their wickednes, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew me the || tribute money. And they brought him a k peny.

20 And he said vnto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They sayd vnto him, Cesars. Then sayd he vnto them, *Giue therefore to Cesar, the things which are Cesars, and giue vnto God, those things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marueiled, and left him, and went their way.

23 ¶ *The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him,

24 Saying, Master, *Moses said, If a man die, hauing no ||children, let his brother l marry his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

25 Now there were with vs seuen brethren, and the first maried a wife, and deceased: and hauing no issue, left his wife vnto his brother.

26 Likewise also the second, and the third vnto the seuenth.

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shal she be of the seuen? for all had her.

29 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, Yee m are deceiued, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the Resurrection they neither marry wiues, nor wiues are bestowed in mariage, but are as the n Angels of God in heauen.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, haue ye not read what is spoken vnto you of God, saying,

Then

Then the [a] kingdome of heauen shall bee likened vnto ten virgins, which tooke their lampes, and went to [b] meete the bridegrome.

2 And fiue of them were wise, and fiue foolish.

3 The foolish tooke their lampes, but tooke none oyle with them.

4 But the wise tooke oyle in their vessels with their lampes.

5 Now while the bridegrome taryed long, all slumbred and slept.

6 And at midnight there was a cry made, Behold, the bridegrome commeth: goe out to meete him.

7 Then all those virgins arose, and trimmed their lampes.

8 And the foolish said to the wise, [c] Giue vs of your oyle, for our lampes are ‖ out.

9 But the wise answered, saying, We feare lest there will not be enough for vs and you: but [d] goe ye rather to them that sell, and buy for your selues.

10 And when they went to buy, the bridegrome came: and they that were readie, went in with him to the wedding, and the gate was shut.

11 Afterwards came also the other virgins, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs.

12 But he answered, and said, Verily I say vnto you, [e] I know you not.

13 [f] Watch therefore: for yee know neither the day nor the houre, when the Sonne of man will come.

14 [g] For the kingdome of heauen is as a man that goeth into a strange countrey, called his seruants, and deliuered to them his goods.

15 And vnto one hee gaue fiue talents, and to another two, and to another one, to euery man after his owne abilitie, & straightway went from home.

16 Then he that had receiued the fiue talents, went and occupied with them, and ‖ gained other fiue talents.

17 Likewise also, he that receiued two, he also gained other two.

18 But he that receiued that one, went and digged it in the earth, and hid his masters money.

19 But after a long season, the master of those seruants came, and reckoned with them.

20 Then came he that had receiued fiue talents, and brought other fiue talents, saying, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me fiue talents: behold, I haue gained with them other fiue talents.

21 Then his master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant and faithfull, Thou hast beene faithfull in little, I wil make thee ruler ouer much: [h] enter into thy masters ioy.

22 Also he that had receiued two talents, came and said, Master, thou deliueredst vnto me two talents: behold, I haue gained two other talents with them.

23 His master said vnto him, It is well done good seruant, and faithfull, Thou hast bene faithfull in little, I will make thee ruler ouer much: enter in into thy masters ioy.

24 Then he which had receiued the one talent, came and said, Master, I knew that thou wast an hard man, which reapest where thou sowedst not, and gatherest where thou strawedst not:

25 I was therefore afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: behold, thou hast thine owne.

26 And his master answered, and said vnto him, Thou euill seruant and ‖ slothful, thou knewest that I reape, where I sowed not, and gather where I strawed not.

27 Thou oughtest therefore to haue put my money to the exchangers, and then at my comming should I haue receiued mine owne with vantage.

28 Take therefore the talent from him, and giue it vnto him which hath ten talents.

29 * For vnto euery man that hath, it shal be giuen, and he shall haue abundance, and [i] from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken away.

30 Cast therefore that vnprofitable seruant into vtter * darkenesse: there shall bee weeping and gnashing of teeth.

31 ¶ And when the Sonne of man commeth in his glory, and all the holy Angels with him, then shall he sit vpon the throne of his glory.

32 And before him shall bee gathered all nations, and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepheard separateth his sheepe from the goates.

33 And he shall set the sheepe on his right hand, and the goates on the left.

34 Then shall the King say to them on the right hand, Come ye [k] blessed of my Father: inherite ye the kingdome prepared for you from the [l] foundations of the world.

35 * For [m] I was an hungred, & yee gaue me meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue me drinke: I was a stranger, and ye lodged me:

36 I was naked, and ye clothed me: I was * ‖ sicke, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came vnto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answere him, saying, Lord, when saw wee thee an hungred, and fed thee? or athirst, and gaue thee drinke?

38 And when saw we thee a stranger, and lodged thee? or naked, and clothed thee?

39 Or when saw we thee sicke, or in prison, and came vnto thee?

40 And the King shall answere and say vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, In as much as ye haue done it vnto one of the least of these my brethren, ye haue done it to me.

41 Then shal he say vnto them on the left hand, * Depart from me ye cursed into euerlasting fire, which is prepared for the deuill and his angels.

42 For I was an hungred, and yee gaue me no meate: I thirsted, and ye gaue me no drinke:

34 * Jeſus ſayd vnto him, Verily I ſay vnto thee, that this night, before the Cocke crow, thou ſhalt denie me thrice.

35 Peter ſaid vnto him, Though I ſhould die with thee, yet will I not denie thee. Likewiſe alſo ſaid all the Diſciples.

o He feared not death of it ſelfe, but trembled for feare of Gods anger toward ſinne the burden wherof hee bare for our ſakes.

36 ¶ * Then went Jeſus with them into a place which is called Gethſemane, and ſaid vnto his Diſciples, Sit yee here, while I goe and pray yonder.

37 And he tooke Peter, & the two ſonnes of Zebedeus, and began to waxe ſoꝛrowfull, [o] and grieuouſly troubled.

p For he ſaw Gods anger kindled towards vs.

38 Then ſaid Jeſus vnto them, My ſoule is very heauy, euen vnto the [p] death: tary ye here, and watch with me.

39 So he went a litle further, & fell on his face, and prayed, ſaying, O my Father, if it be poſſible, let this [q] cup [r] paſſe from me: neuertheleſſe, not as I will, but as thou wilt.

r He knew well what his Father had determined, and therfore was ready to obey: but he prayeth as the faithfull doe in their troubles, without reſpect of the eternall counſell of God.

40 After, he came vnto the diſciples, and found them aſleepe, & ſaid to Peter, What? could ye not watch with me one houre?

41 Watch, and pray, that ye enter not into tentation: the ſpirit in deede is ready, but the fleſh is [s] weake.

s And therefore we muſt continually fight againſt the fleſh.

42 Againe he went away the ſecond time, and prayed, ſaying, O my Father, if this cup

cup cannot passe away from me, but that I must drinke it, thy will be done.

43 And he came, and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heavy.

44 So he left them, & went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then came he to his Disciples, and said vnto them, [t] Sleep henceforth, and take your rest: behold, the houre is at hand, and the Son of man is giuen into the hands of sinners.

46 [u] Rise, let vs goe, behold, he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 * And while he yet spake, lo Iudas one of the twelue, came, & with him a great multitude with swords and staues from the high Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayed him, had giuen them a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shall kisse, that is he, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and said, ‖ God saue thee, Master, and kissed him.

50 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, [x] Friend, wherefore art thou come? Then came they, and laid hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And beholde, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and strooke a seruant of the high Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 Then said Iesus vnto him, Put vp thy sword into his ‖ place: * for all that [y] take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 Either thinkest thou, that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he will giue me more then twelue [z] legions of Angels?

54 How then should the * Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same houre said Iesus to the multitude, Ye bee come out as it were against a theefe with swords and staues to take me: I sate daily teaching in the Temple among you, and ye tooke me not.

56 But all this was done, that * Scriptures of the Prophets might bee fulfilled. * Then all the disciples forsooke him, & fled.

57 ¶ * And they tooke Iesus, & led him to Caiaphas the hie Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

58 And Peter followed him a far off vnto the hie Priests hall, and went in, and sate with the seruants to see the end.

59 * Now the chiefe Priestes and the Elders and all the whole Councill [a] sought false witnesse against Iesus to put him to death.

60 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they [b] none: but at the last came two false witnesses, 61 And sayd, This man sayd, * I can destroy the temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

62 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and sayd to him, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these men witnesse against thee?

63 But Iesus [c] held his peace. Then the chiefe Priest answered, and sayd to him, I [d] charge thee by the liuing God, that thou tel vs if thou be the Christ the Son of God.

64 * Iesus said to him, * Thou hast said it: neuertheless I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of the heauen.

65 Then the hie Priest rent his [f] clothes, saying, He hath blasphemed: what haue we any more need of witnesses? behold, now ye haue heard his blasphemy.

66 What thinke ye? They answered, and said, He is worthy to die.

67 * Then spat they in his face, and buffeted him: and [h] other smote him with their rods, 68 Saying, [i] Prophesie to vs, O Christ, Who is he that smote thee?

69 ¶ * Peter sate without in the hall: and a maid came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galile.

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when he went out into the porch, another mayd saw him, and sayd vnto them that were there, This man was also with Iesus of Nazaret.

72 And [k] againe he denied with an oath, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, and sayd vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech bewrayeth thee.

74 Then began hee to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And immediatly the cocke crew.

75 Then Peter remembred the words of Iesus, which had sayd vnto him, Before the cocke crow, thou shalt deny me thrise. So he went out, and [l] wept bitterly.

9 (Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremias the Prophet, saying, * And they tooke thirty siluer pieces, the price of him that was valued, whom they of the children of Israel valued.

10 And they gaue them for the potters field, as the Lord had appointed me.)

11 ¶ * And Iesus stood before the gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, saying, Art thou the king of the Iewes? Iesus said vnto him, Thou sayest it.

12 And when he was accused of the chiefe Priests and Elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then said Pilate vnto him, Hearest thou not how many things they lay against thee?

14 But he answered him not to one word, in so much that the Gouernour maruelled greatly.

15 Now at the feast the gouernour was wont to ‖ deliuer vnto the people [g] a prisoner, whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate said vnto them, Whether will ye that I let loose vnto you Barabbas, or Iesus which is called Christ?

18 (For he knew well, that for enuy they had deliuered him.

19 Also when he was set downe vpon the iudgement seat, his wife sent to him, saying, [h] Haue thou nothing to doe with that iust man: for I haue suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.)

20 * But the chiefe Priests and the Elders had perswaded the people, that they should aske Barabbas, and should destroy Iesus.

21 Then the Gouernour answered, and said vnto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let loose vnto you? And they said, [i] Barabbas.

22 Pilate said vnto them, What shall I doe then with Iesus which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then said the Gouernour, But what euil hath he done? Then they cried the more, saying, Let him be crucified.

24 When Pilate saw that he auailed nothing, but that more tumult was made, he tooke water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust [k] man, looke you to it.

25 Then answered all the people, & said, His [l] blood be on vs, and on our children.

26 Thus let he Barabbas loose vnto them, and scourged Iesus, and deliuered him to be crucified.

27 ¶ * Then the souldiers of the gouernor tooke Iesus into the common hal, and gathered about him the whole band.

28 And they stripped him, and put vpon him a [m] scarlet robe,

29 And platted a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, and a reed in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee, King of the Iewes,

30 And spitted vpon him, & tooke a reede and smote him on the head.

31 Thus when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne rayment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 * And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his crosse.

33 * And when they came vnto the place called Golgotha, (that is to say, the place of dead mens [‖] skulles)

34 They gaue him [n] vineger to drinke mingled with gall: and when he had tasted thereof, he would not drinke.

35 ¶ And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lots, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, * They diuided my garments among them, and vpon my vesture did cast lots.

36 And they sate and watched him there.

37 ¶ They set vp also ouer his head his cause written, [o] THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 ¶ And there were two theeues crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 And they that passed by, reuiled him, wagging their heads, 40 And saying, * Thou that destroiest the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes, saue thy selfe: if thou be the Sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

41 Likewise also the hie Priests mocking him, with the Scribes & Elders, and Pharises, said, 42 He saued others, but hee cannot saue himselfe: if he be the King of Israel, let him now come down from the crosse, and we will beleeue him.

43 * He [p] trusted in God, let him deliuer him now, if he will haue him: for he said, I am the Sonne of God.

44 That same also the [q] theeues which were crucified with him, cast in his teeth.

45 Now from the [r] sixt houre was there darknesse ouer all the [s] land vnto the ninth houre.

46 And about the ninth houre Iesus cried with a loud voyce, saying, * Eli, Eli, lamma sabacthani? that is, [t] My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, said, This man calleth [u] Elias.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the b Angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sate vpon it.

3 And his countenance was like lightening, and his raiment white as snow.

4 And for feare of him the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and said to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 He is not here, for he is risen, as he said: Come, see the place where the Lord was laid,

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead: and behold, hee goeth before you into Galile: there yee shall see him: c loe, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great d ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, and toke him by the feet, and worshipped him.

10 Then said Iesus vnto them, Bee not afraid: Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galile, and there shall they see mee.

11 ¶ Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the citie, and shewed vnto the high Priests all the things that were done.

The holy Gospel of Iesus Christ, according to Marke.

CHAP. I.

1 The office, doctrine and life of Iohn the Baptist. 9 Christ is baptized, 13 and tempted. 14 Hee preacheth, 17 calleth the fishers. 23 Christ healeth the man with the vncleane spirit. 27 New doctrine. 29 Hee healeth Peters mother in law. 34 The deuils know him. 41 He cleanseth the leper, and healeth diuers others.

THe [a] beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of God:

2 As it is written in the Prophets, * Beholde, I send my [b] messenger before thy face which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 * The voyce of him that cryeth in the wildernes, is, [c] Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 * Iohn did baptize in the wildernesse, and [d] preach the baptisme of amendment of life for remission of sinnes.

5 And all the countrey of Iudea, and they of Ierusalem went out vnto him, and were all baptized of him in the riuer Iordan, confessing their sinnes.

6 * Now Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skinne about his loynes: and he did eate ‖ * Locusts and wild honie, 7 * And preached, saying, A stronger then I commeth after mee, whose shoes latchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and vnlose.

8 Trueth it is, I haue baptized you with [e] water: but hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 ¶ * And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazaret a citie of Galile, and was baptized of Iohn in Iordan.

10 And assoone as ‖ hee was come out of the water, Iohn saw the heauens cloued in twaine, and the [f] holy Ghost descending vpon him like a doue.

11 Then there was a voice from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued [g] Sonne in whom I am well pleased.

12 * And immediatly the ‖ Spirit driueth him into the wildernesse.

13 And hee was there in the wildernesse fortie dayes, and was [h] tempted of Satan: hee was also with the wilde beastes, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 ¶ * Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galile, preaching [i] the Gospel of the kingdome of God, 15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent and beleeue the Gospel.

16 ¶ * And as he walked by the ‖ Sea of Galile, he saw Simon, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the Sea, (for they were fishers.) Matth 4.18. luke 5.2. ‖ Or, lake.

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, & I will make you to be [k] fishers of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 And when he had gone a little further thence, he saw Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets, 20 And anon hee called them: and they left their father Zebedeus in the ship with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 ¶ So * they entred into Capernaum, and straightway on the Sabbath day he entred into the Synagogue, and taught. Matth. 4.13. luke 4.31.

22 And they were astonied at his doctrine: * for he taught them as one that had authoritie, and [l] not as the Scribes. Matth. 7.28, 29. luke 4.32.

23 ¶ And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an vncleane spirit, and hee cryed, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue wee to doe with thee, O Iesus of Nazaret? Art thou come to destroy vs? I know thee what thou art, euen the holy One of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, [m] Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vncleane spirit tare him, and cried with a loud voice, & came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demaunded one of another, saying, What thing is this? what [n] new doctrine is this? for hee commaundeth the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediatly his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galile.

29 ¶ * And assoone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with Iames and Iohn.

30 And Simons wiues mother lay sicke of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And hee came & tooke her by the hand, and lift her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, and the Sunne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole citie was gathered together at the dore.

34 And hee healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases: and he cast out many deuils, and [o] suffered not the deuils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early, ‖ before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed after him.

o Christ would not haue such witnesses to preach him and his Gospel. So Paul was offended that the Pythonesse should testifie of him, Acts 16.18. ‖ Or, being yet night.

37 And when they had found him, they said vnto him, All men seeke for thee.

38 Then he said vnto them, Let vs go into the next townes, that I may preach there also: for I came out for that purpose.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues, throughout all Galile, and cast the deuils out.

40 ¶ *And there came a leper to him, beseeching him, and kneeling down vnto him, and said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Jesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will: be thou cleane.

42 And assoone as hee had spoken, immediately the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after he had giuen him a straite [p] commandement, he sent him away forthwith, 44 And said vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, & shew thy selfe to [q] the *priest, & offer for thy cleansing those things which Moses commanded, for a [r] testimoniall vnto them.

Matth. 9.1. Luke 5.18.

AFter *a few dayes he entred into Capernaum againe, and it was noised that he was in the [a] house.

a Where he was wont to remaine

2 And anon many gathered together, in so much that the places about the doore could not receiue any more: and he preached the word vnto them.

3 And there came vnto him that brought one sicke of the palsie, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the roofe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed wherein the sicke of the palsie lay.

b By these words Christ shewed that he was sent of his father with authority to take away our sinnes. Isa 44.4. & 43.25.

5 Now when Jesus saw their faith, hee sayd to the sicke of the palsie, Sonne, thy [b] sinnes are forgiuen thee.

c Christ speaketh according to their capacity, who were so blind that they would beleeue nothing but that which they saw with their eyes, and therefore sheweth his authoritie ouer the soule by y power which he hath ouer the body.

6 And there were certain of the Scribes sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doth this man speake such blasphemies? *Who can forgiue sinnes, but God onely?

8 And immediately when Jesus perceiued in his Spirit, that thus they thought with themselues, he sayd vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 [c] Whether is it easier to say to the sick of the palsie, Thy sinnes are forgiuen thee? or to say, Arise, and take vp thy bed, and walke?

10 And that yee may knowe, that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth, to forgiue sinnes, (he sayd vnto the sicke of the palsie.)

11 I say vnto thee, Arise and take vp thy bed, & get thee hence into thine owne house.

12 And by and by he arose, & tooke vp his bed, and went forth before them al, insomuch that they were all amazed, & glorified God, saying, [d] We neuer saw such a thing.

d Their owne consciences cause them to confesse the trueth.

13 ¶ Then he went againe toward the sea, and all the people resorted vnto him, and he taught them.

14 *And as Jesus passed by, hee saw Leui the sonne of Alpheus sit at the receit of custome, and said vnto him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him.

Matth. 9.9. Luke 5.27.

15 ¶ And it came to passe, as Jesus sate at table in his house, many Publicanes and sinners sate at table also with Jesus, and his disciples: for there were many that folowed him.

16 And when the Scribes and Pharises saw him eate with the Publicanes and sinners, they said vnto his disciples, How is it, that hee eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners?

17 Now when Jesus heard it, he said vnto them, The whole haue no need of the physician, but the sicke. *I came not to call the [e] righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

e He speaketh of such as perswade themselues to be iust although they be nothing lesse. Matth 9.14. Luke 5.33.

18 *And the disciples of John & the Pharises did fast, and came and said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of John and of the Pharises fast, and thy disciples fast not?

f Christ sheweth that he will spare his, and not burden them before it be necessary.

19 And Jesus sayd vnto them, Can the [f] children of y marriage chamber fast whiles the bridegrome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegrome with them they cannot fast.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall bee taken from them, and then shall they fast in those dayes.

21 Also no man soweth a piece [g] of new cloth in an old garment: for els the new piece taketh away the filling vp from the old, and the breach is worse.

g The word properly signifieth new cloth, which as yet hath not passed the hands of the fuller. Matth. 12.1. Luke 6.1.

22 Likewise, no man putteth new wine into old vessels: for els the new wine breaketh the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are lost: but new wine must be put into new vessels.

23 ¶ *And it came to passe as he went thorow the corne on the Sabbath day, that his disciples as they went on their way, began to plucke the eares of corne.

Exod 29.33. Ieuit. 8.31. and 24.9.

24 And the Pharises said vnto him, Behold, why doe they on the Sabbath day that which is not lawfull?

25 And he said to them, Haue ye neuer read what *Dauid did when he had neede, and was an hungred, both he, and they that were with him?

26 How hee went into the house of God, in the dayes of [h] Abiathar the hie Priest, and did eat the shew bread, which were not lawfull to eat, but for the *Priests, and gaue also to them which were with him?

i Seeing the Sabbath was made for mans vse, it was not meet it should be vsed to his hinderance and incommoditie.

27 And he said to them, The Sabbath was [i] made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

28 Wherefore the sonne of man is Lord euen of the Sabbath.

1 He healeth the man with the dried hand. 14 He chuseth his Apostles. 21 Christ is thought of the worldlings to be besides himselfe. 22 He casteth out the vncleane spirit, which the Pharises ascribe vnto the deuill. 29 Blasphemy against the holy Ghost. 35 The brother, sister, and mother of Christ.

Matth.12.9,10. Luke 6.6.

AND * he entred againe into the Synagogue, and there was a man which had a withered hand.

2 And they watched him whether hee would heale him on the Sabbath day, that they might accuse him.

3 Then he said vnto the man which had the withered hand, Arise: stand foorth in the mids.

4 And hee said to them, Is it lawfull to doe a good deede on the Sabbath day, or to doe euil? to saue the life, or to kill? But they [a] held their peace.

5 Then he looked round about on them [b] angerly, mourning also for the hardnesse of their hearts, and said to the man, Stretch forth thine hand: And he stretched it out: and his hand was restored as whole as the other.

6 ¶ And the Pharises departed, and straightway gathered a Councill with the [c] Herodians against him, that they might destroy him.

7 But Iesus auoyded with his disciples to the Sea: and a great multitude followed him from Galile, and from Iudea,

8 And from Ierusalem, and from Idumea, and beyond Iorden, and they that dwelled about Tyrus and Sidon, when they had heard what things he did, came vnto him in great number.

9 And he commanded his disciples, that a ship should waite for him, because of the multitude, lest they should throng him.

10 For hee had healed many, insomuch that they pressed vpon him to touch him, as many as had ‖ plagues.

11 And when the vncleane spirits saw him, they fell downe before him, and cryed, saying, Thou art the Sonne of God.

12 And he sharply rebuked them, to the end they should not vtter him.

Chap.6.7.matth. 10.1.luke 9.1.

13 ¶ * Then he went vp into a mountaine, and called vnto him whom he would, and they came vnto him.

14 And he appointed twelue that they should be with him, and that he might send them to preach, 15 And that they might haue power to heale sicknesses, and to cast out deuils.

16 And the first was Simon, and hee named Simon, Peter.

17 Then Iames the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn, Iames brother, (and named them Boanerges, which is, the sonnes of thunder)

18 And Andrew, and Philip, and Bartlemew, and Matthew, and Thomas, and Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and ‖ Thaddeus, and Simon the ‖ Canaanite, 19 And Iudas Iscariot who also betrayed him, and they came [d] home.

20 And the multitude assembled againe, so that they could not so much as eate bread.

21 And when his ‖ kinsfolkes heard of it, they went out to lay [e] hold on him: for they thought he had been beside himselfe.

22 ¶ * And the Scribes which came from Hierusalem, sayd, He hath Beelzebub, and through the prince of deuils he casteth out deuils.

23 But he called them vnto him, and said vnto them in parables, How can Satan driue out Satan?

24 For if a kingdome be diuided against it selfe, that kingdome cannot stand.

25 Or if a house be diuided against it selfe, that house cannot continue.

26 So if Satan make insurrection against himselfe, and be diuided, he cannot indure, but is at an end.

27 No man can enter into a strong mans houle, and take away his goods, except hee first binde that strong man, and then spoile his house.

28 ¶ * Verely I say vnto you, all sins shal be forgiuen vnto the children of men, & blasphemies, wherewith they blaspheme:

29 But he that [f] blasphemeth against the holy Ghost, shall neuer haue forgiuenesse, but is culpable of eternall damnation.

30 Because they said, He had an vncleane spirit.

31 ¶ * Then came his ‖ brethren and mother, and stood without, and sent vnto him, and called him.

32 And the people sate about him, & they said vnto him, Behold, thy mother and thy brethren seeke for thee without.

33 But he answered them, saying, Who is my mother and my brethren?

34 And he looked round about on them, which sate in compasse about him, and said, Behold my mother and my brethren.

35 For whosoeuer doth the will of God, he is my brother, and my sister, and mother.

CHAP. IIII.

2 By the parables of the seede, and the mustard corne, Christ sheweth the state of the kingdom of God. 11 A speciall gift of God to know the mysteries of his kingdome. 37 He stilleth the tempest of the sea, which obeyed him.

Matth.13.1 Luke 8.4.

AND * he began againe to teach by the sea side, & there gathered vnto him a great multitude, so that he entred into a ship and sate in the sea, and all the people was by the sea side on the land.

2 And he taught them many things in parables, and said vnto them ‖ in [a] his doctrine,

3 Hearken: Beholde, there went out a sower to sow.

4 And it came to passe as he sowed, that some fell by the way side, and the foules of the heauen came and deuoured it vp.

5 And some fell on stonie ground, where it had not much earth, and by and by sprang vp, because it had not depth of earth.

6 But assoone as the sunne was vp, it caught heate, and because it had no roote, it witherd away.

7 And some fell among the thornes, and the thornes grew vp, and choked it, so that it gaue no fruit.

8 Some againe fell in good ground, & did yeeld

‖ Or, as he taught.

a It is called Christs doctrine, either for that he was accustomed to speake vnto them by similitudes: or els because it had that vertue and maiestie, that men could not denie but it came from heauen.

yeeld fruit that sprung vp, and grew, and it brought foorth some thirty fold, some sixtie fold, and some an hundred folde.

9 Then he said vnto them, He that hath [b] eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when hee was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And he sayd vnto them, To [c] you it is giuen to know the mystery of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are [d] without, all things be done in parables, 12 * That they seeing, may see, and not discerne: and they hearing may heare, and not vnderstand, least at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should bee forgiuen them.

13 Againe he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then should ye vnderstand all other parables?

14 The Sower soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receiue the seed by the wayes side, in whome the Word is sowen: but when they haue heard it, Satan commeth immediatly, and taketh away the Word that was sowen in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receiue the seed in stony ground, are they, which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receiue it with gladnes.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselues, and indure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediatly they be offended.

18 Also they that receiue the seed among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares of this world, and the * deceitfulnes of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring foorth fruite, one corne thirty, another sixty, and some an hundred.

21 ¶ Also hee sayd vnto them, * Is [e] the candle ‖ lighted to be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the table, and not to be put on a candlesticke?

22 * [f] For there is nothing hid that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 And he sayd vnto them, Take heede what yee heare. * With [g] what measure yee mete, it shall bee measured vnto you: and vnto you that heare, shall more be giuen.

25 * For vnto him that hath, shall it be giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, [h] euen that he hath.

26 ¶ Also he sayd, So is the [i] kingdome of God, as if a man should [k] cast seed in the ground, 27 And should sleep, and rise vp night and day, and the seed should spring and grow vp, he not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruit of her selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that, full corne in the eares.

29 And assoon as the fruit sheweth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harnest is come.

30 ¶ * He said moreouer, Wherunto shall we liken the kingdom of God? or with what comparison shall we compare it? Matt. 13 31. Luke 13.19.

31 It is like a graine of Mustard seede, which when it is sowen in the earth, is the least of all seeds that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sowen, it groweth vp, and is greatest of all herbs, and beareth great branches, so that the foules of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And * with many such parables hee preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it. Matth. 13 34.

34 And without parables spake he nothing vnto them, but he expounded al things to his disciples apart.

35 ¶ * Now the same day when euen was come, he said vnto them, Let vs passe ouer vnto the other side. Matth. 8.23. Luke 8.22.

36 And they left the multitude, [l] tooke him as he was in the ship: and there were also with him other ships. l And set forward.

37 And there arose a great storm of wind and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And he was [m] in the sterne asleepe on a pillow: and they awoke him, and sayd to him, Master, carest thou not that wee perish? m Christ leaueth vs oftentimes to our selues, both as well that we may learne to know our owne weakenesse, as his mighty power.

39 And hee arose vp, and rebuked the wind, and sayd vnto the Sea, Peace, and be still. So the wind ceased, and it was a great calme.

40 Then he said vnto them, Why are ye so fearefull? ‖ how is it that ye haue no faith? ‖ Or, haue you not yet faith?

41 And they feared exceedingly, and said one to another, Who is this, that both the wind and sea obey him?

8 (For he said vnto him, Come out of the man, thou vncleane spirit.)

9 And he asked him, What is thy name? And he answered, saying, My name is [c] Legion: for we are many.

10 And he prayed him instantly, that he would not send them away out of the country.

11 Now there was there in the mountaines a great heard of swine feeding.

12 And all the deuils besought him, saying, Send vs into the swine, that we may enter into them.

13 And incontinently Iesus gaue them leaue. Then the vncleane spirits went out, and entred into the swine, and the herd ‖ ran headlong from the hie banke into the Sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were drowned in the ‖ sea.

14 And the swine heards fledde, and told it in the city, and in the countrey, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Iesus, and saw him that had been possessed with the deuill, and had the Legion, sit both clothed, and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it, told them what was done to him that was possessed with the deuill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then [d] they began to pray him, that he would [e] depart from their coasts.

18 And when he was come into the ship, he that had beene possessed with the deuill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit Iesus would not suffer him, but sayd vnto him, Go thy way home to thy friends, and [f] shew them what great things the Lord hath done vnto thee, and how hee hath had compassion on thee.

20 So he departed, and began to publish in ‖ Decapolis, what great things Iesus had done vnto him: and all men did marueile.

21 ¶ And when Iesus was come ouer again by ship vnto the other side, a great multitude gathered to him, and hee was neere vnto the sea.

22 *And behold, there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Iairus: and when he saw him, he fell downe at his feet, 23 And besought him instantly, saying, My litle daughter lyeth at point of death: I pray thee that thou wouldest come and lay thine handes on her, that she may be healed and liue.

24 Then hee went with him, and a great multitude followed him, and thronged him.

25 (And there was a certaine woman, which was diseased with an issue of blood twelue yeeres, 26 And had suffered many things of many physicians, and had spent al that she had, and it auailed her nothing, but she became much worse.

27 When she had heard of Iesus, she came in the preasse behinde, and [g] touched his garment.

28 For she sayd, If I may but touch his clothes, I shalbe whole.

29 And straightway ‖ the course of her b'wd was dried vp, and she ‖ felt in her body, that she was healed of that ‖ plague.

30 And immediatly when Iesus did know in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, he turned him round about in the preasse, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said vnto him, Thou seest the multitude thronge thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And he looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled: for she knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell down before him, and told him the whole trueth.

34 And he said to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace, and bee whole of thy ‖ plague.)

35 While he yet spake, there came from the same Ruler of the Synagogues house, certaine which sayd, Thy daughter is dead: why diseasest thou the Master any further?

36 Assoone as Iesus heard that worde spoken, he said vnto the Ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely beleeue.

37 And he suffred no man to follow him, saue Peter, and James, and John the brother of James.

38 So he came vnto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and saw the tumult, and them that wept and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, and sayd vnto them, Why make ye this trouble, and weepe? the child is not [h] dead, but sleepeth.

40 And they [i] laughed him to scorne: but he put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the childe, and [k] them that were with him, and entred in where the child lay,

41 And tooke the childe by the hand, and said vnto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Maiden, I say vnto thee, Arise.

42 And straightway the mayden arose and walked: for she was of the age of twelue yeeres: and they were astonied out of measure.

43 And he charged them straitly that no man should know of it, and commanded to giue her meat.

16 *So when Herod heard it, he said, It is Iohn whom I beheaded, he is [l] risen from the dead.

17 For Herod himselfe had sent forth, and had taken Iohn and bound him in prison for Herodias sake, which was his brother Philips wife, because he had married her.

18 For Iohn said vnto Herod, *It is not [m] lawfull for thee to haue thy brothers wife.

19 Therefore Herodias had a quarrell against him, and would haue killed him, but she could not.

20 For Herod feared Iohn, knowing that he was a iust man and an holy, and reuerenced him, and when hee heard him, hee did many things, and [n] heard him gladly.

21 But the time being conuenient, when Herod on his birthday made a banket to his princes and captaines, and chiefe estates of Galile:

22 And the daughter of the same Herodias came in and [o] daunced, and pleased Herod and them that sate at table together, the king said vnto the mayd, Aske of mee what thou wilt, and I will giue it thee.

23 And he sware vnto her, Whatsoeuer thou shalt aske of me, I will giue it thee, euen vnto the halfe of my kingdome.

24 *So shee went forth, and said to her mother, What shall I aske? And she said, Iohn Baptists head.

25 Then she came in straightway with haste vnto the king, and asked, saying, I would that thou shouldest giue mee euen now in a charger the head of Iohn Baptist.

26 Then the king was very sory: yet for his oaths sake, and for their sakes which sate at table with him, he would not refuse her.

32 *So they went by ship out of the way into a desert place.

33 But the people saw them when they departed, and many knew him, and ran afoote thither out of all cities, and came thither before them, and assembled vnto him.

34 *Then Iesus went out, and saw a great multitude, and had compassion on them, because they were like [s] sheepe, which had no shepheard: * and hee began to teach them many things.

4 And when they come from the market, except they wash, they eate not: and many other things there be, which they haue taken vpon them to obserue, as the washing of cups, and c pots, and of brasen vessels, and of tables.)

5 Then asked him the Pharises and Scribes, Why walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eat ‖ meat with vnwashen hands?

6 Then he answered and said vnto them, Surely * Esay hath prophesied well of you hypocrites, as it is written. This people honoureth me with their d lips, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 But they worshippe mee in vaine, teaching for doctrines the e commandements of men.

25 After that he put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And he was restored to his sight, and saw euery man afarre off clearely.

26 And hee sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

27 ¶ * And Iesus went out, and his disciples, into the townes of Cesarea Philippi. And by the way hee asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whom doe men say that I am?

28 And they answered, Some say, John Baptist: and some, Elias: and some, one of the Prophets.

29 And he said vnto them, But whom say yee that I am? Then Peter answered and said vnto him, Thou art the [i] Christ.

30 And he charely [k] charged them that concerning him they should tell no man.

31 Then he began to teach them that the Sonne of man must suffer many things, and should be reprooued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests, and of the Scribes, & be slaine, and within three dayes rise againe.

32 And hee spake that thing plainely. Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him.

33 Then he turned backe, and looked on his disciples, and rebuked Peter, saying, Get thee behinde me, [l] Satan: for thou vnderstandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

34 ¶ And he called the people vnto him, with his Disciples, and said vnto them, * Whosoeuer will follow mee, let him forsake himselfe, and take vp his crosse, and follow mee.

35 For whosoeuer will * saue his life, shall lose it: but whosoeuer shal lose his life for my sake and the Gospels, he shall [m] saue it.

36 For what shalt it profit a man though he should winne the whole world, if hee lose his soule?

37 Or what shall a man giue for recompense of his soule?

38 * For whosoeuer shalbe ashamed of me, and of my wordes among this adulterous and sinfull generation, of him shall the Son of man be ashamed also, when hee commeth in the glory of his Father with the holy Angels.

CHAP. IX.

2 The transfiguration. 7 Christ is to be heard. 26 The dumbe spirit is cast out. 29 The force of prayer and fasting. 31 Of the death and resurrection of Christ. 33 The disputation who should be the greatest. 38 Not to hinder the course of the Gospel. 42 Offences are forbidden.

AND * hee said vnto them, Verely I say vnto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death till they haue seene the [a] kingdome of God come with power.

2 * And sixe dayes after, Iesus tooke Peter, and James, and John, and brought them vp into an hie mountaine out of the way alone: and he was transfigured before them.

3 And his rayment did [b] shine, and was very white as snow, so white as no fuller can make vpon the earth.

4 And there appeared vnto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Iesus.

5 Then Peter answered and said to Iesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 [c] For hee knew not what hee said: for they were afraid.

a The preaching of the Gospel received and increased: he spake this to comfort them and that they should not thinke they trauailed in vaine.

b Christ sheweth his Maiesty so farre as their infirmity was able to comprehend it.
c Peter measured this vision according to his owne capacitie, not considering the end thereof.

7 And there was a cloude that shadowed them, and a voyce came out of the cloude, saying, * This is my beloued Sonne: [d] heare him.

8 And suddenly they looked round about, and saw no more any man saue Iesus onely with them.

9 * And as they came downe from the mountaine, he charged them that they should tell no man what they had seene, saue when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 So they kept that matter to themselues, & demanded one of another, what the rising from the dead againe should meane.

11 Also they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that * Elias [e] must first come?

12 And he answered and said vnto them, Elias verely shall first come, and restore all things: and * as it is written of the Sonne of man, hee must suffer many things, and be set at nought.

13 But I say vnto you, that [f] Elias is come, (and they haue done vnto him whatsoeuer they would) as it is written of him.

14 ¶ * And when he came to his [g] disciples, hee saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amased, and ranne to him, and saluted him.

16 Then hee asked the Scribes, What dispute you || among your selues?

17 And one of the company answered, and said, Master, I haue brought my sonne to thee, which hath a dumbe spirit:

18 And whersoeuer he taketh him, hee [h] teareth him, and hee foameth, and gnasheth his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 Then he answered him, and said, [i] O faithlesse generation, how long now shall I be with you! how long now shall I suffer you! bring him vnto me.

20 So they brought him vnto him: and assoone as the spirit saw him, hee tare him, and he fell down on the ground, wallowing and foming.

21 Then he asked his father, How long time is it since hee hath been thus? And hee said, Of a child.
